A DISPASSIONATE review of the musical season of 1872 can scarcely be said to offer matter for sincere congratulation amongst those who earnestly desire, not only that the standard compositions shall become more extensively appreciated, but that works hitherto almost unheard in this country shall be added to our store of musical knowledge. True it is that art and commerce seem antagonistic with each other, and the music that will pay is therefore likely to be all that we shall get until means can be found to support establishments which shall not be ruled by the mere caprices of fashion; but this time has not yet arrived, and we can therefore only comment upon matters as they are, with the hard fact before us that, like other commodities, art in England is worth exactly what it will fetch in the market. Viewing the subject, then, only in this practical manner, we are inclined to think that mistakes are constantly committed by those who cater for the musical public as to what will and what will not be remunerative. Societies with ample resources continue in the beaten track, not because they think it is a good one, but because they think it is a safe one, ignoring the fact that outside the little circle of their constant subscribers there is a much larger one, comprising zealous and enthusiastic amateurs who are always ready to support an institution where occasionally music shall be heard on its trial. At the Crystal Palace, for example, we have proof that previously unknown works can gradually make their way until they become welcome items in the programme, and at the "Oratorio Concerts" Bach's S. Matthew "Passion Music" (which this Society had the merit of bringing prominently before public notice) is now looked upon as one of the most attractive of the promised works in the prospectus of the season. At the two Opera-houses it appears evident that the production of novelties likely to be successful can scarcely ever enter into the scheme of the management. In the first place, the "Queens of Song" reign with despotic power over the lessees, dictating, not only what shall be performed, but what shall not; and in the second place, even supposing an Impresario to be comparatively unfettered, he has usually so little musical judgment that he will be certain to be ruled by those who, although possessing superior knowledge, are probably interested more with artists than with art. The prospectus of the Royal Italian Opera this season was unusually interesting. Wagner's "Lohengrin" was faithfully promised; the lessee had maturely considered the subject; the admirers of the composer had predicted success for his works in England, and his detractors had declared that his music would "drive all opera subscribers from the theatre." The reception of "Lohengrin" at Bologna and Florence had, however, decided the matter, and the director announced that the production of one of Herr Wagner's works "should no longer be delayed." What was the result? Not only that "Lohengrin" (which would have attracted musical London) was not produced, but that two weak Operas (which effectually kept the public away) were,—an unquestionable proof that the interests of art in a lyrical establishment are quite secondary to the interests of a prima donna assoluta. To continue the record of the season at the Royal Italian Opera, we may also say that amongst the many other promised works, much disappointment was felt at the non-performance of Auber's "Diamants de la Couronne," Rossini's "Guillaume Tell," Meyerbeer's "Prophète," and Gounod's "Romeo e Giulietta," all of which would have been felt as a welcome relief from the constant strains of Verdi, Bellini, and Donizetti. Amongst the new vocalists the first place must be given to Madlle. Albani, whose début as Amina, in "La Sonnambula," at once established her claim to public favour. In all the parts essayed by her during the season, especially that of Gilda, in Verdi's "Rigoletto," her success was even more positively assured; and there can be little doubt that time and experience will but ripen those powers, of the possession of which she has already given such unmistakable proof. Of the German singers especially engaged for "Lohengrin" we have little to say. Madlle. Emmy Zimmermann did not come at all, Herr Koehler disappeared suddenly from the bills, and Madlle. Marianne Brandt remained to prove to us that she could not sing the music of Leonora, in Beethoven's "Fidelio," nor of Elvira in "Don Giovanni," whatever success she might have achieved in Herr Wagner's Opera. Madlle. Saar also made but little effect; Signor Cæsari sang but once, and many others announced never appeared. A good word must, however, be said for Madlle. Smeroschi, who, although making her début at the latter part of the season, created a genuine effect, and the excellent singing of Madame Parepa-Rosa must not be passed over without due acknowledgment. Madame Adelina Patti and Madame Pauline Lucca have been the real attractions of the season, the fact of their names being prominently placed at the top of the bills proving beyond doubt that the singers, and not the Operas, are the most important announcements of the evening. In all her favourite parts Madame Patti has excited the usual enthusiasm; but it is gratifying to find that even her exceptional powers could not make the public accept Prince Poniatowski's feeble Opera, "Gelmina." Madame Lucca's triumphant success as Agata, in "Der Freischutz," astonished even her most ardent admirers; and we sincerely hope that next season she may have an opportunity of repeating so excellent a performance. Why Madame Miolan-Carvalho (who was announced for several parts in the prospectus) only sang for one night it is impossible to say, for we have ceased to enquire into the cause of "mysterious disappearances" at lyrical establishments. On the singing of our established favourites during a most arduous season it is unnecessary to dwell at length. Madlle. Sessi has again proved a highly valuable member of the company, especially distinguishing herself in the trying and thankless part of the heroine in "Il Guarany;" and M. Faure has materially strengthened the cast of every Opera in which he was engaged. The want of a really efficient tenor is still felt, although both Signor Naudin and Signor Nicolini were warmly received in the leading parts; and Signor Bettini was as earnest and painstaking as ever. The members of the orchestra have done their best to serve two masters; but the pernicious effect of dividing the conductorship should by this time have become apparent even to the lessee. Considering what an important personage Mr. Augustus Harris has become since the rise of spectacular Opera, we cannot conclude our notice without a line of recognition for his services—indeed, the fact of his being engaged at St. Petersburg is a convincing proof how much clever stage-management has to do with the success of modern lyrical works.

The prospectus of Her Majesty's Opera promised only two comparative novelties, but even these two pledges were not redeemed. Certainly Cherubini's "Deux Journées" was produced (although never repeated), but Auber's "Diamants de la Couronne," pushed forward even to the closing night, was withdrawn at the last moment. Then "Der Freischütz," "Dinorah," "Don Giovanni," "Anna Bolena," and many other Operas contained in the prospectus, were never given at all, a fact still more extraordinary when we consider that all the vocalists included in the cast of these works were in the theatre during the season. As lessees of Opera-houses, however, seem to arrogate to themselves the exclusive right of disregarding every promise made to the subscribers at the commencement of the season, it is, perhaps, better to treat prospectuses like "prophetic almanacs," and throw them aside at the end of the year, with thanks to their authors for the few events which have come true, and a feeling of charitable forgiveness towards them for those which have not.

The great event of the season has been the unexampled success of the tenor, Signor Campanini, who literally took the house by storm on his début as Gennaro, in "Lucrezia Borgia," and has confirmed his position by every subsequent performance. Signor Rota, too, who made his first appearance on the same evening as the Duke, has thoroughly established himself as an excellent and reliable singer. Madlle. Marie Roze, also a new comer, will make an excellent seconda donna, if she will consent to remain in that position; but Margherita, in Gounod's "Faust," is beyond her powers. The return of Madlle. Christine Nilsson (now Madame Rouzaud) has proved to us that America is scarcely a school for the development of the refinements of art. Her voice has perhaps increased in power, but her natural coldness (which, with all her exquisite vocalisation, was ever apparent before her departure for the United States,) is now partially concealed by an exaggeration of manner which, to us at least, is scarcely an improvement upon her former style. Madlle. Marimon has added but few parts to those which she played last season, but she has been a genuine attraction, and we are much mistaken if she do not materially increase her reputation in each succeeding season. Madlle Grossi made a successful début, but soon disappeared. Miss Kellogg has been received with a warm welcome on her return to the establishment, and we trust that next year we may not only see her as a permanent member of the company, but have the opportunity of testing her powers in an entirely new part. Madlle. Titiens remains unapproachable in the characters already identified with her name, and Madame Trebelli-Bettini has rendered invaluable service as a contralto. With the exception of Signor Campanini, no tenor has been equal to the first parts, although Signor Fancelli and M. Capoul have sung their best, and the same may be said of Signori Vizzani and Rinaldini. Signor Mendioroz has divided the honours with Signor Rota; Signori Foli and Agnesi have fully sustained their high reputation as basses; and, although we cannot admit the claims of Signor Borella, the public has accepted him in the best buffo characters. We have already said that Cherubini's "Deux Journées" was too good for the audience, and those who wish for something more than singers' Operas must therefore wait patiently for better days. The well-known works have, according to annual custom, been played the usual number of times, with the usual amount of applause, and the usual offering of bouquets to the public idols on the stage; and as the lessee has had, we hear, a successful season, nobody, save a few carping critics like ourselves, can possibly be dissatisfied. The orchestra, conducted by Sir Michael Costa, is thoroughly under command, and if we could only get a more subdued tone from the brass instruments when accompanying voices, it would be absolute perfection. A word of praise for the general efficiency of the ballet department must terminate our retrospect of the season at Her Majesty's Opera.

The Philharmonic Society is gradually and carefully experimenting upon the public taste. As a doctor feels the pulse of his patient, and cautiously tries the effect of a new diet, occasional doses of the music of modern Germany are prescribed, after a careful consultation of the directors, and with a result which may on the whole be considered encouraging. When we remember what obstacles the Society encountered years ago in forcing the claims of Beethoven upon the attention of its subscribers, we can scarcely wonder that equal difficulties should be experienced in craving admittance for those who work with even a greater disregard for the conventional forms of art. Schubert, and even Schumann, are now almost safe; but others, whose fame is cordially acknowledged in the land of their birth, must be content to wait for recognition in conservative England. Our thanks are due for such revivals as the Concerto of Handel, the Organ Toccata and Concerto of Bach, and the Symphonies of the late Cipriani Potter and Sir Sterndale Bennett; but when we find that the overture to "Ajax," by the last named composer, was the only new work produced during the season, it certainly appears as if the enterprise of the Society were on the wane.

The Crystal Palace has thoroughly maintained its character for the performance of the highest class compositions, and Mr. Manns, the talented and zealous conductor of the concerts, may fairly claim the credit of having blended instruction with entertainment. Those amongst the listeners who are sufficiently earnest in their attention to the music may probably have that attention occasionally disturbed by the devotion of some of the feminine portion of the audience to their books, crochet, and knitting during the performance, and may not like the walking accompaniment outside of those who cannot, or do not desire to, enter the concert-room; but these are minor defects, all of which will, no doubt, be remedied in time. We must here, too, refer to the National Music Meetings, which have been more successful than could have been anticipated, considering the novelty of the experiment, No better proof of the interest which they excited amongst artists could have been afforded than the fact of so many eminent musicians at once consenting to serve as jurors; and, although but few choral societies entered for competition, it can scarcely be doubted that, as the object of these gatherings becomes better known and appreciated, there will be an increasing desire amongst country choirs to display their powers before a London audience. Meanwhile it must be recorded that at least four solo vocalists were brought prominently forward who, but for these meetings, might never have become known, and much facility in singing at sight was evinced by several choral bodies.

At the "Oratorio Concerts" (this season judiciously removed to Exeter Hall) we have had performances of some of the standard sacred works, which have been universally acknowledged as the most perfect ever given in the metropolis. The few words with which we opened our present article must, we fear, explain why the revival of forgotten compositions has not been vigorously proceeded with. If Oratorio-lovers prefer to listen again and again to the beauties of "Elijah," instead of to make themselves gradually acquainted with the profundity of Beethoven's Mass in D, the public, and not the directors, must be blamed for the non-production of un-familiar works; for, as we have already said, until the presentation of art-creations ceases to be a mere commercial speculation, we can hope for but a small amount of progress. Meanwhile we must not forget that the recognition of Handel's "Jephtha" as one of his finest Oratorios, and the popularity (we may almost say) of Bach's S. Matthew "Passion Music" is entirely owing to their excellent performance by this Society; and in a review of the past season we must chronicle the highly successful production of Bach's "Passion-Music" according to S. John, by a portion of the fine choir of this Association at the Hanover Square Rooms, under the direction of Mr. Barnby, whose zealous services in connection with the "Oratorio Concerts" cannot be too highly praised.

The concerts of Mr. Henry Leslie's Choir have an especial character which must always make them welcome. Unaccompanied part-music has this season formed a more than usually prominent feature in the programmes of these entertainments, and we need scarcely say that the perfection with which it is interpreted affords unquestionable proof of the devotion, not only of the conductor but of the choir, to the especial object for which this Association was instituted. We must not omit to mention the production of Carissimi's Oratorio, "Jonah," which was so successful that Mr. Leslie felt himself justified in repeating it, to the great gratification of all who are interested in the rise and development of Oratorio music.

The Sacred Harmonic Society has given its usual number of concerts, presenting the works only which are sufficiently stamped with the public approval. During the season, too, several excellent pianoforte recitals have been well attended, amongst the most interesting of which, in an historical sense, we may mention those of Mr. Charles Hallé and Herr Pauer.

The Albert Hall, struggling against its acoustical defects and its amateur management, has met the fate which we from the first predicted. Had the aid of the highest professional talent in the country been sought to ensure the perfect presentation of massive musical compositions (the only works at all available in so large an area) success might have been ensured; but the performance of a choir without orchestral accompaniment (to say nothing of the feeble programmes which were provided for each concert), occasional common-place entertainments with solo vocalists, and a few organ recitals were scarcely attractions sufficient to draw audiences from the West-end Concert-rooms, and the consequence is that, with the exception of those trustful persons who had been persuaded to purchase the right of sitting in the Hall for life, the auditors were usually limited to the few who were drawn there by the aristocratic atmosphere by which the building is surrounded, or by curiosity to see a structure so beautiful and symmetrical, and respecting which so many brilliant predictions had been industriously put forward.

Two musical Knights have been added to the list during the year—Sir John Goss and Sir Robert Prescott Stewart (of Dublin). The claims of the former of these artists to the distinction conferred upon him are too well known to need any remarks on our part; and, although the reputation of the latter is perhaps somewhat more local, his many talented compositions, which are now obtaining extensive acceptance, sufficiently prove that this official recognition of his merits is thoroughly well deserved.

Since our last record of the musical events in the metropolis an earnest and true artist has passed from us in the person of Mr. Cipriani Potter. In his early career in this country, by the constant performance of classical music, he inculcated a love for this form of composition, as opposed to the "brilliant" pieces of the day, which rapidly spread from the mere aristocratic patrons of the art to the general public; and his edition of the pianoforte works of Mozart aided much our knowledge and appreciation of the genius of this composer. His position as Principal of the Royal Academy of Music gave him an excellent opportunity of exercising the most beneficial influence upon the rising artists of the day; and during the many years in which he held this office he laid the foundation of a solid school of tuition, which will be carried forward, not only by his pupils but by the many who, without having received the benefit of his instruction, were almost insensibly guided by the invaluable advice and aid which were freely accorded to all who sought his companionship and co-operation. As a composer we believe that Mr. Potter will take a higher rank than he did during his life-time, for his pianoforte works are so full of musicianlike feeling and so well written for the instrument (his Studies especially having an enduring value for students) that they must always command a sale amongst the higher class of pianists; and at the Philharmonic we may hope annually to hear one, at least, of his Symphonies, the merit of which might certainly entitle them also to an occasional place in the programmes of the Crystal Palace concerts.

The two meetings of artists and lovers of art (more extensive than any within our recollection), the first to assist at the presentation to Sir Sterndale Bennett, and the second to celebrate the Jubilee year of the Royal Academy of Music, deserve record as amongst the most prominent signs of the growing interest taken in all that bears on the healthy progress of music in this country. That a steady persistence in a good cause is the truest road to ultimate success is proved by these demonstrations beyond doubt. Sir Sterndale Bennett, who all his life has courted art instead of fashion, is now recognised, not only by musicians, but by the general public, as his great merit demands; and the Royal Academy of Music—slighted by Governments, actively opposed by a formidable learned Society, and for some time persistently treated with contempt by a certain section of the press—rears up its head on the fiftieth anniversary of its existence, holds out the hand of friendship to some few who had left it in its adversity, and boldly announces that its prosperity is far beyond that of any former year. Fashion may do much to deteriorate music and its followers in certain quarters, but facts like these nerve the true champions of art to pursue their straightforward course with unflinching perseverance; for although we may live luxuriously on the falsehood of the day, it is perfectly possible to exist respectably on the truth.

At the Worcester Festival, which commences on the 10th inst., the sacred performances will consist of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," a selection from Handel's "Samson," Hummel's "Messe Solennelle" (No. 2), Haydn's "Creation," Bach's S. Matthew "Passion Music," Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," and Handel's "Messiah." At the evening concerts we are promised selections from the works of Mozart and from Handel's "L'Allegro" and "Il Pensieroso," and the whole of Beethoven's "Ruins of Athens." The vocalists engaged are Madlle. Tietjens, Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Madame Patey, Miss Alice Fairman, Mr. Sims Reeves, Mr. Vernon Rigby, Mr. Edward Lloyd, Mr. Santley and Mr. Lewis Thomas. The orchestra will be led by M. Sainton, and, as usual, Mr. Done will conduct; Dr. Wesley will preside at the organ, and Mr. G. Townshend Smith at the pianoforte.

The Festival at Norwich begins with a sacred performance on Monday evening, the 16th inst., consisting of Sullivan's Festival "Te Deum," and Haydn's "Creation." The morning performance, on Wednesday, will be "Elijah," on Thursday, Benedict's "St. Peter," and on Friday the "Messiah." At the first miscellaneous evening concert, on Tuesday, Mr. G. A. Macfarren's Cantata, "Outward Bound" (composed for the occasion), will be produced; at the second, on Wednesday, a Scena, with chorus, "Rhineland," composed by Dr. E. Bunnett, will be sung for the first time by Madlle. Tietjens; and on Thursday evening, the first Allegro and Scherzo, from a symphony, in G minor, composed for the Festival by Sir Julius Benedict, a new Overture "Endymion," by Mr. King Hall, and a Festival Overture by Mr. F. H. Cowen will be produced; also vocal pieces including a song, "Guinevere," by Mr. Sullivan, composed expressly for, and sung by, Madlle. Tietjens. The principal vocalists are Madlle. Tietjens, Madame Cora de Wilhorst, Madlle. Albani, Madame Patey, Madame Trebelli-Bettini, Mr. Sims Reeves, Mr. W. H. Cummings, Mr. Kerr Gedge, Mr. J. G. Patey, and Mr. Santley. The band will be led by M. Sainton, and the conductor will be Sir Julius Benedict. Detailed accounts of both Festivals will appear in our next number.

Mr. W. Lemare, of Brixton, has been appointed conductor to the Railway Clearing House Musical Society.

At one of the "People's Concerts" at the Royal Albert Hall, the experiment of forming a programme exclusively from the compositions of Balfe, Wallace, and Bishop proved so successful that the plan, with even a more extended list of native composers, might, we think, be most advantageously adopted occasionally by London concert-givers. The vocalists at this thoroughly English concert were Misses K. Poyntz, Williams, and Jones, Messrs. Chatterton, Jefferys, Ward, and Raynham, the latter gentleman receiving encores for the songs "The Pilgrim of Love," and "Yes, let me like a Soldier fall."

The choir boys of S. Mary, Boltons, West Brompton, on the occasion of their annual excursion (which took place on Saturday, 27th July), took the opportunity of presenting their organist and choirmaster, Mr. Horace Buttery, with a testimonial in the form of a very handsome ivory card-case, suitably inscribed with name, &c., as a mark of their respect and esteem. The presentation was made by Mr. Edwards, himself an old choir boy. Mr. Buttery, in responding, gave the health of their esteemed vicar, the Rev. W. J. Du Boulay. The healths of Mr. Alfred Radcliffe and Mr. Reynell, important and energetic members of the choir, were also proposed. After cricket, &c., the party left for London, the journey home being enlivened by several part-songs. The neighbourhood selected for the excursion was the charming hill of S. Martha's, near Guildford, Surrey.

The monthly concert of the S. George's Glee Union was given on Friday, the 2nd ult., at the Pimlico Rooms. The pianoforte solos of Miss Julia Augarde, a very youthful performer, were much admired. Miss Horder sang "Robert toi que j'aime" in excellent style, and Miss Janet King's "Should he upbraid" was also admirably rendered. Mr. Stringer and Mr. Ellis were the other soloists, and the members of the choir gave very creditably several glees and part-songs under the able conductorship of Mr. Garside.

The degree of Doctor in Music was conferred upon Mr. H. D. Stanistreet, Mus. Bac., Oxon, Organist of Tuam Cathedral, at the Summer Commencements in Dublin, by the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Dublin.

A Sacred Concert took place at the British School Room, Lower Norwood, on the Evening of Tuesday, the 30th July. The choruses consisted of selections from the Musical Times, with the addition of Kent's "Blessed be Tho u" There was a good attendance. The principal vocalists were Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Fincham, Miss Tasker, Mr. Haig and Mr. Coppin. Amongst the solos were "O rest in the Lord," "Nazareth" (Gounod); "Consider the lilies" (Topliff); "Abide with me" (Tolhurst); and a new song, by the same composer, written expressly for the occasion, "Fear thou not, for I am with thee." Two trios "Lift thine eyes" (Elijah) and "Orpah left Naomi" (Ruth); were also included in the programme. Conductor, Mr. Carter; harmonium, Mr. George Tolhurst.

Mr. J. Baucutt's Musical and Literary Entertainment at the Pimlico Rooms, on the 12th ult., attracted an overflowing audience. The vocalists were Miss A. L. Fielding (who was highly effective in Bishop's "Tell me, my heart,") and Messrs. F. Herbert and Percy Hazeldine, who acquitted themselves with credit. Mr. G. W. Hallett, R.A.M., gained considerable applause for his brilliant playing of a pianoforte solo, Mr. J. C. Bird's English-Concertina solo, "Robert toi que j'aime," was well received; and Mrs. Dauncey Maskell, of the London Academy of Music, gave a successful rendering of various selections from the Poets and Humourists. Messrs. W. R. Twick, M. Boyd, and Mesdames Graham and Alice Giles, also took part in the entertainment.

A Correspondent of the Scotsman, writing from Switzerland on the 12th ult., gives the latest news of Professor Oakeley, who was then at St. Nicolas, Canton Valais. He is said to be fairly progressing, considering the serious and complicated nature of his accident; and his doctors have expressed a hope that he may shortly be removed to Geneva or its neighbourhood.

An interesting ceremony took place at the Upper Berkeley Street Synagogue on Saturday, the 17th ult., when an exquisitely chaste ivory bâton, mounted in gold, was presented to the Organist, Mr. C. G. Verrinder, by the senior member of the choir, Mr. P. E. Van Noorden, who, after a few introductory remarks, read an address signed by all the members of the choir. The bâton bore the following inscription:—"Presented to C. G. Verrinder, Mus. Bac., Oxon, by the Members of the West London Synagogue, in recognition of his great ability, and of their esteem and appreciation of his untiring exertions on their behalf."

Cremona Instruments at the Vienna Exhibition of 1873.—For some months in the summer of 1873 there will be, in connection with the Vienna Universal Exhibition, a special exhibition of as many of the ancient Italian violins and allied instruments, as tenors, violoncellos and double basses, even single parts undoubtedly genuine, such as scrolls, base-bars, bridges, sound-posts, &c., as can be brought together. These will be submitted to the examination of a skilled jury, not for the purpose of assigning a rank to the instruments, but in order that a résumé may be issued showing what in the opinion of the jury are the qualities required for the production of good new instruments. The principle will be, that all works which are not genuine (that is to say, not of Italian or Tyrolese origin), and all those which, even if genuine, in some of their parts have lost their original character by repairs, are to be altogether excluded. Detailed regulations will be published hereafter.

Reviews.

Novello, Ewer and Co.

Lohengrin. A Romantic Opera, in Three Acts. Composed by Richard Wagner. Edited by Berthold Tours, and translated into English by Natalia Macfarren.

It appears that music-publishers have more spirit than operatic managers, for here is the second of Wagner's lyrical works issued to the London public before one of them has been heard on the stage in this country; and indeed it would seem, after the unredeemed promise last season at the Royal Italian Opera, that, unless a German company will boldly come to England and present us with a specimen of the "music of the future," sung in the language of the country in which it was composed, there is little hope of our ever being able to fairly gauge its merits. It is especially important to impress upon all persons the necessity of suspending judgment upon the Operas of Wagner until they have been placed upon the stage with the accessories of scenery, action, groupings, and costume, all of which the composer so emphatically insists upon as essentials of the highest lyrical drama; for, question the soundness of his theory as we may, we must criticise it not in fragments, but as a whole. In "Lohengrin," perhaps even more than in "Tannhäuser," the music depends for its effect upon the simultaneous representation of the drama which it illustrates, and it should not therefore be sung in drawing-rooms with a pianoforte accompaniment, except as a means of recalling the vivid sensations previously experienced by a stage performance of the work. Wagner always chooses subjects—especially for his latest Operas—not only full of romantic interest in the story, but demanding much stage display, so that by weaving together the styles of composition appropriate for the illustration of these two phases of lyrical art, and bestowing the minutest attention upon the scenic effects, he is enabled to appeal with equal force to the lovers of music and the lovers of the drama. Even on the pianoforte, the beauties of the Prelude to "Lohengrin," cannot fail to make themselves felt. There is a dreaminess and a mysticism about it which excellently prepares the listener for the character of the work; although, considering the composer's command over the resources of the orchestra, we should have been infinitely more pleased had he given us an overture which should shadow forth the varied incidents of the Opera. Those who pass through the music of this remarkable composition in the very attractive edition here presented cannot fail to be struck with many original and highly dramatic points, amongst which may be mentioned the Bridal March and Chorus, the Introduction to the third act, the grand duet between Elsa and Lohengrin and the Finale, which although, as we have already said, requiring the aid of scenic effect, would be extremely attractive, if well sung, in a drawing-room. The work of translation has been excellently performed by Madame Macfarren, who has evidently thoroughly entered into the spirit of the music—a great portion of the text, indeed, being so skilfully rendered as to make us hope to hear this version of the Opera, if we cannot hear it in the original German. The indications of instrumentation are profuse, and give a vivid idea of the richness of the score. It remains but to say that the editing of the work could not have been entrusted to an abler or more conscientious musician than Mr. Berthold Tours, whose task has evidently been a labour of love.

We give Thee thanks. Anthem for Tenor and Bass, with chorus. Composed by J. L. Hopkins, Mus. Doc.

A smoothly flowing melody is assigned first to the lower solo voice, and then transposed a fifth higher for the other. It is continued for the two in harmony, and here are some good effects from the occasional crossing and re-crossing of the parts with points of imitation. The chorus enters with the opening phrase, which is well amplified. The fullness of all the voices is relieved by some passages in duet; and a coda, in accelerated time, with some brilliant, but sparingly used chromatic harmony, makes an admirable conclusion. In the accompaniment of the louder portions, it may be discreet to make more use of the pedals than is indicated in the copy, for there may else be a thinness in the body of sound, which ought to be filled out by the independent organ part; the latter portion of this is by far the more effective, and might be a model for the improvement of the foregoing. The anthem is purely written, showing what beauty may be developed from the free style, when this is used without licentiousness. We commend this brief and meritorious piece to general adoption.

Come unto Me. Sacred song. The words by the Rev. H. Bonar. Composed by Willem Coenen.

The difference between a sacred song and a song to sacred words appears to be so little felt either by amateur vocalists or listeners that it has become quite the custom for the most common-place ballad writers to turn their attention to this class o composition as soon as they have obtained a sufficient popularity for their works to be asked for, irrespective of their merits. The truth is that a song consisting of a few chords grammatically (or even, too often, ungrammatically) strung together, accompanying a lugubrious theme to religious verses, is one of the easiest things to write; for as the words of scripture are sanctified before the notes are put to them, half the composer's work is accomplished, and the other half may be safely left to the tacit belief in the mind of the public that everything signed by so eminent a name must be good. Such compositions are we know often dismissed by reviewers with two or three lines of faint praise; but we cannot but believe that it is the duty of those to whom these songs are submitted for notice, to state boldly what they think of them; for even if they should afterwards have a large sale, it is at least a source of satisfaction to the critic to think that it has not been aided by a few conventional words of encouragement which might have been written without travelling beyond the title-page. The composition before us is obviously the work of a sound and thoughtful musician, and moreover of one who does not set sacred words to secular phrases. The opening recitative is full of true religious feeling, and the "Andante," commencing in F minor, the bass announcing the theme with which the voice begins, expresses with much devotional calmness, the lines—

> "I heard the voice of Jesus say,
> Come unto Me and rest."

Mention must also be made of the transition to the tonic major, on the words "I found in Him a resting place," the solid and appropriate harmonies to which aid much the effect of the voice-part. There can be little doubt that this song requires only to be known to be fully appreciated; and for the satisfaction of those who look for a great vocalist's stamp of approval upon the title-page, we may state that it has been already sung by Mr. Sims Reeves.

A short Morning, Communion and Evening Service, in F, set to music by Henry Baker, Mus. Bac.

This Service has, to the best of our belief, been some years before the world, and, being frequently performed at the church in Wells Street and elsewhere, it may be supposed to have won public approval, and so to have passed out of the pale of individual criticism—individual because, though a journalist, like a sovereign, styles himself "we," he is but one, and is accountable to his readers as to his own conscience for all he thinks, or at least for all he divulges of his thoughts. The work is before us for review, however, and therefore, though on the whole we wish not to fly in the face of general opinion, we may not withhold the estimation of good and less good that we form of this composition.

Mr. Henry Baker we understand to be an amateur, or at least to have so been at the time this Service was composed, and as such, the production, although not immaculate, is much to his credit. We protest broadly against the gabbling rapidity of enunciation that prevails generally throughout the series of pieces, which, where it does not entirely obscure the words, gives them so trivial an air as borders strongly on profanity. The fault is not peculiar to the present work, but is unhappily too common in the Church use of our time; its prevalence goes far to divest the Daily Service of solemnity, and even of reverence; and the subject is of such grave importance as to demand the consideration of persons far abler to discuss it than is the individual plurality who offers these remarks. As notable an instance as any of the extreme to which our composer carries this objectionable speed of utterance, is at the words in the Jubilate "into His courts with thanksgiving" (this is the musician's accentuation), where, the tempo being remarkably quick, the words "with thanks" are set to quavers, and are thus all but unpronounceable. There is meaning in the recurrence, at the words "Thou art the King," &c., of the phrase set to the declaration of the fourfold praise of the Apostles, the Prophets, the Martyrs and the holy Church, representing, as it does, "the King of Glory" to be the subject of the laudation. There is less pertinence in the repetition of the idea, which first appears at the words "When Thou tookest," &c., for the final sentence of the hymn, "O Lord in Thee;" but even this may be received as implying that we have "trusted" because He took upon Him our deliverance. Thoughtfulness such as this evinces is one of the best distinctions, and there are many good ones, of the Church music of our day from that of the last century, wherein the words are set as vocalising syllables, regardless totally of their sense and expression. Here are two settings of the Kyrie, of which each is charming, and there will always be difficulty in choosing between them. Perhaps the author is an amateur of the Italian language as well as of music, else it is hard to account for his using the term "Più rall." in the Credo, where the time has not been getting slow, and so can hardly be more getting slow. It is scarcely judicious to assign the A below the staff to the soprano voices, as is done in this piece to start the phrase "He suffered." Of greater consequence is the harmonic incident that directly follows; to our perception the diminished third is the harshest combination that can be used, but yet it can be used, and its harshness may be applied with more propriety to the description of the Divine Passion than to an indifferent subject; but the progression of the bass from G sharp to B flat for the presentation of the chord in another inversion is as new as it is unsatisfactory, and as unpleasant as both. The Sanctus is beautifully conceived, and in no respect fails in its execution. We like far less the Gloria. The Magnificat is the least meritorious piece in the series; it is a bad instance of the bad system of intermixing the chant form with rhythmical phrases, and the pattering principle of which we have already complained, produces here, we regret to assert, an effect that is nothing short of comical. The Nunc Dimittis is wrought in a better spirit, and the Doxology is the same in this as in the other two places where the words occur. We will suppose that the author would not now put forward some portions of this Service, but the best parts of it could not be improved.

A short, full Cathedral Service in F. By Samuel Sebastian Wesley.

The title of this work, in association with the name of the author, raises great expectations, which the work itself does not fulfil. "Short," it is truly, short to a marvel, for there is not a word repeated throughout the whole series of pieces, and the notes are sometimes iterated chantwise, so as to give the utmost rapidity to the enunciation; and thus the performance may be effected in as brief time as that of any extant setting of the text, if not in less—alas! that this should be a point of such necessity in our Cathedral service that it should become one for commendation. In other respects the composition is unworthy the great powers of Dr. Wesley.

In the Te Deum there is a good reading of the text where the passage "We believe that Thou," is directed to be sung piano, representing the awe wherewith the great last judgment is expected; and this is the more remarkable, as being the single direction for loudness or softness throughout the entire Service. On the other hand, it is curious to place the last syllable of the word "continually" on the first note of a bar, and so give it the strongest accent, albeit the higher note for the second syllable in some degree qualifies but still does not supersede this. The effect is unsatisfactory of the second inversion of the chord of A minor (the key being C) on the word "fellowship." At the words "govern them," it would be pleasanter to have the E flat than natural in the chord which precedes the second inversion of G minor; and between this and the next bar, the ascent of the 7th of the dominant chord is at best a piece of carelessness.

The setting of the Jubilate is far more successful. The emphasis on the third word in "We are His people," is appropriate as it is unusual; there is a beautiful phrase set to "It is He," &c., though we fail to perceive the pertinence of the very pathetic close in D minor to the last words; and there are other incidents which must please the musician.

In the Communion Service the Sanctus is highly to be admired as a fine piece of music and a good piece of declamation. We are unable to account for the conclusion of the Kyrie in a different key from its commencement, which, if appropriate in the Response that is sung nine times, as showing that the course of prayer is in uncompleted progress, can have no fitness to the tenth Response, since this is certainly conclusive. The setting of the Credo is so hurried that saving of time seems to have been the sole purpose in its construction.

In the Evening Service it is impossible to pass by the consecutive sevenths between the extreme parts $\frac{C}{D}$ $\frac{B}{C}$ in bar 5 of the Magnificat, because their effect stands out with painful prominence. We prefer the music for the Nunc Dimittis to that for the other piece, and admire the final treatment of the "Glory," &c., more than any portion of the whole work. This and other passages to which reference has been made are ample evidence of who is the author, and that he is one of the most gifted and accomplished musicians in the country, wherein we find reason for regret that he has not written the entire composition up to his own high standard.

Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, set to music in the key of C, for voices in unison, by Joseph Barnby.

Preference falls unhesitatingly on the second of these pieces, in which there is a truly ideal rendering of the sweet sense of the text—the act of devotion is accomplished, the heart of the worshipper is suffused with the blessing of holiness, and, at peace with himself and with mankind, he is about to quit the house of prayer; as the expression of the canticle rises from meekness to exultation the character of the music is accordingly modified, until, in the final glorification it becomes loudly jubilant. This view of the situation is charmingly pictured in the notes, and, liking the whole, we admire particularly the opening phrase. We would that the Magnificat were less chromatic, and this apart wholly from the still open question of the more or less fitness of the diatonic or chromatic style to ecclesiastical use, but purely on practical grounds, as being incompatible with the capabilities and the sympathies, too, of congregations for whose performance an unisonous Service must mainly be designed. The composer, always distinguished by care for the declamation of his text, has obviously had this most important purpose in view in the present piece, but we think has missed his aim in the separation of the musical and the literary phraseology; for example, the word "Lord" occurs on the third bar of a rhythmical period that is completed on the second note of the fourth bar, on which second note (the resolution of a discord) begins the sentence "And my spirit;" this view of the rhythmical division is confirmed by the repetition of the passage at the words "All generations," where the words and the notes close together.

The service is dedicated to the Rev. J. Powell Metcalfe, to whom the world is largely indebted for his staunch advocacy of the principle of setting the Service to be sung in unison with a free organ accompaniment. In country churches, where the musicianship of the singers is not equal to the performance of separate parts, the congregation may be taught, if only by repetition of the same piece from Sunday to Sunday, to execute music of moderate simplicity, and of distinctly melodious character, which they may all sing in unison, when each will take and give confidence. Were this practice extensively cultivated, it must be as extensively successful, and its success is eminently to be desired, not only as a means beyond all others of promoting congregational singing, but as a probable means also of displacing, to some extent let us hope, that grievous musical abomination and historical anachronism, the so-called Gregorian Chant, which is only rendered tolerable to hearers and singers by its being sung in unison by all the people present. The difficulty in the adoption of this excellent principle of singing the Canticles in unison is that there are so few extant specimens of their composition in this form as to compel either constant repetition of the same setting or the alternation of this with pieces in vocal harmony. We rejoice, then, to find the few extended by the one addition we have here noticed, for the wide acceptance of this piece will tend to the promulgation of the system.

Hear my Prayer ("Hör mein Bitten"). Composed by Mendelssohn, and transcribed for the Pianoforte by Arthur O'Leary.

REMINISCENCES of the works of the great composers are always welcome to the cultivated amateur, and we often wonder that "transcriptions"—or more properly "adaptations"—of the standard choral and instrumental compositions for our household instrument are not more multiplied. Mr. O'Leary's piece is rather a "meditation" on Mendelssohn's beautiful prayer, than a "transcription," for the word in its true sense signifies that every portion of the original work is transferred to the pianoforte, skill and judgment being shown in the arrangement of the vocal and instrumental score, so as to re-produce as much as possible the composer's intention. Commencing with a few bars of the soprano solo, Mr. O'Leary proceeds at once to the "Poco più di moto," and afterwards by a clever mixture of the voice-part with the accompaniment, succeeds in producing some highly effective passages. The piece may be well recommended both for practice and performance.

Serenade Italienne, pour Piano.
La Sylphide.
Par Alfred Jaell.

THESE two pianoforte pieces are excellent specimens of the most refined "drawing-room music," but they are by no means easy to execute with that neatness and precision which they demand. The "Serenade," has an exceedingly graceful theme, moving in $\frac{6}{8}$ rhythm, but the accompaniment is in four crotchets in the bar throughout. The hands can readily be separated when the subject is first given out; but afterwards each quaver in the melody has a group of six demisemiquavers to accompany it, and to play the four crotchets against the six groups is somewhat perplexing. Those who practise to overcome the difficulty will however be well repaid, for the piece is of so winning a nature that it cannot fail to please. The character of "La Sylphide" slightly resembles the "Serenade," as it moves in triplets of quavers in the treble, against two crotchets in the bass; but it is much easier to play where the subject is ornamented, as the hands do not in any place battle against each other. An enharmonic change on the 3rd page is a point worth noticing; it gives much freshness to the melody, and the return to the key is also extremely effective. Herr Jaell is so accomplished a pianist that it is scarcely necessary to say how well all the passages in these two pieces lie under the hand; but the composer, especially in the first composition, appeals to advanced players, and, as will be seen by our description of his "Serenade," scarcely perhaps believes that what is no difficulty to him, can be a difficulty to anybody else.

Sarabande, pour Piano. Par Woldemar Bargiel.

THIS is a successful example of the style of the old masters, and is brief and simple enough to make a pleasing little pianoforte piece for those who can appreciate the quaintness of this class of composition. It has an attractive theme, in E minor, and the harmonies throughout are not only good but appropriate. We know nothing of the name of this composer, but, judging from this specimen, there can be little doubt that he can write music of higher importance.

The Heart's Ease ("Tausendschön"). Song. By C. Eckert.

A SIMPLE and graceful theme to some verses, excellently translated from the original German, by John Oxenford. The accompaniment moves with the voice in four crotchets in the bar throughout; and the harmonies are in good keeping with the unpretending nature both of the poetry and the music. The song may be conscientiously recommended to all who desire to produce effect by expression rather than display.

Summer Time, or Beautiful July. Four-part song. Words by J. E. Carpenter, Esq. Music by Eardley Phillips.

WE think it a pity to give two titles to a musical composition, for as one must eventually be selected should it ever attain popularity, it is well that it should be chosen by the composer. Mr. Phillips has written a bright and tuneful theme to some glowing verses, and the vocal parts are flowing and easy to sing. There is a slight false relation between the G sharp in the soprano, and the G natural in the tenor, six bars before the conclusion, which we should like to see altered.

J. B. CRAMER AND CO.

Katie. Scotch song. Poetry by Eliza Cook.
Oh Linger (A song of Delos). Poetry by Mrs. Hemans.
Without thine ear. Poetry by Lord Byron.
Composed by Charles Salaman.

THESE three thoughtful and poetical settings of verses especially adapted for musical treatment will fully sustain the high reputation which Mr. Salaman has already obtained as a vocal writer. No. 1, although perhaps scarcely strikingly Scottish in character, is wedded to a theme thoroughly in sympathy with Miss Cook's graceful poetry. The first verse, with the transition from minor to major, is well contrasted in feeling with the second, which, expressive of the journey from, instead of to, a beloved "Katie," appropriately lingers in the minor throughout. No. 2 has a flowing melody, in $\frac{6}{8}$ rhythm, which is so skilfully woven in with the accompaniment as to require a good pianist, as well as a good vocalist, to give it due effect. Amongst the many noteworthy points in this song we must especially mention the treatment of the phrase, "Thou bark glide slowly," the repetition of the words, and the lengthening out of the feeling conveyed by them in the pianoforte part, showing how deeply the composer has studied the meaning of his text. No. 3, the words from Byron's "Corsair," commences with a pathetic little symphony, in E flat minor, the voice-part, beginning effectively on the fifth of the key-note harmony, being merely supported by chords. The subject is extremely melodious, and the change to the tonic major, on the words "At length, at length, 'twas noon," with the triplet arpeggio accompaniment, followed by the modulation into G minor, are happy instances of unexaggerated musical expression.

Thinking and Dreaming. Song. Words by Mrs. M. A Baines. Music by Berthold Tours.

AN unpretending little song, so skilfully and delicately harmonised as to raise it into a prominence far beyond the average compositions of its class. The theme is melodious, and well expresses the words. We wish when the birds are mentioned that the composer had not been tempted into introducing a "twiddle"—for if the birds have their "warblings," why should not the bees have their "hum?"—but this is a minor defect in a composition which claims every attention from the musician. We are especially pleased with the phrase in the subdominant, and the return to the first subject is extremely effective. This song should find favour with vocalists who desire something above the pattern ballad of the day.

The Wanderers. Song. Words by Rea. Music by Alfred Plumpton.

IT would scarcely be imagined that a child dying, and speaking to its mother with its latest breath, could be selected as a fit subject to be musically treated for amateur vocalists; but this composition, with hundreds of others of a similar character, convince us to the contrary, and we are bound therefore, to record that both poet and composer have been in the song before us thoroughly successful. The theme is extremely pathetic, and the harmonies are musician-like and appropriate throughout. The deep tragedy of the concluding lines,

> "They reached the land they had sought so long,
> The life that the world calls death."

has been most sympathetically set, the "Wanderers," we presume, being supposed to expire in one last embrace.

The Choice. Song. Words by Reginald Charles Oldknow. Music by Virginia Gabriel.

Unless reviewers are expected to follow, rather than to lead, public opinion, we cannot but feel somewhat surprised that a song like this should be submitted for critical judgment; for it can scarcely be supposed that, from a musical point of view, it can have the slightest claim upon our attention. If a childish tune, accompanied chiefly with tonic and dominant harmonies, can attract a sufficient number of the music-buying public to make the publication of such effusions profitable, so much the better for the publishers, and so much the worse for the art; but it can hardly be imagined that those who have higher views of the true aim of music should assist in disseminating such pieces. We have spoken of the puerility of the music, but lest our readers should imagine that it does not match with the words, here is the opening verse—

"First came a Count, who sigh'd as he laid at my feet a bouquet;
With thanks for his elegant present I paid, but to him I said nay!
And then came a Duke, who bracelet and rings in my basket would lay,
To reward him I whisper'd the prettiest things, but to him I said nay."

It would scarcely be credited that these lines should be written for "music;" but Virginia Gabriel has composed them, and the song is published in two keys, so that its beauties may be shared by vocalists with high and low registers. That the composition will be extensively bought and extensively sung there can be little doubt; and this is a "great fact," which should be taken to heart by those who constantly tell us that the love for high art is rapidly growing amongst the masses.

Augener and Co.

Playthings; for the Pianoforte. By Francis Edward Gladstone.

This composition, evidently moulded upon Schumann's "Kinderscenen," contains four little sketches, "The Humming Top," "The Broken Toy," "The Rocking Horse," and a Finale, illustrative of the child unsheathing his wooden sword and marching forth to mimic war. They are all well written and eminently suggestive of their titles; but the question that naturally suggests itself with all such pianoforte pieces, is, by whom are they intended to be played? We should of course imagine that they are expressly written for young children, but then they should be adapted to their limited mental and physical capacities; and with our experience of juvenile pupils, we are inclined to think that a little pianist who could do full justice to "The Humming Top," would have got "far above that sort of thing" in his play hours, and would certainly not spend his valuable time in useless grief over a "Broken Toy." Beyond this objection—which applies quite as much to many of the German compositions of this class—we have nothing but praise to offer. The wail of sorrow at the appearance of the now useless toy is well expressed in the music; and the "Rocking Horse" (which is in our opinion the best of the numbers), has a swing throughout, which excellently illustrates the monotony of the motion that children so much delight in. The last few bars of the conclusion are extremely happy. The March is good, although scarcely so much to our liking as the other pieces. The subject is bold, but the modulations seem hardly in character with so simple a theme, especially those in the four bars commencing the second part.

Henry Stead and Co.

Coquette. Polka de Salon; pour Piano. Par Alfred Noyer.

The line which divides a "Polka," from a "Polka de Salon," is, we presume, sufficiently understood by purchasers, and therefore it will not be necessary for us to decide whether Mr. Noyer's Dance really justifies its title. It is, however, a spirited Polka, and the passages, which lie well under the hand, are both attractive and brilliant. The weakest part of the piece is where the composer quits his themes and degenerates into scales upon tonic and dominant harmonies. The substitution of "padding" for episodes which grow naturally out of the general design of a composition is always a sign of feebleness.

J. McDowell and Co.

Pastorale, pour le Piano. Par. C. Bachmann.

This Pastorale has many good points. The first theme, accompanied with the usual pedal, is characteristic, but scarcely so attractive as the second subject, which is extremely graceful and melodious. The whole piece is simplicity itself, but is none the less welcome on that account. It is healthy music; and, as such, deserves a word of recognition.

Barcarolle, pour Piano. Par H. Kowalski.

We like this Barcarolle better than either of the two pieces by the same composer which we recently reviewed. There is a decided character about the principal theme which ensures it a welcome on its re-appearance; and the episodes are also highly attractive. The subject, in the subdominant, is an excellent contrast to the opening melody, and the passages with which it is afterwards ornamented are effective and in good taste. We can conscientiously recommend this composition to pianists of moderate ability.

Si j'etais Roi, d'Ad. Adam. Reverie pour le Piano. Par S. Lambert.

A weak air by a weak composer is a strange theme for a Reverie; and we can scarcely wonder, therefore, that the author of this trifle has produced but a feeble piece. Beyond a few bars of introduction, and a kind of variation upon the subject (a mere exercise upon repeated notes), there is indeed nothing attempted; but amateurs may find attractive qualities in the "Reverie," which are hidden from us.

Polonia. Mazurka pour Piano. Par Michel Bergson.

As a writer of light pieces this composer may, we think, take a place; for although there is nothing particularly original in his Mazurka, it is effective pianoforte music, and has the true Mazurka character. A good point is gained by the alternation of the minor and major key at the commencement, and the principal theme is graceful. We think it a pity when these foreign pieces are published in England that the continental fingering should be retained. We know, by experience, how English pupils are perplexed by the attempt to find a fifth finger on their hand; and although they may be constantly told that the second finger means the first, and the third means the second, it is a rare thing to find any child who can recollect it.

Original Correspondence.

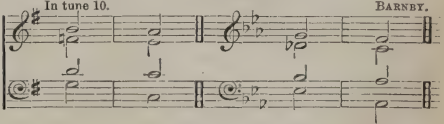
To the Editor of the Musical Times.

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me a space in your next issue to reply to the review, which appears in your August number, on my small book of Hymn tunes, &c.

Another "Amateur dabbler" having ventured to rush into print, by publishing a few Hymn tunes, &c., has brought down upon himself the wrath of your reviewer, and his sledge-hammer has been used with no sparing hand.

Your reviewer's first objection is of so little moment, that it leads one almost to consider that he was determined to pick out something to object to. Again, he says, "making the leading note in the chord of the dominant 7th descend a whole tone in proceeding to the following chord, as B, A, which occurs in tune 10, bar three, and in other pieces." Now, Sir, does your critic mean to say that the leading note of the dominant 7th, should, as is the stiff rule laid down, always ascend? If so, I need only refer him for an example to an anthem, written by Mr. Barnby, "Make me a clean heart, O God," bar 24 to 25, in which he will find that the leading note descends a whole tone, exactly as it occurs in my tune, as per the following example:—

In tune 10. Barnby.



Your reviewer then goes on and says: "further, proceeding from a chord of G minor, with B flat at the top, to the first inversion of a chord of the minor 9th, as ("of," in the article), G, with B natural, in the bass, which we have in tune 6, bars two and ten, and in chant 9." If your critic will again refer to Mendelssohn's "St. Paul," recit. No. 36, at the words, "and there is no breath in them," he will find the same progression for the chord of A minor. And lastly, he says, "having the root of the chord of the dominant major 9th, in one of the inner parts, so as to bring the four notes in alphabetical succession, C, D, E, and F sharp, into combination, which is to be found in tune 10, bar 5, and in many other places." I will now ask your reviewer to look over Dr. Wesley's beautiful anthem, "O Lord, my God," or, "Solomon's song," he will then find that the same chord occurs no less than three times, and the parts distributed exactly as in my tune No. 10, &c., as the following example will show—

In tune 10. DR. WESLEY.

So that at the same time the hammer is falling on my head, the Doctor receives a rather severe blow; but then the Doctor is quite able to defend the chords he makes use of against any of the sledge-hammer gentlemen connected with the paper in question. As to the melodies not being of sufficient interest to atone for these at least questionable harmonies, I shall leave entirely to the judgment of the public, and I may, at least, venture to prophecy, that the majority of the tunes will become as popular as many that have been written by one who is most intimately connected with the Musical Times. Your critic then goes on and says, "Holy! Holy!" "Jerusalem the golden," and "Abide with me," are neither so good in themselves, nor so popular in character, as the accepted tunes to these poems, and are therefore not at all likely to supersede them." To this I shall only reply by quoting your reviewer's own words, and which will be found in the following review in the same number—"possession is nine points of the law," and "it would be exceedingly difficult to displace those which have already become the favourites of the public." I never for one moment entertained the idea that my tunes would supersede the standard tunes alluded to, but that at least they might occasionally be sung in places where a change was required.

Will you now, Sir, allow me to give my opinion (formed some time ago) with regard to musical reviews, so far as "Amateur dabblers" are concerned, and it is this:—that we must not at any time attempt to either play or sing (much more make an attempt at writing music), only in our own, or friends' private rooms, unless it be that a "professor" should call upon us to take part in some chorus, or part-song at a concert (free of charge), the benefit of which will be for the "professor," and this boon we must esteem as a very great favour.

Now, Sir, I fully expect, that having had the audacity to try to vindicate myself against your reviewer's attack, not only the sledge-hammer, but Bessemer's steam-hammer, will be brought into play.

Yours respectfully,

J. J. H. TAYLOR.

Almondbury, Aug. 12th, 1872.

[The quotation marks in the above seem to imply that the words "Amateur dabbler," are taken from the review in question; whereas, neither do they occur therein, nor is there one syllable expressing a supposition that Mr. Taylor is not a musical professor. His title of Honorary Organist, extracted from his own title-page, is no indication of his amateurship, for more than one instance might be named of professional musicians who give their services in the organist's office—a liberality that is scarcely to be commended in professors or amateurs, since it must keep some one out of an engagement who needs the salary. The passages cited in the letter refer not, in the article, to the points in question as faults, but mention them only as exemplifying "novel views," of the composer; his letter disclaims the originality of the examples, and declares them to have been copied from particular passages in accepted authors. It surely cannot be that the fact of Barnby, or Mendelssohn, or Wesley, or even Mr. Taylor, having written such or such a progression, establishes a law for its use; were this so, the very many other unusual, if not unprecedented incidents in the little volume under consideration would in like manner become legitimatized by their appearance there. It is not too much to aver that there is no fault in harmony of which an instance may not be found in the works of the very greatest musicians; but the alchemy of genius has not the power to transmute these slips into beauties, and their accidental occurrence in the highest places is no warrant for their wilful extraction in other men's music. Occur where they may, the reviewer does not admire them, but said not so much in the review. Our best artists, if they slip, so dazzle our ears with the surrounding beauty, that we are deaf to a casual error; perhaps Mr. Taylor may consider that he does so, if he can admit to himself that any of the peculiarities in his book which have been pointed out, and the many more that have not, be faulty—perhaps others may consider that he does so—perhaps not. One needs not be determined "to pick out," when "something to object to" stands obviously in the way from page to page of the book; but, that the progression by similar motion from 7th to 8th is of little moment, is an assertion that must be disputed; the ugliness of this progression is so extreme as to account for there being, in many works on theory, no law against its use, for it would seem a pleonasm to forbid what is so obviously bad that no one would willingly fall into its commission. It is painful to suppose, but impossible to avoid supposing, that our self-styled "Amateur dabbler," is so misled by the praises of his friends as to expect that his music would command admiration and applause from those who regarded it otherwise than through the medium of friendship; he flatters himself extravagantly in assuming that his little book with its great faults could excite the wrath of anybody, or need a thing so ponderous as a "sledge-hammer" to crush it. The discussion would be tedious to uninterested readers, or the list of examples of his novel views should here be multiplied, and small erudition would be needed to prove that many of these were radically wrong be they copied from whose works soever they may.

THE WRITER OF THE ARTICLE.]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—In reading Burney's "History of Music," some time ago, I was struck with some remarks he makes on the subject of the changes on bells, considered as furnishing melodies suitable for harmonic treatment. He says, "Mersennus in his 'Harm. Universelle,' published 1636, has enumerated these changes and reduced to musical notation those of the hexachord (720 in number) as an illustration of the amazing variety which may be given to the arrangement of only six sounds in melody. It must not, however, be imagined that all the changes in the above table would be equally agreeable if introduced in an air, yet, in the almost infinite number offered to a musician's choice, many would doubtless frequently occur which would not only be pleasing but new."

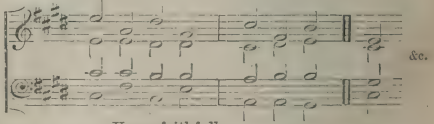
I was forcibly reminded of the truth of these remarks by recognising in a tune of Mr. Reinagle's (published in the "Supplemental Hymn and Tune Book," and named Hawley), one of the two changes on eight bells which are particularly admired by ringers, and have special names given to them.

These changes are as follows:—

QUEEN'S. TITTUMS

It will be seen that in the tune I speak of, Mr. Reinagle, whether intentionally or not, has introduced the second of those changes.

I subjoin the quotation—



Yours faithfully,

E. S. BENGOUGH, M.A., Mus. Bac.

Oxford, Aug. 1872.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

DEAR SIR,—In the notice of "The Village Organist," vol. II., edited by T. Richard Matthews, B.A. (Musical Times, August 1), I find the following remark concerning the trifle I contributed: "Mr. E. Silas (whose Pastorals is charmingly quaint, but must lose some of the effect it ought to make, because the right hand has to play in it a portion of the accompaniment as well as the chief melody, and so cannot devote a separate manual to the latter, which would be desirable, as a means of giving it individual prominence.") Allow me to say that the Rev. Mr. Matthews wished the piece written so as to be playable either on the organ or the harmonium; the ordinary harmonium having only one manual, the suggestion by the critic would not have been practicable under the circumstances; some portion of the Andante would have been also more difficult

"Rejoice in the Lord."

FULL ANTHEM FOR FOUR VOICES.

COMPOSED BY SIR GEORGE J. ELVEY, Mus. Doc., Oxon.
Organist to Her Majesty, and Organist of St. George's Chapel, Windsor.

Psalm xxxiii. v. 1. 2.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: 751, Broadway.

Allegro moderato.
Treble.
Re - joice, re - joice, re - joice in the Lord, Re - joice,
Alto.
Re - joice, re - joice, re - joice in the Lord, Re -
Tenor (8ve. lower).
Re - joice, re - joice, re - joice in the Lord, Re -
Bass.
Re - joice, re - joice, re - joice in the Lord, Re -
Allegro moderato.
Organ.
f
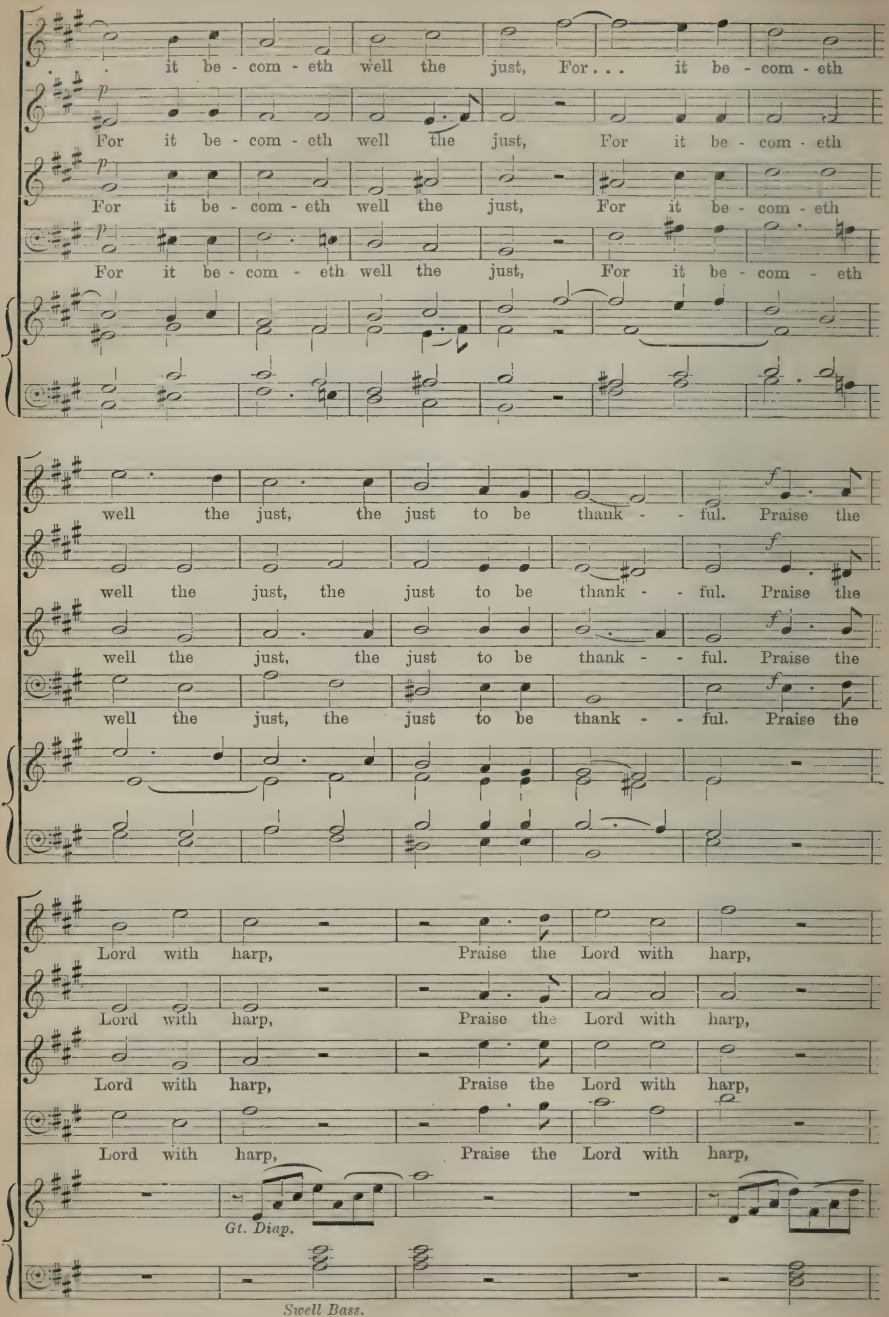
p re-joice, re-joice, re - joice in the Lord, O ye righ - teous, For .
- joice, re - joice, re - joice in the Lord, O ye righ - teous,
- joice, re - joice, . . re - joice in the Lord, O ye righ - teous,
- joice, re - joice, re - joice in the Lord, O ye righ - teous,
p



it be - com - eth well the just, For . . . it be - com - eth
For it be - com - eth well the just, For it be - com - eth
For it be - com - eth well the just, For it be - com - eth
For it be - com - eth well the just, For it be - com - eth well the just, the just to be thank - - ful. Praise the well the just, the just to be thank - - ful. Praise the well the just, the just to be thank - - ful. Praise the well the just, the just to be thank - - ful. Praise the Lord with harp, Praise the Lord with harp,
Lord with harp, Praise the Lord with harp,
Lord with harp, Praise the Lord with harp,
Lord with harp, Praise the Lord with harp,
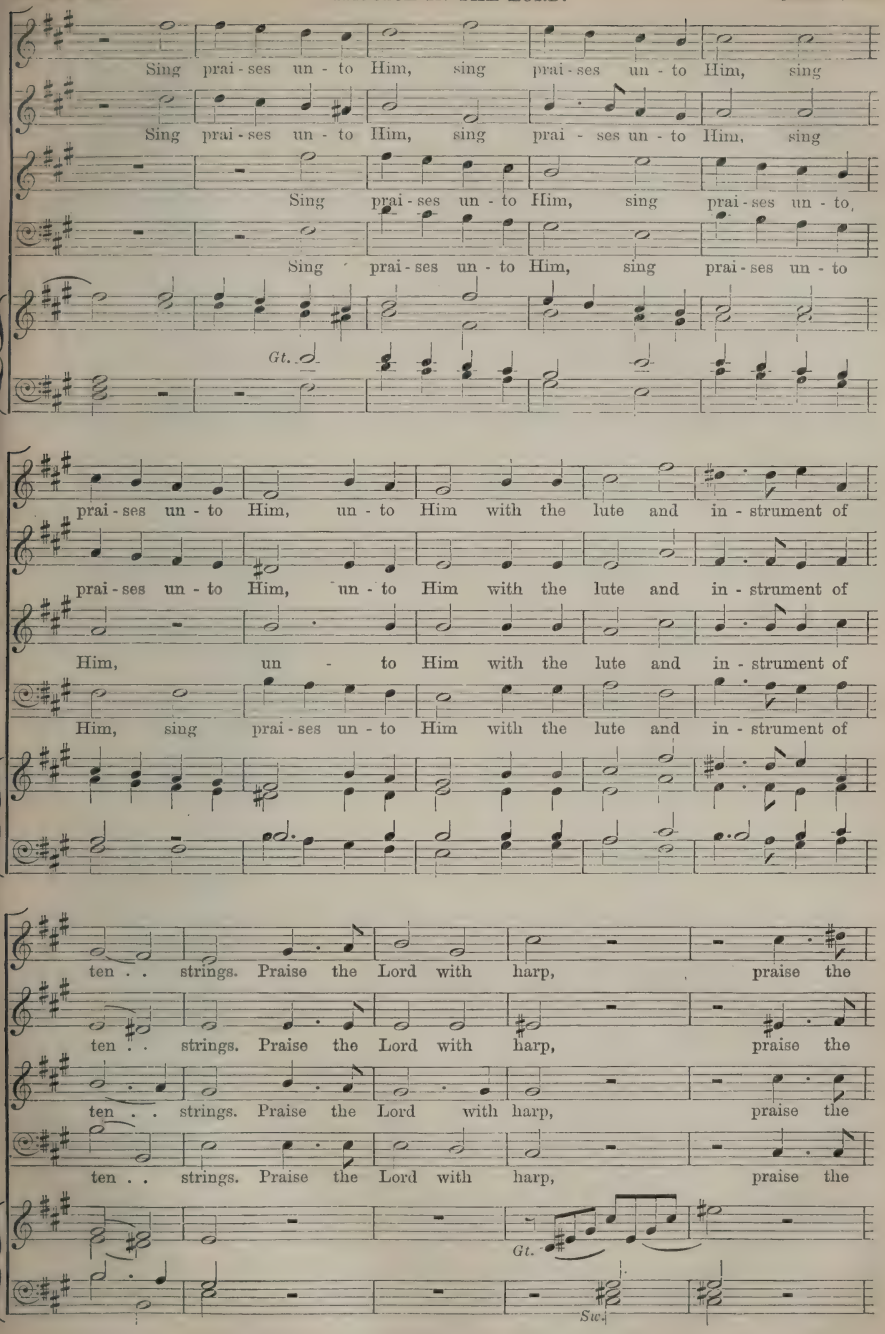
Gt. Diap.
Swell Bass.



Sing prai - ses un - to Him, sing prai - ses un - to Him, sing
Sing prai - ses un - to Him, sing prai - ses un - to Him, sing
Sing prai - ses un - to Him, sing prai - ses un - to,
Sing prai - ses un - to Him, sing prai - ses un - to Gt.
prai - ses un - to Him, un - to Him with the lute and in - strument of prai - ses un - to Him, un - to Him with the lute and in - strument of Him, un - to Him with the lute and in - strument of Him, sing prai - ses un - to Him with the lute and in - strument of ten . . strings. Praise the Lord with harp, praise the ten . . strings. Praise the Lord with harp, praise the ten . . strings. Praise the Lord with harp, praise the ten . . strings. Praise the Lord with harp, praise the Gt.
Swell

Lord with harp, Sing prai-ses un-to Him, with the lute,
Lord with harp, Sing prai - ses un - - to Him, with the Lord with harp, Sing prai-ses un-to Him, with the lute, the Lord with harp, Sing prai - ses, sing prai-ses un-to Him, with . .
Gt.
with the lute and in-stru-ment of ten . . strings, Re -
lute, the lute and in-stru-ment of ten . . strings, Re -
lute, the lute and in-stru-ment of ten . . strings, Re -
. . . the lute and in-stru-ment of ten . . strings, Re - f
- joice, re-joice, re-joice in the Lord, O ye righ - - teous.
- joice, re-joice, re-joice in the Lord, O ye righ - - teous.
- joice, re-joice, re-joice in the Lord, O ye righ - - teous.
- joice, re-joice, re-joice in the Lord, O ye righ - - teous.

A Folio Edition of this Anthem is also published by Novello, Ewer & Co., price 9d.

to perform by giving the accompaniment to one hand only, and would have proved thus contrary to the object of the "easy voluntaries."

I remain, dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
August 13, 1872. E. SILAS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—Will you kindly inform me in the Musical Times the date of Auber's visit to England, and also recommend some good and complete biography of that composer.

By so doing you will greatly oblige,
LESTORCQ.

August 21st, 1872.

[Perhaps some of our readers can supply our correspondent with the desired information.—ED. Musical Times.]

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of concerts, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded as early as possible after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot be inserted. Our correspondents must specifically denote the date of each concert, for without such date no notice can be taken of the performance.

Our correspondents will greatly oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all Subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music pages are always stereotyped, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

A WORKER.—The somewhat rambling letter of our correspondent appears to refer to some private grievance, with which a public journal can have no sympathy.

HENRY W. REEVE.—Apply to the Professor of Music at either of the Universities. It is quite immaterial where the candidate resides.

F. LICHTENBERGER.—The translation from the "Dresden Chroniele," furnished by one correspondent, has already appeared in the pages of a contemporary.

A SUBSCRIBER.—The idea of there being two roots to a chord is a manifest absurdity. The root is, as the word implies, the foundation of the harmony; but the lowest note is the base. In the chord mentioned—E G C.—the root is C, but the bass-note is E.

Brief Summary of Country News.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this Summary; as all the notices are either collated from the local papers, or supplied to us by occasional correspondents.

CAPE TOWN, CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—The following was the musical programme at the celebration of the anniversary of the Augsburg Confession, in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in June last. Morning service—anthem, "Now unto Him" (Smart); solo, "Maker of all, by all adored" (Gluck); motett, "The heavens declare the glory of Jehovah" (Marcello); solo, "Rejoice greatly;" chorus, "Hallelujah "(Handel). Evening service—chorus, "Sing, O sing and magnify the Lord" (Bradbury); solo, "Gratias agimus" (Guglielmi); anthem, "The glory of the Lord" (Sir John Goss); solo, "I love the Lord" (Miles Bennett); chorus, "Hallelujah" (Handel). The choir was conducted by Mr. J. H. Ashley, and Mr. J. B. Smithers presided at the organ.

DOLGELLY.—Mr. W. F. Crossley, organist of St. Mary's Church, assisted by his clever pupil, Mr. Sykes, gave, on Saturday afternoon, the 10th ult., an interesting selection of music from the works of Handel, Bach, Batiste, Mendelssohn, Wely, Hesse, and Crossley; all of which were executed in a highly effective manner. In an air with variations, by Hesse, Mr. Sykes exhibited remarkable skill as an executant, and proved himself to be possessed of great power of pedaling as well as of fingering. The church was tolerably well filled by the principal families of the neighbourhood. It is to be hoped that the present recital will be followed, at intervals, by others of a similar character.

DOUGLAS.—A highly successful open-air concert was given in the Nunnery Grounds on the 14th ult., before a large audience. The arrangements were excellent. About the centre of the field, immediately opposite the Nunnery mansion, a creditably designed orchestral platform, capable of accommodating some hundreds of vocalists, had been erected, the cover and side wings being formed at obtuse angles with the back, so that the sound would be thrown forward toward the mansion. The orchestra consisted of a band of wind and string instruments, ten in number, under the leadership of Mr. Phillips, of Liverpool. These were placed in front of the stage; and immediately behind, occupying in two rows, the entire length of the platform, were the female members of Miss Wood's class and of the local choirs, whilst behind these again were the male voices. Mr. J. Saunders, conductor of the Liverpool Musical Society, acted efficiently as conductor, and Miss Wood presided at the pianoforte. Several vocal solos were most effectively sung, amongst which must be particularly mentioned Madame Billinie Porter's "Softly sighs," from "Der Freischütz," and Handel's "Let me wander not unseen" (both of which displayed to great advantage her excellent voice and style), Mrs. A. Spittall's "Oh, how delightful" (Molloy), and songs by Messrs. Barton and Kerruish, which elicited warm and well-deserved applause. The pieces sung by the choir were given in a manner which evidenced the result of careful training, especially a part-song, with chorus, "Hark, 'tis the trumpet sounding," which was enthusiastically re-demanded. Miss Wood must be warmly congratulated upon the success of her first out-door concert, than which none ever given in Douglas has been appreciated more genuinely, or received with greater enthusiasm; and it is to be hoped that she will not allow next season to pass without making provision for a similar entertainment.

EDINBURGH.—Miss Blanche Reives's London Company has been recently performing with much success at the "Operetta House." In the comic Opera, A suitor at sea, Miss Reives, both by her singing and acting, elicited warm and deserved applause, and Miss Beryl (who has a good contralto voice) has also been most favourably received. Messrs. Suchet Champion, Distin, and H. C. Sanders materially strengthen the cast of the opera, which is well suited as a medium for the display of the talent of the company. A good word is likewise due to Madile. Marie D'Annetta for her pianoforte performances.

GILDERSOME.—On Saturday, the 3rd ult., the new organ for St. Peter's Church, built by Mr. Hepworth, of Wakefield, was opened by Mr. J. V. Roberts, Mus. Bac., Oxon, organist and choirmaster of the Parish Church, Halifax, who displayed the capabilities of the instrument to much advantage.

HERNE.—An amateur concert was given at this beautiful little village on Tuesday evening, the 13th ult, for the benefit of the choir of St. Martin's Church. The entertainment, which took place in the school-rooms, was exceedingly well attended, and we are glad to say that a satisfactory sum was realised. It is scarcely fair, perhaps, to criticise the exertions of amateurs, but, amongst the vocalists, we must especially mention Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Elmslie, and Mr. Lee, whose singing of several solos elicited warm and well-deserved applause. A humorous song by Mr. M. S. Skeffington (who, during his short stay, has occasionally officiated as organist at the church,) was received with much favour; and a good word must also be said for the cornet playing of Mr. Rayner. The village choir, assisted by several visitors from Herne Bay, gave with commendable care Rossini's "Carnovale" and Sullivan's "Hush thee, my babie," under the steady conductorship of the vicar, the Rev. J. R. Buchanan, whose exertions in providing appropriate service-music in his church are well known and appreciated in the neighbourhood. The effect of the vocal music was much aided by the judicious pianoforte accompaniment of Mrs. Taylor.

NEWTON NOTTAGE.—An organ recital was given by Mr. C. Warwick Jordan, Mus. Bac., Oxon, in the church at Newton Nottage, Glamorganshire, on Tuesday evening, the 30th July. The organ was erected by Messrs. Walker and Son last year, and has given great satisfaction. Mr. Warwick Jordan's performance upon it on this occasion was much appreciated by the large audience present.

SCARBOROUGH.—The large organ that has been in course of erection at St. Martin's for several months past was formally inaugurated on Tuesday, the 20th ult. The instrument has been partly employed in the services a short time; but it has not been, until now, so far complete as to allow of its being fully used. The instrument is one of the largest in Yorkshire. The builders are Messrs. Harrison and Harrison, of Durham, who are to be congratulated on the success they have attained in this very handsome specimen of their workmanship. The generosity of Miss Craven—a generosity she has constantly exercised in support of every movement connected with St. Martin's—the organ grew out of its proposed proportions, and very shortly assumed the form it now presents. The interior, or what constitutes the organ proper, comprises the five departments of Great organ, Swell organ, Choir organ, Echo organ, and Pedal organ, containing together nearly three thousand pipes. The formal opening was made the occasion of special services at the church, where large congregations assembled both in the morning and evening. Shortly before noon, Dr. Sloman took his seat at the organ and entered on a performance in which he displayed the quality of the several stops or varieties of tone in the instrument, especially illustrating the capability of the Echo organ. The solo stops generally are of very fine tone, and the chorus work is brilliant and telling, the reeds being distinctive and characteristic without coarseness. Dr. Sloman accompanied the choral part of the service, which was opened with a processional hymn. Morning prayer was said by the Rev. J. Moore-Lister, curate of St. Martin's; the first lesson was read by the Rev. Canon Blunt; the second lesson by the Ven. Archdeacon Long; and the sermon was preached by His Grace the Archbishop, who took for his text St. Luke ix. 33. In the evening the organ was well displayed by the Rev. J. B. Dykes, Mus. Doc. Evening prayer was said by the Rev. J. Moore-Lister; the first lesson was read by the Rev. G. Wasse; the second lesson by the Rev. F. de Castro; and the Rev. Canon Trevor preached from St. Luke xviii. 10. Dr. Dykes accompanied the service throughout, and very successfully brought out many excellent effects. The two services were of an exceedingly interesting character. The offertories amounted to about £35.

SELBY.—The Annual Festival of the York Diocesan Choral Association was held in the Abbey Church on Thursday, the 25th July, when 280 singers, of whom 130 were surpliced, attended from sixteen parishes of the diocese. Service commenced at three o'clock. The Proper Psalm (No. cvii.) was sung to a single chant by Dr. Corfe. The Cantate and Deus were sung to a very effective unison service in G. composed by G. A. Macfarren, and the anthem was by J. Baptiste Calkin, "I will always give thanks unto the Lord." The Rev. J. Powell Metcalfe conducted, and Walter Parrett, Esq., Organist of Magdalen College, Oxford, presided at the organ. The Rev. Canon Woodford, D.D., Vicar of Leeds, was announced to preach, but, to the great disappointment of all, a telegram was received an hour before service commenced to say that serious illness would prevent him from fulfilling his engagement, and the secretary, the Rev. Henry Greeves, of Selby, had to fill his place. The sermon preached by the rev. gentleman under such trying circumstances proved to be suitable and interesting, and was listened to with deep attention by the large congregation present. The musical portion of the service was very satisfactory, the time being steady throughout, and there being a more general attention to light and shade than is often observable in these large gatherings. The collection was in advance of former years.

Sheffield.—The Sheffield Choral Society held its first annual meeting on the 25th July at the Mail Coach Inn, West Street, Mr. Makin in the chair. The Society, established at the commencement of the present year, comprises chiefly the principal members of the late Sheffield Choral Union, who, being dissatisfied with the terms and manner in which the proposed amalgamation of the various Choral Societies was intended to be brought about, held themselves aloof, and constituted this Association on its present foundation, strictly limiting the number of its members to six to a part, in order to ensure thorough efficiency. The balance-sheet laid before the meeting showed that the Society had made a clear gain of £16 19s. 3d. during the six months of its existence. The report having been adopted, a vote of thanks was passed to the conductor, Mr. E. J. Lee, for his valuable and gratuitous services; to Mr. Eyre for the use of the room and the loan of the piano; and to the chairman, vice-chairman, hon. secretary (Mr. T. Charlesworth), and other officers. Mr. E. J. Lee, the conductor, and the officers were unanimously re-elected.

St. Marnock's.—On Tuesday the 20th ult., an organ recital was given in the Parish Church by Mr. J. Barratt (organist of S. John's Episcopal Church, Glasgow), upon the organ recently erected by Messrs. Foster and Andrew's, Hull. Although the programme was chiefly composed of classical music, the national airs seemed to please most, especially "Scots wha hae," "Jock o' Hazeldean," and "Auld Lang Syne." The capabilities of the instrument were fully tested by the organist, who played throughout with great care and precision, and elicited much applause.

Sydney.—An amateur concert was given in the City Mission Chapel, Sussex Street, on Tuesday evening, June 11th, and was a complete success, both as regards the object for which it was given and the excellence with which the music was rendered. The first portion of the programme was devoted entirely to the first part of the Creation, the solos being sung by Mrs. Craven, Miss Chandler, Mr. T. Pidgeon, and Mr. W. C. Weir. The second part consisted of selections from St. Paul, Elijah, Messiah, Samson, and Judas Maccabæus. Mrs. Craven was excellent in "Let the bright seraphim," from Samson, and Miss Chandler sung "With verdure clad" with much effect. Mr. Weir was very successful in the bass music of the Creation, especially in "Rolling in foaming billows," which was warmly and deservedly applauded. The choir (numbering about 60 voices) gave the choruses with much precision, particularly the "Hallelujah" and "Lift up your heads." Mr. J. T. Medcalf conducted, and Mr. T. W. Craven presided at the harmonium with his usual skill. Altogether this was one of the best concerts ever given in Sydney, and reflects great credit on the gentlemen who took such an active part in the general arrangements.

Ventnor.—On Wednesday evening, the 31st July, the members of the Ventnor Choral Society met at the residence of the Rev. A. L. B. Peile, for the purpose of presenting their conductor (Mr. E. Lemare) with a token of the esteem in which he is held by them. The testimonial, which consisted of four handsomely-bound volumes of "Bach's Organ Music," was presented by the Rev. A. L. B. Peile, who expressed, on behalf of the subscribers, their appreciation of Mr. Lemare's untiring zeal and patience since the formation of the class. Mrs. Lemare was presented at the same time with a silver fruit knife.

Welshpool.—The seventh annual choral festival of the parochial choirs constituting the Welshpool and Newtown Choral Association, was held at St. Mary's Church on Thursday, the 8th ult. The morning service was full choral, the Preces, Glorias, and Responses being sung to Tallis, the Nicene Creed to Barnby's arrangement from Merbecke and the Kyrie to Forbes. Eighteen choirs, representing nearly four hundred voices, and drawn from all parts of the county, took part in the services. The anthem was Turle's "This is the day which the Lord hath made," which was sung with great effect. Evensong was celebrated at a quarter past six, when there was again a very large congregation, the spacious church being crowded to inconvenience. The anthem was Sir John Goss's "I will magnify Thee, O God." At both services the anthems were finely sung, and the same remark applies very generally to the musical arrangements of the festival. Mr. Inglis Bervon, who conducted, kept the choirs together admirably, and to the exertions of this gentleman the success which attended the meeting must be chiefly attributed.

Yatton, Somerset.—A choral festival was held in the fine old church of St. Mary, on Tuesday, the 6th ult., for the united deaneries of Chew and Portishead, in the diocese of Bath and Wells. Eighteen choirs were present, the total number being 272, which was largely in excess of that of previous years. Half-an-hour before the morning service the unsurpliced choirs were seated in the first benches of the nave and aisles, arranged according to voices. The surpliced choirs and clergy met and robed at the schools, from which they walked in procession, entering the church by the west doors. The great length of the procession (over 100 choristers, and about 30 clergy) rendered the singing of a processional hymn impossible until the church was reached. Hymn 386 (A. and M.) was then sung as they proceeded up the nave to the stalls in the choir and chancel, where they divided to their respective sides. The Rev. J. G. Alford was conductor; the Rev. E. B. Brackenbury, minor canon of Bristol, intoned the service; and Mr. John Barrett, organist of St. John's, Bedminster, presided with great ability at the fine organ. Anglican chants were used to Psalms and Canticles. The anthem was "O praise the Lord, all ye heathen" (Earl Wilton), the semi-chorus being sung by the Yatton and East Clevedon choirs only. The sermon was preached by the Rev. E. G. Sandford, chaplain to the Bishop of Exeter, from John ii. 17. The recessional hymn was "Brightly gleams our banner." At luncheon, which was given in the vicarage grounds, the toast of "Church and State" was proposed by the Rev. Prebendary Barnard, vicar and rural dean, and "God save the Queen," was sung by the choirs. At the evening service Gregorian tunes were used to the Psalms and Canticles, the brilliant organ modulations and variations by Mr. Barrett calling for special remark; and the morning anthem was repeated. The preacher at this service was the Rev. Prebendary Ainslie. The handsome church was prettily decorated with flowers, and both services were attended by crowded congregations.

Organ Appointments.—Mr. Thos. Ospey to St. Mark's, Rosherville, Gravesend.——Mr. George Kennett (of Westminster Abbey) to St. Mary's Parish Church, Folkestone.——Mr. Hamilton White (late organist of Holy Trinity, Whitehaven,) to the parish church, East Retford, Notts.——Mr. G. L. Miller (late of Fairfield Wesleyan Chapel), to St. James's Chapel, Woolton, Liverpool.——Mr. Thomas R. Willis to Dartmouth Episcopal Chapel.——Mr. H. C. Nixon, to St. Mary Magdalen Church, St. Leonards-on-sea.——Mr. John Edward Naylor, to St. Mark's Church, Marylebone Road.——Mr. G. R. Egerton, organist and choirmaster, St. Saviour's, St. George's Square, to St. Michael's, Chester Square.

DURING THE LAST MONTH,
Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

GLADSTONE, W. H., Esq., M.P.—Certain portions of the Communion Service, set to music with an Introit. 8vo., 1s.

SHEPPARD, Rev. H. FLEETWOOD.—Plain Song Service for the Holy Communion, adapted from the Amiens Liturgy. 8vo., 1s.

WHYLEY, Rev. E. B.—The Office of the Holy Communion. 8vo., 1s. 6d.

MONK, Dr. E. G.—The Apostles' Creed, set to music chiefly in Recitative for Voices in Unison, with an Organ accompaniment. 8vo., 3d.

BLAKELEY, WILLIAM.—The Nicene Creed. Folio, 1s. 6d.

LOARING, JAMES.—Te Deum and Jubilate, set to music in Chant form. 8vo., 6d.

JORDAN C. WARWICK.—Benedictus, founded on the 8th Gregorian tone. 3d.

—— Processional Hymn. "The King of Saints."—Offertory Sentence for Harvest-tide, "He that soweth." Together 3d.

MATTHEWS, T. R.—Praise, O praise our Heavenly King. Harvest Thanksgiving Hymn. 1d.

TILLEARD, JAMES.—Soon and for ever. Choral Hymn, written by the Rev. Dr. Monsell. 8vo., 3d.

ARMSTEAD, W.—God save our Queen and bless our Prince, for four voices. 8vo., 2d.

WAGNER, R.—Grand March with Chorus, from the Opera Tannhæuser. 8vo., 4d.

MARLES, H.—Let me hear my Julia's voice. Song, 1s. 6d.

HECHT, EDWARD.—Eleänore. Song, 1s. 6d.

—— Be strong to hope, O heart. Trio for Female Voices. 1s. 6d.

HAYDN.—The Seasons. Violino primo, 16s.; Violino secondo, 13s. 6d.; Viola, 10s. 6d.; Violoncello è basso, 13s. 6d.

GLADSTONE, F. E.—Preludes and other short Pieces for the Organ. Set 2. 1s. 6d.

SCHUBERT, FRANZ.—The Lord is my Shepherd. The 23rd Psalm. Quartett for Female Voices. 8vo., 4d.

Just published. Second edition.

VIVENTE. Grand Galop de Concert. "This is a bold inspiriting galop, melodious and effective."—Musical Standard.

FIRST TARANTELLA. "VILLAGE REVELS." Impromptu characteristic. Composed by William Blakeley, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Price 4s. each, or post free on receipt of 24 stamps, from Mr. Wm. Blakeley, Warrengate, Wakefield.

WANTED, an ASSISTANT PUPIL, one who could take a semi-choral Service, in return for board, lodging, and lessons on the Organ and Harmony, new organ of three manuals, two and a third of pedals. Address Organist, 4, St. John's-villas, Mansfield, Notts.

A YOUNG LADY, Gentlewoman born, desires to meet with a COMPANIONSHIP to a Lady; reads and writes Italian, French, and English. Excellent references. M. L., 1, Berners-street, W.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC, Quartett Playing, and Harmony. Mr. Combe's Elementary Classes for the above subjects will shortly commence. Address 17, Westbourne-terrace, North.

ORGAN to be SOLD CHEAP, giving up the premises. A fine CC ORGAN, two sets of keys, 16 stops, 2½ octaves of pedals, suitable for Church or Chapel. Also a beautiful SMALL ORGAN, solid mahogany case, with six stops. Apply at J. Whittaker's, 22, Church-street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

Now ready, small 4to., price 2s. 6d.

ANGLICAN PSALTER CHANTS, Single and Double, edited by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart., etc., and EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This work contains nearly 400 Chants; which are appropriated to "Venite, exultemus Domino," the Daily and Proper Psalms, &c.; those for each Service occupying a separate page and affording several Series, suitable to each daily portion of the Psalter, from which choice may be made. The Chants have been selected with especial reference to the position of the Reciting-note.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

VENI, CREATOR SPIRITUS. Set to Music by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon, &c.

For general or Festival use; for male voices and four-part chorus, with Organ Accompaniment. ad lib. Price 3d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE ANGLICAN CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, Edited by E. G. MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper, 1s.; cloth, 2s.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co. Oxford: Parker.

Sixth Edition.

THE ANGLICAN CHANT-BOOK, edited by E. G. MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper cover, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d. Large Edition, cloth, 4s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

OUSELEY AND MONK'S PSALTER AND CANTICLES, pointed for Chanting. Second Edition. Authorised by his Grace the Archbishop of York. 24mo., without chants, 1s.; with Proper Psalms, 1s. 3d.; Proper Psalms, separately, 3d.; small 4to., with chants, 5s.; large 4to., £1 1s.; each voice part, separately, 2s. Canticles, score, small quarto., 9d.; separate parts, 3d.; words only, 24mo., 1½d. Novello, Ewer & Co., and Parker & Co.

Ninth Edition.

JOULE'S COLLECTION OF 527 CHANTS, 57 RESPONSES, &c. Price, 5s. 6d.; sep. vocal parts, 2s. each.—Tonic Sol-fa Notation. Score, 1s. 6d.

The Chants are selected with due reference to the position of the Reciting-notes.

SUPPLEMENT to the PREVIOUS EDITIONS of the ABOVE, containing Chants for the Venite, &c. Price 1s.

THE PSALTER, PROPER PSALMS, HYMNS and CANTICLES. Pointed for Chanting by B. St. J. B. JOULE. (Large type.) Price 2s. 6d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

Seventh Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. 18mo., price 1s., in cloth, 1s. 6d.

Fourth Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. Quarto, in cloth elegant, price 7s. 6d.

Third Edition.

THE ORDER FOR THE HOLY COMMUNION, Harmonized on a Monotone in a very simple manner for Parochial use. By B. St. J. B. JOULE Price 3d. Novello, Ewer & Co.

Just Published.

CANTICLES NOTED. Second Set, by the Rev. THOMAS HELMORE, M.A. 18mo., 8d.: 8vo., 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.

HELMORE, REV. THOMAS.—THE CANTICLES ACCENTED, 18mo., 3d.—Hymns of the Eastern Church, 4 voices, each 1s., PEACE, IT IS I; THE DAY IS PASSED AND OVER; THE DAY OF RESURRECTION.—S. MARK'S CHANT BOOK (in daily use at the College Chapel, Chelsea), 4s. 6d.; or the same, Part I., being the main body of the work, price 3s. 6d.; and Part II., The Table of the Chants, price 1s. (useful for places where only the Canticles are chanted). Also Two "TE DEUMS" for Choir and People, in the alternate verses; adapted from Latin arrangements by Alfieri and Baini; vocal Score and Organ Accompaniment, price 3s. Also the People's Plain Song, separate, price 1½d. Four-part Cadences for the Holy Communion, 6d. The Carol for Christmas Morning, vocal score, 18mo. edition, 2d.; melody, 18mo., 1d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NON NOBIS DOMINE, arranged to the Corresponding English Words, by Rev. W. G. LONGDEN, for the Use of Choral Meetings, as an Introit, or Anthem, or Grace after Meat. Price One Penny; Ninepence a dozen; or Five Shillings a hundred.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TE DEUM (new) in B flat. Harmony, unison, free organ part, &c. Highly effective. 1s. 6d.—Three Choral Hymns—"There is a blessed home," "O Love," and "Praise the Lord." Complete 1s.—Also the immensely popular arrangement of the Evening Hymn "Abide with me." Harmony and unison, with a free organ part. 1s.—Also the well-known "Six Kyries." 1s. By EDWARD LAWRANCE, Organist, Merthyr Tydfil. A very liberal discount on a dozen copies, direct from the composer. A specimen copy of either for twelve stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

CANTATE DOMINO and DEUS MISEREATUR, by G. A. MACFARREN. For voices in unison and organ. Octavo, 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in F. By F. H. CHEETHAM. Folio score, 2s.; single parts, 1s.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWELVE KYRIES. By G. BAKER. Price Sixpence, and post-free. G. Baker, 19, Westgate, Wakefield.

Now ready. 8vo Price Threepence.

THE APOSTLES' CREED, Set to Music (chiefly in Recitative) for Voices in Unison, with an Accompaniment for the Organ, by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon, Organist and Director of the Choir, York Minster.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE OFFICE of HOLY COMMUNION. Set to music by the Rev. E. B. WHYLEY, M.A. 8vo., price 1s. 6d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE NICENE CREED, in G major, for Voices and Organ, by WILLIAM BLAKELEY, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Folio score. 1s. 6d. net; a liberal discount allowed to choirs. To be had of the author, Warrengate, Wakefield.

Now Ready.

A HARVEST HYMN. The Words by the late Dean Alford; the Music by JOHN HUNT (Gloucester Cathedral). Gloucester: J. Hunt, Palace-yard. Stroud: J. Clark, Library, Kingstreet. Price ONE PENNY; or 5s. per 100.

"The parts are well harmonised, and the air is simple, and suited for village choirs."—Gloucestershire Chronicle.

10 HARVEST HYMNS for One Penny, Music and Words, for 1, 2, 3, or more singers; being No. 55 of "The Choral Cyclopædia." The cheapest music for singing classes, schools, choirs, &c. "Brightly gleams our banner," and 12 other jubilant Hymns, in No. 28, One Penny. 12 Hymns for Juveniles, in No. 17, One Penny. Rossini's renowned prayer from "Mosé in Egitto," No. 57. One Penny.

F. Pitman, Paternoster-row, and all Booksellers.

Price One Penny.

HARVEST HYMN (No. 467 of The Hymnary), with Tune by the Rev. T. R MATTHEWS Editor of the Village Organist.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE HYMN OF LOVE.—Just published, a new and original Hymn, arranged for four voices, with accompaniment for Piano or Organ. Suitable for church, choirs, or general use. Written by Mrs. M. A. Baines; composed by Master HERBERT BAINES. Price 2s.; post free, 1s.

London: Henry Stead and Co., 19, Piccadilly, W.

BLOW YE THE TRUMPET, O ZION (now ready, 2nd edition). An Anthem, with Tenor solo, by J. J. H. TAYLOR, Almondbury, Huddersfield. Organ score, price 2s. 6d. Having been requested by several large choirs to publish separate voice parts, they can now be had at 1s. 8d. the set.

Also by the same Composer,

24 TUNES, WITH POPULAR HYMNS, 12 Chants, and 6 Kyries. The entire proceeds will be handed over to the fund for the restoration of the Parish Church. Novello, Ewer and Co. To be had of Mr. G. Longley, Sheepridge, Huddersfield, Mr. Saml. Miller, Almondbury, or the Composer.

THE QUARTER CHIME, or 15 Original Hymn Tunes (with words), by I. CLARKE. Price 1s. 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Leeds: Hopkinson Brothers, Commercial-street. Doncaster: Meacock and Son. Or of the Author, 50, Spring-gardens.

EASY ANTHEMS for VILLAGE CHOIRS. By W. H. GILL. 2d. each. Nos. 1 to 6 now ready.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A Specimen Copy, post free for Stamps to the value.

"I DID CALL UPON THE LORD." Full Anthem for Four Voices, by T. MEE PATTISON. Price 4d.

"A capital anthem for ordinary choirs; well written, and possesses plenty of variety. A little verse piece in the middle of it is effective, and a spirited fughetta brings it to a satisfactory conclusion."—Musical Standard.

TENTH EDITION.

"The air once heard haunts the memory."—Church Opinion.

MARCH OF THE CHORISTERS. Net 1s. 6d.—"There is a freshness about Mr. Allen's March which will make it a favourite."—Weekly Times. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now ready, 8vo., vocal score, with Piano and Organ Accompaniment. Price 1s. nett.

GOUNOD'S NEW "TE DEUM" "The Te Deum is one of the finest inspirations of the French composer."—Athenæum.

TO THE PROFESSION.

NEW PIANOFORTE COMPOSITIONS for YOUNG PLAYERS. Price 2s. 6d. each.

1. ON THE WATER. 2. IN THE WOODS.
3. AMONG THE HILLS.

"Mr. Goddard deserves the best thanks alike of pianoforte teachers and pupils, and every school should introduce this series of pieces to the pupils."—Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine.

Goddard and Co., 4, Argyll-place, Regent-street.

Eighth Edition.

TUNES NEW AND OLD.—Comprising all the metres in the Wesleyan Hymn Book; also Chants, Responses, and Doxologies. Compiled by JOHN DOBSON, and for the most part revised and re-arranged by HENRY JOHN GAUNTLETT, Mus. Doc. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Sold also at 66, Paternoster-row. Prices: plain cloth, 3s. 6d.; cloth lettered, 4s.; cloth extra, gilt edges, 5s.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges,

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes, as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN; containing nearly 270 Tunes for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE BRISTOL TUNE BOOK.—A Manual of Tunes and Chants, intended as a companion to all Hymn Books, containing 258 Tunes (100 varieties of metre), and 85 Single and Double Chants. The whole arranged in Short Score, and the Harmonies carefully selected from the best authorities, with ruled music paper for manuscript additions. Adopted in several hundred congregations. More than 100,000 copies have already been sold.

No. 1. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 6d.
,, 2. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 3s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION.

,, 3. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 0d.
,, 4. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 2s. 6d.

Congregations or Associations requiring large quantities may obtain them on special terms by application to the Bristol Publishers.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Bristol: W. and F. Morgan; and all booksellers and musicsellers.

NOW READY,
A New and Enlarged Selection of

PSALMS, HYMNS and ANTHEMS, arranged for Congregational or Private use, by SAMUEL SMITH, Bradford.
Very neat and compact, 218 pp. Imperial 32mo.

In limp cloth, edges turned in	...	...	1 0
Cloth boards, coloured edges, gilt lettered	...	...	1 6
Roan, gilt edges, and lettered	...	...	2 0

London: Hamilton, Adams and Co.; and Novello, Ewer and Co.
Bradford: Thomas Brear.
THE BRADFORD TUNE BOOK and PSALMS and CHANTS, together or separate, supplied in all the various forms, as before.

To be published shortly.

A FESTIVAL SERVICE IN C (without repetition of words)—consisting of Te Deum, Benedictus, and Jubilate, by JOHN M. W. YOUNG, Organist of Lincoln Cathedral; with an Introductory Sketch of the History and Theology of the Te Deum, by the Right Rev. the Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham.

Just published, price 1s. 6d. net.

TWENTY-ONE ORIGINAL TUNES to FAVOURITE HYMNS; including "Lead, kindly Light," "O day of rest and gladness," "Thou, whose Almighty Word," &c., &c. By the Rev. S. M. BARKWORTH, D.D., and H. J. STARK, F.C.O.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

The Congregational Psalmist.

Edited by the Rev. H. ALLON, D.D., and H. J. GAUNTLETT, Mus. Doc.

Upwards of 170,000 copies of the different Editions of the Congregational Psalmist have been sold.

TUNES AND CHORALES.

Compressed Score, cloth, 3s.; roan gilt, 3s. 6d.
Vocal Score, cloth, 5s.; roan, gilt, 5s. 6d.
Tonic Sol-Fa Edition, cloth, 3s.; roan, gilt, 3s. 6d.
Instrumental Score, cloth, 12s. 6d.; roan, gilt, 15s.; morocco, 28s.
Separate Vocal Parts—Soprano, Alto, Tenor, and Bass, stiff covers, 1s. each; cloth, 1s. 6d.; roan, gilt, 2s.

CHANTS, SANCTUSES, ANTHEMS, &c.

Compressed Score, stiff covers, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s.; roan, gilt, 2s. 6d.
Cheap Popular Edition, cloth limp, 6d.: stiff cloth, 9d.
Sol-Fa Edition, cloth limp, 6d.: stiff cloth, 9d.
Instrumental Score, 4to, cloth, 6s. 6d.; roan, gilt, 7s. 6d.

THE TUNES, CHANTS, &c., IN ONE VOLUME.

Vocal Score, cloth, 7s.; roan, gilt, 8s.
Compressed Score, cloth, 5s.; roan, gilt, 5s. 6d.
Instrumental Score, cloth, 17s. 6d.; roan, gilt, 21s.; morocco, 32s.
The separate parts may be also had bound up with the Chants, cloth, 2s. 6d.; roan, gilt edges, 4s.

 A Liberal Allowance to Congregations and Classes.

London: Hodder & Stoughton, 27, Paternoster Row.

Just Published. Fifth Edition, revised. Price 7s.

PARR'S CHURCH OF ENGLAND PSALMODY: a Complete and Authentic Manual for the Parochial Organist; containing 381 Tunes in 100 metres; 289 Chants, with Responses—in all 689 compositions,—free from modern alterations and corruptions; with Memoirs of above 800 Composers, and references to the works from which the pieces are taken; presenting an amount of information on the History and Bibliography of Psalmody not to be found elsewhere.
London: W. Macintosh, 24, Paternoster-row.

Will be ready this month.

THE NATURAL PRINCIPLES OF HARMONY.
By W. W. PARKINSON. Price 15s.; to Subscribers, 10s. 6d.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: W. W. Parkinson and Son, 24, St. Ann's-square.

A MANUAL OF SINGING, for the use of Choir Trainers and Schoolmasters. By RICHARD MANN, Organist of the Abbey Church, Cirencester, &c., 1s. 6d. Contents:—The theory of music explained in a concise manner, with the use of as few technical terms as possible, together with full directions to the trainer as to the mode of teaching it; a series of progressive exercises for one, two, and three voices; exercises for the cultivation of the voice; lists of easy sacred and secular music, &c.
This work offers to the clergy and other amateur choir trainers a systematic and simple course of instruction, by which they may teach their pupils to read music at sight, in a comparatively short time.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just published, price 6d.,

RULES in RHYMES and ROUNDS; or Musical Precept and Example, combined in Easy Progressive Rounds and Canons, with Hints for Teaching Rounds. By the Rev. J. POWELL METCALFE, Author of "The School Round Book," Joint Editor of "The Rounds, Catches and Canons of England," &c.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SCHOOLS and CHOIRS.—The Rudiments of Vocal Music, with 32 Preparatory Exercises, Rounds and Songs, in the Treble Clef, by T. MEE PATTISON. Price 6d.
The Exercises are in all the Keys, and the Solfeggio name is placed under each note, on the movable Do system.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SIXTEENTH EDITION.

Price 1s. A specimen copy post free for 12 stamps.

THE COLLEGIATE AND SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING MANUAL.

FOR CHOIRS.—The easiest system that can be obtained for training, improving, and learning to read music at sight.
FOR SCHOOLS.—Every requisite for learning Music, and reading at sight in a few lessons.
FOR CHORAL SOCIETIES.—The exercises will be found invaluable, tending to produce musical effects seldom heard.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Just published, 2s. nett.

(COMPANION WORK TO THE ABOVE.)

COLLEGIATE VOCAL TUTOR.

Containing Treatise on Voice and Vocal Art, with Anatomical Illustrations of the Vocal Instrument.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

MR. VERNON RIGBY'S NEW SONG.

I SAW THEE WEEP. Composed expressly for him by FRANK NAISH. In A flat and F. Price 4s.
Messrs. Duncan Davison and Co., 244, Regent-street, W.

NEW SONG, SUNG BY MR. SIMS REEVES.

"'TIS BETTER NOT TO KNOW."

Written by SHIRLEY BROOKS.
Composed by FREDERIC CLAY.
Price 4s.

This Song will be sung by Mr. Sims Reeves at both the Worcester and Norwich Festivals.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

DREAMING OF THEE. New Four-part Song for Four Voices, by GEORGE CARTER. Sung at the Crystal Palace, by 3,000 voices, July, 1872. Price 2d.

NEW PIANOFORTE DUETS, by GEORGE CARTER. "Grand Festival March," dedicated to H.R.H. Prince Arthur. Price 6s. "Introduction and Allegro," from the Sinfonia Cantata, "I love the Lord." Price 6s. "The Larghetto," ditto, ditto. Price 4s.; half-price.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

HAIL! TO OUR HARVEST HOME! Harvest Song, by BENJAMIN CONGREVE. Price 1½d.
"This Harvest Song is a spirited composition."—The Orb.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer, and Co.

THE CROOKIT BAWBEE. Old stock ballad. 4s. Published by Arthur Allison, Harmonium Manufacturer. Sole agent for Ramsden's (Dawes' Patent) Melody Substitute Organs, 110, Wardour-street, W.

MR. J. N. PETHERBRIDGE, author of the Prize Song, "The Mountaineer," will forward to Publisher or Composer two new Ballads. Address 2, Elm-road, Kingston.

MACDONALD'S GRAND VALSE for the PIANO. "The style of the piece is very imposing and original, and is sure to make it a favourite with piano players."—The Ladies. Sent for 2s. Cheltenham: Hale and Co., 24, Promenade-villas.

WORCESTER AND NORWICH
MUSICAL FESTIVALS, 1872.

The following important Works to be performed at the above Festivals,

ARE PUBLISHED BY

MESSRS. NOVELLO, EWER & CO.,

And can be had at the following prices:—

SIR JULIUS BENEDICT'S ORATORIO, "ST. PETER."
Folio, cloth, 21s.
Ditto, octavo, paper cover, 4s.
Ditto, ditto, cloth gilt, 6s.

A. S. SULLIVAN'S "FESTIVAL TE DEUM."
Octavo, paper cover, 2s. Cloth gilt, 4s.

G. A. MACFARREN'S NEW CANTATA,
"OUTWARD BOUND."
Specially composed for the Norwich Festival.
Octavo, paper cover, 2s. 6d.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 4s.

J. S. BACH'S "PASSION" (S. Matthew).
Octavo, paper cover, 3s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 5s.

HANDEL'S "L'ALLEGRO."
Octavo, paper cover, 3s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 5s.

BEETHOVEN'S "RUINS OF ATHENS."
Folio, 10s.

HUMMEL'S "MESSE SOLENNELLE," in E flat.
Folio, 8s.

MENDELSSOHN'S ORATORIO, "ELIJAH."
Folio, cloth gilt, 21s.
Octavo, paper cover, 4s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 6s.
Tonic Sol-fa edition, 2s.

MENDELSSOHN'S "HYMN OF PRAISE."
Folio, 14s.
Octavo, paper cover, 2s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 4s.

HANDEL'S ORATORIO, "THE MESSIAH."
Folio, cloth gilt, 10s.
Ditto, paper cover, 7s. 6d.
Octavo, paper cover, 2s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 4s.
Pocket edition, paper cover, 1s. 4d.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 2s. 6d.

HAYDN'S ORATORIO, "THE CREATION."
Folio, cloth gilt, 10s.
Octavo, paper cover, 2s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 3s.
Pocket edition, paper cover, 1s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 2s.

HANDEL'S ORATORIO, "SAMSON."
Folio, cloth gilt, 17s. 6d.
Ditto, paper cover, 15s.
Octavo, paper cover, 2s.
Ditto, cloth gilt, 4s.

NOVELLO'S
Part-Song Book.
(SECOND SERIES.)

A COLLECTION OF

Four-part Songs and Madrigals,
BY MODERN COMPOSERS.

Nine Volumes, elegantly bound in cloth, gilt edges, price 5s. per Volume.

VOLUME I. contains
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Jules Benedict.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Henry Smart.
Seven Shakspeare Songs, by ... G. A. Macfarren.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... J. L. Hatton.

VOLUME II. contains
Six Four-part Songs, by ... G. A. Macfarren.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... C. A. Macirone.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Henry Leslie.
Six Madrigals, by Henry Leslie, Henry Lahee, and W. J. Westbrook.

VOLUME III. contains
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Henry Hiles.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Francesco Berger.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... J. Baptiste Calkin.
Eight Four-part Songs, by ... J. Barnby.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... G. A. Macfarren.

VOLUME IV. contains
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Agnes Zimmermann
Eight Shakspeare Songs, by ... G. A. Macfarren.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Henry Leslie.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Henry Smart.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Samuel Reay.

VOLUME V. contains
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Arthur S. Sullivan.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Walter Macfarren.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... J. Lemmens.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Henry Smart.
Six Four-part Songs, by ... Ciro Pinsuti.

VOLUME VI. contains Thirty-five Songs by ... J. L. Hatton.

VOLUME VII. contains
Twenty-four Songs for Men's Voices by J. L. Hatton.

VOLUME VIII. contains Twenty-one Songs by ... Henry Smart.

VOLUME IX. contains Twenty-four Songs by ... Walter Macfarren.

(To be continued.)

List of Contents may be had upon application.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NOVELLO'S
Original Octavo Edition of Operas.

Edited, Corrected according to the Original Scores, and Translated into English, by Natalia Macfarren.
Price 2s. 6d. each; or in scarlet cloth, 4s.

NOW READY.

BEETHOVEN'S FIDELIO.

(German and English words.) With the two great Overtures as usually performed; being the only Piano Score that has been published agreeing with the Original Score as to the notes and signs for phrasing.

AUBER'S FRA DIAVOLO.

(With French and English words.) Various portions of this Opera are now printed for the first time in England, making this the only English Pianoforte Score which agrees with the Composer's Original Score.

MOZART'S DON GIOVANNI.

(Italian and English words.) This Edition contains all the Recitatives, and is the only Pianoforte Score which agrees with the Author's MS., as to the notes, signs for phrasing and expression, and the stage directions: in every one of these particulars there are many new and important lights thrown upon the work.

BELLINI'S NORMA.

(With Italian and English words.)

VERDI'S IL TROVATORE.

(With Italian and English words.)

DONIZETTI'S LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR.

(With Italian and English words.)

WEBER'S OBERON.

With the English words by J. R. Planché, and Italian words as sung at Her Majesty's Opera.

ROSSINI'S IL BARBIERE.

(With Italian and English words.) Containing the Music of the Recitatives, being the only complete Cheap Edition.

DONIZETTI'S LUCREZIA BORGIA.

(With Italian and English words.)

MOZART'S LE NOZZE DI FIGARO.

(With Italian and English words.) Containing the Music of the Recitatives, being the only complete Cheap Edition.

VERDI'S RIGOLETTO.

(With Italian and English words.)

BELLINI'S LA SONNAMBULA.

(With Italian and English words.)

WEBER'S DER FREISCHÜTZ.

(With German and English words.)

WAGNER'S TANNHÄUSER.

(With German and English words.)

AUBER'S MASANIELLO.

(With French and English words.) Price 3s. 6d.; bound, 5s.

BELLINI'S I PURITANI.

(With Italian and English words.)

WAGNER'S LOHENGRIN.

(With German and English words.)

TO BE CONTINUED MONTHLY.

The following Operas are in course of preparation:—
DONIZETTI'S LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO. VERDI'S LA TRAVIATA.

Studies serve for delight, for ornament, and ability. * * * * There is no stond or impediment in the wit, but may be wrought out by fit studies."—Lord Bacon.

NOVELLO'S LIBRARY

FOR THE DIFFUSION OF Musical Knowledge.

Theoretical Series.

I.

CHERUBINI'S TREATISE ON COUNTER-POINT AND FUGUE. Bound in cloth, 6s. 6d.

II.

DR. MARX'S GENERAL MUSICAL INSTRUC-TION. Bound in cloth, 6s. 6d.

III.

FETIS' TREATISE ON CHOIR AND CHORUS SINGING. In paper wrapper, 1s.

IV.

MOZART'S SUCCINCT THOROUGH-BASS SCHOOL. In paper wrapper, 10d.

V.

CATEL'S TREATISE ON HARMONY. In paper wrapper, 2s. 6d.

VI.

ALBRECHTSBERGER'S collected Writings on THOROUGH-BASS, HARMONY and COMPOSITION, for Self-Instruction. Vol. I., Harmony and Thorough-Bass, 3s. 6d. Vols. II. and III., Guide to Composition, each 3s. 6d. Three Vols. in one, cloth, 10s. 6d.

VII.

BERLIOZ, TREATISE ON MODERN INSTRU-MENTATION & ORCHESTRATION. (Second Edition.) Containing an exact table of the compass; a sketch of the mechanism and study of the quality of tone (timbre) and expressive character of various instruments; together with a large number of examples in score, from the productions of the greatest Masters, and from some unpublished works of the Author. Bound in cloth, 12s.

VIII.

DR. CROTCH'S ELEMENTS OF MUSICAL COMPOSITION, with the Musical Examples properly combined with the Text. 4s. 6d.

IX.

SABILLA NOVELLO'S VOICE AND VOCAL ART; a Treatise written for the use of Teachers and Students of Singing, with anatomical illustrations of the vocal instrument. In paper wrapper, 1s.

X.

SILCHER'S SUCCINCT INSTRUCTIONS for the GUIDANCE of SINGING SCHOOLS and CHORAL SOCIETIES. 6d.

XI.

NÄGELI and PFEIFFER'S EIGHTY-ONE PART-SONGS and CHORUSES; in Progressive Order for the Cultivation of Part-Singing. With Instructions for forming and improving Male Choral Singers. In paper cover, 2s. Bound in cloth, gilt, 3s.

Practical Series.

LI.

RINK'S PRACTICAL ORGAN SCHOOL. (Oblong Folio Edition.) Carefully revised, with the German directions and terms translated into English, and the pedal part printed on a separate staff. The whole edited by W. T. BEST. Bound in cloth, 20s.; or in 6 books, 4s. each.

LII.

GUHR'S PAGANINI'S ART OF PLAYING THE VIOLIN (an Appendix to all other Violin Schools which have as yet appeared), with a Treatise on Single and Double Harmonic Notes. Translated from the German by SABILLA NOVELLO. The musical examples revised by W. G. CUSINS. In paper wrapper, 6s.

LIII.

KALKBRENNER'S METHOD OF LEARNING THE PIANOFORTE, with the aid of the Manual-Guide, containing the Principles of Music, a complete system of fingering, a classification of authors to be studied, rules on expression, on manners of phrasing, on musical punctuation, etc.; followed by Twelve Studies. Dedicated to the Musical Academies of Europe. Translated from the French by SABILLA NOVELLO. With an appendix in furtherance of this system, by BARBARA GUSCHL. Price 10s. 6d.

NEW NUMBERS.

BEST'S ARRANGEMENTS

FROM THE SCORES OF THE GREAT MASTERS

FOR THE ORGAN.

Price 2s. each.

No. 81.—March from the Ode on "St. Cecilia's Day," Handel; Prelude and Fugue (E minor) from the Pianoforte Works, Mendelssohn.

No. 82.—Chaconne (F major), Handel; Andante con Variazioni, and Romanza (Op. 3), Weber.

No. 83.—Funeral March (Op. 26), Beethoven; March (B minor, Op. 27), Schubert; Hunting Song (Op. 82), Schumann; Adagio (Op. 10), Weber.

No. 84.—Fugue (in G minor), Mozart; Marche Triomphale, Moscheles; Fantasia, from the Sixth Quartet, Haydn.

No. 85.—Allegretto, with Variations and Finale Fugato form the Sixth Quartet, Haydn: Allegretto (G minor), C. Mayer; Pastoral Chorus, from the Opera of "Alcina," Handel.

No. 86.—Allegretto, from the Second Quartet, Haydn; Andante Cantabile, E flat major (Op. 3), Weber; Largo Cantabile, from the Fifth Quartet, Haydn.

No. 87.—Overture, D major (Op. 15), Spohr.

No. 88.—Prelude and Air with Variations, from the "Suites de Pieces," Handel; Andante (G major), "Rosamunde," Schubert's Serenade, Stephen Heller.

No. 89.—Andante, from the Twelfth Symphony, Mozart; Prelude and Fugue (G minor), Bach; Finale (Notturno, Op. 34), Spohr.

No. 90.—Chorus, "Thou shalt make me hear of joy and gladness" (51st Psalm), Handel; Evening Music, Allegretto Scherzoso (Op. 99) R. Schumann.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

OBLONG FOLIO EDITION.

RINK'S PRACTICAL ORGAN SCHOOL,

Carefully revised, with the German directions and terms translated into English, and the pedal part printed on a separate staff.

THE WHOLE EDITED BY W. T. BEST.

Price 20s., or in Six Books, 4s. each.

Preface.

Part I., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 1 to 12.—Short and Easy Pieces in Two parts.
13 to 24 " " Three parts.
25 to 36 " " Four parts.
37 to 66.—Preludes in all the Major and Minor Keys.

Part II., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 67 to 132.—Exercises for the Pedals.
133 to 144.—Twelve Chorales, or well-known German Psalm Tunes, with Variations.

Part III., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 145 to 159.—Fifteen Easy Postludes, or Concluding Voluntaries, in the Fugue Style.

Part IV., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 160 to 174.—Fifteen Postludes, or Concluding Voluntaries for Alternate Manuals, in the Fugue Style.

Part V., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 175 to 181.—Seven Preludes and Fugues.
182.—The Flute Concerto.
183.—Variations on "Heil dir im Sieges Kranz," or "God save the Queen."

Part VI., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 184 to 192.—Nine Preludes and Fugues.
193 and 194.—Fantasia and Fugue.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just published, price 12s.,

STUDIES for the PEDAL, with many Illustrations from the Works of Bach, and other Organ Composers; shewing how passages of special difficulty are to be played.

Part II. of THE ART OF ORGAN PLAYING, by W. T. BEST.

The first part of "The Art of Organ Playing" dealt merely with those peculiarities of touch and fingering in which the mode of performance on the keyboard of an Organ differs from that of a Pianoforte; but the characteristic of Organ music is, that it demands the simultaneous use of both Hands and Feet; a matter involving a different employment of the Left Hand, which does not play the Bass, as in Pianoforte music, except where the Pedal part ceases for the moment. A proper manner of playing all those passages assigned to the Pedal is as important a study, in its way, as a correct method of fingering, as applied to a keyed instrument. The present exercises have specially in view that opposed motion of the Left hand to the Pedal part, which constitutes one of the principal difficulties to be overcome by an Organ-player; as the practice of mere passages for the Pedals, unaccompanied by the use of the Hands will never enable a student to obtain the requisite facility. The manner of combining the various stops, and employing the different keyboards of an Organ is also taught throughout the work, each Study having directions for the use of those registers which are calculated to give it the best effect.

List of Contents may be had on application.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.
New York: 751, Broadway.

NOVELLO'S ORIGINAL OCTAVO EDITIONS OF

Oratorios, Cantatas, Odes, Masses, &c.

FOR THE USE OF THE AUDIENCE WHO ASSIST AT THEIR PERFORMANCES.

Complete—in Vocal Score, with Pianoforte accompaniment.

	In Paper cover.	Scarlet cloth gilt.
R. Aspa.
THE GIPSIES	2 0
E. Aspa.
ENDYMION	4 0
Bach.
THE PASSION (S. MATTHEW)	3 0	5 0
Do. (S. JOHN)	2 0	4 0
J. Barnby.
REBEKAH	3 0	5 0
Sir J. Benedict.
ST. PETER	4 0	6 0
Cherubini.
REQUIEM MASS (in C Minor) with Latin and English words	2 0	3 6
Niels W. Gade.
THE ERL KING'S DAUGHTER	1 6	3 0
SPRING'S MESSAGE ...	0 8
Ch. Gounod.
DE PROFUNDIS (Psalm 130)	4 0
MESSE SOLENNELLE, Latin words only	1 6	3 0
COMMUNION SERVICE, (Messe Solennelle) ...	1 6	3 0
SECOND MESSE DES ORPHÉONISTES	2 0
Ditto. COMMUNION SERVICE	2 0
THE SEVEN WORDS OF OUR SAVIOUR ON THE CROSS (Filiæ Jerusalem)	1 0
DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM Anthem for Lent	1 0
Handel.
MESSIAH (Pocket edition) ...	1 4	2 6
Do. (Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	4 0
ISRAEL IN EGYPT (Pocket edition)	1 0	2 0
Do. Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	4 0
JUDAS MACCABÆUS (Pocket ed.)	1 0	2 0
Do. (Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	4 0
SAMSON	2 0	4 0
SOLOMON	2 0	4 0
JEPHTHA	2 0	4 0
JOSHUA	2 0	4 0
DEBORAH	2 0	4 0
SAUL	2 0	4 0
DETTINGEN TE DEUM ...	1 0	3 0
The CORONATION & FUNERAL ANTHEMS, in one volume ...		5 0
Or singly, thus:—
THE KING SHALL REJOICE	0 8
ZADOCK THE PRIEST ...	0 2
MY HEART IS INDITING	0 8
LET THY HAND BE STRENGTHENED ...	0 6
THE WAYS OF ZION	1 6
ALEXANDER'S FEAST ...	2 0	4 0
ACIS AND GALATEA	1 6	3 0
ODE ON ST. CECILIA'S DAY	1 6	3 0
The last three, bound in 1 vol., whole scarlet cloth, 6s. 6d.
L'ALLEGRO, IL PENSIEROSO, ED IL MODERATO ...	3 0	5 0
J. O. Grimm.
THE SOUL'S ASPIRATION ...	1 0

	In Paper cover.	Scarlet cloth, gilt
Haydn.
THE CREATION (Pocket edition)	1 0	2 0
Do. (Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	3 0
THE SEASONS	3 0	5 0
Each Season may be had separately, in paper cover, 1s.
F. Hiller.
NALA AND DAMAYANTI ...	4 0	6 0
G. A. Macfarren.
OUTWARD BOUND ...	2 6	4 0
MAY-DAY	2 0	3 6
SOLDIER'S LEGACY ...	6 0
Mendelssohn.
See Separate List
Romberg.
THE LAY OF THE BELL ...	1 6	3 0
Rossini.
STABAT MATER, with the Latin words, and an English adaptation by WILLIAM BALL	1 6	3 0
Schumann.
PARADISE AND THE PERI	2 6	4 0
H. Smart.
THE BRIDE OF DUNKERRON	2 6	4 0
Spohr.
CALVARY	2 6	4 0
THE FALL OF BABYLON ...	3 0	5 0
LAST JUDGMENT ...	2 0	4 0
THE CHRISTIAN'S PRAYER	1 6	3 0
GOD, THOU ART GREAT	1 0
A. S. Sullivan.
FESTIVAL TE DEUM ...	2 0	3 6
Weber.
MASS IN G, with Latin and English words	1 0	2 6
MASS IN E FLAT, Ditto.	1 6	3 0
Mozart, Haydn, and Beethoven.
MOZART'S TWELFTH MASS	2 0	3 6
HAYDN'S THIRD, or IMPERIAL MASS	2 0	3 6
BEETHOVEN'S MASS in C ...	2 0	3 6
The above Three Masses, bound in one volume, whole scarlet cloth, 7s.
MOZART'S REQUIEM MASS	2 0	3 6
MOZART'S FIRST MASS ...	1 6	3 0
HAYDN'S FIRST MASS ...	2 0	3 6
To these Masses are added Mr. E. HOLMES' Critical Essays, extracted from the Musical Times.
MOZART'S LITANIA DI VENERABILE ALTARIS (in E flat)	1 6	3 0
MOZART'S LITANIA DI VENERABILE SACRAMENTUM (in B flat)	1 6	3 0
BEETHOVEN'S MASS in D ...	2 0	3 6
BEETHOVEN'S ENGEDI; or, David in the Wilderness (Mount of Olives)	1 6	3 0

OCTAVO EDITIONS OF

Services by Modern Composers,

PUBLISHED BY NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

PHILIP ARMES, Mus. D.—A COMMUNION SERVICE in A, consisting of Kyrie eleison (Nos. 1 and 2), Gloria tibi, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus, Gloria in excelsis. Price 1s.

HENRY BAKER, Mus. Bac.—A SHORT MORNING, COMMUNION and EVENING SERVICE in F; consisting of Te Deum, Jubilate, Kyrie Nos. 1 and 2, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus and Gloria tibi Domini, Gloria in excelsis, Magnificat, and Nunc dimittis. Price 1s.

J. BARNBY'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, set to Music in the key of C, for voices in Unison. 4d.

J. BARNBY.—THE CANTICLES (Te Deum Benedictus, Jubilate, Magnificat, Nunc dimittis, Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur), set to Music in Chant form. 4d.

W. T. BEST.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in simple Chant form. For a Four-part Chorus, with Organ Accompaniment. 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate Deo, 4½d.: Kyrie eleison, Gloria tibi, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

J. BAPTISTE CALKIN'S MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE in D, for the especial use of Parish Choirs. Price 1s., or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4½d.; Sanctus, Kyrie, Nicene Creed, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d.: Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

J. BAPTISTE CALKIN'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, in B flat. Dedicated to the Members of the Special Sunday Evening Choir of St. Paul's Cathedral. 4d.

DR. JOHN B. DYKES.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in F, for Parish Choirs. Price 1s., or singly:—Te Deum, 3d., Benedictus, 2d., Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Gloria tibi Domine, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d., Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

DR. G. M. GARRETT.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in F, for Parish Choirs. Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. Jubilate, 2d. Introit or Hymn, Kyrie, Nicene Creed, Sanctus and Gloria in excelsis, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

JOHN GOSS.—UNISON SERVICE in A. Te Deum, 4d. Benedictus and Jubilate, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

JOHN GOSS.—TE DEUM and JUBILATE in A, for four voices. 6d. Small score for voices only, 3d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A, for four voices, 4d. Te Deum in D, for four voices, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E, 4d.

JOHN GOSS.—TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in F, for four Voices and Organ. 4d. Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur in C, for Voices in Unison, with Accompaniment for the Organ or Pianoforte. 6d.

EDWARD HERBERT'S CHANT TE DEUM, in D. Price 3d. And BENEDICTUS. Price 3d.

THE MORNING SERVICE, TE DEUM, and BENEDICTUS, set to Music in the Simple Chant form by ALFRED H. LITTLETON. Price 3d.

THE EVENING SERVICE, MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, set to Music in the Simple Chant Form by ALFRED H. LITTLETON. Price 3d.

G. A. MACFARREN'S UNISON SERVICE for PARISH CHOIRS. Price 1s., or singly:—Te Deum, Price 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

WALTER MACFARREN.—A SIMPLE MORNING and EVENING SERVICE in C, for Parish Choirs Price 6d.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. Jubilate, Kyrie and Sanctus, 2d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.

DR. MONK'S UNISON SERVICE in A, for Voices and Organ. 1s., or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4½d. Kyrie, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

OUSELEY.—A CHANT SERVICE FOR THE TE DEUM, arranged by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart., M.A., Mus. Doc. Price 3d. The Office of the Holy Communion, set to Music of an easy character. 4d.

SAMUEL PORTER'S SERVICE in D. Edited by JOSEPH BARNBY. Price 9d.; or singly, Te Deum, 3d., Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, and Nicene Creed, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

C. HUBERT H. PARRY.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE in D. Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. Benedictus, 3d. Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

SAMUEL REAY.—A Morning, Communion, and Evening Service in F. Price 1s. 6d., or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus and Gloria, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

HENRY SMART.—A Morning, Communion, and Evening Service in F. Price 1s. 6d.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus and Gloria, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

BOYTON SMITH'S CHANT SERVICE in E flat. Te Deum, Benedictus, Sanctus, and Kyrie, 3d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d. The same Te Deum printed in F, 3d.

DR. W. SPARK'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, in D, for voices in Unison and Organ. 3d.

DR. JOHN STAINER'S NICENE CREED, in an Easy Form for Four Voices, or for voices in Unison, with Organ Accompaniment, Folio size, 6d.; small vocal score, without accompaniment, 1½d.

DR. R. P. STEWART.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE in G, for Parish Choirs Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, Gloria in excelsis, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

E. H. THORNE'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, set to Music in Chant form, with free organ accompaniment. 3d.

BERTHOLD TOURS.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in F, for voices in Unison and Organ. Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d. The same Service arranged for Four Voices. 1s 6d.; or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 9d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

THOMAS TALLIS TRIMNELL. — CHANT SERVICE in D. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, on a Parisian Theme. 3d.

JAMES TURLE.—THE MORNING and EVENING SERVICE, set to Music in Chant form. 4d.; or separately:—Te Deum, Jubilate, and Kyrie eleison, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d. The Sanctus and Kyrie set in the Keys of C, F, and D, 4d.

DR. S. S. WESLEY.—CHANT SERVICE in F. Complete, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.; folio, Te Deum and Jubilate, 2s. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 1s. Vocal Parts, complete, 1s. 4d.

DR. S. S. WESLEY.—A SHORT FULL CATHEDRAL SERVICE in F. Vocal score, 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, and Nicene Creed, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, 4d.

THE ONLY COMPLETE EDITION.

Novello, Ewer and Co.'s Edition of MENDELSSOHN'S Pianoforte Works.

In Four Folio Volumes, elegantly bound in cloth, gilt edges, Vols. 1, 2, and 3, price 12s. each.
Vol. 4 (Lieder ohne Worte), 12s.
Also in Four 8vo. Vols. in Paper Covers. Vols. 1, 2, and 3, each 6s.; Cloth, 8s.
Vol. 4 (Lieder ohne Worte), Paper Covers, 4s.; Cloth, 6s.

Contents of Volume I.

Op. 25.	First Concerto in G minor ..	8	0
„ 40.	Second Concerto in D minor ..	10	6
„ 22.	Capriccio Brillant in B minor	5	0
„ 43.	Serenade and Allegro giojoso in B minor	7	6
„ 29.	Rondo Brillant in F minor ..	5	0
„ 6.	Sonata in E	7	6
„ 105.	Sonata in G minor (Posthumous)	6	0
„ 106.	Sonata in B flat (Posthumous)	8	0

Contents of Volume II.

„ 35.	Six Preludes and Fugues ..	12	0
	No. 1 in E minor 3 0
	2 in D 2 0
	3 in B minor 2 6
	4 in A♭ 2 6
	5 in F minor 3 0
	6 in B♭ 2 6
	Prelude and Fugue in E minor	3	0
„ 104.	Three Preludes (Posthumous)	6	0
	No. 1 in B♭. No. 2 in B minor. No. 3 in D.
	104. Three Etudes	6	0
	No. 1 in B♭ minor. No. 2 in F. No. 3 in A minor.
	Etude in F minor	2	0
„ 72.	Six Pieces, composed as a Christmas present	5	0
	Ditto, singly:—
	1. Allegro non troppo in G ... 1 6
	2. Andante sostenuto in E flat ... 2 0
	3. Allegretto in G 1 6
	4. Andante con moto in D ... 1 6
	5. Allegro assai in G minor ... 2 0
	6. Vivace in F 2 6
„	7. Seven characteristic pieces ..	7	6
	No. 1 in E minor. | No. 5 in A.
	2 in B minor. | 6 in E minor.
	3 in D. | 7 in E.
	4 in A.
„ 54.	Seventeen Variations serieuses in D minor	5	0
„ 82.	Andante with variations E♭ ..	4	0
„ 83.	Andante with variations B♭ ..	4	6

Contents of Volume III.

Op. 5.	Capriccio in F♯ minor ..	4	0
	Andante Cantabile and presto agitato in B	4	6
„ 14.	Andante and Rondo Capriccioso in E	3	0
„ 15.	Fantasia on "The last Rose of Summer" in E	2	6
„ 16.	Three Fantasias or Caprices	4	6
	No. 1 in A 2 0
	2 in E minor 2 0
	3 in E 2 0
„ 28.	Fantasia in F♯ minor ..	5	0
	Scherzo a Capriccio in F♯ minor	4	6
	Scherzo in B minor	1	0
	Barcarolle in A (Lied ohne Worte)	1	0
	Two Musical Sketches ..	2	0
	No. 1 in B♭. No. 2 in G minor.
„ 33.	Three Capriccios	9	0
	No. 1 in A minor 4 0
	2 in E 4 0
	3 in B♭ minor 3 0
	Albumblatt in E minor ..	4	0
„ 118.	Capriccio in E minor (Posthumous)	5	0

Contents of Volume IV.

Lieder ohne worte:—Forty-eight Songs without words, complete, splendidly bound in cloth, gilt edges, and lettered .. .. nett		12	0
Ditto, octavo, cloth, 6s.; or paper cover „		4	0

These Editions contain the 7th and 8th Books.
Or in single books, folio:—

Book 1	...	5	0	Book 5	... 5 0
2	...	5	0	6	... 5 0
3	...	5	0	7	... 5 0
4	...	5	0	8	... 6 0

The above Forty-eight Songs without words are to be had also in single Numbers, at from 1s. to 2s. 6d. each.

Compositions by Agnes Zimmermann.

SONGS.

Crocus gathering - - - 2 6
After war - - - - 2 6
Oh, that we two were Maying - 2 6
Love, I may not tarry here - - 2 6
The Stars are with the Voyager - 2 6
Sweetly glows the early morn - - 2 6
The Ringlet—No. 1. Your Ringlets that look so golden gay - - 2 6
No. 2. O Ringlet, I kiss'd you night and day - - - 2 6

My heart is sair for somebody - - 2 6
Blow, blow, thou winter wind - - 2 6
Exile's Song - - - 2 6
Six Four-part Songs (S.A.T.B.), 8vo., 1s. or singly—

	8vo.	Folio.	Vocal parts.
Fairy Song	0 3	1 0	0 6
Good night	0 1½	0 9	0 4
Gone for ever	0 3	1 0	0 6
Flowers	0 3	1 0	0 6
To Daffodils	0 1½	0 9	0 4
Good morrow	0 3	1 0	0 6

PIANO.

Sonata for Pianoforte and Violin, Op. 16 15 0
Mazurka. Op. 11 - - - 3 0
Presto alla Tarantella. Op. 15 - 3 0
Bolero. Op. 9 - - - - 4 0
Gavotte. Op. 14 - - - 2 0
Ditto. For Organ by W. J. Westbrook net 1 6
Two Pieces for the Pianoforte, Op. 18—
No 1, Twilight - - - 3 0
No. 2, Sunshine - - 3 0

Barcarolle. Op. 8 - - - 3 0
Marche. Op. 13 - - - 2 6
Ditto. Arranged for the Organ by J. Stainer - - - 1 6
Drei Clavierstücke—No. 1, Caprice - 3 0
No. 2, Auf dem wasser - - 3 0
No. 3, Scherzo - - 3 0
Spring Melody - - - 2 0

ARRANGEMENTS.

Bourèe in E♭, by J. S. Bach - - 2 6
Bourèe in C, by J. S. Bach - - 2 6
Second Concerto. Composed for the Harpsichord or Organ by G. F. Handel - 5 0
Scherzo from Beethoven's Trio, for Violin, Viola and Violoncello, Op. 9. No. 1 - 3 0
Menuetto from Schubert's Quartett for Stringed Instruments, Op. 29 - 3 0

Gavotte in G, by J. S. Bach - - 2 6
Allegretto alla polacca, from Beethoven's Serenade, Op. 8, for Violin, Viola and Violoncello - - - 3 0
Menuetto from ditto, ditto, Op. 9. No. 2 3 0
No. 4 of R. Schumann's Skizzen für den pedal Flügel (Sketches for the Pedal Pianoforte) - - - 3 0

Compositions by Berthold Tours.

SONGS.

Tears of Childhood - - - 3 0
(Sung by Miss Edith Wynne).
To Blossoms - - - 3 0
Stars of the Summer night - - 3 0
The Sea hath its pearls - - 3 0

A wish - - - - 2 0
How shall I picture thee, ladye fair - 3 0
Oh say not woman's love is bought - 2 6
O mother dear, good night - - 2 6
(Sung by Madame Patey).

PIANO.

Berceuse - - - 3 0
A Juvenile Album, containing eight characteristic pieces for four hands, intended to be played by Master and Pupil (primo part being kept generally within the compass of five notes) - - - 10 6

No. 1. Hector	2 0	No. 5. Master Jackey	2 0
2. Victorine	2 0	6. Evangeline	2 0
3. Willie	2 0	7. Sydney	2 0
4. Mary	1 0	8. Grace	3 0

Séraphine. Morceau de Salon - 4 0
Ephéméron. Caprice Etude - - 3 0
Sonatina. Dedicated to Little Players - 4 0
Dreaming. Sketch - - - 3 0
Deux Esquisses (en forme de danse) - 3 0
Witches Dance - - - - 3 0

Favourite Movements from Sir J. Benedict's Oratorio "St. Peter." 2 Books. Each 6 0

SACRED MUSIC.

Blessing, glory, wisdom. Octavo - 0 4
Blessed are they that dwell in Thy house. Full. 4 Voices. Vocal Score - 1 0
Do. Octavo, 1½d. Vocal Parts - - 0 6
In thee, O Lord, have I put my trust. Full. 4 Voices. Vocal Score - 1 0
Do. Octavo, 3d. Vocal Parts - 0 6
God be merciful unto us. For 8 Voices 1 6
Vocal Parts - - - 1 6
O Saving Victim. Motett. For Soprano Solo and Chorus, with Organ - 1 0

O Salutaris hostia. Motett. For Soprano Solo and Chorus, with Organ - 1 0
A Morning, Communion and Evening Service, in F, for Voices in unison and Organ - - - 1 0
Or singly:—
Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate Deo, 2d.: Kyrie eleison, Nicene creed, Sanctus and Gloria in excelsis, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.
Do., for Four Voices. Octavo - 1 6
Or singly:—
Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate Deo, 3d.; Kyrie eleison, Nicene creed, Sanctus and Gloria in excelsis, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).
NEW YORK: 751, BROADWAY.

LESLIE'S CHORAL MUSIC.

A Collection of Part-Songs, Madrigals, Motetts, Anthems, &c., for Four, Five and Six Voices.

EDITED BY HENRY LESLIE.

Complete in One Volume, folio size, whole cloth, price Ten Shillings, or singly, as follows :—

No.		s.	d.
1.	How soft the shades of evening, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - Henry Smart	0	2
2.	In going to my dreary bed, Madrigal, S.A.T.B. - - - Richard Edwardes	0	2
3.	Now fie on love, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - G. A. Macfarren	0	2
4.	Flora gave me fairest flowers, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - John Wilbye	0	2
5.	Ave Verum (Holy Jesu), Motett, S.A.T.B. - - - - - Mozart	0	2
6.	Here in cool grot, Glee, S.A.T.B. - - - - - Earl of Mornington	0	2
7.	Songs of praise the Angels sang, Choral Song, S.A.T.B. - - - Henry Leslie	0	2
8.	In these delightful pleasant groves, Madrigalian Chorus, S.A.T.B. - H. Purcell	0	2
9.	The parting kiss, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - - Ciro Pinsuti	0	4
10.	When all alone my pretty love, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - G. Converso	0	2
11.	Love me little, love me long, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - Leigh Wilson	0	2
12.	Hail, smiling morn! Glee, S.A.T.B. - - - - - R. Spofforth	0	2
13.	All creatures now are merry, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - John Benet Flow, oh, my tears! Madrigal, S.A.T.B. - - - - ,,	0	4
14.	Where art thou, beam of light, Chorus, S.A.T.B. - - Sir Henry R. Bishop	0	2
15.	Softly fall the shades of evening, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - E. Silas	0	2
16.	My bonny lass she smileth, Madrigal, S.A.T.T.B. - - - Thomas Morley	0	4
17.	Lord, for Thy tender mercies' sake, Anthem, S.A.T.B. - - - R. Farrant	0	2
18.	Hark! the lark at Heaven's gate sings, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - Dr. Cooke	0	2
19.	Come, let us worship, Anthem, S.A.T.B. - - - - - Palestrina Ave Maria (Give ear unto my prayer), Motett, S.A.T.B. - - Jacques Arcadelt	0	2
20.	Bird of the wilderness, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - J. L. Hatton	0	2
21.	Now is the month of Maying, Madrigal, S.A.T.T.B. - - - Thomas Morley	0	2
22.	Welcome sweet pleasure, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - Thomas Weelkes Since first I saw your face, Madrigal, S.A.T.B. - - - Thomas Ford	0	2
23.	Summer is nigh, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - - Jules Benedict	0	2
24.	See the chariot at hand, Glee, S.A.T.B. - - - - - W. Horsley	0	2
25.	Amidst the myrtles, S.A.T.T.B. - - - - - J. Battishill The cloud capp'd towers, Glee, S.A.T.T.B.B. - - - - R. J. S. Stevens	0	2
26.	The Waits, S.A.T.B. - - - - - - - - J. Savile The silver swan, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - - Orlando Gibbons	0	2
27.	How sweet is summer morning, Part-Song, S.A.T.B. - - Henry Smart	0	2
28.	Fire, fire, my heart, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - - Thomas Morley	0	2
29.	Ladye fair, thou hast my life, Choral Song, S.A.T.B. - - From the French This morning, at the dawn of day, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - ,,	0	2
30.	Song for spring, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - - E. Silas	0	2
31.	When peaceful night, S.A.T.B. - - Evening Hymn of the Moravian Monks Hail, blessed Trinity (Alla Trinita), S.A.T.B. - - - - - - - -	0	2
32.	Ye spotted snakes, Glee, S.A.T.B. - - - - - R. J. S. Stevens	0	2
33.	Winds of Autumn! chill and lonely, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - C. Oberthür	0	2
34.	What saith my dainty darling? Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - Thomas Morley	0	2
35.	The summer gale that gently blows, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - J. L. Hatton	0	2
36.	In pride of May, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - - Thomas Weelkes	0	2
37.	Good night, good night beloved, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - Ciro Pinsuti	0	2
38.	Farewell my home, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - Mendelssohn	0	2
39.	The last wild rose of the season, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - G. A. Macfarren	0	2
40.	Sing we and chaunt it, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - Thomas Morley Dainty, fine, sweet nymph, Madrigal, S.S.A.T.B. - - - ,,	0	2
41.	The Curfew, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - - T. Anderton	0	2
42.	Tell me, Flora, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - - Ciro Pinsuti	0	2
43.	The morning breaks, S.A.T.B. - - - - - Mendelssohn	0	2
44.	I met her in the quiet lane, S.A.T.B. - - - - - J. L. Hatton	0	2
45.	The Owl, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - - E. Silas	0	2
46.	Gently falls the evening shade, Madrigal, S.A.T.B. - - Luca Marenzio	0	2
47.	'Twas a May-time morning, Madrigal, S.A.T.B. - - Constantius Festa	0	2
48.	Come again sweet days, Madrigal, S.A.T.B. - - - John Dowland	0	2
49.	Where droop the willows, Madrigal, S.A.T.B. - - Hubert Waelrent	0	2
50.	Now May is here, Part Song, S.A.T.B. - - - - Henry Smart	0	4

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35 POULTRY (E.C.).

THE

Universal Circulating Music Library,

1, BERNERS STREET, W.

THIS Library has been established according to the principles of the best Continental Institutions, and embraces every branch of Musical Literature up to the present time. Messrs. NOVELLO, EWER and Co. have spared neither exertion nor expense in order to make this Library

The most valuable, complete, and extensive in existence; and Subscribers may for the moderate Subscriptions mentioned below, procure the loan of all the principal Publications, practical and theoretical, of home as well as of foreign production, and thus make acquaintance with the whole range of Musical Publications, both classical and ephemeral.

NOVELLO, EWER and Co. have published a Catalogue of the Library, containing a classified List of upwards of all of which are available for the use of Subscribers.

65,000 WORKS,

In addition to these, Subscribers are entitled to select any Music in NOVELLO, EWER and Co.'s stock, although it may not be included in the Library Catalogue.

Terms of Subscription: Two Guineas per annum.

Per Half-Year	£1 5 0
Per Quarter	0 15 0
Per Month	0 8 0
Per Week	0 3 0

Town Subscribers will be supplied with Two Guineas' worth of Music, which may be exchanged once a week.

Country Subscribers will be supplied with Four Guineas' worth of Music, which may be exchanged twice a month.

At the end of their Subscription, Annual Subscribers are entitled to select Music to the amount of Half-a-Guinea, net.

Regulations.

1. All Subscriptions must be paid in advance, and at the commencement of every subsequent term.
2. All Subscriptions will be considered renewed, if the Music belonging to the Library is not returned at the expiration of the term.
3. Subscribers are requested to give in their Names and Addresses, and, if required, to pay a deposit for all Music on hand.
4. All expenses of carriage, porterage, booking, postage, &c., must be defrayed by the Subscriber, and all return parcels must be pre-paid.
5. Any pieces of Music which become torn, soiled, written on, or otherwise damaged, whilst in the possession of the Subscriber, will be charged for.
6. To facilitate the transmission of Music to and from the Library, and to prevent it from being rolled, every Subscriber must be provided with a portfolio, which can be supplied by NOVELLO, EWER and Co., price 1s. 6d. each.
7. All Music named in the Catalogue is for sale, those scarce works excepted, which cannot be replaced.
8. Every piece of Music belonging to the Library is in a wrapper, numbered according to the Catalogue. Subscribers who wish to retain any Music for purchase, are requested to return the wrappers.
9. No Music to be kept longer than two months.
10. Subscribers, when exchanging Music, are requested to send in lists containing the numbers, according to the Catalogue, of about twice as many works as they are entitled to. The price of the Catalogue is 5s.
11. The Library is open from nine to six o'clock, Saturdays excepted, when it closes at three.
12. The Subscription will date from the day of entrance.
13. All communications concerning the Library should be addressed to the Librarian.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

CHAPPELL & CO.

Have now on View the largest Stock in London of PIANOFORTES by all the great Makers, of ALEXANDRE HARMONIUMS, greatly improved, and of ORGAN HARMONIUMS. Any of these Instruments can be Hired for Three Years, and, provided each Quarterly Instalment shall have been regularly paid in advance, the Instrument becomes the property of the hirer at the expiration of the third year.

THE ALEXANDRE NEW SIX-GUINEA ORGAN HARMONIUM.

SOLID OAK CASE, FIVE OCTAVES, AND TWO FOOT-BOARDS.

The ever-increasing musical culture of all classes of society has established so large a demand for free reed instruments that many makers have sprung up who offer articles of such inferior and nasal quality of tone that the title of Harmonium suggests to many lovers of music the nearest approach to an instrument of torture that can be met with in the present age.

In the Instruments now offered to the public the tone will be found divested of all that has hitherto been considered objectionable. This end has been obtained by using a larger and thicker tongue, and a new system of voicing, which renders the tone rich and organ-like.

Another advantage in the new system is the increased strength of the reeds, and diminished liability to go out of tune by forcing the bellows.

The new system is applied to all the large instruments with still greater effect, and without extra cost.

CHAPPELL & CO., 50, NEW BOND STREET.

NEW WORK FOR SINGING CLASSES.

CHAPPELL'S PENNY OPERATIC PART-SONGS.

For Soprano, Alto, Tenor, and Bass.

The present collection of Part-Songs is entirely new, being selected and adapted from the most striking and popular Choruses in the Favourite Foreign Operas. The Arrangement is purely Vocal, such Choruses only being chosen as can be sung without the aid of an Instrumental Accompaniment. The Words have been expressly written for the work, and the harmonies arranged in four parts, as likely to be most useful in small classes.

1. Hymn of the Fisherman's Children ... ... Adapted to a Melody from Herold's "ZAMPA."
2. Fays and Elves (In mia fe) ... ... From Flotow's "MARTA."
3. Spring's Bright Glances (In Elvezia non v'ha) ... ... From Bellini's "LA SONNAMBULA."
4. From Yonder Vale and Hill (D'immenso giubilo) ... ... From Donizetti's "LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR."
5. Here we Rest (Qui la selva) ... ... From Bellini's "LA SONNAMBULA."
6. Onward to Battle (Squilli echeggi) ... ... From Verdi's "TROVATORE."
7. Rataplan (Rataplan) ... ... From Donizetti's "LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO."
8. The Gipsy's Star (Vedi! le fosche) ... ... From Verdi's "IL TROVATORE."
9. War Song of the Druids (Dell' aura tua profetica) ... ... From Bellini's "NORMA."
10. In Mercy, hear us! (Cielo clemente) ... ... From Donizetti's "LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO."
11. Come to the Fair! (Accorete, giovinette) ... ... From Flotow's "MARTA."
12. Friendship (Per te d'immenso giubilo) ... ... From Donizetti's "LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR."
13. Away, the Morning freshly breaking (The Chorus of Fishermen). ... ... From Auber's "MASANIELLO."
14. Pretty Village Maiden (Peasants' Serenade Chorus). ... ... From Gounod's "FAUST."
15. The soft Winds around us (The Gipsy Chorus) ... ... From Weber's "PRECIOSA."
16. See how lightly on the blue sea (Senti la danza invitaci) ... ... From Donizetti's "LUCREZIA BORGIA."
17. See the Moonlight Beam (Non fav Motto) ... ... " " " " "
18. On yonder rocks reclining ... ... From Auber's "FRA DIAVOLO."
19. Happy and light ... ... From Balfe's "BOHEMIAN GIRL"
20. Come, come away (Ah! que de moins) ... ... From Donizetti's "LA FAVORITA."
21. Hymen's torch (Il destin) ... ... From Meyerbeer's "LES HUGUENOTS."
22. Come on, Comrade (The celebrated Chorus of Old Men) ... ... From Gounod's "FAUST."
23. 'Gainst the Powers of Evil (The Chorale of the Cross) ... ... " " " "
24. O Balmy night (Com è gentil) ... ... From Donizetti's "DON PASQUALE."

Postage free, 1½d. each; or 3 for 3½d.

(To be continued.)

A NEW WORK FOR THE ORGAN.

HANDEL'S CHORUSES

Arranged for the Organ, with PEDAL OBBLIGATO, EXPRESSLY for the use of AMATEURS, by DR. RIMBAULT. Price 3s. each. Nos. 1 to 12 are now ready:—

No. 1. ZADOCK THE PRIEST.
2. FROM THE CENSER.
3. WE NEVER WILL BOW DOWN.
4. HE GAVE THEM HAILSTONES.
5. SING UNTO GOD.
6. HALLELUJAH.
7. LIFT UP YOUR HEADS.
8. LET US BREAK THEIR BONDS ASUNDER.
9. FOR UNTO US A CHILD IS BORN.
10. HE TRUSTED IN GOD.
11. BUT THE WATERS OVERWHELMED THEM.
12. THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.

(To be continued.)

The present publication has been undertaken with a view to supply a musical want long felt by amateurs and lovers of the organ, i.e., an edition of HANDEL'S CELEBRATED CHORUSES arranged for the organ with pedal obbligato, that shall be effective, combining all the salient parts of the score, and yet at the same time be within the reach of those performers who have not made the instrument their entire study. We have, it is true, many arrangements; some for "Organ or Pianoforte," others by our most eminent organists. The first belong to a past age: the second, in all cases, are only fit for professional performers, and require an amount of skill for their proper execution rarely attained by amateurs. In the present edition, the notation has been carefully studied so as to simplify the reading, whilst the pedals, in all cases of difficulty, have the assistance of the left hand of the performer. Many other points have been considered so as to render the arrangement fitted to the object it has in view—to supply an edition of HANDEL'S CHORUSES for the Organ expressly for the amateur.

CHAPPELL & CO., 50, NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Printed by NOVELLO, EWER and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.); also at 751, Broadway, New York.
Sold also by KENT and Co., Paternoster-row. Saturday, August 31, 1872.

791

THE MUSICAL TIMES

And Singing-Class Circular,

Published on the 1st of every Month.

The Music Pages only are stereotyped, those persons who would possess the Musical Articles, Notices, Advertisements, &c., can only ensure doing so by taking the work as it appears.

No. 356.—Vol. 15. OCTOBER 1, 1872. Price 2d.; Post-free, 2½d.

Registered for transmission abroad. Annual Subscription, Postage-free, 2s. 6d.

CRAMER'S PATENT AMERICAN ORGANS.

PRICES 12 TO 200 GUINEAS.

CRAMERS are the sole manufacturers in England, and have greatly improved the instrument by the addition of a new Reed Valve; a new Octave Coupler; a Vox Humana Stop; and their Muted Bourdon.

These improvements impart to Cramer's American Organs that peculiar, agreeable, and mellow quality of tone which distinguishes them above all kindred instruments. Besides those always kept ready for sale, Cramer and Co. manufacture special instruments, powerfully voiced, and suitable for Churches, Chapels, or large Halls.

CRAMER'S AMERICAN ORGANS, on their THREE YEARS' SYSTEM of HIRE. Rules, conditions, and prices may be had on application to 199, 201, 207, 209, Regent Street; 43, Moorgate Street, City; 64, West Street, Brighton.

Cramer and Co. are the originators of this system, and although it has been partially adopted by other firms, it is carried out on a large and liberal scale only by themselves.

CRAMER'S £12 AMERICAN ORGAN
(5 OCTAVES).

CRAMER'S £15 AMERICAN ORGAN
(2 STOPS).

CRAMER'S £22 AMERICAN ORGAN
(4 STOPS).

CRAMER'S £28 AMERICAN ORGAN
(6 STOPS).

CRAMER'S £34 AMERICAN ORGAN
(8 STOPS).

CRAMER'S 55 GUINEA AMERICAN ORGAN
(10 STOPS).

CRAMER'S 70 GUINEA AMERICAN ORGAN
(13 STOPS).

CRAMER'S 85 GUINEA AMERICAN ORGAN
(10 STOPS AND PEDALS).

CRAMER'S £100 AMERICAN ORGAN
(12 STOPS, 2 MANUALS).

CRAMER'S £125 AMERICAN ORGAN
(16 STOPS, 2 MANUALS).

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MRS. ALFRED J. SUTTON (Soprano)
Is open to engagements for Concerts and Oratorios.
54, Duchess-road, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

MISS BLANCHE REIVES, late Reeves (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, Opera, Operetta, Soirées, Dinners, &c.,
47, Tachbrook-street, Pimlico, S.W.

MISS ELLEN GLANVILLE (Soprano),
2, Percy-terrace, Ladbroke-grove-road, Notting-hill, W.

MADAME HELENA WALKER (Soprano).
All communications respecting Engagements for Oratorios and Concerts must be addressed to her residence, 6, West Bank-rd Edge-la. Liverpool.

MISS CLELLAND (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, Lessons, Terms, &c., address Mulberry-terrace, Newton-heath, Manchester.

MISS RACHEL FARRAR (Soprano),
From the London Academy of Music, for Concerts, Oratorios, &c.
75, Stamford-crescent, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MISS FLORENCE ASHTON (Contralto).
For Concerts, Oratorios, Soirées, Dinners, &c.
4, Percy-terrace, Ladbroke-grove-road, Notting-hill, W.

MISS FREEMAN (Contralto)
Is open to Engagements for Concerts and Oratorios,
46, Bentinck-place, Bradford.

MISS MARIENNE POTTER (Contralto),
60, Tabernacle-walk, Finsbury-square.

MISS ELIZA HEYWOOD (Contralto).
For Oratorios and Concerts. 1, Blenheim-terrace, Old Trafford, Manchester.

MR. STEDMAN (Tenor).
Address 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. GREENHILL (Tenor.)
For Concerts, Pupils, &c., 1, St. George's-terrace, Kilburn.

W. M. DYSON (Tenor).
For Oratorios or Concerts. Address Cathedral Choir, Worcester.

MR. WILLIAM DUMVILLE (Tenor),
5, Elvington-street, Hulme, or Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. H. T. BYWATER (Tenor),
Of the Birmingham Town Hall Concerts, is open to Engagements for Oratorios and Concerts. 40, Darlington-street, Wolverhampton.

W. H. BLISS (Tenor).
For Oratorio and Concert Engagements, apply to Brandon-villa, Court-hill, Lewisham.

CARLOS LOVATT, Vocalist (Baritone).
For Oratorios, &c., address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. O. CHRISTIAN (Basso).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address, 18, Adelaide-square, Windsor.

MR. MONTEITH RANDELL (Basso),
47, Johnstone-street, Ladywood, Birmingham.

MR. T. WOODWARD (Bass).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Gloucester.

C. D. COLLET (Bass, Teacher of Singing),
Sunnybank, Hazleville-road, Hornsey-lane, Highgate, N.

MR. THORNTON WOOD (Bass)
(Of the Royal Albert Hall Concerts), for Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address 2, Hallfield-place, Bradford, Yorks.

MR. GEORGE VIGAY (Bass Vocalist).
Concerts, Oratorios, Dinners, etc.,
Cintra-villas, 139, Victoria-park-road, South Hackney.

MR. C. J. BISHENDEN (the celebrated Bass).
For Engagements and Pupils, 52, Mortimer-street, Cavendish-sq., W.

MR. GEO. JENKINSON,
Teacher of Organ, Piano, and Singing,
53, Tavistock-road, Westbourne-park, W.

MR. T. REES EVANS, Concert Agent,
Berwick-on-Tweed.

MR. J. TILLEARD,
Removed to Seaton-villa, Slaithwaite-road, Lewisham, S.E.
Lessons in Singing and Composition.

T. R. WILLIS, Organ Builder,
29, Minories, London, E. Wood and Metal Pipe Maker.
Voicing, Tuning, and Repairing. List sent for stamp.
Second-hand Organs for Sale.

T. R. WILLIS (established 1827,) Maker and Importer of Brass and Wood Instruments, Harmonium Reeds, Music Strings, Wire, &c., Violins, Concertinas, &c. 29, Minories, London. List for stamp.

IMPORTANT TO MUSIC SELLERS.—Having the largest varied Stock of Music in Europe, orders received in the morning are executed the same day, or if in stock posted immediately if required. Terms highly advantageous.
London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

MUSIC ENGRAVED, PRINTED, AND PUBLISHED in the best style, and on moderate terms, a statement of which sent on application by B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

RUSSELL'S MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.
CONCERTINAS, Harmoniums, Organ-Accordions. Flutinas, Drums, Fifes, Flutes, Violins, Cornets, Saxhorns, Clarionets, Flageolets, Guitars, Banjos, Musical Boxes, Strings, &c. Self-Instruction books. Instruments repaired or exchanged. Price lists free. J. Russell, 158, Goswell-road, Clerkenwell, London.

HARGREAVES'S AMERICAN IRON FRAME GRAND PIANOFORTES.
BOUDOIR GRAND, on the latest American system, cast iron frame and bars, three strings, oblique and cross strings, improved overstrung scale, called Hargreave's American Iron Frame Cross-Strings Pianofortes; surpassing all pianos made on the usual system, in quality, quantity, and duration of tone. These three qualities command instant recognition as soon as it is touched. Price, in the above-named length, 95 guineas.
THE UPRIGHT PIANO, on the latest American system, with double iron frame, cast in one piece, cross strings, suspended soundboard; is the ne plus ultra of piano construction, surpassing all others made with wooden bracings, or mixed wood and iron bracings; it is specially addressed to all who wish to possess the finest toned instrument that money can purchase.
THE PROFESSIONAL AND CONNOISSEURS' HARMONIUM. Registered, one model of this Harmonium, constructed with two manuals, actually surpasses all Harmoniums hitherto constructed, in offering some distinct qualities in voicing, from the most delicate to the most robust, and also some novelties in Harmonic Stops.
Address, for lists of prices and cards to view, William Hargreaves, 61, Dale-street, Manchester.

The King of all Reed Instruments yet invented.
W. HATTERSLEY and CO.'S Celebrated Improved HARMONIUMS, for quality of tone, rapidity of touch, workmanship, improved action, &c., stand unequalled. These charming instruments have been compared side by side with the American organs, and pronounced superior at half the price.
DRAWING ROOM MODEL,
Full Organ Tone, with knee swell to Treble and Bass, all stops effective.
9 Stops, Walnut case, 17 guineas.
12 „ Burr „ 22 „
18 „ „ „ 26 „
Lists of prices and testimonials free.
W. Hattersley and Co., 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS in HARMONIUMS.—W. Hattersley and Co.'s celebrated IMPROVED HARMONIUMS, pronounced by the profession to be the nearest approach in tone to the organ of any hitherto invented. This improvement produces a rich, full, organ-like quality of tone, entirely free from all harsh or reedy sound, and by the careful voicing of the reeds, the articulation is fully equal in rapidity to the pianoforte. These instruments are manufactured by us for private sales only, and of the best materials and workmanship. W. Hattersley and Co., Harmonium Manufacturers, 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield (late 95 and 107, Meadow-street).
Lists of prices and testimonials free.

BRASS, REED, STRING, AND DRUM AND FIFE BANDS, PIANOFORTES, AND HARMONIUMS
SUPPLIED at wholesale prices at J. Moore's, Buxton-road, Huddersfield. Patterns and prices post free. Music for any kind of band. Patronised by the army, navy, and rifle corps.

PASCALL'S VOICE JUJUBES.
Strongly recommended to Singers and Public Speakers. Agreeable and effective. In boxes only, Sixpence and One Shilling each, or post free for eight and fourteen stamps. None genuine without the name and address on each box.—Jas. Pascall, 21, Wells-street, Oxford-street, London, W.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette.

EPPS'S COCOA.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA. The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by grocers only in tin-lined packets, labelled "James Epps and Co., homœopathic chymists, London." J. E. and Co. are also makers of Epps's Glycerine Jujubes for cough, throat, and voice.

HARMONIUMS.—G. Camp's Improved Harmoniums are adapted either for Church or Drawing-room. Prices from five guineas; the trade supplied. 131, Whitfield-street, Fitzroy-sq., W.

E. & W. SNELL'S IMPROVED HARMONIUMS. For tone, touch, articulation, and general excellence, are pronounced by the profession and public the best and cheapest manufactured. Price lists, with full description, free of E. & W. Snell, 37, Kelly-street (re-named), Kentish-town, London, N.W. Manufactory, Little King-street-north. Trade supplied. Pedal Harmoniums on Organ Principles.

J. JULIAN, Organ Metal Pipe Maker to the Trade, 23, Princes-terrace, Haverstock-hill, close to the Tailors' Almshouses. Orders punctually attended to.

FLUTES.—CYLINDER FLUTES.—Mr. Liddle has now perfected a Cylinder-bore Flute with Eight keys, without any complicated mechanism to get out of order, yet equal to every effect required. The ordinary or old fingering is preserved.
Price Two guineas, Three guineas, and Five guineas.
Manufactured by A. Liddle, 35, Devonshire-street, Queen-square, Bloomsbury, London, W.C.
Ordinary Cocoa eight-keyed Flutes, 21s. each.

FINGER ORGANS.—One, four superior stops, £35, including carriage. The other, £18, with pedals, diapason stop. Edwards, Chester, Bucks.

ORGANS for SALE (new), 11 stops, 2 manuals, full compass, bourdon pedal pipes, 100 guineas. 8 Stop Organ and 7 Stop Organ, with general swell and pedals. A. Monk, Organ Builder, Anglers-lane, Kentish-town-road, London.

ORGAN for SALE, new.—A fine-toned, high-class instrument, suitable for Church or Chamber—contains 20 stops, two full rows of keys, swell to CC, and pedal organ, 30 notes. Apply J. J. S., 18, Burton-crescent, W.C.

ORGANS.—To be SOLD, a fine CC ORGAN, 2 sets of keys, CC to F, and pedals, 16 stops. J. Whittaker, 22, Church-street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

CC ORGAN for SALE, equal to new, powerful tone, with open diapason, stop diapason bass, clarabella, dulciana, principal, and fifteenth; 1½ octaves of pedals. Price 40 guineas; such a bargain seldom to be met with. A photograph of the above can be forwarded. Address A.B., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, London.

ORGANS.—Two powerful-toned CHURCH ORGANS, with speaking front, CC to G, pedal pipes, &c. Price 60 and 85 guineas. Hammond and Sons, 366, Old Kent-road.

ORGAN.—Suitable for a small Church or Chapel, £38, if sold immediately. Contains—stopped diapason, Liebich gedact, open diapason, principal, dulciana (new), and flute; swell; over two octaves of pedals; two composition pedals. In carved mahogany case, gilt front, with carved cornice. 33, St. Ervan's-road, Westbourne-park, W.

WANTED to PURCHASE, a Second-hand CHAMBER ORGAN, containing great and swell; also pedal pipes. Height must not exceed 9 feet. Price must be moderate. No new instruments. No agent. M.D., Gladding's, Bookseller, Whitechapel, London.

WANTED, for a moderately-sized Church, a good SECOND-HAND ORGAN. Apply, with price and other particulars, to the Vicar, Rhos, Ruabon.

A MAHOGANY COTTAGE PIANOFORTE, 6 octaves, £9. A handsome ROSEWOOD GRAND SQUARE ditto, by Broadwood, £20, cash. Several COTTAGE PIANOFORTES, returned from hire, walnut and rosewood, full scale, at very low prices, for cash, or by instalments. Harris and Co., 33, Rathbone-place, W.

110 PIANOFORTES by Broadwood, Collard, Erard, Allison. Parisian Obliques by Bord, Ziegler. Harps by Erard. Harmoniums by Debain, Alexandre, Christophe. Wind and Stringed Instruments of every character. Music Stools, Sheet Music, &c.
Mr. C. Kelly will SELL by AUCTION, at 11, Charles-street, Berners-street, Oxford-street, on Wednesday, October 9th, at one o'clock, the Stock in Trade of several Dealers, together with the Unredeemed Pledges from the Principal London Pawnbrokers. May be viewed the day prior and morning of sale. Catalogues forwarded on application.

FOR SALE, a HARP, Erard's, double action, satin wood sounding board; selected from the maker's warehouse by a professional man. Price 30 guineas. N.B. In excellent condition, and an ornamental maple bookstand included. The communications may be made to M. C., Musical Times office.

A PEDAL HARMONIUM for SALE, 2 manuals and complete set of German pedals, independent reeds; 8 feet and 16 feet. Price 30 pounds. Apply at R. F. Stevens, Harmonium Manufacturer, 18, Windmill-street, Tottenham-court-road, London, W.

HARMONIUM, by Alexandre; suitable for a Church. 12 stops; 4 rows of vibrators; oak case. Price £20 (cost 38 guineas). Also, a GRAND PIANO, by Broadwood; suitable for practice. £12. Apply to Dr. Holloway, Professor and Teacher of Music, 73, Hemingford-road, Barnsbury, London, N.

TO COMPOSERS.—Dr. Holloway continues to revise and prepare manuscript compositions for publication. Lessons in composition by post if required. Address 73, Hemingford-road, Barnsbury, London, N.

ORGAN LESSONS.—Ladies and Gentlemen wishing to qualify themselves for appointments, or examinations are requested to apply to Dr. Holloway, F.C.O., 73, Hemingford-road, Barnsbury, London, N. (Certificates granted when competent.)

LESSONS on HARMONY given (by post) by a Fellow of the College of Organists. Candidates prepared for the College Examinations. Address F. C. O., care of Novello, Ewer & Co.

ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, HARMONIUM, HARMONY, &c., One Guinea per Quarter; Lessons and Practice on fine modern instruments. Organist, 51, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

ORGAN STUDIO, 166, Strand.—LESSONS or PRACTICE (and at St. Michael's, Stockwell, S.W.) on fine two-manual C ORGANS—(HILL and SON)—Pedal compass, 29 notes. Apply to W. VENNING SOUTHGATE, at his Studio. (Organist, St. Michael's, Stockwell.)

ORGAN LESSONS and PRACTICE on a fine new Instrument, with two manuals, 15 stops, 2½ octaves of pedals, with Bourdons throughout. Terms moderate. Allen's Musical Instrument Warehouse, 17, Percy-street, Bedford-square, W. Lessons and practice on other Instruments also.

MADAME LAURA BAXTER (Member of the Royal Academy of Music, first principal Contralto, Royal Italian Opera, Drury Lane, Royal English Opera, Covent Garden, Sacred Harmonic Society, Exeter Hall, &c.), begs to request that all communications respecting ENGAGEMENTS for Oratorios and Concerts, may be addressed to her at her private residence, 53, Bedford-square, W.C.

MRS. NOBLE (Associate R. A. Music), Professor of Singing, receives Private and Professional Pupils. Address 3, Fitzroy-street, Fitzroy-square, W. Mrs. Noble's highly successful Pupils, Miss Ellen Horne (Soprano), 13, Tortiano-avenue, Camden-road, N.W., and Madame Poole (Contralto), 32A, George-street, Hanover-square, W., continue to accept ENGAGEMENTS (together or separately) for Oratorios, Concerts, &c., in London and in the Provinces.

MISS ELCHO (Pianiste) requests that all communications respecting Concert and Soirée Engagements, and Lessons (Pianoforte and Singing), may be addressed to her, 15, Albert-road, Abbey-road, N.W., where critiques may be obtained.

MISS GRACE ARMYTAGE (Mrs. H. C. Sanders), Primo Soprano (London and Provincial Concerts, Dublin, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Belfast, &c., &c.). MR. HENRY C. SANDERS, Principal Baritone, for Oratorio, Concerts, Opera, &c., &c., 2, Athalstane-villas, Stroud-green-road, Finsbury-park, N.

MR. GEORGE VIGAY, Bass Vocalist, having returned to town, is open to accept Engagements for Concerts, Oratorios, Soirées, etc., or for a Sunday Engagement at a Roman Catholic Church; well acquainted with the service. Address Mr. George Vigay, Cintra-villas, 139, Victoria-park-road, South Hackney.

THE ENGLISH GLEE UNION (Sixth Season).
Mr. H. ASHTON. Mr. T. PEARSON.
Mr. J. F. MEEN, and Mr. J. RUDKIN.
Assisted by
Madame ASHTON.
(Miss F. Danielson.)
Are prepared to give their Musical Entertainments at Institutions, &c. For terms, &c., address J. Rudkin, Sackville-house, Brook-green, Hammersmith, W.

THE LONDON VOCAL QUARTETTE.—For terms, programmes, &c., apply to the Secretary, Mr. George Mellor, 3, Miller-villas, Lady Well-park, S.E.

ONE GUINEA'S worth of MUSIC for 2s. 6d., slightly soiled, including the surplus of the past year's issue. Post free, 2s. 10d. James Smith & Son, 76, 74, and 72, Lord-street, Liverpool.

TO the MUSICAL PROFESSION and MUSIC TRADE.—MR. FREDERICK LUCAS, Public Accountant, begs to intimate to those who are desirous of Purchasing or Disposing of their Connexion or Business, that he will be happy to be the medium of introducing suitable parties to each other, and making equitable arrangements between them, for which his position and experience eminently qualify him.—26, Maddox-street, Regent-street, W.

NO GOODWILL.—An Old Established MUSIC BUSINESS, in a flourishing town in North Wales, to be DISPOSED OF, with a teaching, hiring, and tuning connection; present proprietor retiring. A highly respectable party of good credit could enter upon it at once. Apply, in the first instance, to F. Lucas, Esq., Accountant, 46, Maddox-street, Regent-street, London.

TO be SOLD, a MUSIC BUSINESS, with an excellent Tuning connection. Address M. M., care of Novello and Co.

WANTED, to JOIN in an Established PIANOFORTE BUSINESS; where there is a good Tuning and Hiring Business attached; advertiser is a good Tuner. Address Music, 21, Terrace-place, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Now ready. Small 4to. Price 1s. (Separate Vocal Parts, price 6d. each, will be shortly ready.)

SECOND SERIES.

THE

CANTICLES AND HYMNS

OF THE CHURCH,

POINTED FOR CHANTING, AND SET TO APPROPRIATE ANGLICAN CHANTS SINGLE AND DOUBLE;

TOGETHER WITH

Responses to the Commandments,

EDITED BY THE

REV. SIR F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart., etc.,

AND

EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This Work contains a Selection of Double (besides additional Single) Chants; together with special settings of "Benedicite," and a Collection of Kyrie Eleisons, old and new.

This Pointing of the Canticles is authorised by His Grace the Archbishop of York.

London: NOVELLO, EWER & CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: 751, Broadway.

THE CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, for Matins and Evensong, edited by John White, and intended principally for the use of Amateur Choirs, contains the music for the Versicles, Responses, Creeds, &c.; also the Canticles pointed for chanting, with a selection of Anglican Chants and Gregorian Tones for each Canticle. The work contains altogether about 150 Single Chants, and 50 Gregorians, together with a "Benedicite" written specially for it by the Rev. William Statham. Price Three Shillings.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Warrington: P. Pearse.

THE EUROPEAN PSALMIST.

This Work is now published, and Subscribers' addresses should be sent to Dr. Wesley, Gloucester.

Just Published, Fifth Edition, revised. Price 7s.

PARR'S CHURCH OF ENGLAND PSALMODY: a Complete and Authentic Manual for the Parochial Organist; containing 351 Tunes in 100 metres; 289 Chants, with Responses—in all 689 compositions,—free from modern alterations and corruptions; with Memoirs of above 800 Composers, and references to the works from which the pieces are taken; presenting an amount of information on the History and Bibliography of Psalmody not to be found elsewhere.
London: W. Macintosh, 24, Paternoster-row.

THE BRISTOL TUNE BOOK.—A Manual of Tunes and Chants, intended as a companion to all Hymn Books, containing 258 Tunes (100 varieties of metre), and 85 Single and Double Chants. The whole arranged in Short Score, and the Harmonies carefully selected from the best authorities, with ruled music paper for manuscript additions. Adopted in several hundred congregations. More than 100,000 copies have already been sold.

No. 1. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 6d.
„ 2. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 3s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION.

„ 3. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 0d.
„ 4. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 2s. 6d.

Congregations or Associations requiring large quantities may obtain them on special terms by application to the Bristol Publishers.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Bristol: W. and F. Morgan; and all booksellers and musicsellers.

NOW READY,
A New and Enlarged Selection of

PSALMS, HYMNS and ANTHEMS, arranged for Congregational or Private use, by Samuel Smith, Bradford.
Very neat and compact, 218 pp. Imperial 32mo.

In limp cloth, edges turned in 1 0
Cloth boards, coloured edges, gilt lettered 1 6
Roan, gilt edges, and lettered 2 0

London: Hamilton, Adams and Co.; and Novello, Ewer and Co.
Bradford: Thomas Brear.
THE BRADFORD TUNE BOOK and PSALMS and CHANTS, together or separate, supplied in all the various forms, as before.

Eighth Edition.

TUNES NEW AND OLD.—Comprising all the metres in the Wesleyan Hymn Book; also Chants, Responses, and Doxologies. Compiled by John Dobson, and for the most part revised and re-arranged by Henry John Gauntlett, Mus. Doc. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Sold also at 66, Paternoster-row. Prices: plain cloth, 3s. 6d.; cloth lettered, 4s.; cloth extra, gilt edges, 5s.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges,

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes, as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN; containing nearly 270 Tunes for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just published, price 1s. 6d. net.

TWENTY-ONE ORIGINAL TUNES to FAVOURITE HYMNS; including "Lead, kindly Light," "O day of rest and gladness," "Thou, whose Almighty Word," &c., &c. By the Rev. S. M. Barkworth, D.D., and H. J. Stark, F.C.O.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A MANUAL OF SINGING, for the use of Choir Trainers and Schoolmasters. By Richard Mann, Organist of the Abbey Church, Cirencester, &c., 1s. 6d. Contents:—The theory of music explained in a concise manner, with the use of as few technical terms as possible, together with full directions to the trainer as to the mode of teaching it; a series of progressive exercises for one, two, and three voices; exercises for the cultivation of the voice; lists of easy sacred and secular music, &c.
This work offers to the clergy and other amateur choir trainers a systematic and simple course of instruction, by which they may teach their pupils to read music at sight, in a comparatively short time.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SIXTEENTH EDITION.

Price 1s. A specimen copy post free for 12 stamps.

THE COLLEGIATE AND SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING MANUAL.

For Choirs.—The easiest system that can be obtained for training, improving, and learning to read music at sight.
For Schools.—Every requisite for learning Music, and reading at sight in a few lessons.
For Choral Societies.—The exercises will be found invaluable, tending to produce musical effects seldom heard.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Just published, 2s. nett.
(COMPANION WORK TO THE ABOVE.)

COLLEGIATE VOCAL TUTOR.

Containing Treatise on Voice and Vocal Art, with Anatomical Illustrations of the Vocal Instrument.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

PROGRESSION OF CHORDS; Appendix to the Tritone. A Method of Harmony and Modulation. By Joseph Green. Price 2s.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE NATURAL PRINCIPLES OF HARMONY. By W. W. Parkinson. Price 15s.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: W. W. Parkinson and Son, 24, St. Ann's-square.

Second Edition. Now ready.

MACDONALD'S GRAND VALSE for the PIANO. "The style of the piece is very imposing and original, and is sure to make it a favourite with piano players."—The Ladies. Sent for 2s. Cheltenham: Hale and Co., 24, Promenade-villas.

Just published. Second edition.

VIVENTE. Grand Galop de Concert, "This is a bold inspiriting galop, melodious and effective."—Musical Standard.

FIRST TARANTELLA. "VILLAGE REVELS." Impromptu characteristic. Composed by WILLIAM BLAKELEY, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Price 4s. each, or post free on receipt of 24 stamps, from Mr. Wm. Blakeley, Warrengate, Wakefield.

JUST PUBLISHED.—The MORNING WALTZ, new edition. Arranged by C. H. R. MARRIOTT, illustrated, post free 24 stamps. C. J. Klitz, 41, Hanway-street, Oxford-street, London.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.

W. H. BIRCH'S POPULAR OPERETTAS, now being performed throughout England. Sparkling, brilliant, and not difficult.

No. 1. The Merrie Men of Sherwood Forest. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.; single voice parts, 1s. each.

No. 2. Ballad Operetta—Katrine, the Pride of Killarney. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

No. 3. Eveleen, the Rose of the Vale. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

The above Operettas are written for a Full or Small Orchestra.

Choral Societies can hire the vocal scores, single voice parts, and band parts, on very moderate terms. See opinions of the press.

Address W. H. Birch, 3, Southampton-place, Reading.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S
POPULAR PART SONGS FOR S.A.T.B. 8vo.

1. "I love the merry spring time"	...	14th edition	...	0	2
2. "Gaily thro' the greenwood"	...	17th ,,	...	0	2
3. "Welcome, merry May"	...	6th ,,	...	0	2
4. "The mountain Maid"	...	5th ,,	...	0	2
5. "Come o'er the mountain"	...	8th ,,	...	0	2
6. "Hail, merry, merry Christmas"	...	12th ,,	...	0	2
7. "Songs of praise the angels sang"	...	5th ,,	...	0	3
8. "Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow"	...	6th ,,	...	0	3
9. "Fairy revels"	...	7th ,,	...	0	3
10. "Oh! peaceful vale of rest"	...	5th ,,	...	0	1½
11. "The merry bird"	...	5th ,,	...	0	3
12. "Come, let us be merry and gay"	...	4th ,,	...	0	3
13. "Forest echoes"	...	6th ,,	...	0	3
14. "Haste, ye merry elves"	...	5th ,,	...	0	3
15. "The streamlet"	...	2nd ,,	...	0	3

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: Hime and Addison.

IN AID OF THE
NORTH COATES CHURCH ORGAN FUND.

Published June, 1872,
Toned paper, cloth, gilt lettered, price 7s. 6d.

THE SECOND AND CONCLUDING VOLUME
OF
"THE VILLAGE ORGANIST,"

Containing the following Voluntaries, all composed expressly for it and not published in any other work:—

Slow Melody. Wm. H. Callcott.	Andante. J. F. Barnett.
Andante (Pastorale). Mrs. Mounsey-Bartholomew.	Andante. R. Forsey Brion.
Andante. Mrs. Mounsey-Bartholomew.	Andante (Pastorale). Dr. E. F. Rimbault.
Allegretto grazioso quasi Andante. E. M. Delaborde.	Andante. Dr. E. F. Rimbault.
Andante (Canzonet). Dr. H. J. Gauntlett.	Andante. C. Goodban, Mus. B., Oxon.
Andante con moto. F. E. Gladstone.	Andante. Dr. E. G. Monk.
Andante con grazia (Canzone). Franz Nava.	Andantino tranquillo. E. H. Turpin.
Andante (Pastorale). E. Silas.	Andante cantabile (Prelude). E. H. Turpin.
Andante con moto (Siciliana). John Hullah.	Maestoso (March). E. H. Turpin.
Larghetto espressivo. G. A. Macfarren.	Larghetto. Dr. G. B. Arnold.
Andante con moto (Prelude). Sir Julius Benedict.	Andante and Adagio. Henry Farmer.
Andante con moto. Henry Smart.	Moderato (Prelude). S. Reay, Mus. B., Oxon.
Allegro poco maestoso (Prelude). W. G. Cusins.	Andante cantabile. H. S. Irons.
Andante maestoso. E. G. Verrinder, Mus. Bac., Oxon.	Allegretto (Song of Praise). Dr. J. Stainer.
	Andante. Dr. S. S. Wesley.
	Andante (Pastorale). J. Barnby.
	Larghetto. J. Barnby.

"A most useful series of pieces. * * * Pleasantly exemplifies the present state of musicianship in England, and will be found valuable for practical use where short voluntaries are needed, in towns as much as in villages."—"Musical Times," Aug. 1872.

London:
Novello, Ewer & Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.).
New York: 751, Broadway.

C. JEFFERYS, 57, BERNERS ST.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY.

A COLLECTION OF
PART-SONGS, GLEES, CHORUSES, &c.
EDITED BY MICHAEL WATSON.

1	'Tis silent eve	Michael Watson.
2	Corin's fate	R. Turner.
3	Where the pearly dew-drop falleth ...	E. J. Loder.
4	The Winter being over	Ellen Avery.
5	Fairy voices	T. G. B. Hailey.
6	Moonlight	J. H. L. Glover.
7	Good-bye	J. L. Hatton.
8	I thought of thee	W. F. Banks.
9	The Forsaken	J. L. Hatton.
10	Bonny May	J. H. L. Glover.
11	Spring Song	J. L. Hatton.
12	The Winds	C. J. Frost.
13	County Guy	G. A. Macfarren
14	The birdes that had left their song ...	do.

Price 2d. each number. Other Numbers in the Press.

THE POPULAR
Operatic Arrangements,
SOLOS AND DUETS,
And Original Pianoforte Pieces,
By FELIX GANTIER,
Of which lists may be had on application.

WILLIE PAPE.

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 1	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Has sorrow thy young days shaded," and "The Young May Moon."
*IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 2	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "My lodging is on the cold ground," and "Garry Owen."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 3	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Minstrel Boy" and "St. Patrick's Day."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 4	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The harp that once thro' Tara's halls" and "Rory O'More."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 5	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Love's young dream" and "Sprig of Shillelah."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 6	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Valley lay smiling before me" and "The Girl I left behind me."
*HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 1	4	0
Brilliant Fantasias on Airs, "Ye banks and braes" and "Bonnie Dundee."
HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 2	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Flowers of the Forest," "Kelvin Grove," and "Campbells are comin'."
HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 3	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Annie Laurie" and "Wha'll be king but Charlie."
LLANGOLLEN	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Ash Grove," "Poor Mary Ann," and "March of the Men of Harlech."

* Performed with great success by Madlle. Sophie Heilbron.

LOUIS DUPUIS.

CATHEDRAL GEMS:

1. NANTES.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 12th Mass	3	0
2. WURMS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Weber's Mass in G	3	0
3. ROTTERDAM.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 3rd (Imperial) Mass	3	0
4. MALAGA.—Fantasia, on subjects from Beethoven's Mass in C	3	0
5 ROUEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Gounod's Messe Solennelle	3	0
6. CAEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Rossini's Stabat Mater	3	0
7. MAYENCE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 1st Mass, B flat	3	0
8. COLOGNE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 1st Mass, in C	3	0
9. PARIS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise	3	0
10. LONDON.—Fantasia, on subjects from Handel's Messiah ...	3	0
11. NORWICH.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's Creation	3	0
12. CANTERBURY.—Fantasia, on Spohr's As pants the Hart ...	3	0
13. YORK.—Fantasia, on Handel's Judas Maccabæus ...	3	0
14. SALISBURY.—Fantasia, on Mendelssohn's St. Paul ...	3	0
15. WELLS.—Fantasia, on Haydn's Mass in B flat (No. 16.)...	3	0

Beautifully illustrated in Colours, with views of celebrated Cathedrals.

C. JEFFERYS, 57, BERNERS STREET (W.)

Mr. Barnby's Choir.

THE FIRST REHEARSAL for the ensuing Season will take place on Tuesday evening, October 29, at Eight o'clock precisely. As a number of new and important works are to be undertaken, Members of the Choir are requested to attend punctually. Ladies and Gentlemen desirous of joining the Choir should apply at once by letter to the Secretary, 1, Berners Street, W.

HULME TOWN HALL, STRETFORD ROAD, MANCHESTER.
Monday, October 21st, Handel's favourite Oratorio,

SAMSON,

Will be given by the Manchester Temple Choral Society.
Principal Vocalists—Miss Morgan, Miss Ruth Harlow, Mr. Grimshaw, and Mr. Alfred Wroe (of Bury). Band and Chorus of 120 performers. Leader of the Band, Herr Otto Bernhardt. Conductor, Mr. Alfred Smith. The Instrumentalists will be selected from Mr. C. Hallé's Orchestra.
Doors open at half-past six; to commence at half-past seven. Tickets 2s., 1s., and 6d. each.

MONTHLY POPULAR CONCERTS, BRIXTON.—Director, Mr. Ridley Prentice—Fourth Season—First Concert on Tuesday evening, October 22nd. Messrs. Henry Holmes, Folkes, Burnett, Pezze, Ridley Prentice, and Minson; Miss Purdy. Quartett, B flat, Haydn; Moonlight Sonata, Beethoven; Sonata P.F. and Violin, W. H. Holmes; P.F. Quartet, Schumann. Tickets, One Guinea, 5s., 2s. 6d., and 1s., of Mr. Ridley Prentice, 30A, Wimpole-street, W.

GLOUCESTER COUNTY ASYLUM, near Gloucester.—MALE ATTENDANTS WANTED, wages to commence at £24 per annum. ASSISTANT CARPENTER also required, must be resident in the house; board, lodging, and washing in either case; previous Asylum experience not necessary; musicians preferred. For further particulars, as to wages and duties, at the same time state musical capabilities, apply to the Medical Superintendent at the Asylum.
24th Sept., 1872. Benj. Shadgett, Clerk.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL.—A TENOR Singer WANTED. A thorough knowledge of Cathedral Music necessary. Testimonials as to character and musical ability, stating also age and compass of voice, to be forwarded to the Rev. the Precentor, Lincoln, on or before Friday, the 18th October next. Salary £80.

TREBLE VOICE.—WANTED, a LAD for the Choir of the Church of St. John Evangelist, Grove-street, Commercial-road. Full Choral service. Apply at the Church, on Thursdays, after 8 p.m.

A FEW AMATEUR Voices (Alto, Tenor, and Bass) REQUIRED for the Choir of St. Thomas's, Portman-square. Apply Organist (Mr. E. Rogers), at the Church, on Wednesday nights, between 7.30 and 9.30.

WANTED, first-class ALTO, TENOR and BASS Singers for a Church Choir; must read well, and possess good voice. Address Box 515, Post-office, Manchester.

ALL SAINTS', Margaret-street.—There is a Vacancy in the Choir of this Church for an ALTO Voice. Good reader indispensable. For particulars as to salary, duties, &c., address Mr. W. S. Hovte, Montpellier-villa, 14, Finchley-road, St. John's Wood; or apply at the Church any evening, at 5 o'clock.

WANTED, a superior ALTO or TENOR Singer, to act as ASSISTANT CHOIRMASTER; two afternoons, and to sing on Sundays; choral service; salary £40. Choirmaster, Arthington, Otley, Yorkshire.

ALTO WANTED, Surpliced Choir, Christchurch, Lee. Services—Sunday, morning and evening; Practice, Friday evening. Salary £10. Apply to Mr. Ridley Prentice, 30A, Wimpole-st. W.

CHOIR.—A TENOR Voice REQUIRED. Plain Service; N.W. district. Five Guineas a year to commence. Address by letter J. T. C., 12, Oakley-square, N.W.

TENOR SOLOIST WANTED, for Christ Church, Lancaster Gate. Duties—Sunday, morning and evening, and Saturday afternoon rehearsal. Salary £30 per annum. Application, with testimonials, to be sent to C. G. Verrinder, 15, Westbury-road, Westbourne-square, W.

TENOR WANTED, for Holy Trinity, Sloane-street. Sunday, morning and evening, with rehearsal after Thursday evening service. Salary £10. Apply to Organist, Mr. W. F. Fry.

WANTED, a BASS and a TENOR for a Surpliced Choir in a West End Church. £8 to £10 a year. Two Sunday services, and two week-day practices. Apply to Rev. G. M. S., New University Club, St. James's-street, S.W.

ORGANIST.—WANTED, a competent ORGANIST, for a Parish Church, where a new instrument has lately been erected. Address The Churchwardens of St. Michael's, Stamford.

AN ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER is REQUIRED in a small sea-side town on the East Coast. Three Services on the Sunday, and occasional Week-day Services. One accustomed to train a choir of boys is desired. Salary £40. Address The Vicar, Harwich, Essex.

RESIDENT ORGANIST and TRAINER of CHURCH CHOIR.—WANTED, for the Church of St. Mary, Lydney, Gloucestershire, a RESIDENT ORGANIST, who will be expected to train the Choir. Salary 40 guineas. Population of the parish nearly 3000. Address, with testimonials as to musical qualifications and character, Rev. J. J. Troilope, The Vicarage, Lydney, Gloucestershire.

DEPUTY ORGANIST REQUIRED to take Sunday afternoon Service at All Saints' Church, Hatcham-park, in return for Organ practice. Miss Blanche Roope, Organist, 126, New Cross-rd.

WANTED, at Christmas, an ORGANIST for the Parish Church of Wirksworth. Stipend £30. He must reside in the town. References as to character and ability required. For duties, &c., apply to the Vicar, Wirksworth.

ORGANIST (a Churchman) WANTED for St. John's Episcopal Church, Glasgow; surpliced choir. Salary not less than £50. Apply immediately, with copies of testimonials (for the vestry), Rev. Dr. Penney, Incumbent.

CHOIRMASTER WANTED for one of the City Churches, possessing a good Bass or Tenor Voice, to take part in the services, and who will provide an efficient Choir, consisting of Mens' and Boys' Voices, and who will be responsible for their proficiency and conduct. The Services at the Church are two on Sundays, Christmas day, Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, and a short week-day service during Advent and Lent. Letters to be addressed to Messrs. Hoppe and Boyle, 3, Sun-court, Cornhill, stating full particulars, and amount of salary required, to include all expenses of Choirmaster and Choir.

A CHOIRMASTER and ORGANIST of great experience and success with Choirs, will be happy after September to undertake the training of another Choir, in or near town. Terms by the quarter. The highest testimonials. Address C. A., care of Messrs. Novello and Co.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER.—A Gentleman of several years' experience (educated by an eminent cathedral organist), desires a RE-ENGAGEMENT, where there is a good opening for a Music and Singing Master; good organ indispensable; unexceptionable testimonials. Address F. J. T., 6, Hunter-place, Broughty Ferry, Dundee, N.B.

A Young Lady is desirous of an ENGAGEMENT as ORGANIST or HARMONIUMIST, in a Church or Chapel; in or near the N.W. district preferred; capable of instructing a Choir. H. M., 152, Euston-road, Euston-square.

A PROFESSOR of MUSIC desires PRACTICE on a good Church Organ, in London. In return would give Pianoforte Lessons, or his services as Deputy Organist. Address Organist, care of Mr. Windus, 120, Great Portland-street, W.

A GENTLEMAN, of experience in forming and conducting private Choral Societies, Psalmody Lessons, &c., is open to an ENGAGEMENT. Address P.F., 7, Symonds'-inn, Chancery-lane.

A PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE TUNER, REPAIRER, and REGULATOR, thorough mechanic, has had considerable experience, possessing a perfect knowledge of the different movements in actions, REQUIRES a PERMANENT SITUATION. Address F. W. G., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

WANTED, a thorough good TUNER of PIANOS, for the Country. To a steady, good workman, liberal wages. Apply B. B., care of Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co.

WANTED, a Gentlemanly YOUTH, with a good ear, and some knowledge of Tuning. Address Mr. Hickie, Binfield's Music Depôt, Reading.

TO ORGAN BUILDERS.—An Organ Builder, of 20 years' experience, REQUIRES an ENGAGEMENT; thoroughly understands the business, including the tuning. Address, R. H., 65, Pancras-square, London, N.W.

THE Organist of a City Church is prepared to RECEIVE one or two ORGAN PUPILS; good organ; terms moderate. Apply W. X., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. GEORGE RISELEY, Organist of All Saints' Church, Clifton, and to the Colston Hall Company, Bristol, has a VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL. Address 11, Buckinghamvale, Clifton, Bristol.

MR. SAMUEL GEE, R.A.M., has VACANCIES for one Resident and one Non-Resident ARTICLED PUPIL. An early application necessary. Address College-park, Lewisham, S.E.

WANTED, by a Gentleman (married), a YOUTH to EDUCATE for the Musical Profession; unusual advantages can be offered (organ 3 manuals). Healthy locality; every domestic comfort. Address Mem. Coll. Org., care of C. J. Klitz, Music Publisher, 41, Hanway-street, Oxford-street.

TO MUSIC PUBLISHERS.—Copyright of ANTHEMS, Special and General, to be SOLD, on easy terms. The most eminent musicians are contributors to this work, the first of the kind ever announced. A good subscription list. Address Editor, 20, Paternoster-row, London, E.C.

THE MUSICAL TIMES,

And Singing-Class Circular.

OCTOBER 1, 1872.

TO CLERGYMEN, CHOIRMASTERS, AND ORGANISTS.

(From the Preface to "The Hymnary.")

It is much to be regretted that up to the present time so little advantage has resulted from the earnest efforts of the clergy to improve the musical portion of the Church Service and make it a dignified and worthy sacrifice of Praise and Prayer.

This is, however, not very difficult to account for. The clergy, as soon as their eyes were open to the necessity of improving their Services, naturally sought the assistance of their organists as to the selection of music, re-organization of choir, etc., and there they met with their first difficulty. The organists, in many instances, were unable to assist them, either with advice or material aid; and the reason was this. The mechanical improvements in English organs had, for nearly two hundred years, remained at a complete standstill, and what the organ was when Father Smith built the fine instrument for the Temple Church in 1687, such it remained until nearly half the present century had passed away. An organist, consequently, had no inducement to pass whole hours of the day in the endeavour to make his feet rival the dexterity of his hands; and the result was, that the organist of the time made himself a sound musician in the first place, and then an organist. But when the English organ builders began to adopt and, in some instances, improve upon the most advanced mechanical contrivances of continental builders, the Church musician almost disappeared, to be replaced by the Organist proper who had nearly ceased to be a musician. And thus it was that when the clergy applied to their organists for assistance in a matter requiring solid musicianly qualities, they were either put off with an excuse, or else fairly led into mischief by an amount of inexperience equal to their own.

In cases where the clergy took the matter into their own hands, the crude suggestions of amateur friends, or expedients evolved out of their own inner consciousness, were hardly likely to aid in a matter requiring technical knowledge and great experience. It was not to be wondered at, therefore, that the clergy soon split into two great parties. The one adopted an ancient and severe style of music almost devoid of interest, save that which is known as antiquarian. The other introduced a series of melodies heretofore associated with profane subjects; and, pleased with the fact that congregations eagerly caught them up and adopted them, they altogether lost sight of the other fact that an offering was being made to God of things which were at least second-hand, if not absolutely sensual.

It should ever be borne in mind that Church music differs from all other music, in that whilst ordinary music, both sacred and secular, is conceived with the view of gratifying the senses and purifying the passions of humanity, Church music is distinctly an offering dedicated to God. It therefore requires to be purer and deeper than that which is offered by man for the delectation of his fellow-man; and this entirely disposes of the specious argument sometimes used, that because a congregation sings a certain Tune with fervour and evident enjoyment, it must be good. Such an argument might be admitted if the end and aim of going to church was the personal enjoyment produced by singing; but it is absolutely certain that congregations are known to pour out their hearts to God with equal, if not greater fervour, in strains which were specially written and intended for Church use. There is consequently no excuse for those who continue to use in God's house, and in the solemn act of worship, a class of music which from its want of refinement, its absence of everything that is musicianly, and its inherent coarseness, would be scarcely admitted into any decent drawing-room.

Against the other side it is necessary to say but little. The evil will remedy itself. It would be as natural to expect congregations to pray in a language of which they understand not one word, as to suppose they would long continue to offer their sacrifice of praise through the medium of a class of music, the idiom of which has long since died.

The true test of a Hymn Tune is that it shall equally satisfy the musician and the amateur. It should be capable of embodying the purest thoughts and noblest aspirations of both. But if it should fail after a fair trial to stimulate the best feelings of the amateur by its too great severity, or offend the susceptibilities of the musician by an excess of laxity, it is surely unfit for its high purpose. It must, however, be remembered by the professional musician that the Hymn being intended as an offering from the musically unlearned, a certain element of simplicity should never be wanting.

Upon these principles this book has been compiled. It is hoped that there is not one composition in this large collection which falls below the musician's test; whilst it is equally believed that should the amateur give each Tune a fair trial (and no Tune can be thoroughly understood and appreciated until it is well known), he will find few that do not appeal to his higher and better feelings.

As to the appearance of the Tunes it will be seen that I have followed the plan adopted in my own collection of "Original Tunes to Popular Hymns," substituting the modern for the ancient style of notation, and at the same time discarding the use of intermediate double bars; still maintaining that whilst "common sense first suggested the reform, experience has always tended to its justification."

It remains to say a few words upon the important subject of the performance of Hymn Music. It is a somewhat singular fact that precisely as the clergy divided and went to extremes upon the choice of music for the Church, so they divided on the subject of its performance, and whilst the one drawled the other raced. It is difficult to avoid feeling that the former were nearer right than the latter. Nothing could well be imagined more indecorous than the pace at which the music is taken in very many churches. It may be no great argument to say that the music is utterly ruined by it, that the air of the sanctuary becomes redolent of profanity, that the sacred words to which these strains are sung become a mockery—these are as nothing compared with the fact that those frenzied utterances are supposed to represent a sacrifice of praise humbly offered at the foot of the Throne of Grace.

It would be natural to suppose that this high rate of speed is confined to Hymn Tunes of a jubilant character, but this is not the case. Tunes of a dignified cast, as well as penitential, suffer the same treatment. To those who defend such things, the metronome marks placed at the commencement of each Tune in this book, would seem to indicate a tempo analogous to going to sleep. But let them be tested by the pace usually adopted in Handel's "Since by man came death," Mendelssohn's "Cast thy burden," or the Chorales in St. Paul, Bach's Passion, &c., and it will be clearly seen what is the true speed of a Hymn Tune.

On the subject of bringing out the spirit and feeling of this class of music, little can here be said that would be of much use. Everything depends upon the Director of the Choir. If he be a competent musician, he should be proportionately valued, for such are rare.

J. Barnby.

THE WORCESTER AND NORWICH MUSICAL FESTIVALS.

By Henry C. Lunn.

It is a law as applicable to institutions as to human beings that there is a critical time in their lives when the constitution is powerfully tested, and that if they survive this period they usually acquire an additional amount of vigour. That the Three Choir Festivals have now passed safely through this phase in their existence can scarcely be doubted. The recent discussion as to the desirability of continuing these annual gatherings has had the effect of arousing a number of their most staunch supporters into active exertion. It would scarcely be imagined that the question whether sacred works should be performed in a sacred building was an exceedingly difficult one of solution; but when a golden bribe was placed in one scale it became necessary to accumulate a large weight of public opinion in the other, and the result was that the very means employed to crush the Festivals for ever, raised such a decided feeling in their favour that little fear need now be entertained either that the local residents will be robbed of their periodical artistic feasts, or that the widows and orphans for whose benefit they were instituted will have to mourn the loss of that fund which for so many years has ministered to their wants.

The 149th meeting of the Three Choirs of Worcester, Hereford, and Gloucester commenced at Worcester on the 10th ult. At the early service in the Cathedral the Venite was sung to a chant by the Rev. W. Tucker, and the Psalms to double chants by J. S. Smith. Garrett's Service in D, and Sir John Goss's fine anthem "Praise the Lord, O my soul" were most efficiently rendered by the united choirs. An eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon Barry, the text being the 26th verse of the 12th chapter of Exodus, "What mean ye by this service?" in which the claims of sacred music were advocated with much earnestness.

At 12 o'clock the Festival was inaugurated by a performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah." Unfortunately a telegram had been received from the medical attendant of Mr. Sims Reeves, stating his inability to sing at the Festival, in consequence of severe indisposition, and great disappointment would have been experienced had not such accomplished artists as Mr. E. Lloyd and Mr. Vernon Rigby been engaged. Those who feel how thoroughly necessary it is in "Elijah" to retain the individuality of the various persons represented must be grateful that at least one concession to dramatic propriety is universally acknowledged—that of giving the part of the Prophet to the same vocalist throughout. We are tired of reiterating the assertion that it is equally important for the personality of the other characters to be preserved, and only now refer to the matter in the hope that some conductor may have the temerity to let the Recitative "There is nothing" preceding the chorus "Thanks be to God" be sung by a boy from the choir, instead of by a female soprano who has already identified herself with the part of the widow in the great duet with Elijah. That the effect would be materially heightened does not so much influence us in advocating this, as that the expressed intention of the composer would thus be fully realized. Mr. Santley's singing in this Oratorio was highly effective—better perhaps in the impassioned than in the more subdued and expressive portions,—but always earnest and in keeping with the part. Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, in the soprano solos of the first part, would have given a more truly religious reading of the music had she not sought for artificial effects by prolonged pauses and retardations of the tempo, but her vocalisation was as pure as ever. In "Hear ye Israel," and the other soprano solos in the second part, Madlle. Tietjens produced the usual subdued marks of approval from the audience, and, could an encore have been permitted, there can be little doubt that Madame Patey's "O rest in the Lord" would have secured this honour. A good word must be said for Miss Alice Fairman, who, in the air "Woe unto them" especially, displayed a well cultivated voice and style. Mr. E. Lloyd gave the solo, "If with all your hearts," with the utmost truth of expression; and Mr. Vernon Rigby, who sang "Then shall the righteous" (set down in the programme for Mr. Sims Reeves), proved himself not only a ready but a thoroughly competent artist. In parts the choir was somewhat unsteady, but on the whole the choruses were satisfactorily given, the shades of expression thrown into "Behold, God the Lord," being particularly worthy of commendation. It must be added that efficient aid was rendered in some of the concerted pieces by Miss Pullen, Mr. Lewis Thomas, and Mr. Smith, the difficulties of the double quartett being admirably surmounted.

The second morning's performance (on Wednesday) commenced with a selection from Handel's Oratorio, "Samson," the principal vocalists in which were Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Madame Patey, Mr. Vernon Rigby, and Mr. Santley. In an artistic point of view, selections from a work are always unsatisfactory, for the very attempt to preserve some kind of continuity detracts from the enjoyment of the performance; indeed, we are of opinion that, if this plan must be pursued, it is infinitely better to follow the method adopted on the "selection day" at the Crystal Palace Handel Festival, when a number of the most effective pieces of the composer are strung together with no other idea than that of making an attractive programme. Although but little estimate could be formed of the grandeur of Handel's strangely neglected Oratorio, "Samson," from the specimens given, a good opportunity was afforded for the display of the singers' qualifications. Madame Lemmens-Sherrington in "Let the bright Seraphim" (with Mr. Harper's fine trumpet obbligato), Madame Patey in "Return, O God of Hosts" (followed by the chorus, "To dust his glory they would tread," the solo voice interspersed with the choral part), Mr. Vernon Rigby in "Total Eclipse," and Mr. Santley in "Honour and Arms" must have delighted all who were content with a few of the most popular portions of this great work; and the choruses, "Awake the trumpets," "Then shall they know," "Fixed in his everlasting seat," and "Let their celestial concerts," were well chosen to test the powers of the choir. The selection from "Samson" was followed by Hummel's Mass, No. 2, in E flat. We were about to say that few persons are familiar with any but the pianoforte works of Hummel, but, save by the highly educated amateur, we fear that even these are but little known. We can scarcely give him the highest place as a sacred composer, but the Mass in E flat must assuredly have impressed all hearers with a conviction of the excessive elegance of his vocal writing, and the extreme melodiousness of his phrases. The principal parts were well sung by Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Miss Alice Fairman, Mr. Vernon Rigby, and Mr. Santley, the beautiful duet for tenor and bass, "Et incarnatus," and the solos in the "Benedictus," creating a marked effect upon the listeners, who (contrary to usual custom in Cathedrals where we have attended) stood throughout the greater part of the work. As there was a decided difference of opinion, however, where they should sit and where they should stand, the constant popping up and down was perhaps on the whole scarcely as devotional as if they had remained seated the whole time. The second portion of the morning performance consisted of the first and second parts of Haydn's "Creation," the solo vocalists being Madlle. Tietjens, Mr. E. Lloyd, and Mr. Lewis Thomas. Criticism on a work so well known is unnecessary, but in justice to that excellent young tenor, Mr. E. Lloyd, we must say that, although supplying the place of Mr. Sims Reeves in music with which his name is so intimately associated, his rendering of the airs "Now vanish," "In splendour bright," and "In native worth," was marked by such a refinement of style and purity of vocalisation as to surprise even those who, like ourselves, have from the first confidently predicted his success. The best choral display was "The heavens are telling," which was remarkable for steadiness and brightness of tone.

Bach's Matthew "Passion Music" was given at the commencement of the third morning's performance, the solo parts being sustained by Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Madame Patey, Mr. E. Lloyd, and Mr. Santley. Even the most enthusiastic worshippers of Bach could scarcely have imagined that this setting of the "Passion"—so simple in its sublimity, so little appealing to the "sensational" craving of the day, and so little cast in the mould of the received "Oratorio"—should, in the course of so brief a period, not only form a portion of the service for two successive years at Westminster Abbey, but take its place as one of the popular sacred works at the Three Choir Festivals, where scarcely a note its composer ever wrote had been previously heard. And this fact should be taken to heart by those who desire that these musical meetings should be firmly established on a purely religious basis, for, whatever may be said of the representations of the "historical" Oratorios, there can be no question that the more such service-music as that of Bach to the Passion of our Saviour is introduced into the Cathedrals on these occasions, the more will public curiosity be converted into worship and patronage into charity. Great pains must evidently have been bestowed upon the preparation of this work, for not only were the choruses given with admirable precision, but the balance of tone was more carefully preserved than we usually find where the members of a choir are not always practising under one conductor. The Choral in the opening chorus, sung by the boys of the three choirs, came out with an independence which we have scarcely heard at any previous performance; and the fine chorus, "O man, thy heavy sin lament," which concludes the first part, produced an effect which will, we trust, effectually prevent its omission in any future presentation of the work. It was indeed a triumph for Mr. Done to have produced such an elaborate composition with so much success; for, although he was ably assisted by a large number of Mr. Barnby's choir (to whom of course the music was familiar), there was a satisfactory completeness in the performance, for much of which the earnest and painstaking conductor must be fairly credited. All who have heard Mr. Lloyd's rendering of the difficult tenor recitatives in this work, on its representation both in London and Gloucester, might reasonably calculate on his thorough efficiency on this occasion; but upon those to whom he was a stranger the effect of such pure and artistic vocalisation, such truthful and unaffected religious fervour, must have created no small surprise; and we feel convinced that, could an audible expression of such feeling have been permitted, he would have been amply rewarded for his exertions. Madame Sherrington sang throughout with much expression, especially in "Break and die," which was given with the deepest pathos; and Madame Patey in "Alas! now is my Saviour gone," and "Have mercy upon me" (with M. Sainton's excellent violin obbligato), appeared thoroughly impressed with the solemn beauty of the music. The objection we have already urged against making one personage do double duty in "Elijah" applies with tenfold force to Bach's "Passion;" and we need therefore scarcely say that, much as we admired Mr. Santley's delivery of the important recitatives of Pilate and Peter, we should infinitely have preferred that he should only have been heard in the music allotted to the Saviour. The orchestra was excellent in every department, the strings combining with the organ in the Chorales with much effect; and it must also be said that Dr. Wesley presided most efficiently at the organ, and that Mr. Townshend Smith rendered good service in the accompaniments to some of the recitatives on the harmonium. Mr. Done conducted admirably throughout, keeping voices and instruments well together, and showing an accurate perception of the tempi of every piece. The devotional behaviour of the listeners was apparent to all observers. "If ever artist poured out his whole heart in his work," says Mr. Macfarren in his able analysis of this composition, "that certainly did Bach in the Oratorio of the 'Passion;'" let us hope that English audiences will be gradually taught to feel how the earnest outpouring of such a heart deepens the solemnity of a subject with a power beyond that of the most eloquent preacher or the most skilled and subtle painter.

The second part of the morning performance consisted of Mendelssohn's "Lobgesang," the several instrumental movements of which were excellently given. Madlle. Tietjens, Miss Alice Fairman, and Mr. Vernon Rigby sang the solo parts with good effect, Mr. Rigby, especially, rendering the air, "The sorrows of death," and the well-known "Watchman" solos with much truthful expression. On Friday morning Handel's immortal "Messiah" attracted the largest audience of the four days. The principal singers were Madlle. Tietjens, Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Madame Patey, Miss Alice Fairman, Mr. Vernon Rigby, Mr. Santley, and Mr. Lewis Thomas. The choruses were rendered with much energy and precision, and in every respect the performance of the work was thoroughly up to the high standard which has been steadily preserved during this most successful Festival.

The Evening Concerts in the College Hall were not merely made up of detached scraps, and a musical interest therefore was given to them which these Festivals should endeavour zealously to cultivate. At the first performance, on Tuesday, a selection from the works of Mozart was given. The overture and five vocal pieces from "Idomeneo" commenced the concert, all of which were highly effective. Madame Lemmens-Sherrington in "Padre germani," Madlle. Tietjens in "Zeffiretti," Madame Patey in "L'Addio," and Mr. Vernon Rigby in "Vadrommi intorno," delighted all the lovers of true music in the room; and the chorus "Placido è il mar" (the soprano solo by Madlle. Tietjens) was also a welcome item in the selection. These pieces were followed by "Dalla sua pace," in which Mr. Vernon Rigby achieved a well merited success by his careful and earnest singing, and "Deh vieni" by Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, a composition admirably suited for her voice and style. The Mozart feast was appropriately terminated by the symphony in G minor, the excessive beauty of which seemed to produce its effect upon all who could hear it through the conversation which at the Three Choir Festivals is always reserved for the instrumental movements. The second part, which included the overture to "Masaniello," so finely performed as to receive an enthusiastic encore, contained the showy songs which always please the most, the vocalists being, in addition to those already mentioned, Miss Alice Fairman, Mr. E. Lloyd, and Mr. Lewis Thomas. An unanimous encore rewarded Mr. Lloyd's very refined rendering of Sullivan's "Once again." The second evening concert commenced with a selection from Handel's "L'Allegro" and "Il Pensieroso," preceded by the overture to "Alexander's Feast." We have alluded to the unsatisfactory effect of performing portions of a work, as affording but a faint impression of the composer's meaning; but this objection is scarcely so applicable to Handel's setting of this text, supplied to him by Charles Jennens, for although to Milton's words, the various pieces are so arranged that the work has more the effect of a "selection" than a "composition" whenever it is heard even as the composer wrote it. On this occasion much of Robert Franz's additional instrumentation was used, and certainly it gave a brightness to the performance, which rendered the work unusually interesting. The pieces which produced most effect were "Sweet bird" (with Mr. Radcliffe's excellent flute obbligato), rendered with much purity of vocalisation by Madame Lemmens-Sherrington; "Hide me from day's garish eye," also given by Madame Sherrington, in consequence of the indisposition of Madlle. Tietjens, for whom an apology was made; "Mirth admit me," well sung by Mr. Vernon Rigby; "Populous cities," effectively interpreted by Mr. Santley, and "Haste thee, nymph," in which Mr. Lewis Thomas was highly successful, arousing the somewhat apathetic audience by his infectious laugh. Haydn's "Surprise" Symphony was well performed at the beginning of the second part, and several solos by the principal vocalists were given, Madame Lemmens-Sherrington ably supplying the place of Madlle. Tietjens. Mendelssohn's noble March, written in honour of the painter Cornelius, had the "honour" of playing the people to their carriages.

The concert on Thursday evening was highly satisfactory, for Beethoven's fine music to "The Ruins of Athens" was given in its entirety. That a thoroughly dramatic composition like this should have been allowed to languish almost in obscurity for so many years would seem extraordinary did not experience teach us that in this country an audience is attracted by novelty rather than worth. True it is that many solid works in art are universally admitted, as glittering jewels of acknowledged worth are worn in fashionable society; but in the mines which have produced these priceless gems may there not be many others lying almost unnoticed and uncared for? Honour, then, to Worcester for bringing Beethoven's glorious music before a Festival audience, for we can scarcely believe that it will again be consigned to comparative neglect. The composer having originally intended this music to accompany a representation of Kotzebue's play, it is obviously impossible fairly to judge of its true effect; but the dramatic power in all the pieces is so manifest that, as an abstract work of genius, it may fairly take rank with Beethoven's compositions, apart from any connection with stage surroundings, save what the music itself must necessarily create in the mind of the auditor. The duet "Faultless, yet hated," was well sung by Madame Lemmens-Sherrington and Mr. Lewis Thomas, who seemed resolved to develop its numerous beauties to the utmost of their powers. The air "Deign, great Apollo," also received an excellent rendering from Mr. Lewis Thomas, the somewhat trying intervals being given with a justness of intonation in the highest degree commendable. The chorus, "Daughter of high throned Jove," was carefully sung, and the wonderful chorus of Dervishes (which was re-demanded) was given with much energy, the whirling triplet accompaniment being excellently played by the orchestra. The melodious March and Chorus, "Twine ye the garlands," and the Chorus (with bass Recitative), "Susceptible hearts," were also thoroughly satisfactory, and elicited the warmest applause. In the Overture and Turkish March the band was absolute perfection, every point in the instrumentation being brought out with the utmost clearness. The work was listened to with much interest, and the frequent marks of approbation seemed to prove that Beethoven could make his way, even with a mixed audience at that most inartistic of all musical entertainments, a "miscellaneous concert."

Amongst the rest of the vocal pieces contained in the programme must be mentioned the air, "Il soave e bel contento," by Madlle. Tietjens; "Good-bye, sweetheart," by Mr. Vernon Rigby, and the trio, "Le faccio un inchino," excellently given by Madlle. Tietjens, Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, and Madame Patey, and encored with enthusiasm. The overture to "Guillaume Tell" (magnificently played by the band and encored), and a violin Fantasia on "Rigoletto," by M. Sainton, were also notable features in the selection. The concert concluded with the National Anthem, the solo parts by Madlle. Tietjens, Madame Patey, Mr. Vernon Rigby, and Mr. Santley.

Although no novelty has been produced during the week, there have been several revivals of sterling value, and the standard works selected for performance have received so satisfactory a rendering that the reputation of these Festivals has been fully preserved. And it is well that this success should be dwelt upon, for apart from the interest excited by the compositions themselves their presentation in the sacred atmosphere of a cathedral gives to these meetings a character so thoroughly distinct from the musical performances in the metropolis, that we should be sorry to endeavour to alter that character, either by advocating their removal to a secular concert-room, or by urging upon their promoters the desirability of transferring the conductorship from the cathedral organist to a London professor. All have worked willingly and well throughout this Festival. Mr. Done, by extreme conscientiousness and care, has most worthily discharged his duties as conductor; Dr. Wesley has presided with artistic feeling at the organ, and Mr. Townshend Smith has ably accompanied a portion of the vocal music on the pianoforte at the evening concerts. The Stewards, too, have been unremitting in their endeavours to secure the comfort of the audience. To the Rev. Mr. Cattley we must especially tender our thanks for much courteous attention received at his hands; and we are glad to add that in a pecuniary, as well as an artistic, sense, the Festival is likely to be successful, as the collection, including donations afterwards to be received, will probably amount to upwards of a thousand pounds. We cannot conclude our notice without mentioning the bells (thirteen in number) which have recently, at a large outlay, been procured for the Cathedral, and the fine tones of which were heard to much advantage after each morning's performance. An addition to the beauty of the Cathedral, and to the convenience of the inhabitants of the city, has likewise been made by the placing of a large clock in the tower, the great bell of which weighs 4½ tons, and gives forth a full and sonorous B flat. The cost of the clock and bells has been defrayed by public subscription, and an additional interest is given to them from the fact of their being presented as a testimonial of the esteem and veneration in which the Dean of Worcester (Dr. Peel) is held by all classes. The idea originated, and has been carried out by the Rev. R. Catlley, one of the minor canons of the Cathedral, whose musical qualifications, as well as his untiring zeal and perseverance, eminently fit him for the task. A set of carillons, the munificent gift of Mr. Alderman Lea, are also, we hear, shortly to be presented to the Cathedral.

Those who had for many months been looking forward to the musical attractions of the Norwich Festival, had every reason to congratulate themselves upon the favourable issue of the frightful collision which took place on the Great Western Railway, on Friday night, the 13th ult., between a passenger train, conveying most of the artists from Worcester, and a luggage train which, owing to the shameful carelessness of the engine-driver, was attempting to cross before it. That those in the foremost carriages, containing many of our first solo vocalists, were merely severely shaken, and that some of our leading orchestral players escaped with only bruises, contusions, and the destruction of their instruments, is a fact scarcely to be credited, especially by the writer of these lines, who, rescued from the carriage next to the luggage-van, can vouch not only from his own experience, but from that of many of his fellow-sufferers, how appalling was the nature of the accident.

The Norwich Festival commenced on Monday evening, the 16th ult., in St. Andrew's Hall. The charitable object of these performances has always the effect of enlisting the sympathies of a large number of the local nobility and gentry, who act as Vice-Presidents and on the general Committee; and from the fact of the Oratorios, and other sacred works, being given in St. Andrew's Hall, instead of in the Cathedral, it is not likely that their praiseworthy exertions will be interfered with on those religious grounds which lately jeopardised the continuance of the Three Choir Festivals. Something, however, might be said, even by those who are not over "serious," as to the propriety of a ball taking place in a building originally constructed for religious purposes, and more especially when the most sacred Oratorio ever written is performed there on the same morning. This subject might be worthy of attention on a future occasion, seeing that the conventional "Ball" is now dropping gradually out of the programme of arrangements at the Three Choir Festivals, and that too without so much reason for its discontinuance as exists at Norwich.

Sir Julius Benedict was warmly received on his appearance in the orchestra, and after an excellent performance of the National Anthem, Sullivan's "Festival Te Deum," composed in celebration of the recovery of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, was given, conducted by the composer. In all respects the work had a much finer rendering than on its original production at the Crystal Palace. The choruses were sung not only with decision, but with a remarkable attention to the management of tone. We may especially instance the fugue, commencing on the words "To Thee all angels cry aloud," the canon to the verse, "Thou art the King of Glory" (one of the best written pieces, both for voices and instruments, in the composition), and the final chorus, the several ingenious and effective points in which were brought out with much clearness. Madlle. Tietjens took the utmost pains with the soprano solos, creating a marked effect with the pathetic melody, "When Thou tookest upon Thee," which was listened to throughout with that devout attention which shows a deeper appreciation of the composer's power than can be manifested by any audible marks of approval. The excitement of the occasion which called this "Te Deum" into existence having subsided, the work is now solely judged on its own merits; and there can be no question that as it has fairly made its mark at Norwich, surrounded by the standard compositions of the greatest writers (that powerful test to which all art-creations must sooner or later be subjected) the "Festival Te Deum" may be said to have passed the ordeal of criticism, and will no doubt be estimated at its true worth long after the reason for its title has been forgotten.

The "Te Deum" was followed by the first two parts of Haydn's "Creation," Madame Florence Lancia supplying the place of Madame Cora de Wilhorst, and Mr. W. H. Cummings that of Mr. Sims Reeves, both these artists being prevented by illness from attending the Festival. The other principal vocalists were Madlle. Tietjens, Mr. E. Lloyd, Mr. Santley, Mr. Kerr Gedge, and Mr. J. G. Patey. It will be only necessary to say that a highly favourable impression was made by Madame Lancia, and that Mr. Cummings, in the whole of the music of the second part, sang with that care and finish which must always ensure him a welcome in the concert-room. The choruses appeared to require more rehearsal; the materials for a perfect rendering of Haydn's fine choral effects were present, but even Sir Julius Benedict's steady beat could not ensure that precision of attack which should be the rule, rather than the exception, at these Festivals.

The only performance on Tuesday was the miscellaneous concert in the evening, which was rendered highly interesting by the production of Mr. G. A. Macfarren's Cantata, "Outward Bound," written expressly for the occasion. In this work the composer has had the good fortune to be associated with Mr. John Oxenford, who has supplied him with a libretto not only excellent as a poem illustrative of the subject, but admirably adapted for musical setting. The first thing that strikes us on hearing this composition is the genuine and spontaneous character of the music. Mr. Macfarren is an artist who has ever boldly challenged criticism, not as a humble follower of the styles which, emanating from the natures of those who formed them, can but be feebly copied by others, but as a composer who, glorying in the country of his birth, writes with the earnest hope of enriching that store of truly English music which, but for a few such zealous patriots, might be allowed almost to die out. There is a melodious freshness about the opening chorus, in D major, which well prepares the audience for the character of the little story. Commencing with restless semiquavers for the stringed instruments, which are afterwards continued as an accompaniment to the theme in the symphony, the voices enter, on a forte phrase, admirably descriptive of the words. The leave-taking is excellently expressed in imitative passages, and various changes of key (especially that into C major, on a phrase led off by the altos) give much vitality to the movement. The contralto song which follows is a perfect gem. The melody, in G minor, sung for four bars without accompaniment, is charmingly sympathetic with the hopes and fears of the sailor's wife, and the lingering A, upon the dominant harmony, leading to the passionate burst in the tonic major, is a point of such extreme tenderness that, exquisitely sung as it was by Madame Patey, it produced a marked effect upon the listeners, and at the conclusion of the song the applause was most enthusiastic. A well written four-part song, "Weighing Anchor," then occurs, the melody of which has a genuine sea flavour, and will, we think, often be heard apart from the Cantata. The brief instrumental passages which occur can easily be dispensed with, and the song will, we believe, be improved by being sung without accompaniment. This is followed by a soprano solo, interwoven with detached choral phrases, in which the Mermaid gives warning of a coming storm. This piece is highly dramatic, the brilliant treble passages (excellently sung by Madame Florence Lancia) and the accompanying chorus of sailors, who are filled with superstitious fear, being combined with consummate skill. The tenor song, with chorus, preceded by a short Recitative, "The Sailor and his Messmates," has a marked melody, harmonised with the simplicity appropriate to the subject, the toast, "Our wives and sweethearts," being given out boldly by the tenors and basses in unison. The solo was spiritedly sung by Mr. Cummings and greatly applauded. The rise of the storm is depicted with much dramatic feeling, the alarmed exclamations of the sailors breaking in above the roar of the tempest, the song of the mermaid (the melody of which, always moving in two triplets, contrasts well with the four even crotchets of the choir), and the placid theme sung by the sailor's wife, on shore, as the ship nears the rock, forming a piece remarkable for truthful and vivid colouring, the instrumentation throughout materially aiding, without overwhelming, the voices. Then comes the crash; the hurriedly expressed fears of the spectators on land, the joy at the rescue by the life-boat, and the final thanksgiving forming a climax full of interest, and bringing the Cantata to a most effective termination. It appears strange, considering that this was the most important composition produced during the Festival, how little pains seem to have been expended, both by choir and orchestra, upon its preparation. Most of the choristers had, we imagine, no other idea than to hurry through the work, so as to avoid a positive break-down, for the scramble to keep together during the storm scene, had rather the effect of a bad rehearsal than a public performance. Let us hope that Mr. Macfarren will have more justice done to him in the metropolis, where we trust that a repetition of his clever and highly dramatic Cantata may be speedily looked for. Its reception by the Norwich audience was all that could be desired; but those who knew the score saw symmetry in the general design, and a delicacy in the treatment of minute details which were by no means revealed to the listeners. The other novelty of the evening was Mr. F. H. Cowen's "Festival Overture," a bright and genial work, clearly instrumented and fairly justifying its title. The themes, however, are somewhat trivial; thoroughly French, although reminding us more of Offenbach than Auber, but a certain cleverness in their treatment shows that the composer has well studied effect. Mr. Cowen who conducted his Overture, had no reason to complain of his reception. The concert, which opened with Beethoven's Overture to "Fidelio" contained many miscellaneous vocal pieces calculated to please a mixed audience. Madlle. Albani created a genuine enthusiasm by her singing, especially in "Ardon gl'incensi," from "Lucia," and Madlle. Tietjens gave "Softly sighs" with her usual success. The other vocalists were Madame Trebelli-Bettini, Messrs. Lloyd, W. H. Cummings and Santley, the last gentleman delighting all connoisseurs by his rendering of two excellent songs by Hatton, "To Anthea" and "Voice of the Western Wind."

The performance of "Elijah" on Wednesday morning was highly satisfactory, in spite of the absence of Madlle. Tietjens, who was prevented from singing by a sudden attack of hoarseness. When we say that Madame Florence Lancia, in this emergency, not only undertook the whole of the soprano solos originally assigned to Madame Cora de Wilhorst, but also those which were to be sung by Madlle. Tietjens, even had her efforts not been artistically successful, there can be little doubt that she would thoroughly have secured the indulgence of the audience. But no such indulgence was called for; the great scene between the widow and Elijah, the trying air, "Hear ye, Israel;" and, indeed, the whole of the music which fell to her share being given with an apparent ease and an intelligent appreciation of the text which cannot be overpraised. Madame Patey obtained an encore for "O, rest in the Lord," Mr. W. H. Cummings gave the tenor music in the first, and Mr. E. Lloyd in the second part, with their usual effect; Mr. Santley sang the part of the Prophet better than we have yet heard him, creating a real sensation by his energetic delivery of the fine air, "Is not His word like a fire?" We are glad to record that at this performance the experiment of having the part of the "Youth" sung by a boy from the choir was at last tried, and we need scarcely say, with the success which we have always predicted. The beautiful Recitative, "There is nothing," came out for the first time with its true effect, and Master Self (a member, we believe, of the Cathedral choir) has reason to congratulate himself upon initiating a custom which, we hope, will in future be followed, at least at the Three Choir Festivals, where, from our own experience, we can affirm that more than one such trustworthy voice can be found. The same boy sang the second in the trio, "Lift thine eyes" (the other vocalists being Madame Lancia and Madame Patey), which was so well liked as to be repeated, in obedience, we presume, to a sign from a recognised authority in the "patrons' stalls" In some of the concerted music the services of Mr. Kerr Gedge, Mr. J. V. Cox and Mr. Patey were enlisted. The choruses were, on the whole, steadily rendered, the best efforts being "Thanks be to God," "Blessed are the men," and "He watching over Israel."

The evening concert commenced with Haydn's Symphony in E minor, which was listened to with an apathetic indifference by those who had no friends to talk to, and impatiently endured by those who had. The first novelty was Dr. Bunnett's Scena, "Rhineland," composed expressly for Madlle. Tietjens, but undertaken at a short notice by the ever-ready Madame Lancia. Why a cathedral organist should choose such a subject as "Rhineland" for a composition which owes all the Rhine flavour it has to Mendelssohn we can scarcely divine, for we feel convinced, from the ecclesiastical character of most of the writing, that the composer has been struggling against the secular words throughout his task. We trust that the warm applause with which he was greeted by his townspeople will not make him believe that his talent lies in the direction he has chosen. Inexperience in instrumentation can be corrected, but to test your own powers and choose the right path is a difficult matter when urged to the wrong by the adulation of your friends: how many a temporary early success has laid the foundation of a life-long failure!

The performance of Sir Julius Benedict's "Andante and Rondo," from his Pianoforte Concerto in E flat, by Mr. Kingston Rudd, was a marvellous exhibition of pure and unexaggerated playing. Mr. Rudd has a firm and clear touch, an excellent tone, and phrases with the intelligence of a true artist. His reception was most enthusiastic, and he has every right to congratulate himself upon a success so legitimately earned. Another most welcome item in the programme was a melodious Andante for the Clarionet, with orchestral accompaniments, the composition of Mrs. Meadows White (formerly Miss Alice Mary Smith), which was played to perfection by Mr. Lazarus, and received with the favour due both to the composer and the executant. Several well-selected vocal pieces were included in the concert, the principal singers being Madame Florence Lancia (in place of Madlle. Tietjens, who was still indisposed), Madlle. Albani, Madame Patey, Madame Trebelli-Bettini; Messrs. Santley, E. Lloyd (who was highly effective in Beethoven's "Adelaida"), and W. H. Cummings. The overtures to "Guillaume Tell" and "Les Diamants de la Couronne" were excellently played by the orchestra, and much applauded.

The principal portion of Thursday morning was devoted to the performance of Sir Julius Benedict's Oratorio, "St. Peter," which was given for the first time in Norwich, and excited much interest, not only on account of the popularity the work has already obtained, but from the high estimation in which the composer is held in this city. Whatever expectation had been formed of the Oratorio by those who were strangers to its merits, the result of its first presentation in St. Andrew's Hall was evidently most satisfactory, for although a small amount of applause had, despite the sacredness of the works, been permitted during the performance of other Oratorios at the Festival, it never grew to the strength of that with which the most salient points of "St. Peter" were greeted. Madlle. Tietjens had sufficiently recovered her voice to sing much of the soprano music, including the beautiful air, "I mourn as a dove," which was rendered with so much purity of style and tenderness of expression as to be re-demanded, as was also the quartett, "O, come, let us sing," in which Madlle. Tietjens took part. Then Madame Lancia came once more to the rescue, and sang the trying solo, "Gird up thy loins," with an energy which astonished all who knew that but a short time before she was totally unacquainted with the music. The encore which followed was a graceful recognition of her invaluable services. Madame Patey had also to repeat the air, "O, Thou afflicted," which was given in her best style, the fine quality of her voice telling with more than usual effect, although it was said that she was suffering from a cold. The two tenor songs, "The Lord is very pitiful," and "O House of Jacob," received the utmost justice, the first from Mr. E. Lloyd and the second from Mr. W. H. Cummings; and Mr. Kerr Gedge must also be mentioned as having rendered important service in some of the recitatives. Mr. Santley sang finely throughout the Oratorio, especially in the expressive solo, "O that my head were waters," into which he threw a pathos which was felt by every listener. The highest powers of the choir appear to have been reserved for this work, for every chorus was given with a solidity, a decision of attack, and a careful balance of tone which must have been highly gratifying to the composer. The applause of the audience was, as we have already said, in no degree repressed, and Sir Julius Benedict received a perfect ovation, both on his entrance to, and retirement from, the orchestra. Although quite superfluous, and in our opinion, interfering with the due effect of "St. Peter," the performance commenced with Handel's "Occasional Overture," after which Madlle. Albani sang "Angels ever bright and fair" with scarcely religious feeling enough to warrant the encore with which her efforts were rewarded.

At the evening concert, Sir Julius Benedict's "First Allegro and Scherzo," from an unfinished Symphony in G minor, formed the principal feature. The "Allegro" contains some fine ideas, but it is somewhat discursive, and sounds over elaborated. The "Scherzo" is a charming movement, instrumented with a delicacy which could not fail to delight musical and non-musical listeners. The subject is extremely fascinating, and it is treated with that grace and elegance which distinguish all the works of this accomplished composer. That it was encored with enthusiasm was a proof of the good taste of the Norwich audience. Mr. King Hall, in Mendelssohn's "Capriccio Brillante," in B minor, for pianoforte, suffered from the movement being taken somewhat too fast for his powers. At a more moderate pace his playing would have been clearer, for his reading showed much intelligence. His Overture, "Endymion," contains some excellent writing. The subjects are well marked, his orchestration proves that he has studied in the right school, and there is an absence of that showy patchiness which so often distinguishes the works of young composers. Mr. Hall, who conducted, was loudly and deservedly applauded on his retirement from the orchestra. Another novelty was a song by Mr. Arthur Sullivan, "Guinevere," composed for, and sung by, Madlle. Tietjens. Mr. Sullivan is so popular a man that we know he must write for the public; but we—who are not of the public—prefer him when he writes for the art; and here is a graceful and imaginative composition which, whether it sell or not, is worth all the popular ballads he has ever published. Accompanied by the composer, and excellently rendered by Madlle. Tietjens, it produced a marked impression upon the audience, and was warmly applauded. We may pass over the other vocal pieces in this evening's selection, merely recording the triumphant success of Madlle. Albani, in the finale of "La Sonnambula," the artistic rendering of Gounod's Serenade, by Madme. Trebelli-Bettini, and the effective singing of Madame Lancia, in Gounod's "Ave Maria" (encored), the accompaniments being played by M. Sainton (violin), Sir J. Benedict (pianoforte), and Dr. Bunnett (organ). The programme also included the Overtures to "Euryanthe" and "Le Nozze di Figaro."

The musical portion of the Festival was brought to a termination on Friday morning by a very excellent performance of the "Messiah," the principal solos being sustained by Madlle. Tietjens, Mesdames Florence Lancia, Trebelli-Bettini and Patey, Messrs. E. Lloyd, W. H. Cummings, Santley and J. G. Patey. The choruses were given with good effect throughout, under the conductorship of Sir Julius Benedict, who has been indefatigable in his exertions to ensure the success of the Festival. The ball in the evening was well patronised; and we trust that a large amount may be realised from the attendances on this day; for although, as we have already said, there is some incongruity in raising funds by a sacred performance in the morning and a dance in the evening, it is important, for the sake of the future, that the Festival should somehow be made to pay. It is possible that before the next triennial meeting the vital question of the financial portion of the undertaking may be pressed upon the notice of those who give their services as stewards; and if so, it might be worth considering whether the plan of making a collection at the doors of the hall after the morning performances would not be as successful at Norwich as it is always found to be at the Three Choir Festivals.

The capabilities of the grand organ, built by Messrs. Bishop and Starr for the Town Hall, Bombay, were displayed to perfection by Mr. W. T. Best on the 2nd ult. The performance took place before a large and appreciative audience, at Messrs. Bishop's manufactory, Marylebone-road, the programme, which was divided into two parts, being in the highest degree interesting. Amongst the most effective pieces were Handel's Organ Concerto in A major, a "Marche Funèbre et Chant Séraphique," by Alexander Guilmant; a Passacaglia in C minor, on a theme in the pedal by Bach, and an improvisation by Mr. Best, the latter portion of which was remarkable for clearness of design and contrapuntal power. The instrument is the gift of Sir Albert David Sassoon, and is in every respect thoroughly worthy of the high reputation of the eminent firm to which it was entrusted.

The Saturday Afternoon Concerts at the Crystal Palace, which will commence on the 5th inst., promise to be unusually interesting. The nine Symphonies of Beethoven will be again performed in chronological order, and also Symphonies by Haydn, Mozart, Schubert, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Spohr; the Serenade in D by Brahms, &c., &c. Amongst the works to be produced for the first time at these concerts are Symphonies in E flat, by Mozart (1773), and in B flat by Schubert (MS.), and a new MS. work for orchestra from the pen of Sir W. Sterndale Bennett, composed expressly for the Crystal Palace. The choral works to be brought forward will include "St. Paul" (Mendelssohn), "Paradise and the Peri" (Schumann), "The May Queen" (Sir W. S. Bennett), Te Deum" (Sullivan), &c. The solo instrumental works to be performed for the first time at these concerts will be Concerto in B flat Mozart (his last); Rondo in B flat (Beethoven) (posthumous), and Concerto in D minor (Rubinstein). The performances will be, as usual, under the able conductorship of Herr Manns.

The St. George's Glee Union gave its monthly concert on the 6th ult.; an interesting feature of the entertainment being the skilful performance of Mons. Alfred Noyer on the "Violin Piano," an instrument seemingly capable of producing the combined effects of violins and violoncellos. The selections performed by Mons. Noyer were a Fantasia "Caprice," and "Etude de Concert," both his own composition. Mr. Hallett, R.A.M. (pianist), ably supplied the place of Miss Julia Augarde (absent from indisposition). Several vocal pieces were given with much effect by Miss Horder, Miss Clara Buley, Mr. T. Jekyll, and Miss Janet King, many of which were encored. Sir H. Bishop's glee, "Where art thou, beam of light?" "Ye spotted snakes (Stevens)," and "Hail, smiling morn" (Spofforth) were very fairly given by the members of the choir. Mr. C. Messenger officiated as conductor, in the absence of Mr. Garside.

A splendid time-piece (value 11 guineas) was recently presented by the Members of St. Paul's Choral Society to their much respected late Conductor, Mr. George Shinn. The time-piece, which was made by Messrs. Smith and Sons, of Clerkenwell, is very elegant, with visible scapement and black marble case inlaid with malachite, and bears, on a silver plate, the following inscription:—"Presented to Geo. Shinn, Esq., late Organist of St. Paul's, Islington, by the Members of St. Paul's Choral Society, as an expression of their esteem and regard. Sept. 1872." The presentation took place in the school-room connected with the church, after which the members retired to the house of Mr. Robinson, St. Paul's-road, by whom they were most kindly and generously entertained, and where music, both vocal and instrumental, formed an agreeable termination to the evening's proceedings.

The prospectus of the Brixton Choral Society announces that the season of 1872-3 will commence on Monday, the 7th inst. The list of works to be performed includes Handel's "Acis and Galatea," Mendelssohn's "Elijah," W. H. Cummings's "Fairy Ring," F. H. Cowen's "Rose Maiden," and Sir Julius Benedict's "Richard Cœur-de-Lion." The Society continues under the conductorship of Mr. W. Lemare, who deserves the utmost credit for the ability he has displayed in training the choir to its present state of efficiency.

Mr. Ridley Prentice announces that the next series of Monthly Popular Concerts at Brixton will commence on the 22nd inst., at the Angell Town Institution. With the view of making these musical entertainments a permanent institution, a number of gentlemen have formed themselves into a committee; and we have little doubt that by these means an increased subscription-list will speedily be obtained. The prospectus states that by strictly adhering to the performance of works by the best masters, the high character which these concerts have acquired will be steadily maintained.

Reviews.

Novello, Ewer and Co.

A Morning, Communion and Evening Service in D. Set to music by C. Hubert H. Parry.

This work evinces a strong musical feeling and a high degree of musicianship; but it embodies the strange contradiction of grammatical purity—almost without an exception—with incongruity of form. It contains some admirable ideas, which are remarkable as much for melodic interest as for the unhackneyed and often beautiful harmony that enforces this. We will not draw attention from the many larger merits of the composition, by numbering its very few harmonic slips which, doubtless, Mr. Parry can find out for himself, and of which no one else would be edified to hear; but we must give some little discussion to the graver failings in technical design. The powerful resource for a Church composer, the appropriate use of which we have many a time commended, the resource of repeating a musical phrase to some second passage of the text, which phrase has been previously set to some earlier passage, is here employed with sometimes good effect, but sometimes, too, without any apparent meaning, and with a result that is little short of tiresome. The value of this resource is, firstly, that when well applied, it is a great aid in the construction of a movement, since conducing to that ever welcome effect, the recurrence of a subject with which the hearer has already been made familiar; its value is, secondly, that in reminding one of the words to which it was first set, it makes these words in some sort illustrate those to which it is repeated. Happy instances of this latter are where the phrase originally set to the initial words of the Gloria recurs at "Glory be to the Father," in the two numbers of the Evening Service. Again, in the Benedictus, where the same idea appears for the Doxology, which is set to the repeated "holy" in the Te Deum. Once more, in the same number, where the music to "Blessed be the Lord," is set also to "the tender mercy of our God," making this latter passage reflect the feeling of the opening, and suggest the thought that we bless the Lord because of His tender mercy; and yet further still, in the same canticle, where "we being delivered," in like manner, refers to the phrase for "O Lord, save Thy people," in the Te Deum. These are thoughtful, even poetical, and they cannot be uninfluential on the hearer in leading him to a clear, and sometimes novel, perception of the purport of the text and its beauty. On the other hand, the five times use of the Church phrase, wherewith the Te Deum opens, grows worse than monotonous, for it frets into fragments the grand theme of universal praise, and makes this wearisome. Then the author takes no advantage, in his technical design, of this resource of returning to a forestated subject; the ideas recur when the keys have been already long established wherein they re-appear, and there is no obvious ground for coming back to them instead of introducing new matter, so that their illustrative value is weakened by their needlessness in the tonal construction. On this head the many full closes in the key of D that disfigure almost every number, but especially the Benedictus, show that the author has much, if not everything, to learn with respect to form, and to learn also that this grand necessity in a work of art is quite as indispensable in a vocal, as in an instrumental composition, in one to sacred as to secular words.

The work is, for the most part, written for voices in unison, or, to speak more accurately, in octaves, but this arrangement is occasionally broken by their separation into harmony; and the organ part, save where, with capital effect, it occasionally leaves them entirely alone, ably supports even where it is totally independent of them, a good example of which is in the beginning of the Magnificat. It is injudicious, because useless, to assign the low A (second space in the bass) to the tenors, as in the very opening phrase of the Te Deum; and still more so to write the low D (below the first leger line) for the basses. A little experience will cure the talented composer of such indiscretion, who generally disposes well his parts for the several voices, and always with a view to their good effect. Of all the numbers, our preference rests on the Nunc Dimittis, which is somewhat more complicated than the others—that is, through the first sentence the two upper voices follow the others in canon; but it is not for the sake of this complexity that we admire it, since the thoughts of which it consists, be they simple or involved, are all admirable. The series of pieces presents many beauties, and is extremely interesting, as exhibiting natural ability very far above the common type; let the author cultivate his gifts from nature in a good school, for they should enrich the world with noble fruit.

Original Compositions for the Organ. By E. Silas.

Here are five books of various extent, containing each a single composition. They come from the hand of an artist whose powers were formed by good schooling, and have been matured by constant practice; yes, formed, for even when nature gives the mental elements of fancy and invention these are but little better than worthless for art uses until they are knit into order by judicious training. A class of writers upon art—upon musical art especially—pretends that the old principles are exhausted; that it is pedantry to submit to their fetters; that imagination is free; and that true genius can only be directed by its impulse. This wild pretence is refuted by a comparison of music, written under its conditions, with that of composers who feel the principles of art to be the inexhaustible principles of nature—who feel these to be not fetters but guides—who feel that the freedom would be recklessness of the imagination if not guarded by order—and who improve the suggestions rather than yield to the impulses of this faculty, which may be either misleading or god-like.

No. 1 in F consists of an Allegro moderato, an extensive fugal episode in an accelerated tempo, and a resumption with a new extension of the original. The effects are simple and broad in the opening and closing portions, and the counterpoint in the episode is free but pure.

No. 2 in D is an Andante. Some may consider the main theme trivial, but its pointed character impresses the hearer, and the value is great of a strong impression. The episode is somewhat extreme in its modulations, ranging from D minor to F sharp major, but they are rendered coherent by their relation to the original key; and there is a phrase so charming in this portion of the movement that the attention willingly rests upon it, and, thus refreshed, is ready to accompany the author through his tonal wanderings. We are disappointed not to find some kind of counter-melody engrafted on the subject when this returns for the peroration, since it is a subject that seems particularly to invite such treatment; but it was the author's business to express his own, not our ideas, and we gladly accept them as he set them forth. The preceding piece and this are dedicated to the composer's friend, W. T. Best.

A Prelude No. 3 is very attractive. It is a continuous and expressive melody, Andante, in F minor, which, with its harmony, is sustained by the right hand on one manual, and supported by the pedals, while the left hand has a figure of semiquavers upon another manual. It may be to be wished that this figure were occasionally broken, after the manner in which Mendelssohn sometimes gives particular point to a few notes by the discontinuance of the florid accompaniment that else prevails through an entire piece, and thus also gives a new interest to the moving part on its resumption. Mr. J. Barnby is the dedicatee of this charming movement.

An Andante in A flat, No. 4, well sustains the character of the series; nay, as a matter of liking, of which we will attempt no explanation, we prefer it to some of its companions.

No. 5, a Fantasia in E minor, is dedicated to Mr. George Cooper. It begins with a Prelude, Adagio, which is formed of two ideas that are twice repeated in different keys; an unusual effect for the instrument, the sustension of a melody at the top of a succession of arpeggios, is employed in happy contrast in the second of these themes. There follows a well-wrought fugue of considerable length; in this, the subject may be said to comprise two sections, and a new character is imparted to the second of these by its separation from the former. The interest of the movement is renewed by the introduction, towards the middle, of a new contrapuntal figure in quicker notes than have preceded. The coda is more modern in manner than the rest of the fugue; but, as the nineteenth century flowed out of the eighteenth without any shock to the course of time, so this is fluently continuous of the foregoing without startling by change of style, and it gives brilliancy to the final climax when the few bars thus approached of concluding Adagio impart gravity to the termination.

A Sonata for the Organ. By Robert Hainworth.

The College of Organists, so says the title-page, awarded an "Extra Prize" to this composition in 1865; but the merits of the work scarcely warrant such a special distinction. The Sonata comprises three movements. The first movement, Allegro, aims at the sonata form, which has been rarely applied to music for the organ, and the aim is commendable; but it is faulty in structure, feeble in ideas, and, for the most part, wrongly barred. The second movement is defined as a "Chorale with Variations," of which definition, more presently. It has less pretension and more fulfilment than the foregoing, and is indeed the best portion of the work. It consists of a melodious theme in the manner of a hymn-tune (we presume original), with two variations in its own key of F, these being followed by a canon in the octave with a free part for the pedals in the key of A flat, which may be accepted as another Variation, more independent of the Air; and, finally, a coda, which begins with a fughetta, and closes with an allusion to, and expansion of the theme. The author might easily amend the false relation between the E flat in the thirteenth bar of the second Variation, and the E natural before and after it, and he should reconsider the answer to his fugal subject, which ought to start from F the tonic, instead of G, since the subject begins on C the dominant. The last movement is styled a Trio, and is distributed for two manuals and the pedals, having some introductory and concluding bars in full harmony. Its melodies have an old fashioned character, reminding one of the early days of this century. The whole Sonata is admirably written for the instrument—it shows the author's complete conversancy with organ mechanism, and will be useful to others for practice.

It is now to speak of the term "Chorale," as employed in Mr. Hainworth's Andante; but here we leave him wholly out of the censure, since the example of musicians of longer standing and more general acknowledgment may exonerate him. A Choral is, to the best of our belief, a hymn-tune sung by the people in chorus in the service of the Lutheran Church. Chorals are for the most part old, and they are also, for the most part, each associated with its own poem. It has been common for the musicians of North Germany, almost from the date of the Reformation, to employ the Choral tunes as themes for elaboration in their vocal, as much as instrumental works. Some of the oldest and best of them are thus introduced by Mendelssohn in his St. Paul, and their insertion is justified, and their interest induced in the situations of their occurrence, by the German people's intimacy with them in connection with the words to which they have habitually sung them, every man from childhood onwards. When this oratorio was imported into England, folks thought it necessary to preserve the definition of the Chorals, since they were unlike in character, form, and extent, to any pieces in oratorios with which the English public was familiar; and to secure the German pronunciation of the word with the accent on the final syllable, an e was added at the end, which must have been meant to be mute. The public, however, misunderstood the orthoepic intention of the English editors, read the extended word, Chorale, as a tri-syllable, and took to pronouncing its new and peculiarly English addition as they do in Charley. Since Mendelssohn's first oratorio, his Hymn of Praise and his Organ Sonatas, in which some specimens of the old Choral appear, have helped to make their definition in its English three syllable form familiar, and this familiarity is strongly confirmed by the knowledge, recently becoming general, of Bach's Music of the Passion, wherein examples abound of the ancient Lutheran Choral tune. Respect for these works, and for others from the same source, has, we may suppose, been the prompting to some of our best English composers to emulate the precedent of the great Germans; and they have incorporated in like manner in some of their extensive works pieces that might serve for hymn-tunes, and these they anomalously entitle Chorale(ys). unmindful that they are not venerable tunes of Lutheran use, that they are not old hymn-tunes at all, that they can never call to remembrance particular poems, since they have never been associated with any words whatever, and seeming to forget that the said melodies are their own, the said composers' original productions. Now, if such misuse of the term chorale(y) is not an affectation, it is surely a mistake; since the word so applied is a misnomer. We earnestly suggest, then, to our native musicians of experience and credit, to discontinue the example to their younger brethren of a misuse which savours so strongly of affectation as to imbue those who practise it with its odour. Hymn-tune is a good enough term, and hymn without tune is a better; moreover they have both been English since further back than it is easy to trace their use; and we urge that either of these would be appropriate to the pieces that writers of latest times have taken to calling Chorale(ys).

Arrangements from the Scores of the great masters for the Organ. By W. T. Best. Nos. 88, 89, 90, and 91.

The success of this work is proved by the high number to which its sequent Parts have reached, for publishers, even the most enterprising, persevere not in the issue of a serial for which there is not a profitable demand. Well, who will wonder? The organ is an instrument whose use is almost daily increasing; the growing number of its players necessitates a parallel growth in the amount of music fitted to its specialities. Mr. Best has established a reputation for making arrangements which are eminently interesting, highly effective, and thoroughly practical; and he is as judicious in his selection of works for adaptation as he is skilful in their treatment.

No. 88 contains three compositions. First, there is the suite in B flat, from Handel's First Series of Suites de Pièces, for the harpsichord. It begins with that grand prelude, whose richly dispersed harmonies give to the pianoforte almost the sonority of an organ; and the rapid passages which alternate these, if of a character less frequently assigned to the instrument to which the music is here appropriated, are perfectly practicable upon it, and are more attractive perhaps because of their rarity. The ensuing allegro is as notable for spirit as is the foregoing for solemnity; its animated subject is capitally developed, the piece is ceaselessly continuous, its structure is most simple, and the interest never flags. In the adaptation of this, the comparatively modern art of instrumenting for the

The Cuckoo sings in the poplar tree.

Words by E. Fitzball. PART-SONG. Music by G. A. Macfarren.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: 751, Broadway.

Allegretto.
Treble.
Alto.
Tenor (8ve lower).
Bass.
Piano.
The cuc-koo sings in the pop-lar tree, But his ca-rol is not gay, . . For he
The cuckoo sings in the pop-lar tree, But his ca-rol is not gay, . . For he knows that spring like himself's on the wing, By the rick-ing of the hay. Lit-tle we heed his pen-sive note, High on the pop-lar spray, While in the new-mown mea-dows sweet, In pen-sive note, High on the pop-lar spray, While in the mead, pen-sive note, High on the pop-lar spray, While in the new-mown mead, In pen-sive note, High on the pop-lar spray, While in the mead,

cres.
sun-shine, in sun-shine, In sunshine we make hay, In sunshine we make
In sun - shine, in sunshine, In sunshine we make hay, In sunshine we make sun-shine, in sun-shine, in sunshine we make hay, In sunshine we make
In sun - shine, in sunshine, In sunshine we make hay, In sunshine we make hay. Cuckoo, cuckoo, cuckoo, cuckoo, cuckoo,
hay. Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! Lit-tle we heed his pensive note While in hay. Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! Lit-tle we heed his pensive note While in hay. Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! Lit-tle we heed his pen - sive cuc-koo, cuckoo, cuc-koo, cuc-koo. Old sun - shine . . we make hay, Ha, ha, ha, ha! poor cuc - - koo. . . Old sun - shine we make hay, Ha, ha, ha, ha! poor cuc - - koo. . . Old note While in sunshine we make hay, Ha, ha, ha, ha! poor cuc - - koo. . . Old

cres.
women tell us in mournful tone That our merry days will pass, . . And that death will soon come and women tell us in mournful tone That our merry days will pass, . . And that death will soon come and women tell us in mournful tone That our merry days will pass, . . And that death will soon come and women tell us in mournful tone That our merry days will pass, . . And that death will soon come and mow us down Like the flowers in the grass; But if so swift the moments fly,
mow us down Like the flowers in the grass; But if so swift the moments fly, mow us down Like the flowers in the grass; But . . . if so swift the moments fly, Let .
mow us down Like the flowers in the grass; But if so swift the moments fly,
Let us drive care a - way. Bet-ter it is to laugh than cry, In sun-shine, in Let us drive care a - way. Bet-ter to laugh, In sun - shine,
. . . us drive care a - way. Bet-ter it is to laugh, In sun-shine, in Let us drive care a - way. Bet-ter to laugh, In sun - shine, sun - shine, In sunshine then make hay, In sunshine then make hay. Cuckoo, in sun - shine, In sunshine then make hay, In sunshine then make hay.

sun - shine, In sunshine then make hay, In sunshine then make hay.
in sun - shine, In sunshine then make hay, In sunshine then make hay.
cuckoo, cuckoo, cuckoo, cuc-koo,
Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! Bet-ter it is to laugh than cry, In Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha! Bet-ter it is to laugh than cry, In Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! Bet-ter it is to laugh than cuckoo, cuckoo, cuckoo, cuckoo.
sun - shine . . . then make hay. Ha, ha, ha, ha! poor cuc - - koo. . .
sun - shine then make hay, Ha, ha, ha, ha! poor cuc - - koo. . .
cry, In sunshine then make hay, Ha, ha, ha, ha! poor cuc - - koo! . .

organ is happily exercised, the sustained notes for the left hand against the more rapid for the right, and the motion for the pedals, and indeed all the additions to the original, giving great extra richness to the effect. The lovely Air, with its four Variations, which ends the Suite, is also ingeniously distributed for the organ, and the choice of stops gives to it a diversity of colour of which Handel could never have thought, but which takes nothing from the character of his music.

Second, we have the Andante in G from the ballet music in Schubert's Rosamunde, a work which failed in the theatre, by reason, we are told, of the weakness of Madme. von Schezy's drama, a "poetess" self-styled, who has won a quasi-immortality by the badness of her writings, which frustrated the success of Weber's Euryanthe, and covered this composition of Schubert for many years with oblivion. It is a rare fate for music written for the stage, which has attended this, of obtaining acceptance with the world entirely independent of the play for which it was composed, and music lovers are fortunate in the separation. The arranger has cleverly imitated the orchestral score, and the effect of the piece upon the organ is charming.

Third, is given a Serenade in A from one of the collections of pianoforte pieces by Stephen Heller, who is notably successful in drawing the best effects from his own instrument, and whose effects are here ably translated into the vernacular of another.

In like manner, No. 89 has pieces by three authors. One of these is only a portion of the work whence it is extracted —the Andante, namely, from a symphony by Mozart. Every publisher of compositions of this class by the author follows his own fancy or convenience in their numeration, and thus Mr. Best's definition of "twelfth" is no clue whereby to distinguish it among the forty-nine. It would have been interesting had the editor given any particulars beyond the indefinite "twelfth" by which he describes the symphony, for we fail to trace the movement in Dr. Köchel's complete catalogue of the composer's works, which quotes the first bars of each movement in every symphony of the series; and we wonder, therefore, whether there can be another composition of the class which has eluded the research of this vigilant investigator, or whether the ascription of this piece to Mozart be without sufficient authority. The excerpt here presented is of a character to make every hearer wish for familiarity with the other portions of the work, whatever work it may be.

Next, there is the Prelude and Fugue in G minor, from the Second Series of Bach's Wohltemperirte Clavier, being the fortieth of the entire forty-eight. There is a good effect upon the organ from the sustension of the long bass notes in the prelude, and there is no material objection to the placing some passages in the fugue—certain entrances of the subject, for instance—an eighth lower for the pedals than they were written for the harpsichord, or than they can be played on the pianoforte. Still, we consider the appropriation of this piece to the organ to be a redundant exercise of the arranger's privilege; it is not as though Bach had never written for the organ, or had written as Handel did for an organ wanting the resources that specially distinguish this instrument from the harpsichord. It is somewhat stale to say that his organ compositions are the model to which every writer refers in the present day, and which every player seeks as the best studies for developing his powers. Bach doubtless meant, and he certainly accomplished, something different when he wrote for another instrument than when for this; and it would have been more seemly, as well as quite sufficient, to have left his voluminous organ music to itself, than to aim at swelling its large amount by the adaptation, however ingenious, of music which the composer designed for other means that yield other effects. The Prelude and Fugue in G minor are among the most organic—may the word be used?—of those written for the string instrument, and some players may find advantage from Mr. Best's views of its fitness for one of wind.

Lastly, we have another extract, the finale from a Notturno in C for wind instruments, by Spohr. It is a graceful and totally unelaborated movement, which is cleverly fitted to the organ, though we think it sounds more heavy in this form than it can in that in which it was originally cast.

No. 90 begins with the chorus, "Thou shalt make me hear of joy and gladness," from Handel's anthem, "Have mercy upon me." It is not one of the brightest of its author's inspirations; but, in its arranged form, it is a good study in pedalling for the leap of an octave after a turn on the upper note, and it is by no means without interest to the player.

There follow numbers 12 and 9 from Schumann's Op. 99, the former in B flat, Tempo di Minuetto; the latter in B minor, Allegretto Scherzoso. They are charming movements both, though but little known. They lend themselves less we think to the specialities of the organ than do other pieces in the collection; and in that in B minor, particularly, the clever arranger has been less lucky than usual in his choice of stops, for, as he marks it, the chief melody of the portion in D is overpowered by the accompaniment, and the chromatic passage (for the left hand upon the great organ) is heavy and obtrusive.

The first piece in No. 91 is La Favorite, a Chaconne à deux temps, by François Couperin, the most distinguished member of a very distinguished family, organists all and clavecinists, and composers for their two instruments. Our Valse à deux temps, of a century and a half later than the age of the Couperins, has a syncopated note from one bar to the next, which makes two accents in a bar of $\frac{3}{4}$, and accommodates a corresponding division of the dancers' steps. Not so the Chaconne à deux temps, whereof here is a specimen, in which common time, with its four crotchets, is substituted for the ordinary $\frac{3}{4}$ of the Chaconne, and the steps of the dance must have been changed, as is the measure of the music. The heading —"Rondeau, Gravement sans lenteur"—indicates the manner in which the piece is to be played, and the form in which it is cast. The theme of the Rondeau is a quaintly characteristic strain of eight bars, which comes round again and again after each of five episodes, or couplets as the author defines them.

Liszt's Triumphal March, "Vom Fels zum Meer," proves by its presence that the selection of pieces for the series is unrestricted by prejudice for or against the music of any period or style. The rhythm is more clearly defined in this, and the phraseology more striking, than in some pieces by the author, and the effect on the organ is most brilliant.

A chorus by Bach, "God is my King," is capitally broad in character and full of vigorous animation.

Such a selection as we have catalogued makes its own commendation, and the arrangement is worthy of Mr. Best in being worthy of the pieces he has chosen. Organists will be fortunate if the series be extended to a number far higher than it has already reached.

Andantino Piacevole, pour Piano.
Valse Mélodieuse, pour Piano.
Par E. Pauer.

These two original pieces by Herr Pauer, one of our best resident pianists, make us wonder why a writer so graceful and artistic should not check the growing tendency towards the worship of vapid commonplace by more largely increasing the store of compositions based upon a higher model. It is true that in both these slight sketches nothing is attempted beyond the requirements of the drawing-room; but it is not necessary that every drawing-room should be filled with grown children who cannot appreciate anything beyond nursery-music; and even where this unfortunately happens to be the case, it by no means follows that a pianist should always play down to the level of the capacities of his auditors. The time may come when ordinarily educated people will feel as much insulted by having childish pieces played to them, as they would be by having childish literature read to them, and to help on this time should be the duty of all who believe that music has a higher mission than that of lazily passing away those portions of the evening which are not devoted to dancing. The subject of the first of these pieces is charmingly peaceful and melodious, the harmony with which it is clothed materially aiding its effect to all trained ears. A beautiful point is where the close on the key-note (A flat) is lengthened out for two bars (at the end of page 4), the theme in the relative minor, after the double bar, following with much freshness. We must also draw attention to the accompanying triplets, on the return of the original theme, and also to the very expressive coda, which seems to grow up naturally from the previous melody, instead of being, as is too often the case, a "sweet passage" patched on, as if it were taken from a portfolio of "codas" kept ready for use. We should be glad if our remarks upon this elegant piece should induce pianists who can command the varied shades of touch which it requires, to procure it and judge for themselves, for we have little doubt that they would fully endorse our verdict. The "Valse Mélodieuse" thoroughly bears out its title; but it will require the feeling of an artist to do it justice. The theme is simple in the extreme, the passages lie well under the hand, and the changes of key prevent any undue feeling of monotony. Both teachers and pupils will, we think, be equally pleased with Herr Pauer's melodious waltz.

Chant Romantique, pour Piano. Par Alfred Jaell.

The key of this piece (F sharp major) need not frighten amateurs, for it is a slow and expressive "song without words," played with the thumb of the right hand, and containing no perplexing or elaborate passages. The melody is extremely beautiful, and the harmonies are just such as should accompany so simple a theme. The second part, in the dominant, is written in D flat, to avoid the formidable seven sharps which the true key would demand. The arpeggios in the right hand which surround the song on its re-appearance, are graceful, effective, and easy to play; but we do not think the two rapid cadences quite in character with the piece. Pianists who understand how to sing a song with the fingers, need not be told to play it "espressivo," but players accustomed to make a foot-stool of the pedal are enjoined to mark this direction of the composer—"Pedale ad ognicambiamento d'armonia sino al fine."

Spinnerlied aus "Der Fliegende Holländer," von Rich. Wagner; für das Pianoforte, von Franz Liszt.

One of the most popular pieces from Herr Wagner's Opera is here treated in Liszt's happiest style. Pianists acquainted with the transcriptions of this writer can scarcely be surprised to find that the arrangement before us will severely tax their powers; but we can promise them that they will be amply rewarded for the time and attention which the piece demands. Liszt rarely leaves out any notes from the score which can possibly be played; and although this often causes confusion when his music is interpreted by inferior performers, the defect must not be placed to the credit of the arranger, for the passages always lie well under a thoroughly trained hand. The triplet accompaniment is carefully preserved, and the manner in which the melody is made to flow throughout without a break is exceedingly ingenious. We recommend this transcription to all who are not likely to be awed by its difficulty.

Ballet music, zu dem Drama "Rosamunde." Componirt von Franz Schubert. Für das Pianoforte, zu zwei händen eingerichtet von Johann Herbeck.

This beautiful ballet music is now so well known that no recommendation from us will be necessary to ensure it a warm welcome from all lovers of Schubert's compositions. The arrangement for two hands is exceedingly good, and one or two indications of the score will recall to the performer some of the charming effects of the instrumentation. The piece is also published as a duet by the same arranger.

Valse Gracieuse, pour Piano. Par H. A. Wollenhaupt.

There is so much vigour and freshness about all the dance-music by this composer that we care not how his pieces are multiplied. Such music is in its way healthy, for Herr Wollenhaupt does well what he professes to do, and is not afraid of calling a Galop, Waltz, or Polka by its right name. The "Valse Gracieuse" is an excellent specimen of its class—bright, full of melody, and replete with elegance of treatment. The themes are well contrasted, and the changes of key, although frequent, are never unduly forced. Good practice will be found both in the passages of repetition and the legato phrases with which the piece abounds.

We watch'd her breathing through the night. A four-part song for S.A.T.B. Words by T. Hood. Music by Henry J. Poole, M.A.

Mr. Poole has escaped the danger of setting music to good poetry, for his composition is far above the average. We like the manner in which the words are breathed out to a placid melody, quietly harmonised for the four voices, at the commencement. The change of key, too, after the double bar, is extremely happy; and the fall of the seventh for the first voice at the final phrase is eloquently expressive of the words. Let those who attempt the interpretation of this part-song endeavour to make the audience linger as we linger over the excessive beauty of the verses. Can anything be more touching in its pathos than the following?

"Our very hopes belied our fears,
Our fears our hopes belied;
We thought her dying when she slept;
And sleeping when she died."

Lamborn Cock and Co.

Cease your funning: Old English air. Arranged for the Pianoforte by Westley Richards.

Mr. Westley Richards seems to have discovered that we have some English airs worth preserving, for he has already resuscitated the capital tune "Drink to me only," for the theme of a composition which has recently been noticed in these columns. The title-page of the piece before us scarcely does the composer justice, for to say that the subject is merely "arranged for the pianoforte," by no means leads to the supposition that he has written some very excellent and elaborate variations upon it. These variations are rather based upon the good old style which prevailed before composers had discovered that if pieces were intended to sell, the part for the left hand must have no distinctive character, and prior also to the Thalberg school, in which arpeggios from one end of the instrument to the other are so artfully interwoven with the air that in performing them before a number of listeners—or rather of spectators—the dexterous pianist, like the dexterous conjuror, usually prides himself upon his "hands being quicker than their eyes." The passages in this piece are extremely brilliant, and amply prove that the composer thoroughly understands the capabilities of his instrument. The variation in the tonic minor, and the finale are in our opinion the best; but they are all carefully considered, full of character and effective. Mr. Richards may well proceed in the path he has chosen; and as he has shown that he can also write orginal pieces (a Capriccio and Rondo being amongst his latest works), we think he may fairly hope to obtain a place amongst the received writers of the day.

A Birthday. Song. Words by Christine Rosetti. Music by Francis Edward Gladstone.

As Mr. Gladstone has evidently the art of composing a simple and graceful melody, it will be a kindness to caution him not to elaborate his harmonies until, like glaring colours in a picture, they obtrude themselves beyond their legitimate province. We know how hard this advice is to follow, especially by one who, like the writer of the song before us, can use chromatic harmonies with freedom; but the real difficulty is to be simple; and the works of the great composers will prove that, although scientific knowledge is often shown, it is never displayed. The theme of this song is excellently adapted to the words, which are re-printed by permission of Messrs. Macmillan and Co., and are admirably suited for a musical setting. The accompaniment is most carefully written throughout; if we except the G sharp in the ninth bar of the symphony, which jumps, in the left hand part, very harshly against the harmony of A. We cordially recommend the "Birthday," and shall be glad again to meet its composer.

Cassell, Petter and Galpin.

Fifty Village School Songs. Collected by Agnes Caroline Wickham.

Apart from the simple poetry contained in the verses here collected for village singers, there is one merit which to us especially recommends the little volume, and that is the absence of the shadow of death, which usually hovers, over the juvenile literature of the day, not with the object of teaching the eternal truth that children, like the flowers which they delight in, are designed to bloom, wither, and pass away, but rather to enforce the unhealthy moral that the truly happy are those who are blighted whilst in the full enjoyment of that life and hope which should, we believe, be regarded as the ripening sunshine of their early days. Many of the tunes and verses in this collection are taken, by permission, from other works, a fact which the compiler gracefully acknowledges at the conclusion of the book. The melodies are unharmonised, and in most cases well fitted to the words. In Nos. 10, 34, 40, however, the emphasis is false in many places. But perhaps the songs in which this fault is most observable are the two last—Graces before and after dinner—in which the accent seems quite disregarded. We quote the "Grace after Dinner."

"To God who gives our daily bread,
A thankful song we'll raise;
And pray that He who sends us food
Will fill our hearts with praise."

Being set to triple measure, and beginning on the whole bar, the stress falls (as will be seen by our italics) on the first word of each line; but, strangely enough, the last line, commencing with a broken bar, proves how easily the whole might have been written correctly. We may also mention that the patriotic and thoroughly French "Marseillaise," does not fitly express the words "Hurrah for England."

Duff and Stewart.

The Raft. Descriptive Song. Words by Charles J. Rowe. Composed by Ciro Pinsuti.

All who are condemned, like ourselves, to turn over parcels of music in the hope of finding one piece which shall betray a ray of original thought, cannot but feel a relief when the name of so accomplished a writer as Signor Pinsuti appears upon a title-page. A "descriptive song," like a "Sonata, quasi Fantasia," is very often used as a safe method of escaping from form by the mere tyro; but a mature artist rarely writes a composition of this class unless he has something to say. "The Raft" is unquestionably one of the best dramatic vocal pieces we have seen for some time; and if singers sufficiently understand their own interest, they will (always supposing that an efficient accompanist is procurable) at once introduce this song into the concert-room. The dreamy opening, on the dominant of E minor, well prepares the listener for the commencement of the voice-part, which describes with thrilling interest the situation of the crew on the raft, watching the angry setting of the "blood-red sun" on the waves. Full of effect, too, is the Recitative, which ends on a major chord, as if a gleam of hope had suddenly dawned upon the crew. The prayer of the child in its sleep is a beautiful idea, appropriately expressed by a truly religious melody. After a short recitative, a prolonged dominant harmony in the tonic major leads to a joyous burst—a sail is seen, and mother and child are saved. The change at the conclusion of the song from $\frac{6}{8}$ to $\frac{12}{8}$ rhythm, with an agitated triplet accompaniment, is extremely happy; and the broad, solid harmonies which are used are an ample proof that the composer fully understands how to produce good effects by simple means. Signor Pinsuti has materially added to his fame by this song, which we doubt not will speedily obtain the popularity it deserves.

Biondina. Canzonetta. Parole di Giuseppe Zaffira; Musica di Charles Gounod.

This little Canzonett is so full of character that we particularly caution accompanists not to destroy that character by touching the notes in either hand a hair's breadth out of their place. The melody flows on most melodiously against the pointed pianoforte part. Amongst the many interesting phrases in this song, we must especially mention the B flat in the second page, the words "Biondina bella," being quaintly expressed by the ascent of an augmented fourth, the accompaniment to which is exceedingly effective. The composition is dedicated to Madame Pauline Lucca; but the title-page does not tell us whether it has ever been sung by her.

H. White and Son.

La Fille du Régiment. Fantasie de Salon, for the Piano.
Etude de Concert. Grand Galop for the Pianoforte.
Composed by Edward Lawrance.

"Fantasie de Salon, for the Piano," reminds us of the Dancing-master's advertisement that he taught "Quadrilles, Polkas et Waltzes." We despair, however, of prevailing upon English composers to write English title-pages to their works, and therefore Mr. Lawrance will no doubt thank us for telling him that there is no such word in the French language as "Fantasie." Although the first piece is professedly on the Opera "La Fille du Régiment," it proves to be merely three variations on the air "Ciascun lo dice," with a short introduction. These variations show no novelty in form, the first having the theme in the bass, with a running accompaniment of semiquavers in the right hand, the second consisting of a series of arpeggios, with the air divided according to the approved pattern, between the two hands, and the third, written in $\frac{6}{8}$ rhythm, being chiefly remarkable for some simple imitative passages. We like the second piece better, because its merits belong exclusively to the composer. It is a "good," but not a "grand" Galop, in D flat major, with episodes in somewhat extraneous keys. There is some brilliant writing for the right hand, but as usual, the left hand is a mere accompaniment; indeed the design of the composition scarcely justifies its title, "Etude de Concert."

Duncan Davison and Co.

A Whirligig. Bagatelle, for the Pianoforte. By Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew.

Pianists with a nimble finger will be delighted with this spirited little piece. It has a whirling subject in $\frac{6}{8}$ rhythm, a peculiar effect being gained by the occasional sudden halt on the third division of the bar. The harmonies are simple and in accordance with the nature of the composition. The series of arpeggios on the third page lead well to the return of the theme; and the restless character of the piece is carefully kept up to the conclusion. The Bagatelle is dedicated to Mr. Walter Macfarren, who may be well entrusted to display its attractive qualities to an audience.

William Morley.

Silent Footsteps. Ballad. Written by J. S. Lyons. Composed by Louis Pereira.

The publisher of this ballad advertises three others by the same composer; and we may say without hesitation that if they are all as good as "Silent Footsteps," vocalists who desire simple and healthy songs should at once procure them. Mr. Pereira seeks his effect by legitimate means; the words are free from maudlin sentiment, the music is tuneful and expressive, as a ballad should be, and the harmonies throughout are unexceptionable.

J. McDowell and Co.

L'Amazone. Morceau caractéristique, pour le Piano.
Fête Villageoise. Ronde, pour Piano.
Par Michel Bergson.

We scarcely see why the first of these compositions should be called "L'Amazone." In the olden times "Gavotte," "Sarabande," or "Gigue," sufficiently described the nature of the piece; and there can be no reason therefore, for dignifying a Polka, Waltz, or Mazurka, in the present day with some fantastic title, save that the author hopes by this device to hide the fact (which former composers boldly announced) that he has written a dance-tune. "L'Amazone," however, contains some effective passages, and the various themes are well contrasted. The principal subject is bold, and the second melody, in the dominant, with a quaint five-bar rhythm, has much grace and elegance. The piece is brilliant, and will be found useful as practice for the fingers. There is little novelty in the "Fête Villageoise," but its pastoral character and melodiousness may ensure it a welcome amongst pianists of moderate attainments. The continental fingering is used in both these pieces, but so sparingly that it could be easily altered.

Cramer, Wood and Co.

Why ask me to repeat my love? Duettino. Words by Mrs. M. A. Baines. Music by Jane Schenley.

There is musical feeling in this composition, but the melody is better than the harmony. It requires a knowledge of counterpoint to write even a simple duet, and that the composer of the one before us has not acquired this knowledge is evident in many places. It is, however, simple and easy to sing, and may please listeners who are not over critical.

Henry Stead and Co.

Trois Morceaux, brillants et caractéristiques, pour le Piano. Par Walter H. Sangster.
1. Arachne. Grande Valse.
2. Psyche. Mélodie.
3. Iris. Mazurka.

Brilliant music, like brilliant novels, are scarcely intended to last; and reviewers must therefore, perhaps, be not too severe upon them; but we think it only fair that they should justify their description. Now in the three pieces by Mr. Sangster, which are termed by him both brilliant and characteristic (although of course the words are translated into French); we confess not to have been able to discover either brilliancy or character, and therefore we think it would have been much better had they been left to tell their own tale. The "Grande Valse" has a very commonplace and quiet subject, with a number of episodes equally unsuggestive of grandeur; but the piece is well written, and the passages are graceful and melodious. The second piece is decidedly the best of the three. It commences with a flowing theme, accompanied in the style of some of Mendelssohn's "Songs without words," the melody in the subdominant, where the hands cross, being exceedingly effective. The Mazurka, like many other Mazurkas we could mention, rushes up the arpeggio of the chord on the first of the bar, in that "Pearl and Diamond" school of writing which strikes the parents and guardians of young pianists with such wonder. The most effective part is that in the tonic minor, on the fourth page; but there are many passages which will no doubt please the many who delight in the very "light" music of the day.

Original Correspondence.

ORGANISTS' STIPENDS, GRIEVANCES, AND APPOINTMENTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—May I crave space for a few words on these subjects? "Clericus" says—1st, "When an organist is paid at the same rate for church duty as for secular work, he has no ground for complaint. 2nd, My observation leads me to believe that the majority of organists do receive such a salary. 3rd, In very many instances organists do not discharge their duties in such a manner as to induce their clergy to interest themselves in procuring for them higher stipends." I would add as a rider to Clericus's first statement, and as a query for those who dissent from his views—When an organist takes the same payment for Church duty as for secular work, and neither pays tithe of his stipend, nor devotes any portion of his time and talent as an offering to Almighty God, does he deserve more consideration from the clergy than is "so nominated in the bond?" My own practice has been to pay tithe of my stipend (which payment is now devoted, by the permission of the vicar, to the purpose of forming a fund for the enlargement and improvement of the organ), and to spend an hour or two weekly during four or five months of the year in training choristers and probationers in sight singing, or in giving them instruction in matters connected with the Church service. I mention these facts, not for the sake of boasting (as, after saying so much about my own doings, I feel it necessary to withhold my name), but as a hint to organists who may have reason to complain of their instruments, or who may be anxious to keep up a good esprit de corps, and increase a feeling of attachment between choirmaster and choristers. But do organists receive the same sum for church as for secular work? The duties and stipend of my own appointment are probably about the average, at any rate in provincial towns, viz., three services on Sunday and one rehearsal, with one week-day evening service and rehearsals for a stipend of £40 a year. Terms for private teaching in the neighbourhood are variable, some professors charging the old guinea a quarter, others two or three; an average charge would probably be 31s. 6d. We will suppose it to be so in this case. Now I would estimate the first evensong on Sundays, the week-night service, and the two rehearsals, with half-an-hour added for time occupied in walking to and from church on the week-day at the same rate as for private lessons; but the Sunday morning and night services at only half-rate, because every Christian man ought, if possible, to attend church once, if not twice, on a Sunday, and also because even in a choral service, the organist, as a rule, has only to play about half the time. The result should be in money 18s. 8d. per week, £48 10s. 8d., or say £50 a year (I have for the sake of convenience disregarded fractions). The actual difference in this case between private-lesson pay and church pay is 3s. 4d. a week, little more than the cost of a lesson, and I suppose that most professional men who might be engaged to give seven or eight hours' instruction to any one family in each week would be required to make some such deduction from their ordinary charges. I have taken no account of services on Christmas Day, Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, or Ascension Day, because, as I stated with regard to the Sunday service, it is the duty of men as churchmen to attend them, and the work done on those days as well as at Confirmations, Dedication Festivals, Harvest Festivals, and the like, would, I venture to think, be amply paid for, and perhaps the loss of 3s. 4d. weekly compensated for by the use of the organ for lessons and pupils' practice, and the use of gas free of charge. Choral or musical weddings and funerals also bring, or ought to bring, special fees. It does happen, however, that a church engagement will sometimes prevent a professor undertaking work that would increase his reputation, or make him better known to the public, and, if he is particularly conscientious as to the style of music that he plays in church, his prospect of obtaining pianoforte or organ pupils may not be so bright as it would if he delighted itching ears with operatic selections, and the light French stuff that is so popular at the present time. The conclusion I arrived at is that £50 per annum is a fair and full stipend for work such as that enumerated above, when the charge for private teaching does not exceed 31s. 6d. a quarter for hour lessons, and that £40 a year cannot be called a miserable stipend, although it is the lowest that I should be disposed to consider reasonable. Hence by process of arithmetic we should obtain something like this result:—Private lessons 42s. per quarter, church stipend £53 to £66 a year. Private lessons, 52s. 6d. a quarter, church stipend £66 to £83 a year; and lastly, professors charging 63s. a quarter, should receive for church engagement £80 to £100 a year. I do not think that "Clericus" will consider my mode of computing the monetary value of the work done as an unreasonable one. Will he still believe that the majority of organists receive a salary for church at the same rate as for secular work?

I am always sorry to hear of organists railing against and sneering at the clergy, or the clergy snubbing or speaking contemptuously of organists. As for the clergy, there are some few among them, principally men who believe in the three orders of bishops, rectors, and curates, who treat their organists badly, but then they treat their curates worse, so that the organists suffer in good company; but as a class, I do not know a more courteous, considerate, hospitable body of men than the clergy of the English Church. I have had four vicars to work under in my time, and I am now in the course of each year brought into official connection with some 20 or 30 clergy, yet I have never found occasion to alter my opinion, but abundant cause to confirm it. If organists would consider well what a great number of our clergy do, viz., live on their private incomes, and take of the Church's wealth a miserable stipend that a warehouse clerk would grumble at, spending it and more upon their poor and their parish work, I think they would soon begin to understand why, in some instances, there is so little sympathy between the clergy and their musical helpers. The root lies deeper than questions of stipend or worldly position—it lies at the want of a common affection for their holy work. Some among us prove this very plainly by not settling down to some form of faith, but instead thereof chopping about from Church at £25 to Unitarianism at £30, to Roman Catholicism at £35, to the Anabaptists at £40, and back again to the Church, when they can find any clergy so oblivious to all sense of ecclesiastical propriety as to give them £5 more for their new belief. Verily, familiarity with holy things oft breeds contempt; for one would scarcely believe that some organists, organ blowers, beadles, or bell-ringers had souls to be saved. If I were a beneficed clergyman, I would as readily take a non-communicating curate as a non-communicating organist. To engage a man to whom all religions are alike to occupy a prominent place in the services of the Church seems to me like mocking God to His face.

Now with regard to appointments. Let an organist when treating for a vacant post have a thorough understanding with the Incumbent as to the style of service to be adopted, and the extent of control to be allowed him over the choristers or the musical part of the service; he can then accept the post or not at his pleasure; but, having accepted it, let him be careful to uphold the Incumbent in his proper position as the responsible director of the service, being ready to advise on all musical matters whenever he is required to do so, but never overstepping of his own accord the bounds set to his authority either by the terms of his agreement or by ecclesiastical law. It must be remembered that the Church is a divine institution, and that, consequently, its services must be conducted according to the directions of its divinely appointed pastors, and not as the taste of lay musicians may dictate. I think the organist would have to stipulate that the Incumbent alone should give him his orders. Raw deacons and priests of four or five and twenty years of age often fancy that the grace of ordination enables them to solve in a moment difficult questions that have been subjects of thought to musicians for years; and what is worse, they often act, unless they are prevented, according to their belief, and frequently cause either the breaking up of the choir or the unpopularity of a musical service. Beadledom, in the shape of vestry interference, should be resisted. If any layman is to have control over the music it should be the organist himself, as he must necessarily have some knowledge of the matter. I never knew any instance of extraneous lay interference that did not have for its end, either by design or by accident, the degradation of the service. Squires and Squiresses, Parsonesses, Wardens, Wardenesses, Sidesmen, and Sideswomen should seek another field for their valuable exertions. I do not wish to ignore the hearty and painstaking labours of the Rector's wife or the Squire's lady in many of our country parishes, where no music could be had, were it not for their zeal and devotion, but to deprecate female interference in towns where professional aid renders it unnecessary. The result of female control is usually to make a service a thing of shreds and patches, a Joseph's coat in bad condition; a bit of Cathedral service, a bit of pure Gregorian, a bit of hybrid ditto, a bit of mawkishness in the shape of a hymn-tune, and probably some other trash that has been heard at a "correct" church. This may seem severe on ladies' services, but so far as my observation has extended it is true, and it is very reasonable that it should be; for, as a rule, these would-be-directresses of choirs have never undertaken any course of musical study calculated to form a pure taste, but are necessarily thrown back upon their own prejudices, for which they can seldom give a reason, or upon the doings of some famous church or other, where a high degree of ritualism is supposed also to indicate a sound ecclesiastical style of music. Truly ritualism, like pedal notes, will cover a multitude of sins. The habit of lay interference, male and female, is a greater grievance to the organist than any action of the clergy. Lastly, as to competitions. I know for a fact that in some cases where the umpire's decision is accepted by the clergy as final, the appointment is jobbed; and that in other instances where a professional opinion only is obtained, the candidate is sat upon by ladies whose musical ability just extends to the performance of a pyrotechnic display, and a few crash bangs on the pianoforte, and whose taste is indicated by their neglect or ignorance of all music of a better class. "We and our wives," say the lay magnates, "will attend, and they will help us to decide." Would it not be better for organists to decline these humiliating exhibitions, and to say let me take a service or so for you, and have a rehearsal or two with your choir? Such a test as this would be a fair one. Above all things let the organist in every case hold his appointment from the Incumbent alone. The organist must have one master; let him be content with the one that the law provides him, and not submit to the dictation of the Vestry, or the whims of Vestrymen's wives.

I am, Sir, faithfully yours,

SCRUTATOR.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of concerts, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded as early as possible after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot be inserted. Our correspondents must specifically denote the date of each concert, for without such date no notice can be taken of the performance.

Our correspondents will greatly oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all Subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music pages are always stereotyped, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

EDWIN EDWARDS.—If we were once to discuss the question of roots of chords our correspondence on the subject would be endless.

P.—We do not see that our Correspondent proposes anything new. Let him study Lunn's "Sequential System of Notation" and Curwen's "Tonic Sol-fa" system, where he will find nearly all his ideas anticipated. The last sentence in his letter—"Extreme and diminished intervals not being real, should also be swept away"—shows how little he has considered the matter.

Brief Summary of Country News.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this Summary; as all the notices are either collated from the local papers, or supplied to us by occasional correspondents.

AIRDRIE.—The Choral Union, under the able leadership of Mr. Dixon, of Garturk, has commenced practising for the season, with the view of giving a concert of sacred music, consisting of Mozart's Twelfth Service, and selections from the Messiah and other Oratorios. The first meeting was held on Wednesday, the 11th ult., in the Town Hall, and from the number presenting themselves for enrolment, together with the creditable rehearsal of a few choruses, the season promises to be one of unprecedented success. For many years Airdrie has been in possession of one of the best musical Associations that could be found in any country town in Scotland, and it is to be hoped that there will be a large addition to the members this year.

BURSLEM.—The Potteries Tonic Sol-fa Choristers commenced their season on Tuesday evening, the 17th ult., with a miscellaneous concert in the Town Hall, before a large audience. The principal artists were Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Madlle. José Sherrington, Madame Poole, Mr. Nelson Varley, and M. Jules Lefort, vocalists; with Signor Albert, solo violoncello, and Chevalier Lemmens, solo organ and Mustel-organ. Their execution of a varied and interesting selection gave the highest satisfaction, and elicited numerous encores. The choristers, under the direction of Mr. Powell, contributed, with much success, the following pieces:—"O wake, love, wake," serenade by Henry Smart; Mendelssohn's "Hunter's farewell," re-arranged for a mixed choir by Jansen; "The healthful chase," a part-song for male voices, by Astholtz, in which the boy altos sang with the first tenors with excellent effect; and Dr. Callcott's glee, "Peace to the souls of the heroes," arranged for a mixed choir.

CHATHAM.—Miss Florence Ashton's Evening Concert took place at the Lecture Hall, on Wednesday, the 11th ult., before a large and enthusiastic audience. The vocal department was represented by Madlle. Anita Leoni (soprano), Miss Ashton (contralto), Mr. W. Coates (tenor), Mr. Higgins, of Canterbury Cathedral (baritone), and Signor Rocca. Miss Florence Saunders (the juvenile pianist) was the only solo instrumentalist, and Mr. Wilkinson did double duty in the respective capacities of accompanist and conductor. Miss Ashton's contributions included Rossini's Cavatina "Una voce poco fa" (encored) and "The beating of my own heart," which was most favourably received. Signor Rocca's performances were highly appreciated, and all the vocalists elicited much applause.

CLIFTON.—A ballad concert, the first of Mr. J. C. Daniel's Clifton winter entertainments for the season, was given on Thursday evening, the 5th ult., at the Victoria Rooms. The artists were Madame Bodda-Pyne, Miss Emmeline Martin, Miss Emily Dones, Mr. Henry Gordon, (tenor), Signor Montelli (bass). Mr. Frank Bodda, as pianist, accompanied the vocalists. Madame Bodda-Pyne sang "The harp that once through Tara's Halls" with marked effect, and being encored gave "Home, sweet home." Miss Martin, in "She wore a wreath of roses," Miss Emily Dones, in "Kathleen Mavourneen," Mr. Henry Gordon, in "Tom Bowling," and Signor Montelli, in "The Mountebank," were heartily applauded. The programme included duets, as well as several glees, in which all the artists, with the exception of Madame Bodda-Pyne, took part.

DUBLIN.—At the inaugural meeting of the Dublin Literary and Musical Association, which took place on the 5th ult., a well-selected programme of vocal and instrumental music was performed by Miss Edmunds (whose name was inadvertently omitted from the programme), who gave a careful and artistic rendering of "The Lover and the Bird," which was warmly encored, and Miss Mahon sang the "Murmur of the Shell" with excellent effect. The programme also included quartetts, glees, and trios, all of which were well performed. Another concert by this Association is announced for an early date, at which several well-chosen choruses will be given under the direction of Mr. M. A. Browne, who will conduct for the first time on that occasion.

DURHAM.—On Saturday, the 7th ult., the Primitive Methodist Choirs of Durham and neighbouring circuits held a service of sacred song in the Wharton Park, kindly lent by J. L. Wharton, Esq., M.P. The band and chorus numbered nearly 500 performers, and was led by Mr. John Wood. The programme consisted of some choice psalm tunes, two anthems, and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus," all of which were rendered in a highly praiseworthy manner. John Bramwell, Esq., Recorder of Durham, presided; and Mr. James Hall, Principal of the Old Elvet Schools, Durham, conducted.

FALMOUTH.—A pianoforte recital was given at the exhibition of the Royal Cornwall Polytechnic Society, on Friday, the 23rd August, by Mr. Edwin Bending, a talented young pianist, of London. The programme included Weber's Rondo Brillante (Op. 62); Pauer's "La Chasse;" Thalberg's "Home, sweet home;" and Sydney Smith's arrangement of "Com' è gentil," for the left hand, all of which were given with excellent executive power. The performer's delicacy of touch was well displayed in two of Mendelssohn's "Lieder ohne Worte," Nos. 1 in E and 4 in A, and Dupont's "Toccatella." The instrument used was one exhibited by Messrs. Parker and Smith, of Plymouth, constructed with their new patent sounding-board; to which the first-class prize medal of the Society has been awarded. Previous to the recital a lecture was delivered by Mr. Robert Smith, the inventor of this sounding-board, on "The History and Construction of the Pianoforte," in which he showed by what means his patent rendered the pianoforte more capable of sustaining its tone or of "singing" a legato melody.

GUISBOROUGH.—An open-air concert was given on the 16th ult., in the Priory Gardens, kindly lent for the occasion by Admiral Chaloner. The singers consisted of the Wesleyan choirs of Guisborough, Marske, Redcar, Saltburn-by-the-Sea, and Shiltern, comprising upwards of 70 performers. The proceedings commenced with the "Gloria," from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, which, on the whole, was very creditably sung. Mason's "Jerusalem, my glorious home" was rendered with great taste, as was also the "Hallelujah Chorus," from the Messiah, Mr. Thomas Clarke, organist of the Parish Church, conducted with much judgment.

HULL.—Mr. J. H. Wood gave a grand musical festival at the Mechanics' Hall, on the evenings of Thursday and Friday, the 19th and 20th ult., which proved a great success. Amongst other attractions, Mr. Bishenden sang a selection of old English ballads in excellent style, and was well received.

LEEDS.—On the occasion of the late visit of Prince Arthur, the Ode, "God Bless the Prince," the words of which were written for the occasion by Mr. Walter Maynard, and set to music by Dr. Spark, was sung at the Town Hall. The solo part was taken by Mr. Archibald Ramsden. The chorus was rendered by the Leeds Madrigal and Motet Society, and Dr. Spark played the accompaniment on the organ. The success of the composition was unquestionable. His Royal Highness expressed to the Mayor the pleasure which the music had given him, and subsequently, at the request of the Prince, the Mayor presented to him Dr. Spark. His Royal Highness shook the borough organist by the hand, and congratulated him on the very beautiful composition which had been sung in his honour.

LEICESTER.—The annual Harvest Thanksgiving Service was held in St. John's Church on the 19th ult., and was attended by a crowded congregation. The church was, as usual on these occasions, very prettily and appropriately decorated. The choir was strengthened by the addition of the choirs of St. Matthew's, St. Andrew's, and St. Paul's, and part of St. Margaret's, and the musical portion of the service was well performed. The clergy and choir entered the church in procession, singing Hymn 223, "Hymns Ancient and Modern." The proper Psalms for the occasion, the 65th and 147th, were given to the chants "Felton" and "Monk," the "Magnificat" to "Ouseley," and the "Deus Miseretur" to "Lee." The anthem after the 3rd Collect was

"O taste and see" (Goss), which was carefully sung; the hymn before sermon 360, and after sermon 325, and the recessional hymn the "Nunc dimittis" (Russell). The first part of the service was intoned by the Vicar, and that following the anthem by the Rev. J. Mason. The first lesson was read by the Rev. G. Laugley, and the second by the Rev. G. Packer. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon Yard, rector of Ashwell, from Ecclesiastes xi. 6, "In the morning sow thy seed," &c., from which the preacher enforced perseverance in charity, and especially in connection with education. The offertory amounted to nearly £14, which is to be devoted to St. John's Sunday Schools. The concluding voluntary, finely played by the organist, Mr. E. J. Crow, Mus. Bac., was Mozart's "Splendente te Deus."

Penzance.—On Wednesday, the 18th ult., a Matinée Musicale was given in St. John's Hall by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Nunn, when an excellent selection of music was most creditably performed by several of their pupils before a large and fashionable audience. The instrumental part of the programme included Beethoven's Serenade Trio for Strings, a pianoforte Trio of Haydn's, a Quintett of Reissiger's, and Mendelssohn's Variations for Violoncello and Piano; and amongst the vocal pieces were songs by Smart, Hatton, Benedict, and other modern composers. The execution of the several pieces was of a high order, and spoke well for the concert-givers' power of training both juvenile and advanced students.

Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope.—On the 12th July Mr. Fred. Griffiths gave a concert in the Town Hall for the benefit of Captain le Gallais, whose vessel was wrecked a short time ago on this coast. Notwithstanding the continuous downpour of rain on the occasion, there was, to the honour of Port Elizabeth be it said, a very good attendance, as the receipts plainly proved. The programme was almost entirely new to the audience, a great feature being the introduction of the English concertina, which was in the highest degree successful. Amongst the most effective pieces in the programme were the songs "Clochette," "The Surprise," and "Rock'd in the cradle of the deep," and the duet "O may'st thou dream of me?" Mr. Griffiths's left-hand solo on the pianoforte was much admired and deservedly encored. The part-songs for male voices also elicited the warmest applause. It may be mentioned, in conclusion, that out of twenty one pieces no less than twelve were re-demanded.

Skelmorlie.—A concert was given in the Parish Church on Tuesday evening, the 27th August, by the members of the choir. Several choral pieces were executed with commendable care and precision. Mr. Wallace sang with much taste "Pour out thy heart," Abraham (Molique). Mr. McHutcheon was successful in a Recit. and Aria from Naomi (Dr. Chipp), and Miss Margaretta Smyth (of Glasgow) was well received in the solos "Panis Vivus" (Mozart's Litany), "With verdure clad," and "Ave Maria" (Cherubini). A Pastorale by Best and an Andante by E. Silas were well played by Mr. J. E. Senior on the organ.

Wellington, New Zealand.—The Wellington Choral Society gave its first concert of the tenth season on Thursday, the 4th July. Mozart's Twelfth Mass was wisely chosen, for this work is a great favourite here, and in this instance was successful in attracting many new subscribers. The hall was filled, many persons being compelled to stand during the performance. The solos in the Mass were rendered by Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Warren, Miss Hickson, and Messrs. Carver, Pilcher, and Widdop. The "Kyrie" went well, due attention being given to its solemn expression. The same may be said of the "Gloria," and in the "Qui tollis," the "Quoniam," the adagio and allegro were well defined. The conductor, Mr. Mowbray, with discretion, omitted "Cum sancto Spiritu," as requiring more practice and care than the time for preparation would allow. The "Et incarnatus est" was one of the gems of the piece, the solo for tenor being most effectively given, and in the solemn quartett "Crucifixus," the fixed attention of the audience, and the general applause at its finish were highly encouraging to the executants. The choir was hardly strong enough nor so fairly balanced as to render the "Et resurrexit" with that energy it requires, but it was fairly sung. The "Sanctus" was better rendered, and in the "Benedictus" the difficult and florid solos were most efficiently sung. The "Agnus Dei" was marred by the omission of the bass accompaniment. The lead in "Dona nobis" was well taken up by the alto, the chorus coming in with spirit, both band and choir giving much attention to the varied effects in this grand chorus, the piano passage before the final forte in the "Amen" being especially effective. In the second part, amongst other pieces, a violin solo from Traviata was well played by Mr. Otto Schwartz (a recent and valuable addition to the staff), and was deservedly encored. The President of the Society, Judge Johnston, made a few remarks complimenting Mr. Mowbray the conductor, Mr. Raymond, the pianist, and performers, for the successful manner in which the programme had been rendered, and congratulating the subscribers on the high position the Society had attained, as giving an earnest of future enjoyment. The audience warmly seconded his words by loud applause, and the National Anthem brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

Organ Appointments.—Mr. Edward John Sturges, Organist and Choirmaster to Holy Trinity Church, Cliftonville.——Miss Annie Hobdell (late of St. Thomas', Newton Road), to St. Clements, Nottingham Hill, W.——Mr. William C. Dyer, to the Parish Church of All Saints, Long Ashton, near Bristol.——Mr. Albert S. Norfolk, to St. George's Hospital Chapel.——Mr. Nicholas Heins (late of London), Organist and Choirmaster to the Parish Church of St. Nicholas, Hereford.——Mr. W. W. Meadows (of St. Mary's Church, Winkfield, Windsor), Organist and Director of the Choir to the Parish Church, Sunbury, S.W.——Mr. A. Rhodes, R.A.M., to Brixton Independent Church.——Mr. A. Joll (late Choirmaster and Organist of Upton Old Church, Slough), to St. John's Church, Eton.——Mr. Jacob Bradford (of St. James's, Hatcham), Organist and Choirmaster to St. Peter's, Eltham Road, Blackheath.——Mr. J. T. Field (of Christ Church, Southport), to St. German's Church, Blackheath, S.E.

DURING THE LAST MONTH,
Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

THE HYMNARY, with music, edited by Joseph Barnby. Cloth boards, white edges, price 4s.; bevelled boards, gilt lettered, red edges, 5s.

MONK, DR. E. G.—The Canticles and Hymns of the Church. Second Series. Small 4to., price 1s.

STATHAM, REV. W.—Appendix to Communion Service in G. 8vo., price 3d.

WHITE, JOHN.—Choral Service for Matins and Evensong. 8vo., 3s.

YOUNG, J. M. W.—A Festival Service, consisting of Te Deum, Benedictus and Jubilate, with an Introductory Sketch of the History and Theology of the Te Deum, by the Right Rev. the Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham. Te Deum and Sketch, 1s. Benedictus and Jubilate, 10d.

HILES, H., Mus. D.—The Magnificat, to the First Gregorian Tone. 8vo., 2d.

PEARS, REV. JAMES.—Six Hymn Tunes, chiefly for popular Hymns of peculiar Metre. Price 6d.

HILES, HENRY, Mus. D.—Like to like. Song. The words by G. J. Whyte Melville. Price 1s. 6d.
— Rest hath come. Song. Words by Leyland Leigh. Price 1s. 6d.

CARTER, HENRY.—I told you the Winter would go, love. Four-Part Song. 8vo., 2d.

HECHT, EDWARD.—The Charge of the Light Brigade. Chorus unaccompanied. 8vo., 4d.

BEST, W. T.—Arrangements from the Scores of the Great Masters. No. 92, price 2s.
Bach.—Gavotte, from the 6th Violoncello Sonata.
Bach.—Bourrée, from the 3rd ditto.
Gluck.—Gavotte. (Orphée.)
Gluck.—Gavotte. (Iphigénie.)
Handel.—Minuet. (Alexander Severus.)

SPARK, DR. W.—Organist's Quarterly Journal. Part 16.
1. March Triomphale. Alex. Guilmant.
2. Andante con moto. C. J. Hargitt.
3. Sonata in F major, Op. 82. E. Silas. (First movement Moderato.)
4. Pastorale in E Flat. Philipp Tietz.
5. Adagio (D major). Arthur Johnson.
6. Postlude (A major). H. J. Stark, F.C.O.

TO PUBLISHERS and COMPOSERS.—Mr. N. J. Petherbridge will be happy to communicate with anyone desirous of arranging his Prize Song, "The Mountaineer." 2, Elm-rd., Kingston.

IMPORTANT to SOCIETIES, ORGANISTS, and COMPOSERS.—Music neatly copied. Also Lithographic-copying cheaper than engraved. Choral music prepared; specimen. F. Wood, 32, Vincent-square, Westminster.

TO MUSICAL COMPOSERS, PRÆCENTORS, and others.—The Advertiser, who has had some practice, wishes for EMPLOYMENT as COPYIST to a Musical Composer, or to a Choir; or any similar work. Address H. Freeman, 8, Crowhurst-road, Brixton, S.W.

THE MUSICAL LIBRARY for SALE, 8 vols., folio, handsomely bound, almost new, price £2 10s. Address H. J P., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, London.

TO VIOLINISTS.—25 EASY VIOLIN DUETS, adapted for instruction or amusement, selected from the Great Masters—Bruni, Kalliwoda, Pleyel, Parry, &c., by H. Sydney Davis. London: J. Williams, 24, Berners-street, and 123, Cheapside; or free by post for 24 stamps from H. S. Davis, 55, Fore-street, E.C.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.—Novello's 8vo. Editions.—51 Copies of Gounod's "Messe Solennelle;" 42 Copies of Haydn's "Seasons" (Spring); 60 Copies of Haydn's Third Mass; as well as 80 Copies (chorus parts) of Barnet's "Ancient Mariner;" 60 Copies (chorus parts) of "The Prodigal Son." The above are all in capital condition, and may be had at half the retail price. Apply by letter to Mr. J. Ward, Grove-cottage, West-hill, Highgate.

NOVELLO'S
OCTAVO EDITION OF OPERAS.
VOLUME XVIII.

DONIZETTI'S
LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO
WITH ITALIAN AND ENGLISH WORDS, WILL BE READY ON NOVEMBER 1.

Now ready, small 4to., price 2s. 6d.

ANGLICAN PSALTER CHANTS, Single and Double, edited by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley, Bart., etc., and Edwin George Monk.

This work contains nearly 400 Chants; which are appropriated to "Venite, exultemus Domino," the Daily and Proper Psalms, &c.; those for each Service occupying a separate page and affording several Series, suitable to each daily portion of the Psalter, from which choice may be made. The Chants have been selected with especial reference to the position of the Reciting-note.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

VENI, CREATOR SPIRITUS. Set to Music by Edwin George Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon, &c.

For general or Festival use; for male voices and four-part chorus, with Organ Accompaniment. ad lib. Price 3d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE ANGLICAN CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, Edited by E. G. Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper, 1s.; cloth, 2s.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co. Oxford: Parker.

Sixth Edition.

THE ANGLICAN CHANT-BOOK, edited by E. G. Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper cover, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d. Large Edition, cloth, 4s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

OUSELEY AND MONK'S PSALTER AND CANTICLES, pointed for Chanting. Second Edition. Authorised by his Grace the Archbishop of York. 24mo., without chants, 1s.; with Proper Psalms, 1s. 3d.; Proper Psalms, separately, 3d.; small 4to., with chants, 5s.; large 4to., £1 1s.; each voice part, separately, 2s. Canticles, score, small quarto, 9d.; separate parts, 3d.; words only, 24mo., 1½d. Novello, Ewer & Co., and Parker & Co.

Ninth Edition.

JOULE'S COLLECTION OF 527 CHANTS, 57 RESPONSES, &c. Price, 5s. 6d.; sep. vocal parts, 2s. each.—Tonic Sol-fa Notation. Score, 1s. 6d.

The Chants are selected with due reference to the position of the Reciting-notes.

SUPPLEMENT to the PREVIOUS EDITIONS of the ABOVE, containing Chants for the "Venite, &c. Price 1s.

THE PSALTER, PROPER PSALMS, HYMNS and CANTICLES. Pointed for Chanting by B. St. J. B. Joule. (Large type.) Price 2s. 6d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

Seventh Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. 18mo., price 1s., in cloth, 1s. 6d.

Fourth Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. Quarto, in cloth elegant, price 7s. 6d.

Third Edition.

THE ORDER FOR THE HOLY COMMUNION, Harmonized on a Monotone in a very simple manner for Parochial use. By B. St. J. B. Joule. Price 3d. Novello, Ewer & Co.

Just Published.

CANTICLES NOTED. Second Set, by the Rev. Thomas Helmore, M.A. 18mo., 8d.; 8vo., 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.

HELMORE, REV. THOMAS.—The CANTICLES ACCENTED, 18mo., 3d.—Hymns of the Eastern Church, 4 voices, each 1s., Peace, it is I; The day is passed and over; The day of resurrection.—S. Mark's Chant Book (in daily use at the College Chapel, Chelsea), 4s. 6d.; or the same, Part I., being the main body of the work, price 3s. 6d.; and Part II., The Table of the Chants, price 1s. (useful for places where only the Canticles are chanted). Also Two "Te Deums" for Choir and People, in the alternate verses; adapted from Latin arrangements by Alfieri and Baini; vocal Score and Organ Accompaniment, price 3s. Also the People's Plain Song, separate, price 1½d. Four-part Cadences for the Holy Communion, 6d. The Carol for Christmas Morning, vocal score, 18mo. edition, 2d.; melody, 18mo., 1d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NON NOBIS DOMINE, arranged to the Corresponding English Words, by Rev. W. G. Longden, for the Use of Choral Meetings, as an Introit, or Anthem, or Grace after Meat. Price One Penny; Ninepence a dozen; or Five Shillings a hundred.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TE DEUM (new) in B flat. Harmony, unison, free organ part, &c. Highly effective. 1s. 6d.—Three Choral Hymns—"There is a blessed home," "O Love," and "Praise the Lord." Complete 1s.—Also the immensely popular arrangement of the Evening Hymn "Abide with me." Harmony and unison, with a free organ part. 1s.—Also the well-known "Six Kyries." 1s. By Edward Lawrence, Organist, Merthyr Tydfil. A very liberal discount on a dozen copies, direct from the composer. A specimen copy of either for twelve stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

CANTATE DOMINO and DEUS MISEREATUR, by G. A. Macfarren. For voices in unison and organ. Octavo, 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

TWELVE KYRIES. By G. Baker. Price Sixpence, and post-free. G. Baker, 19, Westgate, Wakefield.

THE OFFICE of HOLY COMMUNION. Set to music by the Rev. E. B. Whyley, M.A. 8vo., price 1s. 6d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE NICENE CREED, in G major, for Voices and Organ, by William Blakeley, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Folio score. 1s. 6d. net; a liberal discount allowed to choirs. To be had of the author, Warrengate, Wakefield.

THE QUARTER CHIME, or 15 Original Hymn Tunes (with words), by I. Clarke. Price 1s. 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Leeds: Hopkinson Brothers, Commercial-street. Doncaster: Meacock and Son. Or of the Author, 51, Spring-gardens.

FOUR HYMNS—"Jerusalem the Golden," "Hark! the glad sound," "Lo, He comes," and "Sun of my soul" (prize tune). Set to music by Joseph Sherwood. Price 6d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co. York: H. Banks.

ELEVENTH EDITION.

"The air once heard haunts the memory."—Church Opinion.

MARCH OF THE CHORISTERS. Net 1s. 6d.—"To write a really good and striking March is by no means an easy task. Mr. Allen's subjects are bold and suggestive."—Illustrative Review. "Evidently by one who thinks before he writes."—Queen. "Its freshness will make it a favourite."—Weekly Times. Novello & Co.

EASY ANTHEMS for VILLAGE CHOIRS. By W. H. Gill. 2d. each. Nos. 1 to 6 now ready.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A Specimen Copy, post free for Stamps to the value.

"I DID CALL UPON THE LORD." Full Anthem for Four Voices, by T. Mee Pattison. Price 4d.

"A capital anthem for ordinary choirs; well written, and possesses plenty of variety. A little verse piece in the middle of it is effective, and a spirited fughetta brings it to a satisfactory conclusion."—Musical Standard.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE ANTHEM (double number). 3d.

THE STORMY PETREL (Tenor and Bass Solos, double number), 3d.

THE IRONFOUNDERS (double number). 3d.

All W. W. Pearson's Glees may be had of Novello, Ewer and Co., London, and Pearson, Brampton, Rotherham.

TO SCHOOLS, COLLEGES, &c.

"HARK! 'TIS THE BREEZE OF TWILIGHT CALLING." Duet—Soprano and Tenor, or Two Soprani, 4s. Also Solo—Arranged as a Song for a Single Voice, in a lower key, 4s. Sold at half price. Sung by Her Grace the Duchess of Newcastle, Madlle. Tietjens, Miss Banks, Mr. Sims Reeves, Mr. Tom Hohler, and Mr. W. H. Cummings.

Opinions of the Press.

"There is a beautiful duet, 'Hark! 'tis the breeze,' which may be sung by young ladies' or boys' voices, and would be well worth introducing into our schools and colleges."—The Dublin Review.

"The gem of the Oratorio—a duet for soprano and tenor, 'Hark! 'tis the breeze,' in which the voice parts are treated in canon."—Times.

"A charming duet, entitled, 'Hark! 'tis the breeze of twilight calling,' was enthusiastically encored."—Morning Advertiser.

"The most melodious and completely-finished composition is the canon, 'Hark! 'tis the breeze of twilight calling,' and this was encored with well-bestowed enthusiasm."—Daily Telegraph.

"The really charming duet, 'Hark! 'tis the breeze of twilight calling,' produced a most spontaneous and enthusiastic encore."—Standard.

"A graceful duet in form of canon, 'Hark! 'tis the breeze of twilight calling,' one of the most charming pieces in the Oratorio, was unanimously encored."—The London Review.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

To Choral Societies.

GOUNOD'S new "Te Deum;" Clay's new Patriotic Part-song, "Flag of our Ancestors;" Gounod's arrangement of Russian Hymn (with original pastoral interlude); and "March of the Men of Harlech;" in one book, price 1s. 6d., nett. The "Te Deum" separate, 1s.

"The Te Deum is one of the finest inspirations of the French composer."—Athenæum.

To Teachers and the Principals of Schools.

NEW PIANOFORTE COMPOSITIONS for YOUNG PLAYERS.

First Series, price 2s. 6d. each.

1. ON THE WATER. 2. IN THE WOODS.
3. AMONG THE HILLS.

Second Series, price 3s. each.

1. O PISCATOR, and BELIEVE ME IF ALL.
2. LA GITANA.
3. HOME, SWEET HOME.
4. THE GAZELLE.
5. CHERRY RIPE.
6. THE GYPSY (Bohemian Air).
7. THE SPRING BIRD'S POLKA. By R. F. Harvey.
8. THE WOODLAND STREAM VALSE. By H. Gothard.

All at half-price.

"Mr. Goddard deserves the best thanks alike of pianoforte teachers and pupils, and every school should introduce this series of pieces to the pupils."—Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine.

Goddard and Co., 4, Argyll-place, Regent-street.

ROHNER'S widely-popular ART of SINGING, free by post for 24 stamps. "As an elementary work we have seen nothing within the same compass which is more explicit and intelligible, and more judiciously progressive. It presents the 'art of singing' reduced to its elements, and the method will be of vast assistance to teachers and heads of schools who desire that instruction in the vocal art shall be thorough and at the same time easy and pleasing."—Vide the Western Daily Press.—Sole publishers, Robert Cocks and Co., New Burlington-street.

O, YE TEARS. The Elegant Song by FRANZ ABT. Arranged for Four Voices, with Piano Accompaniment, by the Composer. Price 1s.; net free by post. "This will be welcomed by every lover of part-music."—Vide Orchestra.

HOME TREASURES, a choice selection of popular Melodies, arranged and fingered for the Pianoforte, by WILLIAM SMALLWOOD, 2s. 6d. each, free by post at half-price.

Far Away.	What are the Wild Waves saying?
The Flower Gatherers.	The Gipsy Countess.
Fading Away.	The Bridge.
Home they brought.	Excelsior.

"These are simple, and, at the same time, effective arrangements for the Pianoforte, of well-known airs. They will be most acceptable to young students, who will make considerable progress by their means in an agreeable manner. Teachers will also find them useful and attractive."—Vide Orchestra.

London: Sole publishers, ROBERT COCKS and CO., New Burlington-street; order of all Musicsellers.

NEW COMPOSITIONS,

BY

J. FAURE.

THE STAR.

Sonnet. The words translated from the French of Camille du Locle, by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

THE KING AND THE MINSTREL.

Song. The words translated from the French of V. Prilleux, by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

I LOVE THE SPLENDOUR OF THE NIGHT.

Song. The words translated by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

MARCH ONWARD.

Song. Translated from the French of J. Chantepie, by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

FAR FROM THEE.

Song. The words translated from the French of Jean Jaques Rousseau. 4s.

THE OLD YEAR.

Song. Written by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

O'ER ALL THE MOUNTAIN.

Song. Written by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

SANCTA MARIA.

The words translated by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.
(Sung by Madame Adelina Patti.)

SANCTA MARIA.

With the original French words. 3s.

THE SON OF THE PROPHET.

Song. Words translated by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 3s.

WHEREFORE.

Canzonette. Translated from the French of Victor Hugo, by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

REAPER'S SONG.

The words translated from the French of P. de Chazot, by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D. 4s.

SIGHS.

Canzonette. The words translated by E. R. 3s.

O SALUTARIS (O Saving Victim).

Motett for Soprano or Tenor Solo and Chorus. 4s.

AVE MARIA (Save, Lord, and hear us.)

Motett for Soprano or Tenor Solo, with Chorus. 4s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: 751, Broadway.

German Volkslieder Album.

FORTY SONGS,

With the original words, and an English version, by JOHN OXENFORD.

Complete, in One Volume, octavo, 6s. net.

No.	OR, SINGLY:—	s.	d.
1	Sir Ulrich—Herr Ulrich	2	0
2	The Watchman—Wächterruf	2	0
3	The Switzer Boy—Der Schweitzerbu	1	0
4	Bavarian Song—Bairisches Volksliedchen	1	0
5	The Three Roses—Die drei Röselein	2	0
6	Present in thought—Das Gedenken	2	0
7	The pains of love—Leibesqual	1	0
8	Good night—Gut Nacht	1	0
9	The faithless one—Untreue	1	0
10	All over—Zu End'	1	0
11	A bitter parting—Herber abschied	1	0
12	Absence—Der traurige Bua	1	0
13	The lover's flight—Flug der Liebe	1	0
14	Happy Days—Glückliche Zeit	1	0
15	The Mountain Maiden—Abschied von der Heimath	2	0
16	A Song to Spring—Frühlingslied	2	0
17	Constancy—So viel Stern'	2	0
18	Lovers' Quarrel—Das gestörte Glück	2	0
19	Complaint—Des Mädchens Klage	2	0
20	The coy maiden—Herzig Schatzerl	2	0
21	Oft at her cottage door—Hab' oft die ganze Nacht	2	0
22	A Song of the Styrian Alps—Steyermärker's Alpenlied	2	0
23	The Sentinel—Treue Soldatenliebe	2	0
24	Cradle Song—Wiegenlied	2	0
25	A short farewell—Abschied	2	0
26	Soldier's love—Soldatenliebe	2	0
27	My Dearest, my Darling—Mei herzig's Dierndel	2	0
28	A light possession—Leicht Gepäck	2	0
29	From the Dachstein's height—Hoch vom Dachstein an	1	0
30	On the Alma—Auf der Alma	1	0
31	The Tyrolese and his child—Der Tyroler und sein Kind	2	0
32	Soft gale of the evening—Willkommen, o seliger Abend	2	0
33	Wanderer's Song—Wanderlied	2	0
34	Lonely—Mutterseelen-allein	2	0
35	Thuringian Volkslied—Thüringisch	1	0
36	The Lurley—Loreley	1	0
37	Annie of Tharau—Aennchen von Tharau	2	0
38	A Lament—In einem kühlen Grunde	2	0
39	May Breezes—S Mailüfterl	2	0
40	Farewell—Lebewohl	1	0

 The Separate Songs are sold at half-price.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.
New York: 751, Broadway.

NOVELLO, EWER & CO.'S COLLECTION OF

Schumann's Songs,

WITH ENGLISH AND GERMAN WORDS.

In One Volume, octavo, 6s. net.

No.	OR, SINGLY,	s.	d.
1	Blondel's Song—Blondel's Lied	3	0
2	The Walnut Tree—Der Nussbaum	2	6
3	Moonlight—Mondnacht	2	6
4	A holiday on the Rhine—Sonntags am Rhein	2	6
5	The hat of green—Volksliedchen	2	0
6	The joys of home—Ich wand're nicht	2	0
7	Poor Peter—Der arme Peter	3	0
8	A flow'ret thou resemblest—Du bist wie eine Blume	1	6
9	O sunny beam—An den Sonnenschein	2	0
10	A poet's love—Ich grolle nicht	2	0
11	Devotion—Widmung	2	0
12	Wanderer's song—Wanderlied	2	6
13	A spring night—Frühlingsnacht	2	0
14	Since mine eyes beheld him—Seit ich ihn gesehen	2	0
15	The noblest—Der Herrlichste	3	0
16	A vision—Ein Traum	2	0
17	One only!—Nur eine!	2	0
18	Love—Liebe	1	6
19	In May—Im Mai	1	6
20	The two Grenadiers—Die beiden Grenadiere	3	0
21	Thy lovely face—Dein Angesicht	2	0
22	Beauteous cradle—Schöne Wiege	3	0
23	Emotion—Die Stille	2	0
24	A red red rose—Rothes Röslein	2	0
25	Deep treasur'd in my heart—Intermezzo	1	6
26	A ride in the wood—Waldesgespräch	2	0
27	Evening Song—Abendlied	2	0
28	Drinking Song—Trinklied	1	6
29	The Lotosflower—Die Lotosblume	1	6
30	My Cottage—Die Hütte	2	0

 The Separate Songs are sold at half-price.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.
New York: 751, Broadway.

PLACIDA: THE CHRISTIAN MARTYR.

SACRED CANTATA.

DEDICATED, BY SPECIAL PERMISSION, TO H.R.H. THE PRINCESS MARY OF TECK.

BY WILLIAM CARTER.

Vocal Score (with Photograph of Paul Delaroche's famous picture), 3s.; bound in cloth, 5s.; Choruses only, 1s. Separate Chorus and Orchestral Parts are also printed.

This work was performed with unprecedented success at the Royal Albert Hall with 1000 performers, on December 5th, 1871, January 18th, February 8th, March 7th, and April 13th, and with 3000 performers at the Crystal Palace on July 8th, 1872. It has also been performed by the Fitzwilliam Society at Cambridge, by the Wells Cathedral Association, and numerous other provincial Societies.

The following are selected from some of the Press Criticisms:—

"The solos are well written for the principal characters, and the choruses show skill in choral effects."—Standard, Dec. 6th, 1871.

"The composer of 'Placida' is evidently a clever man upon whom pains will not be wasted. His cleverness no one can doubt who examines this work and notes the ingenious passages and devices with which it abounds."—Daily Telegraph, Jan. 20th.

"Mr. Carter has placed himself by this talented composition among the first English composers."—Weekly Times. Dec. 10th, 1871.

"Mr. Carter appears to have a large acquaintance with the sacred works of the acknowledged masters, with a general preference for those of Mendelssohn and Spohr. Some of the pieces are smoothly written, and several were well received, particularly an air, 'There is a gem,' for Placida, a duet, 'O magnify the Lord' (encored), Metellus' air, 'List to me,' a Processional March, cleverly played on the organ by Mr. G. Carter; and a Chorus of Angels for female voices (the last two encored)."—Illustrated London News, Dec. 9th, 1871.

"This Cantata is replete with melody and harmony, and will rank among the best productions of the present day."—Court Journal, Dec. 8th, 1871.

"A work able to fill on two occasions the largest Concert Hall in the world, is, so to speak, taken out of the critic's hands to become at once the property of the public. The vast audience sat to the end without a sign of impatience, listening with evident enjoyment, and applauding nearly every number."—Sunday Times, Jan. 21st.

"Mr. Carter's music excited the enthusiasm of his chorus, a body of highly respectable amateurs. It was apparent that they really enjoyed 'Placida,' and sang it all with good spirit and the best intention. The audience evidently liked the Cantata, and evinced their satisfaction fairly and freely."—Orchestra, Dec. 8th, 1871.

"The first chorus 'Gracious and righteous' at once shows that Mr. Carter has taken Handel for his model rather than Mendelssohn, the influence of whom is so strong on our young composers. Smoothly written as are most of the choruses, the vocal parts melodious and interesting for the many suspensions and other contrapuntal devices, we feel the work has a flavour of our English cathedral writers, quite refreshing after some of the modern, extravagant, restless music that one so often hears."—Musical Standard, Dec. 8th, 1871.

"Mr. Carter shows in his work much learning and skill, and won the hearty praises of a large proportion of his audience."—Builder, Dec. 8th, 1871.

"There is great care and forethought evidenced throughout the structure of the Cantata, and there are signs of dramatic power, for Mr. Carter always chooses his colours with judgment. The duet, 'O magnify the Lord,' has the Bach manner with the modern freedom of melody. The fugue in the chorus, 'God's mercy is on them that fear Him,' is written carefully and contains one or two clever stretto points. Another excellent device is a second exposition with the subject of the duet sustained alone by the solo voices. Mr. W. Carter's work does him infinite credit as an artist, and will be found of interest by our Choral Societies."—Choir, Dec. 9th, 1871.

"We must commend Mr. Carter in a point where so many new composers fail. He has written several recitatives which are not only melodious and dramatic, but display the voices to great advantage, and in some of the choruses there is a certain richness and freedom which proves Mr. Carter had carefully studied the art of producing effect by this means."—Era, Dec. 10th, 1871.

"The real strength is in the choruses and concerted pieces. In the chorus, 'God's mercy is on them that fear Him,' we have some really effective writing, the fugue especially being well wrought out, and the double chorus, 'O that men would praise the Lord,' may also be cited as a composition worthy of praise."—Musical Times, Feb. 18th, 1872.

"Placida" will be performed for the Sixth time at the Royal Albert Hall, on the 6th February, 1873, also at the Eyre Arms, St. John's Wood, on the 20th November, 1872, and in several provincial towns during the season.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).
NEW YORK: 751, BROADWAY.

Where may be had all Mr. William Carter's Compositions.

MR. WILLIAM CARTER'S CHOIR.—ROYAL ALBERT HALL.

Six Grand Oratorio Performances will be given at the Royal Albert Hall on Thursday Evenings, November 7th, Elijah; December 12th, Athalie and "I love the Lord;" January 2nd, Messiah; February 6th, Stabat Mater and Placida; March 6th, Samson; and April 3rd, Creation.

Members who have not received tickets, and Ladies and Gentlemen wishing to assist, are requested to attend at 23, Colville Square, Notting Hill, on Saturday Evening, the 5th inst., after 7 o'clock.

In Three Volumes, cloth, 7s. 6d. each; or in Twenty-seven Books, at 1s. each.

Short Voluntaries for the Organ,

Arranged by John Hiles.

NO PIECE IN THIS COLLECTION OCCUPIES MORE THAN FOUR MINUTES IN PERFORMANCE.

Contents of Volume One.

BOOK I.

Largo. Op. 37 ... . Spohr
Allegretto. Op. 47 ... ... Hesse
Panis vivus. Litania de Venerabile Sacramentum ... ... Mozart
March. Joshua ... ... Handel
Andante. Op. 84 ... ... Hesse
Andante ... ... Long
Voluntary, Largo. Book 4, No. 12 Handel
Andante con moto e sostenuto. Quartett, Op. ... ... Onslow
Romanza, Larghetto cantabile. Op. 11 Geissler
Menuetto, Andante affettuoso Geminiani

BOOK II.

Ariosо ... ... J. A. Müller
Larghetto ... ... J. A. Müller
Largo e Piano. 4th Grand Concerto Handel
Larghetto. 5th Organ Concerto ... Handel
Larghetto. La Contemplazione, Op. 107 Hummel
Andante grazioso ... ... Hummel
Aria. Op. 63 ... ... J. B. Cramer
Largo ... ... J. A. Müller
Adagio ... ... Rink
Andante cantabile. Concerto ... Mozart

BOOK III.

Air, Larghetto ... ... Handel
Largo sostenuto ... ... Abel
Andante grazioso ... ... Rink
There is a river ... ... Marcello
Cantabile. Sonata ... ... Mozart
Largo. Overture to Artaxerxes Dr. Arne
Andante con espressione ... Gluck
Larghetto. Sonata ... ... Mozart
Andante cantabile. Trio, No. 3, Op. 1 Beethoven
Andante supplichevole ... ... Himmel
Benedictus. 1*st Mass, Op.* 77 Hummel

BOOK IV.

Agnus Dei. Mass ... ... G. A. Naumann
Siciliano con espressione ... ... Long
Minuet. Saul ... ... Handel
Largo. Sonata ... ... Haydn
Larghetto. Sonata ... ... Mozart
Organ Piece—Larghetto ... Max Keller
Organ Piece—Andante ... ... Max Keller
Largo. Sonata ... ... Defesch

BOOK V.

Wiegenlied ... ... Spohr
Andantino ... ... Spohr
Ancient melody (A.D. 1659) ... Lawes
Air—Andante con espressione assai Rousseau
Andante, "The Enchantress" ... Weber
Allegretto, Chorus. Les Deux Journées Cherubini
Volkslied ... ... Weber
Wir nahte mir der Schlummer. Der Freischütz ... ... Weber
Andante con moto. Fantasia Mendelssohn
Ancient Hymn, "Alla Trinita Beata" Laudi Spirituali, A.D. 1545 ...

BOOK VI.

Romance. Euryanthe ... ... Weber
Andante. Trio, Op. 22 ... Hummel
Organ Piece—Andantino ... J. H. Knecht
Organ Piece—Vivace ... J. H. Knecht
Organ Piece—Andantino ... J. H. Knecht
Andante cantabile. Trio, Op. 97 Beethoven
Ah! how fast our joys ... Mendelssohn
Lied ohne worte—Moderato. Op. 19 Mendelssohn
Original Air. Op. 1 ... ... Weber

BOOK VII.

Adagio cantabile. Trio, Op. 1, No. 1 Beethoven
Organ Piece—Andante ... J. H. Knecht
Organ Piece—Un poco Adagio J. H. Knecht
Poco adagio affettuoso. Sonata, Op. 8 G. F. Pinto
Andante con moto. Divertimento, Op. 88 Weber
Serenade. Op. 44 ... ... Mendelssohn
Andante con espressione. Sonata Clementi

BOOK VIII.

Swedish melody ... ...
Andante. Trio, Op. 40 ... Reissiger
Sonntagslied ... ... Mendelssohn
Andantino grazioso. Trio, Op. 77 Reissiger
Schönes Mädchen. Jessonda ... Spohr
Andantino, Sonata, Op. 45 ... Reissiger
Romance ... ... Hummel
Organ Piece—Cantabile un poco adagio J. H. Knecht Spanish Romance. Op. 8 Mendelssohn

BOOK IX.

Andante. Op. 13 ... ... Hummel
Lied ohne worte—Andante. Op. 38 Mendelssohn
Siciliano. Quartett, Op. 138 ... Reissiger
Andantino ... ... Weber
Adagio. Quartett, Op. 58 ... ... Spohr
Andante ... ... Hummel
Volkslied. Op. 47 ... Mendelssohn
Aria—Andantino ... ... Kiesewetter

Contents of Volume Two.

BOOK X.

To God on high. Chorale ... Mendelssohn
Kyrie eleison. Mass No. 3 Mozart
Andante grazioso e con moto. Sonata, Op. 37 ... ... Fr. Lauska
Plena orgies. Judas Maccabæus Handel
March. Occasional Oratorio ... Handel
Andante con moto. Sonata Op. 12, Beethoven
Poco adagio. 5th Quartett ... Haydn
Organ Piece—Larghetto ... Max Keller
Agnus Dei. Mass No. 1 ... Mozart
Larghetto con espressione. 3rd Concerto Dussek
Entsagung—Resignation ... Mendelssohn

BOOK XI.

Allegretto. Sonata in style of Handel Mozart
Agnus Dei. Mass No. 14 ... Mozart
Thème. Op. 8 ... ... H. Herz
Panis Omnipotentia ... ... Mozart
A pieni voti. La Gazza Ladra ... Rossini
Air—Semplice e con molto espressione Haydn
Andante grazioso. Sonata Op. 30 Fr. Lauska
Andante. Trio, Op. 83 ... Hummel
Prelude—Largo ... A. Lefébure-Wely
Andante. Sonata, Op. 45 ... Mendelssohn
Angels ever bright and fair ... Handel
Organ Piece—Andante ... Max Keller

BOOK XII.

Andante consolante quasi allegretto. Sonata, Op. 70 ... ... Weber
Holy, holy. Redemption ... ... Handel
Andante con moto. Quartett ... J. C. Lobe
Jerusalem. St. Paul ... Mendelssohn
Aria patetica ... ... Hummel
March ... ... Couperin
Sanctus. Mass No. 14 ... Mozart
Dona nobis. Mass No. 1 ... ... Mozart
Organ Piece—Allegretto ... Max Keller

BOOK XIII.

Larghetto ... ... Hummel
Sostenuto con espressione. Quartett Op. 50 ... ... F. Kuhlau
Andante. Sonata Op. 37 ... D. Steibelt
Andante. Symphony No. 3 ... Mozart
Les Soupirs du Berger. Trio, Op 63 Weber
Organ Piece—Poco adagio ... André
Lord, remember David ... ... Handel
Benedictus. Mass No. 17 ... Mozart
Dona nobis pacem. Mass No. 14 ... Mozart
Hymn ... ... Donizetti

BOOK XIV.

Andante. 5th Quartett, Op. 9 Mayseder
Adagio maestoso. Sonata Op. 20 Hummel
Sanctus. Mass No. 3 ... ... Mozart
Hosanna, Mass No. 3 ... ... Mozart
Quoniam tu solus. Mass No. 12 ... Mozart
Lord, what is man? Semele ... Handel
Fac ut portem. Stabat Mater ... Rossini
Larghetto. Concerto, Op. 61 Beethoven
Benedictus. Mass No. 12 ... Mozart

BOOK XV.

Organ Piece—Larghetto ... Max Keller
Et vitam venturi. Mass No. 3 ... Mozart
Adagio. Nonetto ... ... Spohr
March, Palestine ... ... Dr. Crotch
Andante molto cantabile ed espressivo Sonata, Op. 109 ... ... Beethoven
But Thou didst not leave. Messiah Handel
Kyrie eleison. Mass No. 12 ... Mozart
Sanctus. Mass No. 12 ... ... Mozart
Adagio. Quartett, Op. 1 Mendelssohn

BOOK XVI.

Organ Piece—Adagio. Op. 25 Julius André
What tho' I trace. Solomon ... Handel
Andante. Quartett, Op. 13 Mendelssohn
Kyrie eleison. Mass No. 17 ... Mozart
March. Overture to Ptolemy ... Handel
Credo. 1*st Mass* ... ... Mozart
Andante cantabile. Jupiter Symphony Mozart
Air. Op. 22 ... ... Weber
Andante quasi allegretto. Quartett, Op. 9, No. 3 ... ... Onslow
Organ Piece—Adagio ... ... Rink

BOOK XVII.

Aria—Siciliano ... ... T. Attwood
Largo. Concerto, Op. 15 ... Beethoven
Canzonet ... ... Haydn
Benedictus. Requiem ... Mozart
Hosanna in excelsis. Requiem ... Mozart
Pastorale ... ... J. Hiles
I know that my Redeemer liveth Handel
Adagio. Quartett, Op. 4 ... Spohr
O quam suavis ... ... Mendelssohn
Organ Piece—Adagio ... Julius André

BOOK XVIII.

Qui tollis. Mass No. 12 ... ... Mozart
Et incarnatus. Mass No. 14 ... Mozart
Andante—Organ Fantasia ... ... Freyer
Organ Piece—Larghetto ... Max Keller
The Farewell. Op. 50 ... Mendelssohn
Departure. Op. 59 ... Mendelssohn
Quoniam tu solus. Mass No. 3 ... Mozart
Andante. Quartett, Op. 4 ... Spohr
Achieved is the glorious work ... Haydn
Organ Piece—Adagio ... ... Rink

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).

NEW VOLUME.

Short Voluntaries

FOR THE ORGAN.

ARRANGED BY JOHN HILES.

Vol. III., bound in cloth, 7s. 6d.; in Nine Books, 1s. each

Book XIX.

Andante (from a Quartett, Op. 81)	Mendelssohn
I laid me down and slept (from an Anthem)	Dr. S. S. Wesley
Blessed are they that dwell in Thy house	B. Tours
Air	Lindpaintner
A Hymn of Faith	J. Barnby
Hear us, O Saviour (From the Motett, "O come near to the cross")	Ch. Gounod
Lord, let us hear (Athalie)	Mendelssohn

Book XX.

Lord God of Abraham (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Cast thy burden (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
The Lord thy God (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
All ye who weep	Ch. Gounod
Veni Sancte Spiritus (Graduale)	Abbé Vogler
Holy, holy, Quartett and Chorus (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Ave Maria	Abt. Jungmann
Strengthen ye the weak hands (Jephtha)	Carl Reinthaler
Lead me, O Lord (Abraham)	B. Molique
Let the whole earth	Dr. S. S. Wesley

Book XXI.

Glorious stand the mountains (Jephtha)	Reinthaler
For in the wilderness	Dr. S. S. Wesley
O pray for the peace	E. H. Thorne
Then shall the earth	Dr. S. S. Wesley
March (Abraham)	B. Molique
He maketh me to lie down	Oskar Bolck

Book XXII.

When Israel out of Egypt (Jephtha)	Reinthaler
Organ Piece	Max Keller
We march, we march to victory	Dr. H. Hiles
The Lord is my Shepherd	Oskar Bolck
King all glorious	J. Barnby
For He, the Lord our God (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Largo (from a Sonata)	Haydn

Book XXIII.

And the ransomed of the Lord	Sir John Goss
O rest in the Lord (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
O sing to God (Noël)	Ch. Gounod
Mark how the mother (Noël)	Ch. Gounod
Be not afraid (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
And sorrow and sighing shall flee away	Dr. S. S. Wesley
Lied ohne worte (from Op. 102)	Mendelssohn
Then shall the righteous (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Introductory Voluntary	J. Schlute
Hymn	M. Haydn

Book XXIV.

I will lay me down in peace	Dr. H. Hiles
Let your light so shine	J. Barnby
O let your songs be of Him	Sir G. Elvey
Andante (from a Fantasia, Op. 28)	Mendelssohn
Rend your heart	J. B. Calkin
To the Lord our God	J. B. Calkin
He watching over Israel (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
O Lord my God (Solomon's Prayer)	Dr. S. S. Wesley
But Thy right hand	A. S. Sullivan

Book XXV.

I was glad	Sir G. Elvey
Word of God incarnate (Ave Verum)	Ch. Gounod
O taste and see, how gracious the Lord is	Sir John Goss
Look down on us (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Lift thine eyes (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Blessed are the merciful	Dr. H. Hiles
O Lord, how manifold	J. Barnby

Book XXVI.

Blessed is the man (Abraham)	B. Molique
He that shall endure (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Remember now thy Creator	Dr. Steggall
For we know	Dr. S. S. Wesley
Blessed is the man	J. Barnby
If with all your hearts (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
O come every one that thirsteth	Mendelssohn
The Lord will wipe away	Dr. H. Hiles

Book XXVII.

Andante (from a "Clavier-Stuck")	F. Schubert
It is enough (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Come unto Him	Ch. Gounod
For He shall give His angels charge	Mendelssohn
Baal, we cry to thee (Elijah)	Mendelssohn
Sweet is Thy mercy	J. Barnby
Hearts feel that love Thee (Athalie)	Mendelssohn
As for me, I will come	Dr. S. S. Wesley

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.
New York: 751, Broadway.

NOVELLO'S
ORIGINAL OCTAVO EDITION OF OPERAS.

Edited, Corrected according to the Original Scores, and Translated into English, by Natalia Macfarren.

Price 2s. 6d.; or handsomely bound in scarlet cloth, gilt edges, 4s.

NOW READY.

BEETHOVEN'S FIDELIO,
(With German and English words.)
With the two great overtures as usually performed; being the only Pianoforte Score that has been published agreeing with the original score as to the notes and signs for phrasing.

AUBER'S FRA DIAVOLO,
(With French and English words.)
Various portions of this opera are now printed for the first time in England, making this the only English Pianoforte Score which agrees with the Composer's original score.

MOZART'S DON GIOVANNI,
(With Italian and English words.)
This edition contains all the Recitatives, and is the only Pianoforte Score which agrees with the Author's MS., as to the notes, signs for phrasing and expression, and the stage directions: in every one of these particulars there are many new and important lights thrown upon the work.

BELLINI'S NORMA,
(With Italian and English words.)

VERDI'S IL TROVATORE,
(With Italian and English words.)

DONIZETTI'S LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR,
(With Italian and English words.)

WEBER'S OBERON,
With the English words by J. R. Planché, and Italian words as sung at Her Majesty's Opera.

ROSSINI'S IL BARBIERE,
With the Music of the Recitatives, being the only complete Cheap Edition. With Italian and English words.

DONIZETTI'S LUCREZIA BORGIA,
(With Italian and English words.)

MOZART'S LE NOZZE DI FIGARO,
With the Music of the Recitatives, being the only complete Cheap Edition. With Italian and English words.

VERDI'S RIGOLETTO,
(With Italian and English words.)

BELLINI'S LA SONNAMBULA,
(With Italian and English words.)

WEBER'S DER FREISCHÜTZ.
(With German and English words.)

WAGNER'S TANNHÆUSER.
(With German and English words.)

AUBER'S MASANIELLO.
(With French and English words.) Price 3s. 6d.; bound, 5s.

BELLINI'S I PURITANI.
(With Italian and English words.)

WAGNER'S LOHENGRIN.
(With German and English words.)

DONIZETTI'S
LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO.
(With Italian and English words.)

To be continued Monthly.

The following Operas are in course of preparation:—
VERDI'S LA TRAVIATA.
ROSSINI'S GUILLAUME TELL.

Specimen Pages may be had gratis of the Publishers.

Subscribers' Names will be received by the Publishers, Novello, Ewer, and Co., 1, Berners Street, and 35, Poultry, London; New York: 751, Broadway; or by all Music and Booksellers in the Country.

INSTRUCTION BOOKS FOR THE ORGAN.

W. T. BEST.

The Art of Organ Playing, (Part I.) Practically Illustrated from the first rudiments to the highest difficulties of the Instrument; both in its use as an Accompaniment to the different styles of Church Music, as well as in the various purposes of the employment of the Organ as a Solo Instrument. Price 6s.

The Art of Organ Playing. Part II., price 12s., being Studies for the Pedal, with many illustrations from the works of Bach, and other Organ Composers; shewing how passages of special difficulty are to be played.

The first part of "The Art of Organ Playing" dealt merely with those peculiarities of Touch and Fingering in which the mode of performance on the keyboard of an Organ differs from that of a Pianoforte; but the characteristic of Organ music is, that it demands the simultaneous use of both Hands and Feet; a matter involving a different employment of the Left Hand, which does not play the Bass, as in Pianoforte music, except where the Pedal part ceases for the moment. A proper manner of playing all those passages assigned to the Pedal is as important a study, in its way, as a correct method of Fingering, as applied to a keyed instrument. The present exercises have specially in view that opposed motion of the Left Hand to the Pedal part, which constitutes one of the principal difficulties to be overcome by an Organ-player; as the practice of mere passages for the Pedals, unaccompanied by the use of the Hands, will never enable a student to obtain the requisite facility. The manner of combining the various stops, and employing the different key-boards of an Organ is also taught throughout the work, each study having directions for the use of those registers which are calculated to give it the best effect.

For Contents see Novello's Catalogue, No. 1 and 2, which may be had gratis, or post-free for two stamps.

JOHN HILES.

A Progressive Introduction to Playing the Organ, consisting of Fifty-five Preludes, Fugues, Airs, &c., in two, three, and four parts, from the works of Dr. Arne, A. W. Bach, Barthélémon, Dr. Callcott, Cherubini, Clementi, Corelli, Dussek, Fenoglio, Graun, Dr. Greene, Handel, M. Haydn, Herz, Keeble, Keisewetter, Max Keller, Knecht, Lauska, Lawes, Mendelssohn Bartholdy, Müller, Naumann, Novello, Paganini, Pergolesi, Pinto, Reber, Reissiger, Richardson, Rink, Rousseau, Scarlatti, F. Schneider, Steibelt, Weber, Werner, and Winter; to which is added some account of the Instrument itself; a notice of its various Stops, and the manner of combining them; with Directions and Exercises for the use of the Pedals. 10s. 6d.

NEUKOMM.

Elementary Method for the Organ or Harmonium, containing special instructions for the manner of blowing, the touch, fingering and the proper expression of the Harmonium, with a great number of Examples and Progressive Exercises, and Thirty detached Pieces for the Organ, together with complete directions for the management of the stops on the Organ and the use of the Pedals: followed by Exercises and Studies, which will enable the learner to encounter the difficulties presented by the Pedal Pieces of the immortal John Sebastian Bach. Price 10s. 6d.

RINK.

Practical Organ School, carefully revised, with the German directions and terms translated into English, and the pedal part printed on a separate staff. The whole edited by W. T. Best. Oblong folio edition. Price 20s., or in Six Books, 4s. each.

Preface.

Part I., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 1 to 12.—Short and Easy Pieces in Two parts.
„ 13 to 24.— „ „ Three parts.
„ 25 to 36.— „ „ Four parts.
„ 37 to 66.—Preludes in all the Major and Minor Keys.

Part II., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 67 to 132.—Exercises for the Pedals.
„ 133 to 144.—Twelve Chorales, or well-known German Psalm Tunes, with Variations.

Part III., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 145 to 159.—Fifteen Easy Postludes, or Concluding Voluntaries, in the Fugue Style.

Part IV., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 160 to 174.—Fifteen Postludes, or Concluding Voluntaries for Alternate Manuals, in the Fugue Style.

Part V., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 175 to 181.—Seven Preludes and Fugues.
„ 182.—The Flute Concerto.
„ 183.—Variations on "Heil dir im Sieges Kranz," or, "God save the Queen."

Part VI., price 4s., contains—

Nos. 184 to 192.—Nine Preludes and Fugues.
„ 193 & 194.—Fantasia and Fugue.

SCHNEIDER.

Complete Theoretical and Practical Organ School, containing Instructions for playing the Organ, with numerous exercises for acquiring the use of the Pedals. Price 10s.

Studies for Pedal Playing; forming Chapter III of the Complete Organ School. Price 4s. 6d.

Chorals, Scales, and Exercises, printed separately from the Organ School. Price 2s. 3d.

48 Trios for Manuals and Pedal obligato; forming Complete Exercises for the Pedals. 4s. 3d.

This last work is not comprised in the School, to which it may be considered as forming a continuation.

Eleven Chorals, to illustrate page 42 of the School. Price 6d.

CHARLES STEGGALL.

Instruction Book for the Organ, consisting of plain directions for the use of the Stops, &c., followed by Progressive Exercises for the Manuals and Pedals. Price 6s.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

THE HYMNARY.

SPECIMEN PAGE OF EDITION No. 3 (WITH TUNES). Price 4s.

GENERAL.

620 (First Tune.) HENRY SMART.

He is the Head of the Body, the Church.

mf THE Church's one foundation
Is JESUS CHRIST her LORD;
She is His new creation
By water and the Word:
From heaven He came and sought her
To be His holy Bride;
With His own Blood He bought her,
And for her life He died.

Elect from every nation,
Yet one o'er all the earth,
Her charter of salvation
One LORD, one Faith, one Birth:
One Holy Name she blesses,
Partakes one Holy Food,
And to one hope she presses
With every grace endued.

Though with a scornful wonder
Men see her sore opprest,
By schisms rent asunder,
By heresies distrest:
Yet saints their watch are keeping,
Their cry goes up, "How long?
And soon the night of weeping
Shall be the morn of song.

Mid toil and tribulation
And tumult of her war,
She waits the consummation
Of peace for evermore;
Till with the vision glorious
Her longing eyes are blest,
And the great Church victorious
Shall be the Church at rest.

Yet she on earth hath union
With GOD the THREE in ONE;
And mystic sweet communion
With those whose rest is won.
Oh, happy saints and holy!
LORD, give us grace that we
Like them, the meek and lowly,
On high may dwell with Thee! Amen.

THE HYMNARY

A BOOK OF CHURCH SONG;

EDITED BY THE

REV. WILLIAM COOKE,

HON. CANON OF CHESTER; AND THE

REV. BENJAMIN WEBB,

VICAR OF S. ANDREW'S, WELLS STREET.

THE MUSIC EDITED BY

JOSEPH BARNBY.

THE FOLLOWING EDITIONS ARE NOW READY:—

		s.	d.
No. 1.	Hymns only. Royal 24mo. Bourgeois Antique. Cloth, red edges	1	0
,, 2.	Hymns only. Royal 24mo. Nonpareil Antique. Double Columns. Cloth, red edges	0	9
,, 3.	Hymns with Tunes. Demy 8vo. Cloth	4	0
,, 4.	Hymns with Tunes. Demy 8vo. Cloth, bevelled boards, gilt lettered, red edges	5	0

Will be ready on the 14th instant.

,, 5.	Tunes only. Demy 8vo. Cloth	3	0
,, 6.	Tunes only. Demy 8vo. Cloth, bevelled boards, gilt lettered, red edges	4	0

Edition No. 2 (white edges), in quantities of not less than 25, will be supplied to the Clergy at 6d. each, on direct application to the Publishers.

A Discount of 20 per Cent. will be allowed to the Clergy, for Cash, when not less than six copies of one edition are taken.

Applications for permission to print the Hymns and Tunes for Choral Festivals should be addressed to the Publishers.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).
NEW YORK: 751, BROADWAY.

Printed by Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.): also at 751, Broadway, New York.
Sold also by Kent and Co., Paternoster-row. Tuesday, October 1, 1872.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

And Singing-Class Circular,

Published on the 1st of every Month.

The Music Pages only are stereotyped, those persons who would possess the Musical Articles, Notices, Advertisements, &c., can only ensure doing so by taking the work as it appears.

No. 357.—Vol. 15. NOVEMBER 1, 1872. Price 2d.; Post-free, 2½d.
Registered for transmission abroad Annual Subscription, Postage-free, 2s. 6d.

ARTHUR ALLISON,

HARMONIUM MANUFACTURER,

110, WARDOUR STREET, LONDON, W.,

SOLE LONDON AGENT FOR RAMSDEN'S (DAWES' PATENT)

MELODY ORGANS,

AND DAWES' AND RAMSDEN'S

PATENT PEDAL SUBSTITUTE ORGANS.

THE MELODY ORGANS,

Beside possessing a quality of tone never before obtained in this class of instruments, have also the extraordinary capability of giving a perfectly clear and distinct additional melody, or, in other words, additional tones to the melody, with a power and variety in proportion to the number of melody stops employed; thus producing, automatously, the effect of one or more single-note or solo instruments being used by separate players, in accompaniment with, or in addition to the full harmony upon the other stops or portions of the instrument. This entirely prevents that dull, heavy monotony which was before inseparable from the very best Reed Organs, and gives a life and expression beyond the anticipation of even the most ardent admirers of this class of instruments.

These Melody Organs also have the further advantage of enabling the performer, when playing a powerful melody with the right hand, to use the whole range of keys below the melody for a subdued accompaniment upon different stops, and without any break in the range (on account of the melody stops being constructed to give the melody only when the melody-knob is drawn). This is a desideratum fully appreciated by all musical professors and others who have used the Melody Organs.

THE PATENT PEDAL SUBSTITUTE

Imparts to the above instruments the further capability of giving—also automatously—a clear and distinct SUB-BASS or Pedal note, in addition to the chords or harmony usually played by the left hand; thus giving upon one manual, THE EFFECT OF TWO MANUALS AND PEDALS, and rendering these complete DOUBLE-PATENT INSTRUMENTS the most capable, effective, and beautiful ever produced, either in England or any other country.

These beautiful effects are produced without any effort on the part of the player, except the swelling or accenting of these additional single note or solo parts, by means of a pedal or "knee-swell."

The OAK ORGANS are specially toned and constructed for Churches, Chapels, or Schools. The advantages to be derived from their use cannot be over-estimated, the melody being so clearly brought out as to render it almost impossible for a choir to sing out of tune, when accompanied by one of them.

THE PATENT MELODY ORGAN.

	GUINEAS. Oak.	Rosewood.	Walnut.
1. THE PATENT MELODY ORGAN.—3 Stops, and Knee Swell	19	20	...
2. THE PATENT MELODY ORGAN, "QUEEN'S MODEL."—9 Stops, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona and Tremolo	23	25	25
3. THE PATENT MELODY AND PEDAL SUBSTITUTE ORGAN.—9 Stops, Pedal Substitute, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona and Tremolo	28	30	30
4. THE PATENT MELODY ORGAN.—11 Stops, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona and Tremolo	30	32	32
5. THE PATENT MELODY AND PEDAL SUBSTITUTE ORGAN (THE ROYAL MODEL, as supplied to Her Majesty the Queen, and H.R.H. the Princess Louise).—With 11 Stops, Pedal Substitute, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona and Tremolo ...	33	37	37
6. THE PATENT MELODY ORGAN.—With 14 Stops, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona, Flageolet, and Tremolo, or Cremona and Tremolo	35	40	42
7. THE PATENT MELODY AND PEDAL SUBSTITUTE ORGAN.—With 14 Stops, Pedal Substitute, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona, Flageolet, and Tremolo, or Cremona and Tremolo	42	45	47
8. THE PATENT MELODY ORGAN.—With 16 Stops, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona and Tremolo, or Cremona, Flageolet, Hautbois, and Tremolo	46	48	50
9. THE PATENT MELODY AND PEDAL SUBSTITUTE ORGAN.—With 16 Stops, Pedal Substitute, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Cremona and Tremolo, or Cremona, Flageolet, Hautbois, and Tremolo ...	50	53	55
10. THE PATENT MELODY AND PEDAL SUBSTITUTE ORGAN, "DRAWING-ROOM MODEL."—With 20 Stops, Percussion Action, Pedal Substitute, and 2 Knee Swells. Melody applied to Three Ranges of Reeds. In elegant Carved Walnut Case			120

ENGLISH HARMONIUMS.

	GUINEAS. Oak.	Walnut or Mahogany.	Burr, Rosewood. Walnut.
11. THE COTTAGE HARMONIUM	7	8	9
12. THE SCHOOL HARMONIUM.—3 Stops—Expression, Sourdine, and Forte	10	11	12
13. FIVE STOPS—Sourdine, Expression, Tremolo, and Two Fortes	13	14	15
14. EIGHT STOPS—Diapason Treble, Diapason Bass, Voix Celeste (or Oboe), Expression, Sourdine, two Fortes, and Tremolo	16	18	20
15. TEN STOPS—Diapason Treble, Diapason Bass, Double Diapason, Bourdon, Sourdine, Expression, Full Organ, two Fortes, and Tremolo	21	23	25
16. ELEVEN STOPS—Diapason Treble, Diapason Bass, Double Diapason, Bourdon, Voix Celeste (or Principal), Sourdine, Expression, two Fortes, Tremolo, and Knee Pedal ...	25	27	29
17. TWELVE STOPS—Diapason Treble, Diapason Bass, Double Diapason, Bourdon, Principal, Clarion, Sourdine, Expression, two Fortes, Tremolo, and Knee Pedal ...	28	30	32
18. THIRTEEN STOPS—Diapason Treble, Diapason Bass, Double Diapason, Bourdon, Principal, Clarion, Voix Celeste, Sourdine, Expression, two Fortes, Tremolo, and Knee Pedal	31	33	35
19. THE BOUDOIR MODEL.—16 Stops, in Handsome Burwood Walnut, Registered Keys, Diapason Treble, Diapason Bass, Double Diapason Treble, Double Diapason Bass, Principal, Clarion, Oboe, Bassoon, Tremolo, Sourdine Treble 16 feet, Sourdine Bass 8 feet, Bourdon (Octave), two Fortes, Expression, and Full Organ			40
A. A. would draw special attention to this Instrument. Its great advantages being, Smallness of Size (19 inches from back to front, 34 inches high), Power and Quality equal to an Instrument double its size.
20. THE BOUDOIR MODEL.—17 Stops, same as No. 19, with the addition of Voix Celeste Treble ...			42
21. THE BOUDOIR MODEL.—20 Stops, same as No. 19, with the addition of Voix Celeste Treble and Bass, and Percussion Action.			52

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MRS. ALFRED J. SUTTON (Soprano)
Is open to engagements for Concerts and Oratorios.
54, Duchess-road, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

MISS BLANCHE REIVES, late REEVES (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, Opera, Operetta, Soirées, Dinners, &c.,
47, Tachbrook-street, Pimlico, S.W.

MADAME HELENA WALKER (Soprano).
All communications respecting Engagements for Oratorios and Concerts must be addressed to her residence, 6, West Bank-rd Edge-la. Liverpool.

MISS CLELLAND (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, Lessons, Terms, &c., address Mulberry-terrace, Newton-heath, Manchester.

MISS RACHEL FARRAR (Soprano),
From the London Academy of Music, for Concerts, Oratorios, &c.
75, Stamford-crescent, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MISS ELLEN GLANVILLE (Soprano),
2, Percy-terrace, Ladbroke-grove-road, Notting-hill, W.

MISS AGNES B. LARKCOM (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, Dinners, Soirées, &c.
66, Bedford-road, Reading.

MADAME MARIE ROUSSEL (Soprano).
Ballad Concerts, &c.
Address Mr. F. H. Horscroft, Cathedral, Salisbury.

MISS LIEBE KONSS (Contralto).
For Engagements and Lessons, address 38, Torrington-square, W.C.

MISS GLEDHILL (Contralto).
Concerts and Pupils, 51, Devonshire-road, N.

MISS RUTH HARLOW (Contralto).
For Oratorios, Miscellaneous Concerts, etc.
Address Lark-hill, Tonge, Middleton.

MISS ALICE BARNETT (Contralto)
(Pupil of Madame Natalia Macfarren).
Concerts, Oratorios, Dinners, etc. 22, Hart-street, Bloomsbury.

MISS MARIENNE POTTER (Contralto),
60, Tabernacle-walk, Finsbury-square.

MR. STEDMAN (Tenor).
Address 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. GREENHILL (Tenor.)
For Concerts, Pupils, &c., 1, St. George's-terrace, Kilburn.

W. M. DYSON (Tenor).
For Oratorios or Concerts. Address Cathedral Choir, Worcester.

MR. N. DUMVILLE (Principal Tenor).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. WILLIAM DUMVILLE (Tenor),
5, Elvington-street, Hulme, or Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. H. T. BYWATER (Tenor),
Of the Birmingham Town Hall Concerts, is open to Engagements for Oratorios and Concerts. 40, Darlington-street, Wolverhampton.

W. H. BLISS (Tenor).
For Oratorio and Concert Engagements, apply to Brandon-villa, Court-hill, Lewisham.

MR. ALFRED KENNINGHAM (Tenor),
St. Andrew's, Wells-street. Address 3, Alfred-place, Bedford-sq. W.

MR. ALBERT JAMES (Tenor).
Address Tenby-villa. Horton-road, Dalston, E.

MR. W. B. LING (Tenor),
Principal Tenor, Trinity College, Cambridge (late of Peterborough Cathedral). For Oratorios, Miscellaneous Concerts, &c,
Address Trinity College, Cambridge.

MR. WALTER REEVES (Baritone).
For Engagements, &c., address 67, Swinton-street, W.C.

CARLOS LOVATT, Vocalist (Baritone).
For Oratorios, &c., address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. FARLEY SINKINS (Basso).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.; also for Oxford Glee Party.
Address Principal Bass, Ch. Ch. Cathedral, Oxford.

MR. O. CHRISTIAN (Basso).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address, 18, Adelaide-square, Windsor.

MR. MONTEITH RANDELL (Basso).
For Concerts, &c. Apply 47, Johnstone-street, Ladywood, Birmingham.

MR. ROBERT DE LACY (Bass),
St. Paul's Cathedral. For Oratorios and Concerts.
10, Holland-cottage, Millbrook-road, Brixton, London, S.W.

MR. T. WOODWARD (Bass).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Gloucester.

C. D. COLLET (Bass, Teacher of Singing),
Sunnybank, Hazleville-road, Hornsey-lane, Highgate, N.

MR. THORNTON WOOD (Bass)
(Of the Royal Albert Hall Concerts), for Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address 2, Hallfield-place, Bradford, Yorks.

MR. CHARLESWORTH PRINCE (Bass Vocalist).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address 68, Tennyson-place, Bradford.

MR. F. H. HORSCROFT,
Principal Bass of Salisbury Cathedral.
Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Address The Cathedral, Salisbury.

E. N. LUCAS (Bass Vocalist),
Conductor of Elementary and Choral Classes.
The "St. James's Quintett" attend Concerts, &c. Mr. Seager, Secretary, Swiss-villa, Church-road, Upper Norwood.

MISS LOUISA EALAND (Sight Accompanist).
Concerts or Musical Parties. Terms moderate. 143, Ferndale-rd. Brixton.

MR. H. WATSON (Solo Pianist and Accompanist).
For terms, &c., address 25, Market-place, Manchester.

MR. J. TILLEARD,
Removed to Seaton-villa, Slaithwaite-road, Lewisham, S.E.
Lessons in Singing and Composition.

T. R. WILLIS, Organ Builder,
29, Minories, London, E. Wood and Metal Pipe Maker.
Voicing, Tuning, and Repairing. List sent for stamp.
Second-hand Organs for Sale.

T. R. WILLIS (established 1827,) Maker and Importer of Brass and Wood Instruments, Harmonium Reeds, Music Strings, Wire, &c., Violins, Concertinas, &c. 29, Minories, London. List for stamp.

IMPORTANT TO MUSIC SELLERS.—Having the largest varied Stock of Music in Europe, orders received in the morning are executed the same day, or if in stock posted immediately if required. Terms highly advantageous.
London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

MUSIC ENGRAVED, PRINTED, AND PUBLISHED in the best style, and on moderate terms, a statement of which sent on application by B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

HARGREAVES'S AMERICAN IRON FRAME GRAND PIANOFORTES.

BOUDOIR GRAND, on the latest American system, cast iron frame and bars, three strings, oblique and cross strings, improved overstrung scale, called Hargreave's American Iron Frame Cross-Strings Pianofortes; surpassing all pianos made on the usual system, in quality, quantity, and duration of tone. These three qualities command instant recognition as soon as it is touched. Price, in the above-named length, 95 guineas.

THE UPRIGHT PIANO, on the latest American system, with double iron frame, cast in one piece, cross strings, suspended soundboard; is the ne plus ultra of piano construction, surpassing all others made with wooden bracings, or mixed wood and iron bracings: it is specially addressed to all who wish to possess the finest toned instrument that money can purchase.

THE PROFESSIONAL AND CONNOISSEURS' HARMONIUM. Registered, one model of this Harmonium, constructed with two manuals, actually surpasses all Harmoniums hitherto constructed, in offering some distinct qualities in voicing, from the most delicate to the most robust, and also some novelties in Harmonic Stops.

Address, for lists of prices and cards to view, William Hargreaves.
61, Dale-street, Manchester.

The King of all Reed Instrument yet invented.

W. HATTERSLEY and CO.'S Celebrated Improved HARMONIUMS, for quality of tone, rapidity of touch, workmanship, improved action, &c., stand unequalled. These charming instruments have been compared side by side with the American organs, and pronounced superior at half the price.

DRAWING ROOM MODEL,
Full Organ Tone, with knee swell to Treble and Bass, all stops effective.

9 Stops, Walnut case, 17 guineas.
12 ,, Burr ,, 23 ,,
18 ,, ,, ,, 26 ,,

Lists of prices and testimonials free.
W. Hattersley and Co., 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS in HARMONIUMS.—W. HATTERSLEY and Co.'s celebrated IMPROVED HARMONIUMS, pronounced by the profession to be the nearest approach in tone to the organ of any hitherto invented. This improvement produces a rich, full, organ-like quality of tone, entirely free from all harsh or reedy sound, and by the careful voicing of the reeds, the articulation is fully equal in rapidity to the pianoforte. These instruments are manufactured by us for private sales only, and of the best materials and workmanship. W. Hattersley and Co., Harmonium Manufacturers, 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield (late 95 and 107, Meadow-street).
Lists of prices and testimonials free.

RUSSELL'S MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

CONCERTINAS, Harmoniums, Organ-Accordions. Flutinas, Drums, Fifes. Flutes, Violins, Cornets, Saxhorns, Clarionets, Flageolets, Guitars, Banjos, Musical Boxes, Strings, &c. Self-Instruction books. Instruments repaired or exchanged. Price lists free. J. Russell, 158, Goswell-road, Clerkenwell, London.

BRASS, REED, STRING, AND DRUM AND FIFE BANDS, PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS, supplied at wholesale prices at J. Moore's, Buxton-road, Huddersfield. Patterns and prices post free. Music for any kind of band. Patronised by the army, navy, and rifle corps.

ORGAN METAL PIPES; best quality; zinc front pipes; voicing and tuning. S. Fowler, 127, Pentonville-road.

ACCURATE METRONOMES, 1s., post free. Rudiments of Singing, 1s. per dozen. Singing Class Tutor, 7th ed., 6d. each. D. Scholefield, Trinity-street, Huddersfield.

J. M. and C. CORPS, Organ Builders, 198, Seymour-street, Euston-square, N.W., are prepared to give immediate attention, upon the lowest terms compatible with thoroughly good materials and workmanship, to orders with which they may be favoured for building, repairing, removing or tuning ORGANS, in town or country. Testimonials and specifications will be forwarded on application. J. M. and C. Corps are now manufacturing Organs suitable for a village church or school-room, at the unprecedented price of 18 guineas. These little instruments are, for the purpose of accompaniment, immeasurably superior to harmoniums and other reed instruments. A specimen is on view at the Crystal Palace.

KELLY'S ORGAN HARMONIUMS, as manufactured for Her Majesty, are the only instruments of English manufacture that received any award at the Paris and Dublin Exhibition. A liberal allowance to the clergy.—11, Charles-street, Berners-street. Price lists post free.

SECOND-HAND PIANOFORTES, by Broadwood, Collard, Erard, and other makers, always in stock; also PARISIAN PIANOFORTES, at prices suitable to the trade, for cash only.

WEST CENTRAL PIANOFORTE WORKS, Belmont-yard, 72, Belmont-street, Chalk-Farm-road, London. PIANOS manufactured for the trade on most liberal terms, and under the most careful supervision.

All instruments sent from this establishment warranted.

PIANOS made expressly for exportation, and guaranteed to withstand the attack of moths, and all other insects.

N.B.—Price lists will be forwarded on application.

TO PIANOFORTE DEALERS, AUCTIONEERS, and others.—A job lot of PIANOFORTES and HARMONIUMS; a bargain; about 50; also Premises and Business for SALE. H. T. Cassini, Finsbury House, Wood Green, London, N.

ORGAN for SALE, 7 stops; quite new. A., 127, Pentonville-road.

FINGER ORGANS.—One, four superior stops, £35, including carriage. The other, £18, with pedals, diapason stop. Edwards, Chesham, Bucks.

ORGAN for SALE—3 stops, sliding keyboard, £10; good condition. H. L., 144, Burdett-road, Mile-end.

CC ORGAN for SALE—2 rows of keys, one and a half octave of pedals; great organ, 6 stops; swell, 3 stops. Price £55. Address J. S., 15, Dowry-square, Hotwells, Bristol.

CC ORGAN for SALE; quite new; fine quality of Tone; 2 complete rows of keys, 17 stops, 2 reeds in swell; very effective. For particulars and price, apply to G. T., 23, Brunswick-street, Poplar, E.

ORGANS for SALE (new), 11 stops, 2 manuals, full compass, bourdon pedal pipes, 100 guineas. 8 Stop Organ and 7 Stop Organ, with general swell and pedals. A. Monk, Organ Builder, Anglers-lane, Kentish-town-road, London.

ORGAN for SALE.—Three manuals, CC to G, four stops on the great, three on the swell, three on the choir, five couplers, separate bourdon pedals, 29 notes. At A. Hunter's Organ Manufactory, 379, Kennington-road, S.W.

CHANCEL ORGAN for SALE or HIRE. 7 stops, open diapason, stopped diapason bass, clarabella, principal, dulciana, fifteenth, and bourdon, with German pedals; in pine case, with metal front speaking pipes. Price £70, including fixings; quite new, and warranted. H. C. Sims, 23, Onslow-road, Southampton.

PEDALS.—A Set of Solid PEDALS in Mahogany Frame, for SALE; Compass 2½ octaves. No reasonable offer refused. 58, King-street, Borough.

ORGAN HARMONIUM, £19 and £21. Fine tone, 2½ rows of reeds, bourdon on full compass, German pedals, with coupler to keys, foot and side blower. Manufactured for pecal practice, by W. J. Robertson; 20 years' experience in this class of instrument. 107, Tottenham-road, Kingsland, London, N.

WANTED, a small SECOND-HAND ORGAN, with two manuals, and pedal bourdon; full compass. Apply, with full particulars, and maker's name, to C. L. C., Post-office, Walpole, Wisbeach.

WITH PEDALS.—WANTED to PURCHASE, a PIANO, HARMONIUM, or SMALL ORGAN, with at least two octaves of C pedals. State lowest price, which must be moderate; would hire. CC., 7, Agar-street, Strand, W.C.

A MAHOGANY CABINET, 6 octaves, £8. A PIANETTE, mahogany, by Chappell, £16, cash. Cottage Pianofortes, new and second-hand, at very low prices. Harris and Co., 33, Rathbone-place, W.

THE 5 M's.—MILLS' MUSICAL MARVELS for the MILLION, MOORGATE-street. Music and Musical Instruments (of first quality), at marvellously moderate prices. J. A. Mills, 36A, Moorgate-street.

ORGAN STUDIO, 166, Strand.—LESSONS or PRACTICE (and at St. Michael's, Stockwell, S.W.) on fine two-manual C ORGANS—(HILL and SON)—Pedal compass, 29 notes. Apply to W. VENNING SOUTHGATE, at his Studio. (Organist, St. Michael's, Stockwell.)

ORGAN LESSONS and PRACTICE on a fine new Instrument, with two manuals, 15 stops, 2½ octaves of pedals, with Bourdons throughout. Terms moderate. Allen's Musical Instrument Warehouse, 17, Percy-street, Bedford-square, W. Lessons and practice on other Instruments also.

TO ORGANISTS.—PRACTICE may be had on a very fine ORGAN. Two manuals, swell, variety of stops, 2½ of Pedals, and Bourdon of CCC. Terms very moderate. Address E. Francis, Organist of St. Peter's, W.C., 188, Upper-street, Islington, N.

PROFESSIONAL Persons can be accommodated with the use of a ROOM and PIANOFORTE for giving LESSONS; or for a Quartett Party, at Harris's Music Library, 33, Rathbone-place, W.

MADAME LAURA BAXTER (Member of the Royal Academy of Music, first principal Contralto, Royal Italian Opera, Drury Lane, Royal English Opera, Covent Garden, Sacred Harmonic Society, Exeter Hall, &c.), begs to request that all communications respecting ENGAGEMENTS for Oratorios and Concerts, may be addressed to her at her private residence, 53, Bedford-square, W.C.

MRS. NOBLE (Associate R. A. Music), Professor of Singing, receives Private and Professional Pupils. Address 3, Fitzroy-street, Fitzroy-square, W. Mrs. Noble's highly successful Pupils, Miss ELLEN HORNE (Soprano), 13, Torriano-avenue, Camden-road, N.W., and Madame POOLE (Contralto), 32A, George-street, Hanover-square, W., continue to accept ENGAGEMENTS (together or separately) for Oratorios, Concerts, &c., in London and in the Provinces.

MISS ELCHO (Pianiste) requests that all communications respecting Concert and Soirée Engagements, and Lessons (Pianoforte and Singing), may be addressed to her, 15, Albert-road, Abbey-road, N.W., where critiques may be obtained.

MISS GRACE ARMYTAGE (Mrs. H. C. Sanders), Primo Soprano (London and Provincial Concerts, Dublin, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Belfast, &c., &c.). MR. HENRY C. SANDERS, Principal Baritone, for Oratorio, Concerts, Opera, &c., &c., 2, Athalstane-villas, Stroud-green-road, Finsbury-park, N.

THE ENGLISH GLEE UNION (Sixth Season),
Mr. H. ASHTON. Mr. T. PEARSON.
Mr. J. F. MEEN, and Mr. J. RUDKIN.
Assisted by
Madame ASHTON.
(Miss F. Danielson.)
Are prepared to give their Musical Entertainments at Institutions, &c. For terms, &c., address J. Rudkin, Sackville-house, Brook-green, Hammersmith, W.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.—A large stock of Part-Songs, Anthems, Madrigals, &c., for SALE; in good condition, at half the retail price. For particulars, apply by letter to Mr. Willson, 8, Edith-terrace, North-end, Fulham.

ONE GUINEA'S worth of MUSIC for 2s. 6d., slightly soiled, including the surplus of the past year's issue. Post free, 2s. 10d. James Smith & Son, 76, 74, and 72, Lord-street, Liverpool.

LITHOGRAPHIC-COPYING, cheaper than Engraved. Very excellent system for publishing Choral, Band, Psalmody, Concert, and other music; specimen. F. Wood, 32, Vincent-square, Westminster.

TO the MUSICAL PROFESSION and MUSIC TRADE.—MR. FREDERICK LUCAS, Public Accountant, begs to intimate to those who are desirous of Purchasing or Disposing of their Connexion or Business, that he will be happy to be the medium of introducing suitable parties to each other, and making equitable arrangements between them, for which his position and experience eminently qualify him.—26, Maddox-street, Regent-street, W.

PASCALL'S VOICE JUJUBES.

Strongly recommended to Singers and Public Speakers. Agreeable and effective. In boxes only, Sixpence and One Shilling each, or post free for eight and fourteen stamps. None genuine without the name and address on each box.—Jas. Pascall, 21, Wells-street, Oxford-street, London, W.

Now ready. Small 4to. Price 1s. Treble Part, price 6d. (Alto, Tenor and Bass Parts, price 6d. each, will be shortly ready.)

SECOND SERIES.

THE

CANTICLES AND HYMNS

OF THE CHURCH,

POINTED FOR CHANTING, AND SET TO APPROPRIATE ANGLICAN CHANTS SINGLE AND DOUBLE;

TOGETHER WITH

Responses to the Commandments,

EDITED BY THE

REV. SIR F. A. G. OUSELEY, BART., ETC.,

AND

EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This Work contains a Selection of Double (besides additional Single) Chants; together with special settings of "Benedicite," and a Collection of Kyrie Eleisons, old and new.

This Pointing of the Canticles is authorised by His Grace the Archbishop of York.

London: NOVELLO, EWER & CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: 751, Broadway.

THE CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, for Matins and Evensong, edited by JOHN WHITE, and intended principally for the use of Amateur Choirs, contains the music for the Versicles, Responses, Creeds, &c.; also the Canticles pointed for chanting, with a selection of Anglican Chants and Gregorian Tones for each Canticle. The work contains altogether about 150 Single Chants, and 50 Gregorians, together with a "Benedicite" written specially for it by the Rev. WILLIAM STATHAM. Price Three Shillings.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Warrington: P. Pearse.

THE BRISTOL TUNE BOOK.—A Manual of Tunes and Chants, intended as a companion to all Hymn Books, containing 258 Tunes (100 varieties of metre), and 85 Single and Double Chants. The whole arranged in Short Score, and the Harmonies carefully selected from the best authorities, with ruled music paper for manuscript additions. Adopted in several hundred congregations. More than 100,000 copies have already been sold.

No. 1. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 6d.
,, 2. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 3s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION.

,, 3. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 0d.
,, 4. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 2s. 6d.

Congregations or Associations requiring large quantities may obtain them on special terms by application to the Bristol Publishers.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Bristol: W. and F. Morgan; and all booksellers and musicsellers.

NOW READY,
A New and Enlarged Selection of

PSALMS, HYMNS and ANTHEMS, arranged for Congregational or Private use, by SAMUEL SMITH, Bradford. Very neat and compact, 218 pp. Imperial 32mo.

In limp cloth, edges turned in 1 0
Cloth boards, coloured edges, gilt lettered 1 6
Roan, gilt edges, and lettered 2 0

London: Hamilton, Adams and Co.; and Novello, Ewer and Co.
Bradford: Thomas Brear.
THE BRADFORD TUNE BOOK and PSALMS and CHANTS, together or separate, supplied in all the various forms, as before.

Eighth Edition.

TUNES NEW AND OLD.—Comprising all the metres in the Wesleyan Hymn Book; also Chants, Responses, and Doxologies. Compiled by JOHN DOBSON, and for the most part revised and re-arranged by HENRY JOHN GAUNTLETT, Mus. Doc. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Sold also at 66, Paternoster-row. Prices: plain cloth, 3s. 6d.; cloth lettered, 4s.; cloth extra, gilt edges, 5s.
Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges.

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes, as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN; containing nearly 270 Tunes for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just published, price 1s. 6d. net.

TWENTY-ONE ORIGINAL TUNES to FAVOURITE HYMNS; including "Lead, kindly Light," "O day of rest and gladness," "Thou, whose Almighty Word," &c., &c. By the Rev. S. M. BARKWORTH, D.D., and H. J. STARK, F.C.O.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A MANUAL OF SINGING,

FOR THE USE OF CHOIR TRAINERS AND SCHOOLMASTERS.

BY RICHARD MANN,

Organist of the Abbey Church, Cirencester, &c.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

This work offers to the clergy and other amateur choir trainers a systematic and simple course of instruction, by which they may teach their pupils to read music at sight, in a comparatively short time.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

EIGHTEENTH EDITION.
Price 1s. A specimen copy post free for 12 stamps.

THE COLLEGIATE AND SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING MANUAL.

FOR CHOIRS.—The easiest system that can be obtained for training improving, and learning to read music at sight.
FOR SCHOOLS.—Every requisite for learning Music, and reading at sight in a few lessons.
FOR CHORAL SOCIETIES.—The exercises will be found invaluable, tending to produce musical effects seldom heard.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Just published, 2s. nett.
(COMPANION WORK TO THE ABOVE.)

COLLEGIATE VOCAL TUTOR.

Containing Treatise on Voice and Vocal Art, with Anatomical Illustrations of the Vocal Instrument.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

PROGRESSION OF CHORDS; Appendix to the Tritone. A Method of Harmony and Modulation. By JOSEPH GREEN. Price 2s.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NOW READY.

THE NATURAL PRINCIPLES OF HARMONY.

By W. W. PARKINSON. Price 15s.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: W. W. Parkinson and Son, 24, St. Ann's-square.

Just Published, in crown 8vo.,

A MANUAL OF VOCAL MUSIC, for use in Public Elementary Schools, forming a complete Guide to Singing at Sight. By JOHN TAYLOR, author of "A few words on the Anglican Chant," &c. Part I. Theoretical, principally for Home Work. Price 6d. Part II. Practical, for use in Schools. Price 9d. The complete work, bound in cloth. Price 1s. 6d.
London: George Philip and Son, 32, Fleet-street.
Liverpool: Caxton-buildings, South John-street, and 49 and 51, South Castle-street.

Just published. Second edition.

VIVENTE. Grand Galop de Concert, "This is a bold inspiriting galop, melodious and effective."—Musical Standard.

FIRST TARANTELLA. "VILLAGE REVELS." Impromptu characteristic. Composed by WILLIAM BLAKELEY, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Price 4s. each, or post free on receipt of 24 stamps, from Mr. Wm. Blakeley, Warrengate, Wakefield.

JUST PUBLISHED. — The MORNA WALTZ, new edition. Arranged by C. H. R. MARRIOTT, illustrated, post free 24 stamps. C. J. Klitz, 41, Hanway-street, Oxford-street, London.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.

W. H. BIRCH'S POPULAR OPERETTAS, now being performed throughout England. Sparkling, brilliant, and not difficult.

No. 1. The Merrie Men of Sherwood Forest. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.; single voice parts, 1s. each.

No. 2. Ballad Operetta—Katrine, the Pride of Killarney. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

No. 3. Eveleen, the Rose of the Vale. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

The above Operettas are written for a Full or Small Orchestra.

Choral Societies can hire the vocal scores, single voice parts, and band parts, on very moderate terms. See opinions of the press.

W. H. BIRCH'S Christmas Anthem, "Behold, I bring you glad tidings." Price 6d.

W. H. BIRCH'S Christmas Carol. Price 6d.

Part Song. "Hurrah for merry Old Christmas. Price 6d.

Address W. H. Birch, 76, Southampton-place, Reading.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S
POPULAR PART SONGS FOR S.A.T.B. 8vo.

1. "I love the merry spring time"	...	14th edition	...	0	2
2. "Gaily thro' the greenwood"	...	17th "	...	0	2
3. "Welcome, merry May"	...	6th "	...	0	2
4. "The mountain Maid"	...	5th "	...	0	2
5. "Come o'er the mountain"	...	8th "	...	0	2
6. "Hail, merry, merry Christmas"	...	12th "	...	0	2
7. "Songs of praise the angels sang"	...	5th "	...	0	3
8. "Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow"	...	6th "	...	0	3
9. "Fairy revels"	...	7th "	...	0	3
10. "Oh! peaceful vale of rest"	...	5th "	...	0	1½
11. "The merry bird"	...	5th "	...	0	3
12. "Come, let us be merry and gay"	...	4th "	...	0	3
13. "Forest echoes"	...	6th "	...	0	3
14. "Haste, ye merry elves"	...	5th "	...	0	3
15. "The streamlet"	...	2nd "	...	0	3

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: Hime and Addison.

IN AID OF THE
NORTH COATES CHURCH ORGAN FUND.

Published June, 1872,
Toned paper, cloth, gilt lettered, price 7s. 6d.

THE SECOND AND CONCLUDING VOLUME
OF
"THE VILLAGE ORGANIST,"

Containing the following Voluntaries, all composed expressly for it and not published in any other work:—

Slow Melody. Wm. H. Callcott.
Andante (Pastorale). Mrs. Mounsey-Bartholomew.
Andante. Mrs. Mounsey-Bartholomew.
Allegretto grazioso quasi Andante. E. M. Delaborde.
Andante (Canzonet). Dr. H. J. Gauntlett.
Andante con moto. F. E. Gladstone.
Andante con grazia (Canzone). Franz Nava.
Andante (Pastorale). E. Silas.
Andante con moto (Siciliana). John Hullah.
Larghetto espressivo. G. A. Macfarren.
Andante con moto (Prelude). Sir Julius Benedict.
Andante con moto. Henry Smart.
Allegro poco maestoso (Prelude). W. G. Cusins.
Andante maestoso. E. G. Verrinder, Mus. Bac., Oxon.
Andante. J. F. Barnett.
Andante. R. Forsey Brion.
Andante (Pastorale). Dr. E. F. Rimbault.
Andante. Dr. E. F. Rimbault.
Andante. C. Goodban, Mus. B., Oxon.
Andante. Dr. E. G. Monk.
Andantino tranquillo. E. H. Turpin.
Andante cantabile (Prelude). E. H. Turpin.
Maestoso (March). E. H. Turpin.
Larghetto. Dr. G. B. Arnold.
Andante and Adagio. Henry Farmer.
Moderato (Prelude). S. Reay, Mus. B., Oxon.
Andante cantabile. H. S. Irons.
Allegretto (Song of Praise). Dr. J. Stainer.
Andante. Dr. S. S. Wesley.
Andante (Pastorale). J. Barnby.
Larghetto. J. Barnby.

"A most useful series of pieces. * * * Pleasantly exemplifies the present state of musicianship in England, and will be found valuable for practical use where short voluntaries are needed, in towns as much as in villages."—"Musical Times," Aug. 1872.

London:
Novello, Ewer & Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.).
New York: 751, Broadway.

C. JEFFERYS, 57, BERNERS ST.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY.

A COLLECTION OF
PART-SONGS, GLEES, CHORUSES, &c.
EDITED BY MICHAEL WATSON.

1	'Tis silent eve	Michael Watson.
2	Corin's fate	B. Turner.
3	Where the pearly dew-drop falleth ...	E. J. Loder.
4	The Winter being over	Ellen Avery.
5	Fairy voices	T. G. B. Hailey.
6	Moonlight	J. H. L. Glover.
7	Good-bye	J. L. Hatton.
8	I thought of thee	W. F. Banks.
9	The Forsaken	J. L. Hatton.
10	Bonny May	J. H. L. Glover.
11	Spring Song	J. L. Hatton.
12	The Winds	C. J. Frost.
13	County Guy	G. A. Macfarren
14	The birdès that had left their song ...	do.

Price 2d. each number. Other Numbers in the Press.

THE POPULAR
Operatic Arrangements,
SOLOS AND DUETS,
And Original Pianoforte Pieces,
By FELIX GANTIER,
Of which lists may be had on application.

WILLIE PAPE.

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 1	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Has sorrow thy young days shaded," and "The Young May Moon."
*IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 2	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "My lodging is on the cold ground," and "Garry Owen."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 3	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Minstrel Boy" and "St. Patrick's Day."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 4	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The harp that once thro' Tara's halls" and "Rory O'More."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 5	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Love's young dream" and "Sprig of Shillelah."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 6	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Valley lay smiling before me" and "The Girl I left behind me."
*HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 1	4	0
Brilliant Fantasias on Airs, "Ye banks and braes" and "Bonnie Dundee."
HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 2	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Flowers of the Forest," "Kelvin Grove," and "Campbells are comin'."
HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 3	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Annie Laurie" and "Wha'll be king but Charlie."
LLANGOLLEN	4	0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs "The Ash Grove," "Poor Mary Ann," and "March of the Men of Harlech."

* Performed with great success by Madlle. Sophie Heilbron.

LOUIS DUPUIS.

CATHEDRAL GEMS:

1. NANTES.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 12th Mass	3	0
2. WURMS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Weber's Mass in G	3	0
3. ROTTERDAM.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 3rd (Imperial) Mass	3	0
4. MALAGA.—Fantasia, on subjects from Beethoven's Mass in C	3	0
5 ROUEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Gounod's Messe Solennelle	3	0
6. CAEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Rossini's Stabat Mater	3	0
7. MAYENCE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 1st Mass, B flat	3	0
8. COLOGNE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 1st Mass, in C	3	0
9. PARIS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise	3	0
10. LONDON.—Fantasia, on subjects from Handel's Messiah ...	3	0
11. NORWICH.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's Creation	3	0
12. CANTERBURY.—Fantasia, on Spohr's As pants the Hart ...	3	0
13. YORK.—Fantasia, on Handel's Judas Maccabæus ...	3	0
14. SALISBURY.—Fantasia, on Mendelssohn's St. Paul ...	3	0
15. WELLS.—Fantasia, on Haydn's Mass in B flat (No. 16.)...	3	0

Beautifully illustrated in Colours, with views of celebrated Cathedrals.

C. JEFFERYS, 57, BERNERS STREET (W.)

MR. BARNBY'S CHOIR. There are still vacancies for SOPRANOS and CONTRALTOS.

Application should be made at once to the Secretary, 1, Berners-st. W.

CHURCH CHORAL SOCIETY of LONDON, the Rev. Sir Fredk. A. Gore Ouseley, Bart., President. — The rehearsals are now being held every Thursday, 7 p.m., in the large room of the Bishopsgate Schools, in Skinner-street, Bishopsgate-without. Ladies and Gentlemen desiring to join are requested to attend at 6.30 p.m.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL, London.—The Dean and Chapter will be prepared, before Christmas next, to appoint eight additional Singers in the Choir, viz., Three ALTO, Two TENOR, and Three BASS Voices. Candidates must not be more than thirty years of age. Application to be made to the Rev. W. C. F. Webber, Chapterhouse, St. Paul's, not later than Nov. 9, 1872. If any testimonials are sent, it is requested that they be copies, as they will not be returned.

GLOUCESTER CATHEDRAL.—There is a VACANCY in this Choir for an ALTO Voice, as Lay Clerk or Singing Man. The emoluments are, a payment of 2s. 6d. for each attendance at the two daily services, and 5s. for attendance at each additional service. The candidates likely to suit will be required to appear before the Dean and Chapter on some early day in November next, which will be signified to them. Applications for the situation, stating the age and place of residence of the applicant, with testimonials as to moral and religious character, powers of voice, and musical capacity, are to be forwarded to the Præcentor, Wolton, near Gloucester, on or before the 14th day of November next.

By order of the Dean and Chapter,
26th October, 1872. George Whitcombe, Chapter Clerk.

WANTED, for the Parish Church of Folkestone, a LEADING TREBLE Voice. Boy not under 12; must read music at sight. Remuneration—Board, lodging, and education. Apply to Rev. M. Woodward, Vicar.

AS LEADER of CHOIR in Church or Chapel. A young professional Lady wishes above position. Address S., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

MUSIC.—RIPON CATHEDRAL.—WANTED, an ALTO, conversant with Cathedral Music. Duties to attend once on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday; twice on Sunday, and once on Saints' days; with two rehearsals weekly. Salary £50 per annum. Apply, stating age, with testimonials, to J. F. A. Coppin, Chapter Clerk, Ripon.

WANTED, an ALTO, for a Surpliced Choir. Salary £10. Apply to Rev. H. N. D'Almaine, 20, Great Marlborough-street, W.

WANTED, ALTO and TENOR, for a City Church; good Voices and Sight-readers indispensable. Duties—Sunday, morning and evening; Good Friday, and Christmas Day; and a rehearsal every Wednesday evening. Salary £20 a year. Apply to A. H., care of S. Woodin, Esq., Picture Gallery, 17, Old Bond-street, W.

ALTOS, TENORS, and BASSES WANTED for the Voluntary Choir of St. Mary's Church, Seymour-street, Euston-square. Also a TREBLE (Boy); good voice and fair knowledge of music indispensable. Salary £5 per annum. Apply to the Organist, Mr. Thomas Biddlecome, at the Church, on Friday evenings, between 7 and 8 o'clock.

TENOR and ALTO WANTED, immediately, for Christ Church, Mayfair. Two Services on Sunday and practice on Friday evenings. Salary, £10. Also, BOYS with good voices. Salary £3 to £4. Apply to Mr. R. Stokoe, 1s, Frankfort-terrace, St. Peter's-park; or, at the Church on Friday evenings.

TENOR WANTED, for a Church in Kensington, must be a first-rate Reader. Two Sunday Services; no week-day practice. Salary £10 10s. Apply Organist, 163, Piccadilly, W.

TENOR WANTED for the Church of the Holy Trinity, West-hill, Wandsworth. Duties—Sunday, morning and evening; rehearsal weekly. Stipend 12 guineas. Address Mr. J. C. Merrick, 98, St. Martin's-lane, W.C.

TENOR.—A Professional Gentleman WANTED for a Wesleyan Church, where Services are performed. Sundays, morning and evening, Good Friday, and Christmas Day. Stipend £10. G. D., Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

BASS.—WANTED, a RE-ENGAGEMENT in good Church Choir, S.E. district preferred. Address H. J. D., 1, Portland-place, New Kent-road, S.E.

A YOUNG LADY, experienced in Church Music, Organ, or Harmonium, desires an ENGAGEMENT. References to Clergymen under whom she has been engaged. Address H. M., 152, Euston-road, London, N W.

THE ADVERTISER would give his services as ASSISTANT ORGANIST, or take services at small Church or Chapel. Address E., 38, Broke-road, Dalston.

THE ADVERTISER is at liberty either to take the Sunday Services of a Church, or to act as DEPUTY. Address, stating requirements, T. H., Channons, Post-office, Brompton-road, S.W.

AN ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, at present holding an important post, is desirous of CHANGING, where there is a wider field for teaching, &c. Testimonials, professional and otherwise. Salary not less than £50. Good organ indispensable. Address M. A. H., 35, James's-street, Burnley.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER.—A Gentleman of great experience (educated by an eminent cathedral organist) desires a RE-ENGAGEMENT, where there is a good opening for a Music and Singing Master. C organ required; unexceptionable testimonials. Address F. J. T., 6, Hunter-place, Broughty Ferry, Dundee, N.B.

AN ORGANIST, accustomed to Plain or Choral Service, is open to an ENGAGEMENT, in or near London, or would act as DEPUTY. Address B. G., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

ORGANIST.—A Gentleman well qualified desires a RE-ENGAGEMENT at a Church in or near Birmingham; seven years' experience; highest testimonials. Address, A. B., Mr. Russell, Bennett's-hill, Birmingham.

A PROFESSIONAL GENTLEMAN (R.A.M.) is open to a RE-ENGAGEMENT as ORGANIST or as ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER in a town where there is a good practice for teaching. The highest references can be given as regards musical ability and character. Address A. B., 19, Bradshaw-street, Moss Side, Manchester.

A YOUNG ORGANIST seeks an ENGAGEMENT for Sunday Service, with Practice. Six years' musical experience. References if required. Salary moderate. Address G. H. R., 4, Royal-avenue, Chelsea.

ORGANIST WANTED for St. Mark's, Shelton, Stoke-on-Trent. Full choral services; daily evensong. He would be required to undertake the Training of the large Surpliced Choir. A thorough musician would find a great scope for private pupils. Stipend £50 per annum. Further particulars, on forwarding testimonials to the Rector, can be obtained.

WANTED, by a London Professor, an ASSISTANT, capable of playing the Church Service, teaching Choir Boys, and giving Lessons on Piano and in Singing to junior pupils. Might suit an old Cathedral Boy (not under 18). Address, with full particulars of antecedents, &c., and Salary expected to W. H. Monk, Esq., Glebe Field, Stoke Newington, N.

A PROFESSOR of MUSIC, retiring, wishes to introduce a Gentleman to his connexion; an energetic man could easily make £300 per annum; short distance from London. Terms, £50 cash. Address, Ernst, care of Messrs. Novello, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

ARTICLED PUPIL. — A Gentleman, holding the appointment of Organist and Choirmaster at one of the principal Churches in the suburbs of Manchester, wishes a YOUTH as ARTICLED PUPIL. Fine organ by Hill. For terms, &c., address J. M. F., care of Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

THE CURATE of a Country town would take into his house to live with him, free of expense, a gentlemanly YOUTH, who would come as PUPIL and ASSISTANT to the Organist, in the training of the Choir; must be able to play fairly well and accompany a musical service; one who has been in a Cathedral preferred; good organ. Address Rev. E. B., Merton House, Henley-on-Thames.

PIANOFORTE and HARMONIUM TUNER and REPAIRER (outdoors). Apply, stating salary, &c., to Heard and Sons, Music Warehouse, Truro.

A Thorough Practical PIANOFORTE and HARMONIUM TUNER, &c., will be open to an ENGAGEMENT at Christmas; ten years at present place. E. L. J., Novello, Ewer and Co.

A PIANOFORTE MAKER, who has worked at all the branches, an experienced repairer, understands Harmoniums, desires a SITUATION in the country. Address 10, Augustus-square, Regent's-park, London.

TO MUSICSELLERS, and Others.—The Advertiser wishes for an ENGAGEMENT as TUNER, &c. Good testimonials. Address X. K., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

TO PIANOFORTE DEALERS. — WANTED, a SITUATION as REPAIRER. Thoroughly understands the trade. Address V. R., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

PIANOFORTE TUNER and REPAIRER requires a RE-ENGAGEMENT; good testimonials. Address D. W., Mrs. Lambs, 9, Douglas-terrace, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

TO CHOIRMASTERS, &c.—A Quantity of Unsold Books, containing Tours in F (Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis); "O give thanks," Barnby; "We march, we march to victory," Barnby; and other Hymns; Ely Confession; Tallis's Responses, &c.—to be DISPOSED OF. Price 6d. Address J. Matthias Field, Lyme-grove, Bowdon, Cheshire.

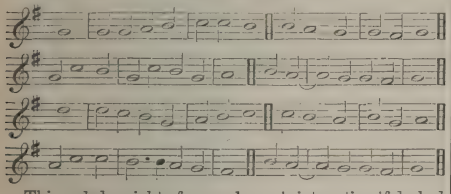
THE MUSICAL TIMES,

And Singing-Class Circular.

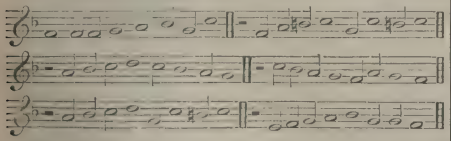
NOVEMBER 1, 1872.

"THE HYMNARY."

It is most interesting to observe how the character and style of Hymns has from time to time varied. That their character should thus perpetually vary is inevitable, since they are in a certain sense the reflex of those phases of religious thought which at intervals sweep over the human mind, and seem to carry in one direction all the emotions, the morality, and the intellect of each particular period. Hymn Tunes are, as might be expected, constantly changing in their style, as do the words. A cold, lifeless version of a Psalm, mercilessly deprived of all that makes it beautiful by the efforts made to force it into a rigid metre, will as inevitably in time produce a heartless Tune, as the too sentimental Hymn will lead to the growth of a pretty but unreal, if not mawkish, musical setting. Between these two extremes it is no easy matter to walk. Religious thought is nothing without enthusiasm, and enthusiasts do not always pause to consider the real merits of that which echoes their sentiments or is useful in propagating them. If our forefathers were foolish enough to drive Churchmen, by their weekly doses of Sternhold and Hopkins, and later, of Tate and Brady, into the conventicle where flowery melodies abounded, we on the other hand, may not be wise in giving our congregations Hymns which in no way can be distinguished in form and style from secular Part-Songs. We find it difficult to believe, when looking over the "apt notes to sing them withall," which Day wedded to Sternhold and Hopkins's version, how worshippers of that time (1562) ever dragged their voices through the long tame tunes. Here is one, from many such—



This melody might of course be made interesting if decked out in modern harmonies and modulations, but it would not then be fair to say that the Tune, as such, is of the sixteenth century. The syncopations in it will have no doubt been remarked, and it certainly would be difficult to get a congregation at the present time to sing them correctly. But they are of such common occurrence in old Tunes that we must take it for granted that our ancestors did sing them. The following is one of the two forms of the "Angels' Hymn," as printed in the now rare book, "Hymns and Songs of the Church," translated and composed by G. W. (G. Withor), in which the syncopations almost render it difficult to trace the construction of the melody—



Those who consider it their duty to use Tunes in their oldest known, or original form, will find this principle very difficult to carry out, even with many melodies which are of a simple character. The fact is, it is no crime to so far alter such a melody as to render it useful to the present generation, if care be taken that only conventional mannerisms are pared away. This will apply to a large number of Tunes in such collections as those of Est (1594), Allison (about 1600), Day (1562) and others. But although some of the tunes of this period are very fine, they are, as a rule, exceedingly dull, and moreover have such constant uniformity of cadences, that after playing or singing a large number of them, it is impossible to distinguish between them in the memory. The number of tunes is so great having for their dominant half-close—and for their final close—

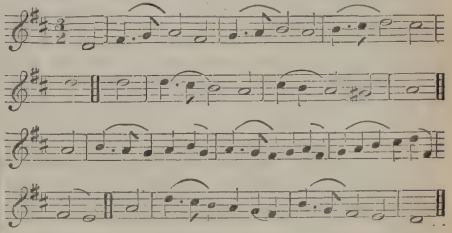
that a catalogue of no small length might be made of them.

It was only natural that a reaction should take place, and that melodies of a more striking character should come into popular favour; and, unfortunately, it was also only natural that the reaction should go too far in this direction, just as all reactionary movements overshoot the mark. Not only did secular graces and ornaments of all descriptions find their way into Sacred Tunes, but it became fashionable to have solos, duets, trios, etc., made part of them, and an unnecessary multiplication of notes became almost the smallest evil to which they were subjected. Everybody knows the Common Metre Tune "Sheffield," composed by Whitton, but how truly absurd does it now appear to us.—(Dr. Miller's Psalms, p. 80.)



This contains no less than twenty-nine notes, which have no separate syllable in the words! The graces that were added to old tunes at this period entirely concealed their original shape, as a well-known example of which may be cited the tune beginning which may be described as Tallis's Canon, in disguise. But this is not all; some Tunes were newly arranged so that they had all the appearance and effect of a Glee. For instance Carey's "Surrey" thus appears in Webbe's collection—

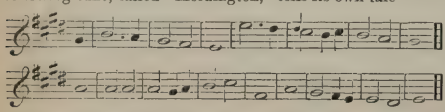
But, having made Tunes as much as possible similar to Glees, it was easy to take one step farther, and have real glees. We find therefore in the same collection, adaptations or rather simple transcriptions of "Amidst the myrtles," "You gave me your heart t'other day," "A generous friendship," "Ye spotted snakes," this last named being adapted to the words, "Warrior! to thy duty stand; Faithful to thy Saviour's call." Having once begun to use adaptations, melodies of all sorts quickly found their way into various collections—operatic, national, and from instrumental solos, etc. Many of those having composer's names, such as Mozart, Beethoven, etc., will be found on examination to consist of a very small quantity of the great master, combined with a very large proportion of editor. But the mania for transcriptions and adaptations must have reached its utmost height when even good chants were converted into bad hymn-tunes. The following tune, called "Mornington," tells its own tale—



It was impossible that much of such music could be heard without an uncomfortable feeling of satiety. The recoil from these flowery adaptations received a strong impulse when the English Church became, by the Oxford movement (as it is called), alive to the fact of its being Catholic. Then, all old Catholic melodies were eagerly sought out, and while Gregorian Tones summarily ejected elaborated Double Chants, unbarred melodies took the place of ornate Hymn-Tunes. But, of course, after a time it was found that the people could join devoutly in other melodies than those unbarred, and also that there was after all a certain gravity and catholicity about some of the old English Tunes. This more temperate view of the case led to a revival of many fine melodies of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, and an admirable collection made its appearance under the editorship of Havergal. But tunes of this stamp could never be fitly joined to words full of fervour, and rich in poetic expression. And as such hymns are now far more common than any others, a new musical setting has become a necessity. It will be easy to prognosticate before opening "The Hymnary," that some tunes will be found to have gone too far in the direction in which all modern tunes are hurrying, namely, into the semi-dramatic part-song. But this is not a drawback to the general value of the book, because the collection is so large, that only part of it can possibly be used. The various and somewhat secular metres into which many modern hymns are moulded, offer great temptation to the tune-writer to secularize his style of music also. But after all, it is no easy matter to draw a hard and fast line between sacred and secular music. If it be true that much which is called sacred were better called secular, it is equally true that much which is called secular stimulates the religious sentiment of its hearers, and might well be called sacred. The hymn-tune writer is greatly and rightly influenced by the nature of the words, and any blame which attaches to impropriety of style ought to be divided equally between author and composer. In criticising Hymnals it must always be borne in mind that the one latest issued has the enormous advantage of being able to profit not only by the contents of its predecessors, so far as they are good, but by the example of their shortcomings. "The Hymnary" therefore must be judged by a high standard, as it follows closely on several very meritorious works of its kind. In our next we shall commence a review of its contents in detail.

PAPER REPUTATION.

By Henry C. Lunn.

We have heard it remarked by a person thoroughly competent to pronounce an opinion on the subject, that if you can afford to pay for calling yourself a clever fellow in print every day for a twelvemonth, at the end of that time the public will believe you. This assertion, although true in the main, needs, perhaps, some qualification; for it requires talent as well as capital to advertise with success. The wording of this kind of self-laudation, for instance, must be well studied; for any attempt to express your estimate of yourself with timidity will inevitably fail. Many people desirous of pursuing this system will perhaps refer to those who know them, in testimony of their talent, or indirectly "solicit a trial" of their powers. This is a mistake; for the very admission of the possibility of a doubt on the matter weakens your cause. The statement must be given boldly and confidently, as a fact which it would be a crime to hide; and, although absolutely intended to benefit yourself, it must appear as if it were intended to benefit the public. Thus, a doctor who has for many years cured everybody, apparently for his own amusement, feels that he can no longer deprive the world of the benefit of his talent, and generously, therefore, enters the profession and advertises for patients. A gentleman, having for many years deeply studied the subject, offers to invest money to any amount in such a manner as to realise a fortune. It never occurs to those who reply to these advertisements that a guarantee of the doctor's qualifications would be desirable; nor does it appear strange to them that a person who can so easily make a fortune for other people should not have made one for himself. Provided the names are sufficiently kept before the public eye, a belief in the honesty of the advertisers gradually strengthens, and patients and speculators drop in by the hundred.

All who peruse the advertisement pages of newspapers and journals devoted to music must be aware how numerous are the professors who periodically announce themselves as, not only equal, but far superior to, those unassuming individuals who prefer to build up their fame by gradually winning the estimation of the public. No undue modesty prevents them from elevating themselves to so exalted a position upon paper; for, considering that they pay for their place, there is no reason why they should not have a good one. They offer no test of their efficiency; for, as they grant themselves their own diploma, they rely only upon the patronage of that portion of the public which will accept them at their own valuation. They desire not to compete with their brother professors, for there is so much favouritism shown that they never receive fair play, and "paper reputation" is gained without the necessity of undergoing the inconvenient ceremonials of examinations and other inventions of the enemy. It is true that out of the newspapers they hold no rank, but in it they are great men; and it is better, they think, to be great in a small world than small in a great one. The number of those who place implicit faith in what they see in print is tolerably numerous; and the manufacturers of "paper reputation" can always, therefore, calculate upon a good return for the capital they invest.

Has not every musical reader constantly met with the advertisement of the anonymous "Signor," who heads his announcement "To vocalists and pianists," and guarantees to "finish above, if competent to assist at his soirées and concerts?" How many aspirants for fame, we wonder, has he "finished" since his "paper reputation" was established; and do any of those who are pronounced sufficiently competent to receive his valuable instruction ever inquire whether he is "competent" to teach them? Then have we not often read the startling intimation that a professor, whose name is strange to us, has thoroughly proved that the system of teaching singing is radically wrong? That he has discovered some extraordinary facts connected with the "glottis" and the "larynx" which will enable him to produce such singers as have never yet been known? Why it is that the vocalists who place themselves under his care are not afterwards heard of we cannot say; but certain it is that he makes it answer, or his advertisement would not be continued. But, of all the extraordinary announcements ever issued to the public, we cannot remember one to match the following, which we reprint, merely suppressing the name of the advertiser:—

"£50 offered to any one who will prove, which is better than to resort as of old, to crotchety twaddles, from vulgar prejudices, and to as ridiculous excuses for not accepting improvements, viz., that in any one single case the most gifted child has, or can, realize, either as much, so well or approaching to it, on the antiquated rubbish of the present instruction books for the piano, what on Mr. ——'s Improved Art learners, even under the average of talent have, as may be witnessed this afternoon, as on the last Friday of every month, at his Academy. Full particulars for one stamp from the Author." Casual readers of this advertisement who have succeeded in putting this curious jumble of words into some kind of shape, might still be puzzled by the punctuation, and wonder, for instance, what the writer could mean by his "Improved Art learners;" but we have patiently solved the mystery, and find that this professor has not only steadily adhered to the advice we have given as to styling himself unreservedly a "clever fellow," but that he has actually gone beyond it, and called everybody else a fool. Whether this is judicious we can scarcely, perhaps, determine; but cannot help thinking that it would be politic to be somewhat more lenient towards those who have not been gifted by nature with the exceptional intellect of the advertiser. It is good, of course, to be blessed with such a power, but it is the duty, as it should be the pleasure, of the possessor of it to look down with gentle tolerance upon those whom the world has been hitherto accustomed to regard as great artists, and who have all been trained upon the very "antiquated rubbish" which is, in the advertisement we have quoted, so sweepingly condemned.

Those persons unacquainted with the prevalent system of building up a reputation upon paper might reasonably imagine that they could know but little of the musical world when they find vocalists whose names never appear at the concerts which they attend, advertised as "celebrated" and "eminent;" but the real fact is that, as advertisements are paid for by the word, the cost of such a prefix to the name is but small, and the result, as soon as the public begins to believe in the truth of it, is often very large; for, as a young doctor, with but few patients, takes a house in a fashionable neighbourhood, keeps his carriage and makes a show of being very busy, in order to gain business, so a young singer, with but few engagements, writes himself down as "celebrated," with a latent hope that, by constantly asserting the fact, he may eventually become so.

The physical peculiarities of lady advertisers are sometimes as carefully paraded as the statement of their mental powers; but this may perhaps scarcely be wondered at when we find that advertisements from those by whom they are employed require that a carte shall be enclosed by every applicant. Thus, a lady "of prepossessing appearance," and a "brilliant pianist" (the personal attractions being placed first), is desirous of an engagement as superintendent in a fashionable music warehouse; and we have lately seen an advertisement from one who, in stating her qualifications for a similar situation, mentions that she is "tall" and can "play at sight." The "prepossessing" lady may, of course, heighten the effect of the music which she interprets to her customers by the fascination of her manner; but how the fact of being "tall" can be any recommendation we are at a loss to understand, save that, by thus being enabled to play, not only "at sight," but at a "very long sight," she would be invariably independent of the height of the music desk.

Before the rise of "paper reputation" an "Academy of Music" was understood to be a national institution, presided over by a professor selected from the most eminent artists of the day, and filled in every department by those whose competence to teach had been tested by years of experience. Now, of course, the case is different; for, as the public will generally accept any man as a musician of the first class who sufficiently advertises that he is so, "Academies" arise in every part of the metropolis and its suburbs, and with such high-sounding titles as to deceive most persons into the belief that they are something very different from mere individual speculations. Mr. A., who lives, we will say, in the district of Tyburnia, receives pupils at his residence, and is known but little of; let him, however, transform his house into the "Tyburnian Academy of Music, Principal, Mr. A., Lady Superintendent, Mrs. A.," and students flock to him in large numbers, under the supposition that they are entering an "institution" instead of a private house; and so firmly is the public convinced of this that we have often heard great surprise expressed when we have confessed our ignorance of the acquirements of one of these "Principals," whose name, we are assured, is "so constantly in the papers."

It is unnecessary to multiply instances, for we have said enough to prove our position that "paper reputation"—being manufactured by systematically taking advantage of the fact that nine-tenths of the public will not take the trouble to assure themselves of the truth of an advertised assertion—is not only successful, but is likely to continue so. Must it not, then, be a comforting reflection to many that newspapers should be ever ready, for a consideration, to confer a degree upon a professor without the slightest enquiry as to his fitness for it; and on the other hand, ought not the confiding readers to feel grateful for the information thus conveyed; for, were it not for such mediums of communication, how could they ever become acquainted with the large amount of talent existing around them?

NATIONAL MUSIC MEETINGS AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE—Midsummer 1873.

Mr. Willert Beale's plan of competitive performances is being developed by the Directors of the Crystal Palace, with commendable earnestness and activity. The first meetings in June last were of necessity tentative in character. They served to prove the practicability of the scheme in every detail, and convinced all those who gave any attention to the project, that it will ultimately serve the cause of art materially, by elevating the standard of musical taste both among executants and their audience.

The arrangements for the second series of meetings to be held next Midsummer have been published since our last issue.

The music to be prepared for competition has been selected, and being made known so soon, ample time for study is given to intending competitors. The list is a test-list in every sense of the word. The pieces are few, but they are of the very best. Six in each class have been considered sufficient for Choral and Instrumental Societies to prepare, while eight is the maximum number for Soloists. The selection is in all respects judicious. Even to unsuccessful competitors it will be useful to acquire a knowledge of such music as has been chosen.

The prize list for the next meetings is considerably increased. A purse of £100 is added to the Challenge Prize in Class I. This sum of money, in addition to the Champion Cup, formed, we believe, part of the original scheme, and has been reverted to in order to induce large bodies of vocalists to come forward, as they undoubtedly will, now that there is a chance of winning something that will go towards defraying the expenses they must necessarily incur.

A Special Class has also been formed for Church, Chapel, and Village Choirs. A prize of £30 is given in this class, which of course is open to choirs of every denomination. An extra Class is established for Brass Bands and also for Instrumental Solo playing. It is intended to offer a prize of £25 for some Instrument each successive year, with a view to improving orchestral playing—a wise step certainly. This prize next year will be given for the best performance upon a slide or valve trumpet. The other prizes for Choral Societies and Solo Vocalists remain as heretofore, with the exception of that for Glee Singing which has been withdrawn. Glee singers can, however, enter for a certificate of merit, as can indeed any and every musician, or bodies of musicians, an important feature of Mr. Beale's plan being that of granting certificates to those who are willing to undergo examination by any of the juries elected to award prizes. In this respect, the National Music Meetings are academic in their bearing, and have a most advantageous tendency. In the Rules and Regulations, a stipulation has been introduced which prevents the possibility hereafter of a "walk-over." Should there be but one entry for competition in any class, information will be given by the 8th March 1873, that competition in that class is impossible. This is but right, although we doubt much if the stipulation be necessary, the entries for next year promising to be more numerous than it will be possible to entertain. The directors will probably find the rule which limits the number of competitors in each class more useful. The experiment having been tried and found successful, all are now anxious to support the movement, which at first was looked upon with some hesitation.

Added to the money prizes we have enumerated, competitors will find the attractions of the forthcoming meetings increased by second prizes being given in several classes. These second prizes have been offered by different eminent firms.

Messrs. Alexandre, for instance, give one of their best fifty guinea harmoniums as a second prize in Class 1; Messrs. Besson offer valuable brass instruments, and other firms contribute collections of music as second prizes in other classes. Thus the judges will have it in their power to award prizes amounting in value to £1,575, music, musical instruments, and certificates of merit to those who may deserve them.

The National Music Meetings are already assuming very large proportions; and they will in due time unquestionably constitute an institution which must have a favourable influence upon the progress of good music in this country.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

The Saturday afternoon concerts at this establishment commenced on the 5th ult., before a large audience. Amongst the orchestral pieces, Spontini's Overture "Olympie," and Mr. F. H. Cowen's "Festival Overture" excited much interest, the former as being an excellent specimen of the dramatic power of a composer who once held a high place, and the latter as being the promising work of a young writer, who, if he be not spoiled by the applause with which his Overture was greeted at the Norwich Festival, may yet do better things. A word of praise is due to Madame Mangold Diehl (formerly known as Miss Alice Mangold) for her very refined performance of Chopin's Romance and Rondo, from his pianoforte concerto in E minor. Although perhaps slightly wanting in physical power, Madame Mangold has thoroughly caught the spirit of Chopin's music, and the warm demonstrations of approval which she elicited were fairly and most legitimately earned. At the second concert, Spohr's "Die Weihe der Töne" (which is still translated "The Power of Sound") had as fine a rendering as we have ever heard in this country, and was received with such evident delight by the audience as to make us believe that the performance of a trivial French Gavotte (notwithstanding that it may have been written by Louis the Thirteenth) at the same concert, is an artistic mistake; for although it was encored, such a demand could hardly have come from the most enlightened portion of the listeners, and it is precisely to this portion that the Crystal Palace music should appeal.

Wagner's "Rienzi" Overture is scarcely a fair sample of its composer's style, and it made but a feeble impression upon the audience. Mr. Frout's Organ concerto, excellently played by Dr. Stainer at the third concert, fully merits the applause it received. All the movements are written with a masterly hand, the subjects are fresh and vigorously treated, and the combination of the instrument with the orchestra shows a thorough knowledge of effect. The "Andante" has an exceedingly winning theme, and the movement was listened to with that marked attention which is the surest sign of success. At the conclusion of the concerto Mr. Prout was called forward and vigorously applauded. The strong portion of the Saturday concerts, the instrumental, has this season become, if possible, stronger; but the weak portion, the vocal, has become, if possible, weaker. Signor Gustav Garcia, who was to have sung at the opening concert, was indisposed, and the omission was supplied by Madame Sinico's kindly volunteering one of Haydn's Canzonets. At the following concert a second-rate Italian baritone, Signor Mottino, proved his inefficiency, and a Mr. J. W. Turner, at the third concert, gave a mild version of Donizetti's "Angiol d'amor," and a ballad by Mr. F. Clay. All these shortcomings cannot be compensated for by the excellent vocalisation of Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, and Madame Sinico, especially when they are allowed to choose such well-worn songs as Gounod's "Air des bijoux" and Handel's "Sweet bird."

An evening concert, under the direction of Mr. Edward Coles, was given on the 11th ult., at the Vestry Hall, on the occasion of the opening of the winter session of the Chelsea Literary and Scientific Institution. Miss Julia Augarde was highly successful in two pianoforte solos, as were also Miss Clara Buley and Mr. E. Paine in a Duet for Two pianos by Thalberg. Mr. Chaplin Henry sang "In sheltered vale," and "Homeward Bound," with much effect, and Miss Clara Buley admirably acquitted herself of a very trying task in the rendering of the "Air Rossignol" (Massé). Two glees, "Come, Boys, drink," and "The Tar's Song," were capitally given by Messrs. Smith, Coles, Simmons and Odell, the latter gentleman also gaining applause for "The Yeoman's Wedding Song." The same may be said of Miss Matilda Scott in the "Ash Grove," and Miss Beryl in "Forget me not" (Ganz). The part-song, "In this hour of softened splendour," Pinsuti (in which Miss Jessie Jones Miss Clara Buley, Miss Beryl, Mr. Gifford, and Mr. Chaplin Henry took part), was warmly received. The concert was a decided success, and reflected credit on Mr. Coles's direction.

The October Monthly Concert of the St. George's Glee Unicn, given at the Pimlico Rooms on the 4th ult. was chiefly noticeable for the singing of Mr. Thurley Beale in "The Wanderer" (Schubert), "The Village Blacksmith," and "The Yeoman's Wedding Song." The pianoforte playing of Miss Julie Augarde was thoroughly successful, and in a vocal solo Miss Florence Wydford elicited well-deserved applause. A quaint old English air, of date 1650, "Once I loved a maiden fair" (by Miss Horder and Messrs. Garside, Coles and Odell), two quartetts, "Absence," Hatton (by Messrs. Garside, Coles, Livingstone and Thurley Beale), and "Good morrow to my lady bright" (Macirone), and a trio, "Fair Flora decks" (Danby), were excellently rendered, and amply testified to the skill of Mr. Garside, the conductor, no less than to the talent of the choir. Miss Augarde and Miss C. Buley were effective accompanists.

Miss Mary Fisher (daughter of Mr. David Fisher, the comedian) gave her first "Soirée Musicale" at the Athenæum, Camden Road, on the 10th ult. The principal feature of the programme was the pianoforte performance of the concert-giver, which elicited the warmest and most encouraging marks of approbation from the audience. Beethoven's "Sonata Appassionata," the same composer's Duet in G, for violin and pianoforte, and several lighter pieces exhibited with much success the varied styles of the young pianist, and her playing was also highly effective in a Trio by Haydn, and a Quartett by Mozart. She was ably assisted by her father, who is an excellent violinist, Messrs. Zerbini and G. H. Girtin, and in the vocal department by Miss Julian and Miss Violetta Zerbini.

A successful concert, under the direction of Mr. John Stedman, was given at the Birkbeck Institution on the 16th ult., the principal vocalists being Miss Emily Spiller, Miss Helen Standish, Mr. Stedman, Mr. Thurley Beale, and Mr. R. Limpus. There were several encores during the evening, Messrs. Stedman and Thurley Beale receiving this compliment for all their songs. The concerted music went exceedingly well, and the programme was agreeably varied by the performance of Messrs. Henry Parker (pianoforte) and Otto Booth (violin). The room was crowded in every part, and the music appeared to give the utmost satisfaction to the audience.

A Portfolio for carrying music, manufactured by the inventor, Mr. E. J. Willson, is unquestionably the very best we have yet seen. Its appearance is extremely elegant, being covered with morocco, ornamented tastefully with designs in gilt, the names of several of the most distinguished composers forming a border, and a wreath of flowers appearing in the centre, especially dedicated to Mendelssohn. A great advantage in this invention is that the music will be thoroughly protected, the back being formed of moulded metal, and the ends, also of metal, being completely closed. We can strongly recommend this handsome music-case as a most appropriate and useful little present for Christmas.

We understand that the Railway Clearing House Musical Society is rapidly progressing, under the able direction of Mr. William Lemare, and that the first performance for the present season was given at the General Meeting Room, Euston Station, on the 31st ult., with much success. At the second concert, in December, Mr. Joseph Barnby's Cantata "Rebekah," and Mendelssohn's finale to "Loreley," will be given.

We have received admissions for some "National Ballad Concerts," to be given at St. George's Hall, with the following notice printed on each ticket:—"Every person must obtain a Book of Words at the doors." The good old custom of presenting programmes to the audience has, we know, long since departed; but the purchase of any list of the pieces to be performed has at least been hitherto considered optional. As we have no intention of noticing any musical entertainments conducted on such a principle as the Director of these "Ballad Concerts" has initiated, we shall of course not subject ourselves to this novel tax; but as the preliminary announcement of the concerts, which is now before us, does not contain any such stipulation as we have mentioned, we should like to be informed whether purchasers are made aware for the first time of this addition to the cost of admission after they have obtained their tickets at the advertised prices.

We are requested by Mr. C. J. Bishenden to state that the Promenade Concerts, announced to take place early in the last month, under his direction, could not be given, in consequence of the lessee of the theatre which he had engaged informing him that, owing to an oversight as to dates, the establishment would be required for dramatic purposes. It is still, however, his intention to commence the concerts as soon as a suitable building can be obtained.

On Michaelmas Day, after the Evening Service, a handsome inkstand, accompanied by an address, was presented by the choir-boys of St. Saviour's, Pimlico, to Mr G. R. Egerton, on his leaving St. Saviour's to take the post of organist at St. Michael's, Chester Square. The address was read by the vicar, the Rev. J. Walker, in the vestry, in the presence of the choir. Mr. V. Egerton was a pupil of Mr. Coward of the Crystal Palace, by whose son he is succeeded at St. Saviour's. He bears with him to his new post the best wishes of every one at St. Saviour's, where, by thorough devotion to his work as Choirmaster and Organist, he had greatly improved the services of the Church.

Important Sale of Music Copyrights.—The sale of the Music Plates and Copyrights of Messrs. Lamborn Cock and Co. (in consequence of dissolution of partnership), has recently been concluded by Messrs. Puttick and Simpson of Leicester Square. The prices obtained throughout were very high, and in some cases extraordinary. We subjoin a list of the more important lots. Lot 124, "My Queen," song by Blumenthal, £153 (Cramer). 159 to 167, A series of Songs by Miss Davis, £636 6s. (ditto). 194, Hatton's "Voices of the Western Wind," song, £117 10s. (J. Williams). 234, Chamber Trios by English and Foreign Composers, forming 4 vols. £1,001 (Cramer). 405, Sir M. Costa's "Naaman," £463 12s. 10d. (L. Cock). 449, Six two-part songs by Pinsuti, £93 2s. (ditto). 466 to 499, Pianoforte solos and duets by Sir Sterndale Bennett, £541 18s. 11d. 595 Sir Sterndale Bennett's "May Queen," £1,837 10s. (a member of Sir Sterndale Bennett's family). 604, Cooper's Introduction to the Organ, £167 10s. (Cramer). 608, Henry Smart, "King Réné's Daughter," cantata, £166 13s. (Hutchings and Romer). 616, Pinsuti, "I heard a voice," song, £131 15s. (Metzler). 618, "Maiden's Flower Song," by ditto, £96 (J. Williams). 623, "The Swallow," by ditto, £76 10s. (Metzler). 625, A series of six songs by ditto, £129 (L. Cock). 655, "West Wind," song by Alice M. Smith, £70 16s. (ditto). 716, Sir J. Benedict's "Legend of St. Cecilia," £202 15s. 2d. (Hutchings and Romer). 717, Callcott's "Sacred Half-hours," £408 (ditto). 718 to 740, Various Arrangements for the Pianoforte, &c., by W. H. Callcott, £651 3s. 743, John Thomas's Welsh Melodies, £1,537 16s. (B. Williams). Pinsuti, "The sea hath its pearls," part song, £192 10s. (Hutchings and Romer). 781, Six songs, with English and German words, by Sir W. S. Bennett, £255 (L. Cock). 782, Another series of six songs, £103 19s (ditto). 834, Sir W. S. Bennett's "Woman of Samaria," £590 2s. (a member of Sir Sterndale Bennett's family). 850, Lillo (G.), "La Desolazione," song, £126 (Cramer). 855, Marras (G.), "S'io fossi un' angelo del l'aradiso," song, £134 8s. (Cramer). 864, Meyerbeer's "Gli Ugonotti," £185 7s. 6d. (Ashdown and Parry). 914, John Thomas's "Llewelyn," £210 (L. Cock). The three days' sale produced nearly £15,000.

Mr. J. Baucutt's Musical and Literary Entertainments commenced for the season in the Pimlico Rooms on Thursday evening the 10th ult. Miss Agnes L. Fielding and Mrs. Rolfe were highly successful in their vocal solos; and a duet sung by Miss A. L. Fielding and Mr. L. Wells, was received with warm applause. Mr. F. Matthews played some brilliant solos on the pianoforte, and also accompanied the songs and duets. Prior to the commencement of the concert, a smartly written Prologue was well spoken by Mr. J. Baucutt, who also informed the audience that for the future his Entertainments would take place every Thursday evening, instead of Mondays as heretofore.

A musical performance was given by the blind pupils of the London Society for Teaching the Blind to Read, at the Institution, Avenue Road, Regent's Park, on Friday the 18th ult. The first part of the programme consisted of sacred, and the second part of secular, music, all of which was executed in a highly praiseworthy style. Mendelssohn's Organ Sonata, No. 2, was played with much effect, and elicited warm and well-deserved applause. The concert was under the able direction of Mr. Edwin Barnes, Professor of Music at the Society's Schools.

The first Harvest Festival was held in the Church of St. Botolph, Aldersgate, on Thursday evening the 10th ult., and also on the following Sunday. The Church was beautifully decorated with fruit, flowers and corn, by the ladies of the parish. The choir on Thursday evening was considerably strengthened by members of the London Church Choir Association, numbering in all over 60 voices. The Preces, &c., by Tallis, were intoned by the Rev. the Sub-Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral. The "Magnificat" and "Nunc dimittis," Garrett in F. The Anthem, "Ascribe unto the Lord" (S. S. Wesley), was finely rendered by the choir. Greene's "Thou visitest the earth," was sung before the sermon. The Service on Sunday was Garrett in F throughout. Morning Anthem, "O Lord how manifold" (Barnby), Evening Anthem "The Wilderness" (Goss). Mr. J. R. Murray presided at the organ. The church was crowded at all the services.

British Orchestral Association.—This is the name of a new Society, whose operations will excite much interest. Its constitution is somewhat unusual, and its object is more so. It is composed, not of professional, but of amateur musicians, men of means, who guarantee the expenses of a series of concerts they are about to give, and, in being thus independent of public favour, employ the likeliest of all plans for securing it. Their purpose is to prove the ability of Englishmen to discharge the duties of orchestral players, whose test is to be the performance of works of the highest class wholly without the co-operation of artists born out of this country. The purpose is a bold one, for prejudice and influence are against it, but it is not unprecedented. Thirty-eight years ago, the Society of British Musicians began its valuable career with a band of exclusively native players, and that band was eminently efficient, and was acknowledged so to be. The institution, however, paid no fees, and, with all possible zeal for what folks were then wont to call "the cause," the best patriots soon wearied of working for a principle, though it involved a general interest, since it did not particularly affect their own, and the splendid band of the Society's first concert was rarely equalled in the after performances. The new establishment starts on a different basis, and it should take a firmer and more permanent footing. The members of the orchestra are to number seventy-five. Like them, the solo singers and players are all to be natural, not naturalised, subjects of the realm. So, too, is to be the conductor, Mr. George Mount, who has learned the discipline of the orchestra by working in it, and has run so long effectively in harness that he may now be safely trusted to take the reins. The concerts are to be at a season when nothing else of the kind is going on in London. They are to be given on Thursday evenings in St. James's Hall. They are to comprise a Symphony, a Concerto, and two Overtures, which, for the most part, are to be chosen from the classics; but the English element is not to be omitted from the compound, for two of the concertos of Sterndale Bennett and W. G. Cusins are selected for performance, and four of our countrymen have been invited to write works expressly for the series. All who love music must wish well to the undertaking.—Communicated.

Reviews.

Novello, Ewer and Co.

The Bride of Dunkerron: a Dramatic Cantata. The Verse by Frederick Enoch. The Music by Henry Smart.

Now that Mr. Henry Smart's beautiful Cantata is published in the octavo edition, there may be some hope of its being appreciated at its real worth; for, whatever may be the merit of a work, its appearance only in an expensive form effectually prevents its diffusion amongst the general public. Originally produced at the Birmingham Festival of 1864, where its success was most decisive, it has, from the cause we have stated, been but rarely heard since, although the music is well known to the artistic minority, and one at least of its choruses, "Hail to thee, hail to thee, child of the earth," has made its way with vocal amateurs, apart from the Cantata. The many who will now examine this composition for the first time, cannot fail to be struck with the excellence of several of the pieces, amongst which may be especially mentioned the chorus of Storm-spirits, "Down thro' the deep," the duet for Dunkerron and the Sea-maiden, "I heard thy voice," the trio, "Where art thou, son of a mortal race?" and the the Sea-maiden's air, "Our home shall be on this bright isle," all of which are really charming specimens of Mr. Smart's graceful and melodious style. Much of the effect of the score is reflected in the pianoforte part, which is most carefully arranged throughout, the "Intermezzo" being also published for four hands. The Cantata is in every respect admirably adapted for drawing-room performance, for there is a refinement about both the story and the music which must recommend it to every listener; and amateur singers will be delighted with the purity of the vocal writing. The work has evidently been excellently revised, and is presented to the public in its new shape without a fault.

Processional Hymn, "The Sword of the Lord." The words by Mrs. John Turner; the Music composed by C. Warwick Jordan, Mus. Bac., Oxon.

The verses before us recount in brief the story of Gideon, and apply in metaphor to the Christian Church. They are spirited, and as clear as their symbolical nature would allow them to be. They have also the merit (rare in poems which are used for hymns) of symmetrical rhythm, ht is, the syllables and their accentuation fit the music equally well in every stanza. They are set to a racy tune, somewhat inclined to vulgarity perhaps, but full of animation. There is a prelude for the organ; the tune is for voices in unison throughout, and the alternate stanzas are accompanied, the one, note against note, with the tune, the other with an entirely free organ part, which sometimes leaves the voices alone, and, against a firm and numerous choir, will have a capital effect. The composer apparently has no prejudice against false relation, and in this respect resembles rather the musicians of the 17th century than of the 19th; but, like the duelling habits of our forefathers, a musical practice of an older time has grown to be highly objectionable in our own, and there is more temerity than taste in its present use. Words and notes both savour of the parade more than of the cloister; and if they suit the name of the Church Militant, it is doubtful if they inculcate the Gospel of Peace. The hymn was written for the celebration of the annual festival of the English Church Union held in the churches of St. Stephen, Lewisham, and St. Lawrence, Jewry, in June 1869; and its sale has reached the second thousand.

Processional Hymn, for Feasts of Apostles, "The King of Saints;" and Offertory Sentence, "He that Soweth." By C. Warwick Jordan, Mus. Bac., Oxon.

The verses of this hymn are from the same hand as the foregoing; but, with the same metrical fluency, they have a higher and purer poetical character. So, too, the music is in a more religious vein, and if less stirring, it is more devotional. The piece was written for the dedication festival of St. Michael's Church at Hulme, near Manchester, where its annual performance—it was given there on the 29th of September and at the preparatory festival on the 26th, this year—shows it to be an established favourite.

The Offertory Sentence is an allowable application of the text to the occasion of harvest, the temporal allusion illustrating, and so strengthening, the spiritual metaphor. The music is smooth, and appropriate, in its simplicity, to the season and circumstances for which it was designed. The composer has a feeling for harmony and a melodious fluency.

Benedictus founded on the Eighth Tone. Arranged by C. Warwick Jordan, Mus. Bac., Oxon.

This setting of the canticle was designed specially for use at the churches of St. Stephen, Lewisham, and St. Lawrence, Jewry; of the former of which, the arranger (as he diffidently styles himself, rather than composer) is the organist and choir-master. Arrangement here involves a far larger responsibility than mostly is implied by the term, namely,—the fitting of the notes of the chant to the words, and the addition of the organ (which in one sense comprises the entire music) to the voice part. The variation of harmony for each repetition of the eighth tone displays much ingenuity, and if the progressions are not always immaculate, the organ accompaniment goes a long way toward making the plain-song interesting. It seems at first anomalous to apply in some cases the extremest modern harmonies to so ancient a melody; but when it is remembered that the very earliest style of harmony is new in comparison with the real, much more with the assumed date of the tone; when it is consequently evident that all harmony whatever upon such a theme is an anachronism, a hundred years or two can be of little moment as to the school or style or age to which the accompaniment may belong. The "tones" are falsely called in common Church parlance, "Gregorian," and so are falsely named the scales or modes in which they are cast. Falsely, because, although a man may have full right to call his son Thomas or Peter or anything else comprehended in the wide range of the "N. or M." of the Church Catechism, the clergy should have no right to give a name to a system of music, which misleads, as to the historical origin of this system, the thousands who are ignorant in a branch of knowledge that is most difficult of access. People are tempted to believe, from the term "Gregorian," that the music with which the clergy associate it is to be traced to the period of Pope Gregory the Great, if not to himself; and hence they are wont to ascribe to it the sanctity of primitive use and long standing. The fact is little known, that Gregory, great as he was, knew nothing of what men are pleased to call his musical system, nor that the system was not devised till several centuries after the decease of the illustrious prelate. The so-called "Gregorian Tones" are doubtless old, but not so old, by ages, as is generally supposed. Thus, they have no true association, as is sometimes imagined, with the use of the early Church. They were composed when harmony was unknown in the south, consequently without reference to any harmonic principles, and further, consequently, without intention that they should ever be harmonised. Gloomy, nay solemn, may certainly be the effect of some of these crude melodies, especially when sung, as was originally intended, without harmony; but it is a perversion of their use to modernize their character with the softening and variable qualification of added harmony. This may render them acceptable to hearers in our times, who are accustomed to music with all its latest developed resources; the "Gregorian tones," however, if they can only thus be acceptable, are accepted under false pretences, since themselves are misrepresented, and in their disguises they fail to represent the church of any other period than the present day. Whatever then the merit of Mr. Jordan's composition upon the eighth tone—and it is fully entitled to be so classed, so judged, and so applauded—we must regret that his talent and acquirements should have been spent upon a task, the success of which may tend to promote the use of this system of music, that is at variance with modern use and modern feeling. The English people have a right to demand for the music of the Church what the law commands for the words of the prayers, namely,—that it be in the language "understanded of the people;" whereas, neither the people, nor the clergy, nor the majority of musicians, understand the system of music which a mistaken zeal has of late endeavoured to resuscitate, and to insinuate under false colours into the service. We deplore the object of Mr. Jordan's task, but consider the task efficiently discharged.

The Nicene Creed, set to Music by William Blakeley.

We cannot give unqualified praise to this piece. There are some peccadilloes in the part writing that might pass notice were they surrounded by such beauties as would draw attention from them; and there is blameable disregard of orthoepy in the setting the last syllable of "invisible" to the first note of a bar whose position in the phrase commands a strong accent. This last is a matter to which some good musicians give too little attention, and which was all but wholly overlooked by the church writers of the last century; but, if we are to have any concern for the union of sound and sense, it requires most careful consideration.

Mr. Blakeley's piece is, however, not without merit, and, performed under his direction in Thorne's Church, Wakefield, of which he is organist, it doubtless makes a fair effect.

Preludes and other Short Pieces for the Organ. Composed by Francis Edward Gladstone.

The successor to Mr. E. H. Thorne in the office of organist at Chichester Cathedral, has something considerable to do to make up for the loss of a remarkably clever musician; and we may regard this work as a token of his skill both as a player and a composer. In the former capacity he must, to do justice to his own music, have such smoothness and distinctness as insure other valuable executive qualities, and it is fair to believe, too, that he has such intimacy with the peculiarities of the several stops as enables him effectively to combine and contrast them. In the character of producer, he must rather be praised for carefulness than invention. From this general verdict on the pieces before us we except No. 10, Andante Lamentivole in B minor, No. 11, Andante Affettuoso in F sharp minor (in which we admire the cessation of harmony in the bars preceding the resumption of the opening phrase, as giving extra charm both to the theme and its accompaniment when the harmony begins again, a device that might have been more frequently employed throughout the series with good effect), and No. 13, Andante in G, in which the rhythm and phrasing are more obvious than in some of its fellows. In this piece and in No. 6 the bars are wrongly divided; both movements should begin on the third instead of the first crotchet, and so secure the closing of the chief phrases on the first of the bar, which is now on the third. Some greater, and many inferior composers have committed this same error, but the rare instance of an inaccuracy in a master, any more than its too frequent appearance in a writer of small esteem, cannot furnish authority for an evident impropriety; and this particular subject demands attention, because of the liability of some good musicians to fall into the same incorrectness which here we lament. The present author is not more to be blamed than many of his companions and some of his betters for this matter of barring, but we enjoin him to look at all the Gavottes of Bach (which are distinguished from the Bourrées of the same master, by beginning on the third of the bar), at "Where the bee sucks," by Arne, at "Batti, batti," and the duet of Famina and Papageno in the Zauberflöte, by Mozart, at the melody to the words "Dite voi" in the great Scena, "Ah perfido," and at the principal theme in the Choral Fantasia by Beethoven, at the Andante in the Pianoforte Trio in D minor by Mendelssohn, and at many another example for the quotation of which there is no space, where he will find distinct illustration of our meaning. In No. 12 he gives a singular prominence to that beautiful chord of the minor second of the key, F flat in the key of E flat, which moves the hearer with pleasure wherever it occurs, but which has seldom been used, as in the case before us, for the penultimate harmony of a piece; in the part-song, "Shortest and longest," of Walter Macfarren, recently reviewed in these columns, the same exceptional use of the chord occurs, but with better effect, for, being there in the first inversion, it proceeds to the tonic harmony without the progression by an augmented second, which takes from its beauty in the present instance. The work is comprised in two books, that contain in all eighteen movements, few of which exceed, and some are within, a page in length. They are, all but one, in a slow tempo, mostly some modification of Andante; and they are, generally speaking, such as, if an organist cannot extemporise something to the same purport, he may be glad to play for the opening of a Service.

Tarantelle, pour Piano.
Chanson du Savoyard, pour Piano.
Par E. Pauer.

Whatever life there is in many of the Tarantellas which come before us may be traced solely to the fact of their running forward at a rapid rate, in triplets; but Herr Pauer's dance has the genuine Neapolitan flavour, and is moreover so truly melodious, that we can conscientiously recommend it to pianists who are attracted by mere tune, as well as to those who desire that even their lightest pieces shall bear the unmistakable stamp of artistic workmanship. The theme, commencing in E minor, is extremely animated, and the change into the tonic major is bright and effective, some judicious modulations giving as much variety as the ear requires in so simple a composition. The return to the minor, with a brilliant coda, brings the piece to an effective termination. The "Chanson du Savoyard," beginning with a characteristic pedal bass, in G minor, has a most attractive theme, the second subject in the major, being well contrasted with it. Both these pieces are thoroughly within the reach of moderate players, and will be found useful for practice and effective for performance.

Ave Maria d'Arcadelt, pour Piano; par François Liszt.

Pianists will thank us for calling their attention to a comparatively easy piece by Liszt; for his name is so associated with difficulties that many amateurs, without such intimation, might be frightened before they got beyond the title-page. Arcadelt's placid and melodious "Ave Maria" has been most tenderly treated by the arranger, being first given out with the left hand in single notes, then in thirds, and afterwards with full harmony for both hands. No attempt is made to ornament the theme, which flows on throughout with that repose which the subject demands, a rare merit in modern times, which cannot be too highly appreciated. As practice for the pure legato style of playing, apart from its intrinsic attraction, this arrangement of a melody but little known to the majority of listeners, will prove most valuable.

Husarenritt, für Pianoforte, von Fritz Spindler.

This spirited and sparkling Galop is one of the very best of Herr Spindler's light pieces, and that is saying much for a composer who has written so many admirable trifles for drawing-room performance, nearly all of which have won their way, not only to public, but to artistic, favour. The theme of this Galop is full of life; and an excellent effect is gained by the triplet in the bass on the second of the bar, a character which is preserved wherever the first part of the subject is repeated. The piece is full of variety, the staccato passage, in the dominant, followed by the phrase in the original key, accented in twos, against the rhythm, being points especially worthy of notice. An arrangement of this composition for four hands is also published, in which we need scarcely say many effects are gained which are unattainable in the solo form.

Eleänore. Song.
Be strong to hope, oh heart. Trio for Female Voices.
Words by Adelaide A. Procter.
Composed by Edward Hecht.

We have already reviewed most favourably some highly attractive vocal pieces by this composer, and have much pleasure in again meeting with so accomplished a writer. Both the compositions before us are entitled to much praise, but we prefer the song, as being the more spontaneous of the two. The melody is extremely vocal; the accompaniment flows gracefully in triplets; and the modulations, although frequent, are never obtrusive. A good effect is obtained, on the recurrence of the original theme, by altering the rhythm from twelve-eight to C, the voice-part thus singing two even quavers against the three in the accompaniment; but we cannot understand why the C is marked again, where the phrase commences tranquilly in crotchets. The vocalist who studies this song must remember that the name "Eleänore" is three distinct syllables, and that any attempt to slide it into two will destroy the character of the music. This is especially observable in the last few bars, which, if sung as the composer has expressly indicated, are full of beauty. The Trio for female voices is replete with excellent points; but it is somewhat patchy as a whole, and the accompaniment wants smoothness in parts. The modulations, too, are overdone, and interrupt the flow of the melody. The part-writing, however, is unexceptionable throughout, and although scarcely to our mind, the composition bears ample proof of being the production of a thoroughly trained artist.

☞ Orpheus with his Lute. Song. Words by Shakspeare. Music by Edwin Aspa.

In setting Shakspeare's well-known verses, Mr. Aspa challenges comparison with many eminent composers; but he has done well in entirely throwing all previous attempts aside, and thinking only from himself. We like his song extremely; it is graceful, melodious, and thoroughly in sympathy with the poetry. Commencing, "Vivace assai," with a light passage of semiquavers, for the symphony, the voice breaks in on the tenth bar with an attractive theme, the semiquavers being continued as an accompaniment. On the words "To his music, plants and flowers," the character of the voice part changes to a placid subject, accompanied with quavers, and here some appropriate modulations give much freshness to the melody, and contrast well with the simple nature of the opening phrases. The coda, too, is extremely effective, some good conversational bits occurring between the voice and pianoforte. Amongst the numerous musical illustrations of Shakspeare's words, this song is fairly entitled to take a place; and vocalists will, we think, find pleasure both in singing and teaching it.

Metzler and Co.

The Harmony of Sounds. By Henry Hiles, Mus. Doc., Oxon.

This is a thoughtful and clever book, as might be expected from the reputation of its author; but it is scarcely a work for students, and riper theorists will not agree with it. What, for instance, will be thought by the many accomplished authors of the Systems of Harmony recently reviewed in this journal, by the assertion at page 19? Selecting C as the central, or key sound, and giving the various notes which are consonant with it, Dr. Hiles says "a melody containing these sounds distinctly points to C as the only note with which they are all consonant. G and F do not agree with each other. They are imperfectly consonant with several other sounds in the above series, but entirely so with C alone, and afford the most perfect gauge of its perfect attunement. They are therefore termed the governing sounds—technically the 'Dominant' (G), and the 'Subdominant,' or under-dominant (F) of its scale; and form, with the tonic, the 'fundamental basses,' or roots of principal chords in the key." Disciples of Dr. Crotch will perhaps be glad to find that their firm belief in the subdominant as a root is supported by the testimony of Dr. Hiles; but Dr. Day—who was quite as ready to prove the soundness of his assertions by figures as Dr. Hiles—has gained many proselytes on a totally different system, and who shall decide when doctors disagree? In truth, our own experience proves that mathematical musicians somehow manage to arrive at very different conclusions, for we recollect a calculation by an eminent theorist which proved as he said, "indisputably," that D sharp was sharper than E flat, and this was triumphantly answered, by one equally profound, who demonstrated beyond doubt that E flat was sharper than D sharp. Numbers frighten pupils who merely wish to be told how to write grammatically; and some day it may be found that this can be done by a less pedantic process than has yet been attempted. Meanwhile, it is good that such a treatise on the subject as Dr. Hiles has given to the world should receive that attention which its merits undoubtedly entitle it to. The excellent examples, selected from various writers, scattered throughout the volume, strengthen our belief that any theory can be proved by extracts from the works of accredited composers; for we have often seen the same passages quoted to confirm the truth of two opposing systems. Dr. Hiles, however, is clear in his reasoning and logical in his deductions; and his book will well repay perusal, even by those who are inclined to dissent from some of his opinions.

Edith. Song. Written by R. R. Bealey. Composed by Mirana.

Mirana appears to have a decided talent for melody, but her phrases do not bear the stamp of originality. The song before us is vocal, and well accompanied. The change from C to six-eight rhythm is effective, and aptly expresses the words. We have reviewed some songs by this composer on a former occasion, and although "Edith" is no worse than its predecessors, we cannot say that it is better. An author with so much feeling for music, should devote some time to solid study and then aim at something higher.

The Opal Ring. Ballad. The words by G. T. Metzler; the Music by Virginia Gabriel.

Like all the ballads by this composer, the theme of the "Opal Ring" has the merit of sympathising with the verses; and although the effect is somewhat patchy, more lenient critics than ourselves will listen with pleasure to any contralto vocalist who can sing this somewhat lugubrious effusion with the requisite amount of expression. The melody, commencing in G minor, contains a good modulation into the relative major, and the song is well accompanied, if we except a slight clashing of the C sharp in the voice-part against a D in the accompanying arpeggio, at the 9th bar of page 3.

Cramer, Wood and Co.

The New and Original Manual of Instruction for the Pianoforte, containing a more fully developed course of the Science of Music than any other elementary work extant. By Henri Cardini Cole.

We know nothing of the author of this "new and original Manual;" but seeing that at the end of his preface he subscribes himself "your favoured writer and composer," we presume that his reputation is already assured. That he has an excellent opinion of his own work may be gathered not only from the title of, and introductory remarks to, the book before us, but from his highly favourable criticisms upon his musical compositions, which are advertised on the first page of the Manual. One we are told is "a stirring Martial Song;" another is described as "a lovely Sacred Song, simple and elegant;" a pianoforte piece is said to be "sparkling and pretty;" and some Waltzes are recommended as being "full of melody and grace." In the preface to Mr. Cole's Instruction Book, we are informed that "the work is in every respect novel." Having pledged himself to this, we are not astonished to find some eccentricities; for to teach the rudiments of music on a system "in every respect novel" is a task of no ordinary difficulty. So the notes in the staff, instead of being placed first on the lines and then in the spaces, run up from the first to the fifth lines in unbroken order, and the leger line notes are given in the same manner. A crotchet rest is formed as no student will ever see it in music, and a double sharp is indicated by two sharps, instead of by a cross. To facilitate the acquisition of the relative value of notes it is stated that the semibreve may be imagined as equal to a sovereign; then "the minim is equal to the half-sovereign; the crotchet is equal to a crown; the quaver is equal to the half crown; the semiquaver is equal to fifteenpence; the demisemiquaver is equal to sevenpence halfpenny; the semidemisemiquaver is equal to threepence halfpenny farthing." After the time-table has been given, commencing with the semibreve, the breve is written, accompanied with the extraordinary statement that it is "generally used in orchestral music, occasionally in pianoforte music." In the explanation of the scales, we have a list of "sharp keys in their dominant order," and "flat keys in their subdominant order," without the slightest information as to what the words dominant or subdominant mean. "Counting aloud" is positively insisted upon; but how a pupil is to feel the four divisions of the bar in twelve-eight rhythm by counting "1 and 2 and 3 and 4, &c.," we are at at a loss to understand, especially as he is told to count precisely in the same manner a bar containing eight even quavers in simple common rhythm. Passing over the "Easy Tunes," which are not only "novel" in melody but in harmony, we come to what our author calls the "Chromatic Resolving Scale," written for the two hands, in contrary motion. This is followed by "major preludes" and "relative minor preludes." Nearly all these examples in the minor mode commence with the arpeggio of the chord of the diminished 7th in another key—for instance E♯, G♯, B, D, in A minor—resolving to the dominant 7th, and afterwards to the key-note. We might imagine that this method of noting the sounds which he requires forms a portion of Mr. Cole's theory, but the same chord being written correctly in D minor, at page 48, proves that he has no theory at all, an opinion which is confirmed by a glance at the "chromatic cadences," at page 56, where we have an arpeggio founded on E, G, A♯, D♮, a chord which we should like to condemn the author to figure and reduce to its root. One recommendation in most of the tunes given is their extreme brevity, as an example of which we may mention that the "Fisherman's Toil" (marked "Sacred") contains only four bars; and "Apollyon's Fall" (also "Sacred") if we except the introductory chords, is of no greater length. We have occupied more than our usual space in noticing this Manual, not on account of its value, but on account of its pretension; for when we are told by the author that the work is presented "to the consideration of the British people solely in obedience to not a few expressions of urgent solicitation that it should be done, and that, too, on the part of competent judges," we have a right to imagine that some definite system of musical education is here developed which it would be almost criminal to keep from the world. The "novelty" promised in the preface we have shown has been steadily kept in view, but the benefit to be derived from it is by no means so obvious. It is certainly not good that students should play harmonies falsely noted; and we can scarcely believe that a clear idea can be gained of the value of notes by calculating that the demisemiquaver is equal to sevenpence halfpenny and the semidemisemiquaver to three-pence halfpenny farthing.

Duncan Davison and Co.

There's Sunshine in the Sky. (The Little Moles.) Written by Charles Mackay, D.C.L. Composed by George Tolhurst.

There is an Irish character in the melody of this song

Give ear, O Lord.

(AVE MARIA.)

MOTETT FOR FOUR VOICES.

Composed by CHARLES OBERTHÜR.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: 751, Broadway.

Andante sostenuto.
CHORUS.
TREBLE.
ALTO.
TENOR (8ve. lower).
BASS.
ACCOMP. ad libitum.
Give ear, O Lord, un - to my pray - er, give ear, O
A - ve Ma - ri - a! gra - ti - â ple - na, Do - mi - nus
Lord, give ear un - to my pray'r, give ear and heark - en un - to my pray - er, te - cum, be - ne - dic - ta tu in mu - li - e - ri - bus; et be - ne - dic - tus,

Solo. p dolce.
Lord, give ear and hearken, hearken to my pray - er.
be - ne - dic - tus fruc - tus ven - tris tu - i, Je - sus.
Save, Lord, and hear us, save, Lord, and Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter
Solo. p dolce.
Lord, give ear and hearken, hearken to my pray - er.
be - ne - dic - tus fruc - tus ven - tris tu - i, Je - sus.
Save, Lord, and hear us, save and
Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter
Solo. p dolce.
Lord, give ear and hearken, hearken to my pray - er.
be - ne - dic - tus fruc - tus ven - tris tu - i, Je - sus.
Save, Lord, and hear us, save and
Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter
Solo. p dolce.
Lord, give ear and hearken, hearken to my pray - er.
be - ne - dic - tus fruc - tus ven - tris tu - i, Je - sus.
Save, Lord, and hear us, save and Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter

espress.
hear us, hear us, King of Hea-ven, when . . . we call, ... we call . . . . up -
De - i, o - ra pro no - bis, Sanc - - ta Ma - ri - - a, o - - ra pro hear us, King . . . of Hea-ven, when we call, . . we call up -
De - i, o - ra pro no - bis, Sanc - ta Ma - ri - - a, o - - ra pro
hear us, hear us, King of Hea-ven, when . . we call, we call . . . up -
De - i, o - ra pro no - bis, Sanc - ta Ma - ri - - a, o - - ra pro
hear us, King . . of Hea-ven, when . . we call, we call up -
De - i, o - ra pro no - bis, Sanc - ta Ma - ri - - a, o - - ra pro p dolce.

sf
- on . . . Thee. O save, Lord, and hear . . . . us, King . . . of no-bis, pro no - bis, Sanc - - - ta Ma - ri - - - a, o - - - ra pro sf
- on Thee. O save, Lord, and hear . . us, King of . .
no - - - bis, Sanc - ta Ma - ri - - a, o - - - ra pro
p
sf
- on Thee. Save, Lord, and hear us, King . . . of . .
no - - - bis, Sanc - ta Ma - ri - - - a, o - - - ra pro
p call up - on Thee. Save, Lord, and hear us, King of . . nobis, pro no - bis, Sanc - ta Ma - ri - - - a, o - - - ra pro p dolce.
p
cres.
p
Hea - ven, save and hear . . . . . us, save, Lord, and hear us, save us, King of no - bis pec - ca - to - - - - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra, mor - tis nos - - -
cres.
p
Hea - ven, save and hear . . . . . us, save, Lord, and hear us, save us, King of no - bis pec - ca - to - - - - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra, in ho - ra mortis nos -
cres.
p
Hea - ven, save and hear . . . . . us, save, Lord, and hear us, save us, . . King of no - bis pec - ca - to - - - - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra, in ho - ra . . mortis nos -
cres.
p
Hea - ven, save and hear . . . us, save, Lord, and hear us, save us, King of no - bis pec - ca - to - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra mor - tis nos - - -
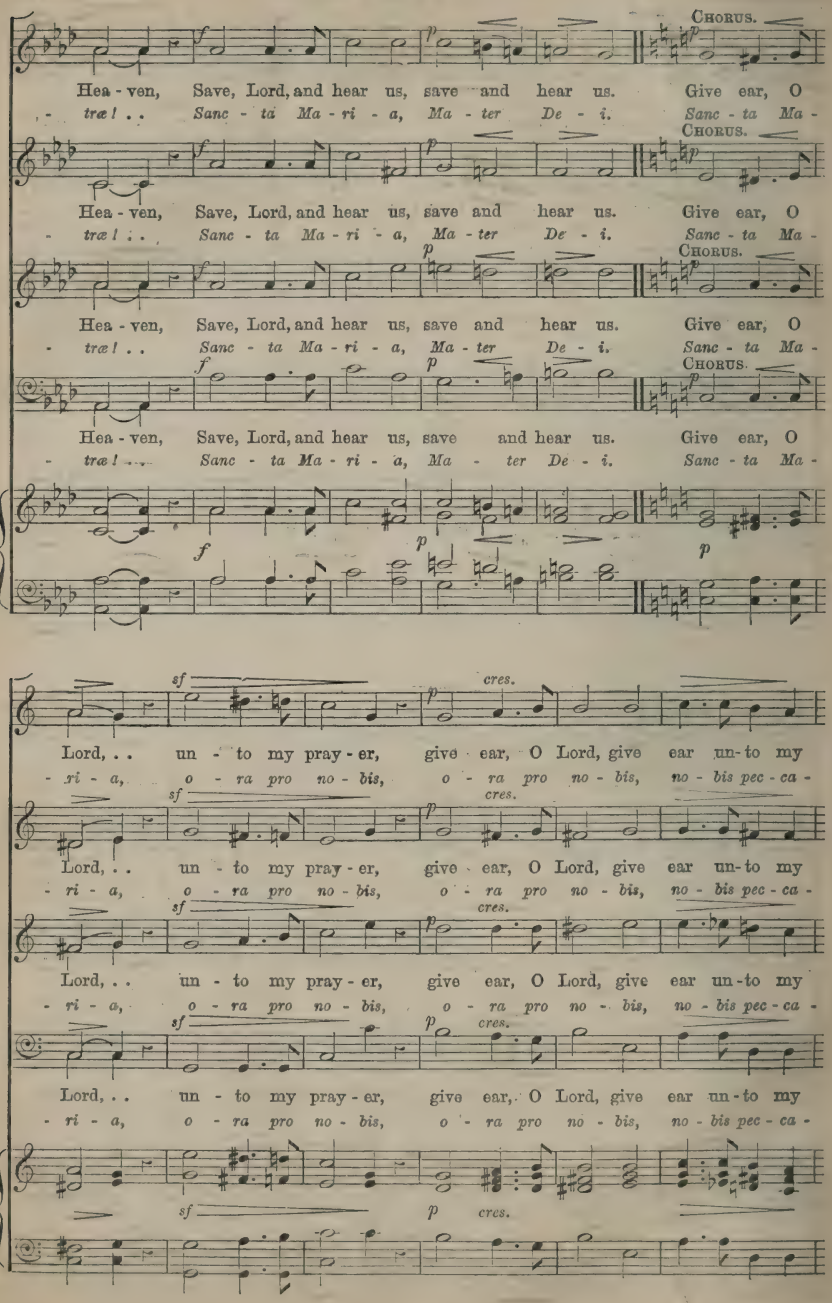
cres.
p



CHORUS.
Hea - ven, Save, Lord, and hear us, save and hear us. Give ear, O træ! . . Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter De - i. Sanc - ta Ma -
CHORUS.
Hea - ven, Save, Lord, and hear us, save and hear us. Give ear, O træ! . . Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter De - i. Sanc - ta Ma -
CHORUS.
Hea - ven, Save, Lord, and hear us, save and hear us. Give ear, O træ! . . Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter De - i. Sanc - ta Ma -
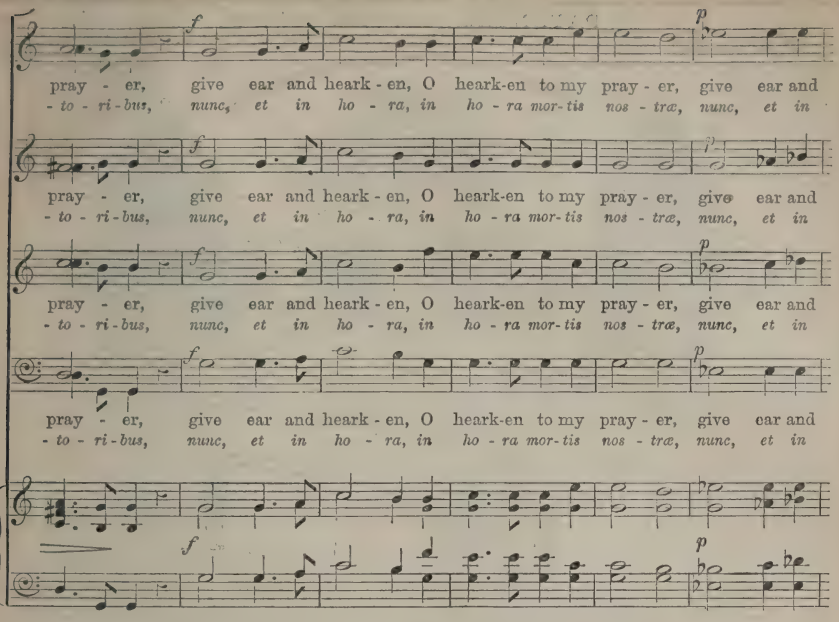
CHORUS.
Hea - ven, Save, Lord, and hear us, save and hear us. Give ear, O
træ! . . Sanc - ta Ma - ri - a, Ma - ter De - i. Sanc - ta Ma -
Lord, . . un - to my pray - er, give ear, O Lord, give ear un - to my
- ri - a, o - ra pro no - bis, o - ra pro no - bis, no - bis pec - ca -
Lord, . . un - to my pray - er, give ear, O Lord, give ear un - to my
- ri - a, o - ra pro no - bis, o - ra pro no - bis, no - bis pec - ca -
Lord, . . un - to my pray - er, give ear, O Lord, give ear un - to my
- ri - a, o - ra pro no - bis, o - ra pro no - bis, no - bis pec - ca -
Lord, . . un - to my pray - er, give ear, O Lord, give ear un - to my
- ri - a, o - ra pro no - bis, o - ra pro no - bis, no - bis pec - ca -



pray - er, give ear and heark - en, O heark-en to my pray - er, give ear and
- to - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra, in ho - ra mor - tis nos - træ, nunc, et in pray - er, give ear and heark - en, O heark-en to my pray - er, give ear and
- to - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra, in ho - ra mor - tis nos - træ, nunc, et in pray - er, give ear and heark - en, O heark-en to my pray - er, give ear and
- to - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra, in ho - ra mor - tis nos - træ, nunc, et in pray - er, give ear and heark - en, O heark-en to my pray - er, give ear and
- to - ri - bus, nunc, et in ho - ra, in ho - ra mor - tis nos - træ, nunc, et in sosten.

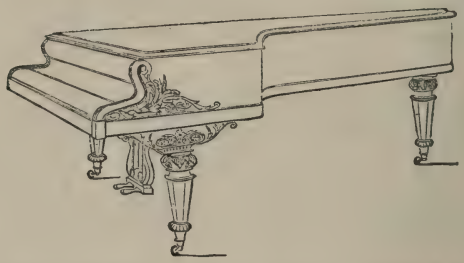
heark - en un - to my prayer. A - men, A - men, A - men.
ho - ra mor - tis . . nos - træ. A - men, A - men, A - men.
sosten.
heark - en . . un - to my prayer. A - men, A - men, A - men.
ho - ra . . mor - tis . . nos - træ. A - men, A - men, A - men.
sosten.
heark - en un - to my prayer. A - men, A - men, A - men.
ho - ra mor - tis . . nos - træ. A - men, A - men, A - men.
sosten.
heark - en to my prayer. A - men, A - men, A - men.
ho - ra mor - tis nos - træ. A - men, A - men, A - men.
sosten.

PATENTED 1862, 1868, and 1871,
IN ENGLAND, FRANCE, PRUSSIA, AUSTRIA, BELGIUM, ITALY, AND AMERICA.



The Prize Medal, London, 1862; La Medaille d'Honneur, Paris, 1867; Le Diplôme de la Mention Extraordinaire Amsterdam, 1869; The Gold Medal, Paris, 1870; The Silver Medal, Amsterdam, 1869 awarded for

JOHN BRINSMEAD & SONS'

GOLD MEDAL PIANOS.

18, WIGMORE STREET, LONDON, W.

GUARANTEED FOR FIVE YEARS.

Illustrated Price Lists and descriptions of this invention, with opinions of the London Press and Musical Profession, forwarded by post on application.

STEAM POWER WORKS:
1, 2, 3, AND 4, CHENIES ST.; 8, LITTLE TORRINGTON ST.; AND 3, HERTFORD PLACE, LONDON.

AGENTS FOR GILBERT L. BAUER'S IMPROVED ENGLISH HARMONIUMS.

which is by no means in sympathy with Dr. Mackay's capital verses. The harmony, too, is so thin as to leave an unsatisfactory impression upon the ear, the opening symphony, eight bars in length, being written entirely in octaves, a system which is also constantly employed in the accompaniment to the voice-part. The air, however is pleasing, and, to other words, might flow with much effect.

LIMPUS.

Prize Anthem, "Thou shalt shew us wonderful things." By Charles Joseph Frost, Fellow of the Royal College of Organists.

THIS Anthem is intended for special use at a Harvest Festival, and it gained an extra prize offered by the College of Organists in the present year. Hence it claims two-fold attention. The text to which it is set well associates it with the occasion for which it is designed; but the earlier portion of the music seems wanting in the characteristic animation that particularly betokens festivity, and the prevalence of the same measure and tempo throughout, a little wearies the hearer's attention, and so lessens the good effect the latter part would certainly make if it came alone or if otherwise preceded. As to the award of the College of Organists, there is much in the composition to justify it, whatever may have been the merit of the competing works. The composer evinces little mastery in the valuable art of continuity; phrase after phrase closes on its fourth bar, as if the piece were a prolonged hymn-tune, and although this proves a valuable command of rhythm, it equally evinces the author's unconsciousness of when he has had enough of that very good thing, and suggests his inability to break the rhythm or prolong a phrase. The latter portion decidedly rises in this respect, has much more variety of accent, and becomes vigorous and brilliant. In the latter portion, also, the four-part harmony sometimes ceases, the several voices occasionally entering on successive imitative points, a device that much increases the interest to singers and hearers; for, beautiful as is full harmony, its uninterrupted continuance for a long period cannot but grow tiresome. It was injudicious to write the soprano part so low as it stands in many places, particularly on the repetitions of the word "multitude," since this voice has either the minimum of power or a disagreeable coarseness of tone on notes below the staff. Matters are doubtfully improved where the notes, to which the soprano leaps downwards, are given also to the alto in unison, because, in some cases, this induces the duplication of a sensitive note which ought not to be doubled in part-writing. The author is defective in constructive power; the Anthem abounds in closes in D, digressions into A, and returns to the original key, but has no important tonal relief, and is otherwise wanting in design. For instance, it has no theme which may be distinguished as second subject or episode, nor indeed can the termination be defined of any principal idea. One of the best points in the work occurs on the last page, where all the voices iterate first B and then D, against the changeful harmonies of the organ, and afterwards separate into harmony upon the word "praise" with an effect of great brightness. There is ample matter in this work to warrant the expectation of still better things from the same hand; and we urge the author to seek the experience which practice only can yield, and which is indispensable to the conquest of those shortcomings we have reluctantly adduced.

GODDARD AND CO.

Country Strains. A Series of Original Pieces for Young Players. By Joseph Goddard.

1. On the Water. 2. In the Woods. 3. Among the Hills.

THIS is a commendable attempt to improve the taste of juvenile pupils by providing them with something better than mere arrangements of operatic airs, or vapid "transcriptions" of the fashionable ballads of the day. It must be remembered that the Sonatinas and smaller works of the standard composers are now placed within the reach of all teachers; and those who desire that the young pianists entrusted to their care shall have their attention directed towards original compositions cannot do better than select some of the best of these for their daily practice; but we know how the very word "classical" frightens many children, and music like that which Mr. Goddard has written may therefore be found useful as shadowing forth some of the forms adopted by the authors of the past. All the pieces are extremely melodious, and the harmonies throughout are unexceptionable. No. 1 is a graceful little trifle, in C major, the changes of key being limited to the attendants of the original tonic. No. 2 commences with a pleasing theme, in six-eight rhythm, with an episode, called "The Chase," in the subdominant; the return of the subjects, in other keys, being effectively managed. No. 3 is styled a "Sonatina:" but the introduction of a "March" and "Peasant Dance" scarcely perhaps justifies this title. It is, however, an attractive piece, and will, we doubt not, become a favourite. The fingering is extremely good, and is marked, as it should be, only where it is really necessary.

SWAN AND PENTLAND, Glasgow.

Lays and Lyrics of Scotland. Arranged with new Symphonies and Accompaniments for the Pianoforte, by John Fulcher.

IN the interesting "Historical Epitome of Scottish Song," by Mr. James Ballantine, which prefaces the contents of this volume, we are told that although we are accustomed to consider many of those lyrics which we have heard in our infancy as of remote antiquity, the most industrious of our antiquarians have been unable to trace their history beyond the fourteenth century. This is indeed true, and there can be little doubt that, as our author observes, several of the most thoroughly Scottish of these songs were sung by the poet minstrels to tunes of their own; "Blind Harry," who lived in the fifteenth century, being perhaps a fair example of the wandering bards who inculcated a love both of poetry and music amongst the various classes of society by which they were welcomed. The beauty of these airs, and the artless eloquence of the verses to which they are wedded, will always make them favourites both with vocalists and listeners, whilst the musician recognises with interest their undoubted nationality, by the melodies being written in the "Pentatonic Scale" (in which the fourth and seventh degrees are omitted), a characteristic which is often destroyed in modern times by the insertion of these intervals as notes of ornament. The volume before us is certainly one of the finest collections of Scottish Song ever published, for although there may be some unknown to the general public, all which have obtained popularity are included. In a preface the publishers tell us that "with a few exceptions, all the Songs have been re-arranged, principally by Mr. John Fulcher (a musician of acknowledged ability), in accordance with the modern style of harmonisation." This perhaps is hardly a recommendation, for the "modern style of harmonization" scarcely fits these old national melodies, but we are bound to say that Mr. Fulcher has generally exercised a wise reticence both in harmonising and accompanying the songs, although he appears to have been seized with a twinge of conscience after his elaborate treatment of an air which perhaps will least bear it—"Auld Robin Gray"—for he gives it immediately afterwards with "simplified accompaniments." The work is elegantly got up, and its value is materially heightened by an appendix of notes, historical, biographical, and critical, relating to the principal songs contained in the volume.

MUSICAL STANDARD OFFICE.

Sanctus, Kyrie, and Gloria. Composed by Charles Joseph Frost.

THIS is an unpretending but truly charming setting of the three pieces of the Communion Service, which, until of late years, were the only portions of this office that were usually sung in churches. We commend it to the use of all choirs of moderate ability, while its simplicity of structure need not exclude it from performance in establishments where best singers have the best of training. There is intention in the repetition of the same phrase to the words "Glory, etc.," which is set to the "Holy," at the beginning of the Sanctus, it being given softly where it is first heard, and loudly where it recurs; the glory of the Lord is an acknowledgment of his holiness—hence the pertinence of the allusion—and though we whisper the first occurring word in the awe with which it inspires us, we may well proclaim the glory of the Holy One with fullest heart and voice—hence the propriety of the piano and forte in the two renderings of the musical idea. The inversion of the parts for the alternate repetitions of the Kyrie, evinces the technical skill of the writer, and constantly renews the interest of singers and hearers in a passage which must come nine times over; and the further modification and the extension of the same phrase for the last Response, is also clever and well-timed. There is much to admire also in the Gloria. We far prefer this series of pieces to the longer

Anthem by the same author, noticed in our present number; and while we perceive much merit in that, we think the work now before us escapes the weakness with which the Anthem begins and equals the strength with which it closes.

Original Correspondence.

ORGANISTS' STIPENDS, &c.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—I had thought that this subject had fallen to the ground until I read the letter of "Scrutator" in your number for October; but as he has, through your kindness, again opened the discussion, will you allow me to reply. I would not ask this favour did I not think his letter misleading. The issue is—Is or is not the Organist well paid for the services he performs? "Scrutator" introduces a lot of matter which tends to hide this issue. No one I think has said that if an organist has undertaken certain duties for a certain sum, he ought to grumble at fulfilling those duties for that sum. What is said, is in effect this—If you want the Church Services properly performed, you must have properly educated and trained gentlemen for the purpose, and to insure the services of such gentlemen a higher stipend ought to be paid than is paid, because the money and time spent in training and educating men for the duties of an organist do not at the present rate of remuneration realise so much as if the same money and time had been expended in preparing the same man for any other profession or trade, or for any other branch of the musical profession; and therefore, musicians will seek other employers than the Church. "Clericus," in effect, denies that the Organist, in the provinces at least, is a properly trained and educated man. If "Clericus" be correct, he is but repeating the affirmative of the issue. I maintain that as a rule, he is; and further, that he is better trained for his vocation than the clergyman, and therefore ought, as he stands, to be better paid than he at present is paid. I showed in my former letter by figures, which "Clericus" did not disprove, that the Organist was not paid for his church work at the same rate he was paid for his secular work; and I say if "Scrutator" receives £40 for his services, he is paid above the average. I also in the same letter endeavoured to show that the fee paid for teaching is not the proper basis on which to found the payment for public playing. It is very frequently the case that the best manipulator of the keys is not a good teacher, and vice versâ. "Clericus" replied, but did not answer my assertion.

And now, Sir, "Scrutator" comes upon us with an assertion that Organists do not pay tithe; and, therefore, they are not deserving the consideration of the Clergy.

What has the non-payment of tithe to do with the issue? If the Organist neglect his private moral obligations, is that a reason why he should not be properly paid for his public duties, publicly performed; or, is it a reason why the vicar and churchwardens should get him to use his talents for the benefit of the congregation—every member of which pays tithe of course—at a less remuneration than the grocer churchwarden pays his accountant for coming so many hours in the week to keep his books. Because it is the duty of every Christian to attend church, is that a reason why the Organist should be paid less than he would receive for his professional talent out of the church? Sir, the clergyman is a Christian, and as such it is his duty to attend church; but is that a reason why he is not to be fully paid for his public ministrations. An organist, as a Christian, ought to attend church, but directly you put him in the position of an officer of the church, second only to the clergyman, you make him sacrifice the quiet praise he would offer as a private member of a congregation, and bring a strain upon his whole nervous system that is wearing and trying to a degree, especially if he have to accompany an average amateur choir. But admitting that an organist ought to pay tithe, how dare "Scrutator" assert that his fellows do not? Who made "Scrutator" a judge and accuser of his fellows? Many organists, I believe, are earnest Churchmen. The day of the scandal of the red curtain, and the abominations committed behind it, has gone by. Organists are not the debased, drunken class of men, they are represented as being forty years since; the revival in the Church has reached to them, though "Scrutator" may not think so. Very many organists are men with families, who attend the churches at which they play, and, I think, it will be found that their shares get into the offertory. I think the charities receive some of the organist's earnings, and I think the clergy would find the organist, if they would but try him and not snub him, ready and willing to help in any parish work that was within his power of doing; nevertheless, I maintain, that it is bad policy for an organist to pay to the vicar direct tithe on his stipend. One example: an organist received £30 stipend; out of this he gave in the offertory for organ and choir fund £1 5s. quarterly (and extra of his usual offertory); on his resigning for another appointment, the stipend was reduced to £25, and has never been raised from that day to this. But all this has nothing to do with the issue. An organist must live; to live he must earn money; if he work for the Church he is worthy of his hire ("muzzle not the mouth of the ox," &c.)—and I venture to think in too many cases the hire is not worthy of him.

It is not every clergyman who will allow the Organist to give lessons on the organ, or even to practise thereon; and as "Scrutator" seems to be tender on Church matters, I dare say he already sees that it is turning the Church into a kind of workshop where he is earning his daily bread.

As to weddings—are they not, when they do occur, so much extra work for which other work has to be neglected, and for which the organist ought to be paid? and, being so paid, how can that be a set-off for work done, but for which he is either not fully paid, or not paid at all.

With the remarks of "Scrutator" as to not submitting to the dictation of any one but the clergy, I quite agree, but, unfortunately, the clergyman in many instances is made the means of expressing the various wishes or suggestions of as many different members of his congregation. I am afraid nothing satisfactory can be done to stop the annoyance and mischief of interference, direct or indirect, until the appointment is made a permanent one—like the appointments on the old foundations of our Cathedrals.

I am, Sir, yours obediently,

A Sometime Country Organist.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—As a constant subscriber to the Musical Times, I have read with considerable interest the various views so ably expressed by your correspondents, "Clericus," Rev. H. Greeves, "Scrutator," and others, and after the masterly manner they have discussed the question, I feel great diffidence in laying my little grievances before you. I have been organist at a country parish church for the past three years, and although I have no pupils at less than one guinea per quarter, I am in receipt of the munificent gratuity (I won't say salary, as that would be assuming that I am paid for the duty done) of £12 per annum. The vicar is in enjoyment of not less than £600 per annum from tithes and glebe land, and so far from being willing to increase my gratuity, I have to wait some two months after each quarter before the paltry sum due is handed over to me.

Now as to the duty done for this large reward. The church is about 2½ miles distant; I walk to and fro twice on Sundays, which would be 10 miles (except it should fortunately happen to be inclement weather, when I am invited to dine with the vicar, which has happened about four times a year), one practice in the week, another five miles' walk, making fifteen miles weekly, which, including the time the services and practice occupy, would require in all ten hours weekly, at a remuneration of about 5½d. per hour, or 4s. 7½d. per week; whilst I receive for pupils not less than 2s. per hour. I need not say how gladly I would accept an appointment at the sums which some of your correspondents consider insufficient, or on the very fair rule laid down by "Clericus," viz.:—payment for Church duty at the same rate as secular work, which in my case would amount to £52 per annum; but I should be thankful to have an appointment at £30 a year. Your readers will say, why does he retain so unremunerative an appointment?—my answer is, that it gives a man position, and certainly a better chance of pupils.

Now as to competitions for appointments, I must say that I believe them to be in too many instances a sham, as some one is a favourite and gets the appointment in opposition to merit. I could cite an instance to prove this, but refrain for obvious reasons. Then again, putting aside any favouritism, how is the umpire to know and judge of any candidate's ability to accompany the choir, by simply hearing him play some selections which are placed before him? I say, let one or two who can be recommended be invited to practise with the choir, and accustom themselves to the organ (as we know they differ very much as to arrangement of pedals, stops, &c.), and give them the opportunity of playing the whole of the services on the Sunday; then you may judge with something approaching justice of the candidate's ability to do the duty required.

Much as I love music, I have never had the means to go into the whole theory, having taught myself the whole of what I know, with the exception of one quarter's tuition on the organ from a talented Fellow of the College of Organists, for which I paid him the sum of three guineas for less than five hours' instruction in all.

I should even now (I am 29 years of age) be glad, had I the means at my disposal, to pass the examinations of the Royal Academy of Music.

Hoping that I have not trespassed too much on your valuable space,

I am, yours, &c.,
A Parish Organist.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—I think the best answer to Mr. Archer's extraordinary letter, which appeared in your August number, is a simple reference to the previous correspondence, so far as it concerns the incidental question which formed the subject of my own communication. The facts are these:—1. Dr. Stainer (p. 445) denies the necessity of writing "arsis" and "thesis" in Greek letters. 2. Mr. Archer (p. 477) defends the practice on the ground that "if anglicised, Θέσις might easily be mistaken for Θῆσις." 3. Then I write to say that any such fear is needless, because the latter word does not exist in Greek (p. 511). 4. To which Mr. A. replies that he is "perfectly aware of that fact, but that he coined the word to illustrate a principle (p. 576)." What he means by this last remark I am quite at a loss to imagine; but surely every one must see that the whole question depends upon the actual existence or non-existence of the word in Greek, for how could one word be possibly "mistaken" for another, if the latter had no reality? Of course Mr. Archer is now aware of the fact, since I have given him the required information, which he has doubtless verified by a reference to his Greek Lexicon, but will any unprejudiced person read the sentence I have quoted from his letter (p. 477), and believe that he knew the fact at the time when he wrote that letter? If he did, he ought at the same time to know that his remark was quite unnecessary.

I may have gone a little too far in saying that the words in question are "never printed in Greek characters," and I am quite ready to withdraw this part of my statement; all I insist upon is that such a mode of writing or printing them is quite uncalled for, and that no possible mistake or confusion could arise from their being given in English letters.

I am, Sir, yours faithfully,
C. S. Jerram.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Dear Sir,—Some time since there appeared in the Musical Newspapers a discussion upon the signature of the Minor Scales. It then occurred to me that the writers on both sides had overlooked one great point; and since then the matter has so frequently turned up in the course of my teaching, that I feel persuaded that a large number of musicians must have the same ideas on the subject as I have.

A key is known by two notes of the scale—viz., the seventh and the fourth. The seventh must be a semitone below, and the fourth two and a half tones above the key-note. Does not this rule apply as well to a minor as to a major scale? The minor scale, being secondary to its relative major, ought certainly to show what that major is by the signature. But this would be done by letting the distinguishing notes of both modes appear. I do not consider the fifth a distinguishing note of the scale. As I have said before, the seventh and fourth are the important notes.

Kalkbrenner says, in his Piano Method, that the signature of C minor should show B♭, in consequence of its being the relative of E♭ major. But I think that the B does not, by any means, decidedly indicate the key of E♭ major. Neither would B♮ show, unless with other accidentals, that the key of E♭ major had been left for any other key than C minor. The B♭ does certainly occur sometimes in descending passages in the key of C minor. But does not the lowered seventh frequently occur in the major mode; and, being then treated as an accidental, might it not be treated in the same way in the minor mode? In nearly every case it will be found to be used only as a passing note or appogiatura to the minor sixth, which naturally belongs to the mode. The major sixth which is sometimes used in the minor mode, also appears to me to be an accidental. I believe musicians are agreed on this point.

To conclude, I think a minor scale ought to contain a minor third, minor sixth and major seventh; and that the fourths and sevenths of both modes ought to appear in the signature. The scale would not be diatonic, and there would be a queer-looking mixture of signs in the signature. The latter would, however, soon cease to look strange with use; and, with regard to the former, why should a minor scale be diatonic?

I must apologize for the length of this letter, but shall thank you very much if you will help me to a right settlement of the point. I enclose my card.

Yours obediently,
Mode.

MENDELSSOHN'S "ELIJAH."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—In Mr. H. C. Lunn's review of the Worcester and Norwich Musical Festivals he says:—"We are glad to record that at this performance" (speaking of the "Elijah" performed at Norwich on Wednesday morning), "the experiment of having the part of the 'Youth' sung by a boy from the choir was at last tried, and, we need scarcely say, with the success which we have always predicted." From the context it is evident that the reviewer does not, in using the word "experiment" refer only to these Festivals at Worcester and Norwich, but to the manner in which the Recitative "There is nothing" is, as a rule, taken by a woman who may have, as at Worcester, identified herself with some other part. During the past two years I have twice heard Mendelssohn's "Elijah" performed at Penzance by the Choral Classes conducted by Mr. J. H. Nunn of that place, and on both occasions the part of the "Youth" was taken with great success by a boy, a member of the St. Mary's Choir, where Mr. Nunn is the organist. From this you will see that Master Self cannot "congratulate himself upon initiating the custom."

You will, I hope, in justice to Mr. J. H. Nunn, who has done so much for music in these Western parts, insert the above correction in your November number.

Yours,
A Cornish Parson.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of concerts, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded as early as possible after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot be inserted. Our correspondents must specifically denote the date of each concert, for without such date no notice can be taken of the performance.

Our correspondents will greatly oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all Subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music pages are always stereotyped, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

Shou Brwynog.—Only nine parts of "Logier's System" were issued, at 2s. 6d. each. These parts were afterwards published in one volume at 10s. 6d., by Messrs. Boosey and Co., Holles-street.

Alfred B. Allen.—In reply to our correspondent (and for the information of the many who address us on the same subject), we beg to say that we cannot undertake to inform composers whether we have received their works forwarded to us for review.

Brief Summary of Country News.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this Summary; as all the notices are either collated from the local papers, or supplied to us by occasional correspondents.

Aberystwyth.—The "University College of Wales," on the model of the Queen's Colleges in Ireland, was opened on the 15th ult., a breakfast being given on the occasion by the Executive Committee in the Common Hall of the College. Colonel Pryse, Lord-Lieutenant of Cardiganshire, presided; the vice-presidents being the Mayor of Aberystwyth and Mr. Thomas, town-clerk. Several gentlemen addressed the meeting, setting forth the objects of the institution and its claim to public support; and Mr. Brinley Richards, at the request of the president, made an excellent speech, advocating the cultivation of music in the College, especially that for public worship, and dwelling with much earnestness upon the desirability of introducing congregational singing into all the churches and chapels in Wales. The building has already cost £80,000, and more has yet to be spent upon it; but there can be little doubt that funds for the purpose will be forthcoming, in proof of which it may be mentioned that one gentleman who was present at the meeting, announced his intention of adding to his original subscription of £300 a second donation of £3,000.

Ashmore, Dorset.—An excellent concert took place in this parish on Friday, the 27th September. The programme consisted of part-songs by the choir, and vocal and instrumental solos by kind friends who lent their services on the occasion. The choir and those who train it deserve much praise, for such precision and finished vocalisation have been rarely heard in a village choir. The choruses were conducted by Miss Rossiter. Mr. Dodd in Gounod's song "Nazareth," was highly successful; and Miss Fletcher displayed a good, but as yet uncultivated, contralto voice. Miss Rossiter performed a brilliant morceau on the concertina with much effect, and was greatly applauded. The Rev. T. and Mrs. Davidson are to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment they so kindly provided for their parishioners.

Bedford.—The Amateur Musical Society gave the third concert of the present season at the Assembly Rooms on Tuesday evening, the 15th ult. The first part consisted of an excellent performance of J. F. Barnett's Cantata, The Ancient Mariner, which was much applauded, especially the arias "The fair breeze blew" (well sung by Miss Sophie Ferrari), and "O! sleep, it is a lovely thing" (given with much expression by Miss Crofts). The second part, which was miscellaneous, opened with Beethoven's Men of Promethus Overture, which was finely performed. Miss Ferrari was enthusiastically encored in "Par Dicesti" (Lotti), and Mr. Folkes delighted the audience with his fine rendering of Beethoven's Romance in G, for the violin. A word of praise must also be given to the members of the choir for their excellent singing in H. Smart's song, "Good night, thou glorious sun." Mr. Diemer conducted with his well-known ability.

Berkeley.—Special Thanksgiving Services for the late abundant harvest, were held in the Parish Church on the 26th September. The music in the early celebration of the Holy Communion was the setting in C, by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley, with the Hymn 207 from "Hymns Ancient and Modern." At Matins, the responses were Tallis's; the proper Psalms 65 and 81 were sung to Felton and Savage, the Venite to Hayes, the Te Deum to a setting by Mr. Moffatt, the organist, the Benedictus to No. 49 in Ouseley and Monk's Psalter. The anthem was "The Lord is my shepherd" (Macfarren), which was given in a very creditable manner. In the evening the Psalms 103 and 147 were given to Ouseley and Battishill. The Processional Hymn in the morning was "Come, ye thankful;" that in the evening "Onward, Christian soldiers." Mr. Moffatt, who presided, played as voluntaries Postlude, in F (Guilmant), March, in B minor (Schubert), Offertoire, in G (Kühmstedt), Allegro con fuoco, in C minor (Philip Tietz), and No. 6 of Wely's Grand Offertoires.

Berkhampstead.—On the 10th ult. was held the fourth annual concert provided at this season of the year by Mr. Macrone, the organist of the parish church. The boys of the choir sang well, and reflected great credit on the training of Mr. Macrone. A duet, brilliantly played by the Misses Collins, received an encore, and Mr. Ellis Roberts's harp performance was warmly received. Miss Cook, Miss Emily Darvell, Mrs. Barnes, Miss Painter, Mr. Crew, and Mr. Tolley were the principal vocalists, and their solos were highly successful. The performance passed off well, and was in advance of previous entertainments.

Birmingham.—The first concert of Messrs. Harrison's popular series was given on the 26th September, at the Town Hall, before a large audience. Signor Campanini was received in all his vocal pieces with the utmost enthusiasm, and Madame Trebelli-Bettini's artistic singing of Mr. F. H. Cowen's "Marguerite," and the well-known "Il Segreto" was thoroughly appreciated, and elicited an irresistible recall. Madlle. Ilma di Murska's brilliant rendering of "O luce di quest' anima," and some variations by Proch, was also rewarded by repeated bursts of applause. As a vocal concert, the entertainment was a genuine success. ——On Monday, the 7th ult., an evening concert was given in St. Joseph's School-room, Nechell's Green, which attracted a large and appreciative audience. The programme was principally carried out by the members of St. Joseph's choir, who fully sustained their well-earned reputation. The chief items were Mendelssohn's "The Open Air," "When time hath bereft thee" (Auber), "Sweet and low" (Barnby), flute solo, Fantasia on Scotch airs (Briccialdi), "The Diver" (Loder), "Kitty Tyrell" (Glover), &c. &c. The vocalists were Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Hickling, Messrs. Stratford, Hill, Ford, and Beard, all of whom were highly successful. The feature of the evening was undoubtedly Barnby's "Sweet and low," which was given by the choir with remarkable precision and expression. Mr. J. Rigby conducted throughout with tact and judgment, and was also a judicious accompanist.

Blackburn.—On Saturday, the 28th September, the anniversary tea-meeting of the Bank Top Congregational School was held in the School-room. About 400 persons were present, the president being the Rev. J. McEwan Stott, M.A. The most attractive feature of the meeting was the musical performance, which consisted of selections from Handel's Messiah and Haydn's Creation, the principal vocalists being Miss Shaw, Miss A. Haworth, Mrs. Ainsworth, Mr. Birrell, and Mr. Porteous, all of whom were highly effective. The band and chorus consisted of 50 performers. Great credit is due to Mr. Mossop, the conductor of the vocalists, and Mr. Halstead, the leader of the instrumentalists, for the efficient manner in which the whole of the music was rendered.

Brompton, Kent.—Concerts on, for this locality, an unusually large scale were given in the Military Gymnasium, on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th ult. There was a chorus of 200 voices, and three bands, namely, those of the Royal Engineers, Royal Marines L. S., and that of the 82nd Regiment, under the respective batons of Herr Sawerthal, Herr Kappey, and Herr Hecker. On Wednesday evening a Cantata, composed by Mr. Mandel, was most successfully performed; and on Thursday afternoon a similar production from the pen of Herr Kappey, was given with the same satisfactory result. The choir, conducted by Mr. Makepeace, of Rochester, was extremely good. On the miscellaneous night, the soloists were Madame Clara Suter, soprano, Miss Florence Ashton, contralto, Miss Kappey, a brilliant pianist, Captain Germon, 9th Regiment, and Mr. Herbert, of Rochester (tenors), with the chorus and three bands above mentioned. The building was crowded on each occasion.——A chamber concert was given by Herr Sawerthal, and the band of the Royal Engineers, in the lecture theatre of that corps, on Monday, the 7th ult., on which occasion the co-operation of the contralto, Miss Florence Ashton, had been secured. The applause with which her various contributions were received was warm and well deserved. Miss Kappey, whose pianoforte playing, with orchestral accompaniment, was highly effective, Mr. Herbert, Sergeant Cottrell, R.E., a buffo singer, with an excellent baritone voice, and Sergeant Cochrane, R.E., also appeared. The instrumental department was thoroughly efficient. Herr Sawerthal conducted. There was a large and fashionable attendance.

Bromsgrove.—On Thursday, the 3rd ult., a concert was given in the Corn Exchange, by Mr. Rowland Taylor, in aid of the funds for building the new church at Bromsgrove, the sum realised being about £30. The artists engaged were Miss M. A. Woolley, (soprano), Miss Bossward (mezzo soprano), Mr. Rae (tenor), and Mr. Randell (bass). The following lady and gentlemen amateurs kindly gave their services:—Miss E. Taylor, Mr. G. W. Gibson, Mr. J. Mathews, and Mr. R. Taylor. Mr. J. B. Tirbutt officiating as accompanist with his usual ability. The concert opened with Sir S. Bennett's quartett "God is a Spirit," in which Miss Woolley's voice told with much effect. Amongst the solos may be mentioned "O fair dove" (Sullivan), by Miss Bossward, the same composer's "Once again," by Mr. Rae, and Wallace's "Bell Ringer," by Mr. Randell. Bishop's glee "The chough and crow," was so well sung as to be unanimously encored, and Mr. Mathews's flute solos were highly successful. The Corn Exchange was very tastefully decorated for the occasion, and great praise is due to those ladies under whose superintendence the work was so skilfully carried out.

Camborne.—A miscellaneous concert was given in the Assembly Rooms on the 15th ult., by the members of the Choral Society, under the conduct of Mr. J. H. Nunn, A.R.A. The programme comprised "Spring," from Haydn's Seasons. of which a very satisfactory performance was given. Benedict's "Hunting Song," was quite a feature in the performance, owing to the spirited manner in which it was rendered by the choir. Miss Mitchell in "I dreamt I was in heaven" (from Naaman) and "Angry words" (a song by Mr. Nunn, with viola obbligato), was highly successful, as was also Miss A. Mitchell in all her soprano music. The tenor and bass solo parts were effectively taken by Messrs. Treleaven and Smith. The programme was varied by the following instrumental performances:—Beethoven's Serenade Trio, in D (Op. 8), and Haydn's "Emperor" Quartett (Op. 77), both of which were excellently interpreted, the executants being Messrs. J. H. Nunn (1st violin), Wright (2nd violin), H. A. Smith (tenor), and Marrack (cello).

Cape of Good Hope.—The first concert of the Capetown and Rondebosch United Choral Societies took place on the 8th August, in the Mutual Hall, Capetown, before the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor, and the principal residents of the neighbourhood. The first part of the programme consisted of Lahee's Cantata, The Building of the Ship, which was admirably rendered by a choir of about 120 voices, and received with the utmost enthusiasm. The second part was mainly composed of part-songs, of which Leslie's "Pilgrims" was the most liked by the audience. The whole was under the able direction of Mr. Bucke.

Chatham.—An excellent entertainment was given at the Lecture Hall on Tuesday, the 15th ult., under the direction of Mr. F. A. Bridge. The programme included Sullivan's Operetta Cox and Box, with the following cast: Box, Mr. Arthur Thomas; Cox, Mr. F. A. Bridge; Bouncer, Mr. T. C. Travers. The singing and acting were all that could be desired, and the accompaniments were admirably played by Mrs. Elizabeth Stirling. Miss Pattie Laverne (of the Opera Comique) contributed two songs, obtaining for the last a well-merited encore. The entertainment concluded with a laughable operatic sketch, entitled After me; characters by Messrs. Arthur Thomas and F. A. Bridge. The whole performance passed off well, and appeared to give great satisfaction to the large audience assembled.

Clifton.—The second of two grand concerts, given under the auspices of Mr. J. C. Daniel, took place at the Victoria Rooms on Saturday, the 12th ult., and was very numerously and fashionably attended. The leading artists were Madame Demeric-Lablache, Madame Pauline Rita (who supplied the place of Madame Cora de Wilhorst, unable to appear), Mr. Vernon Rigby, and Mr. Brandon. The first part of the programme consisted of selections from the Oratorios, which were effectively given. Mr. Daniell's solo on the flute was a clever performance, and well deserved the applause it received. The concert altogether was a most enjoyable one, and fully maintained the reputation which the winter entertainments promoted by Mr. Daniel have obtained.

Colnbrook (near Windsor).—The Harvest Thanksgiving was celebrated on Thursday, September 26th. There was divine service in the parish church; which was beautifully decorated by Mrs. Grieve for the occasion) at 8 a.m., 11 a.m., and 4 p.m. Evening service was intoned by the Rev. W. T. Grieve, M.A. The anthem was Dr. Green's "Thou visitest the earth and blessest it:" the solo being taken by Mr. R. Ratcliff, the choirmaster; Miss M. Ratcliff at the organ. An admirable sermon was preached by the Rev. N. G. Pilkington, M.A., Vicar of Bedfont. The evening service was followed by a social gathering in the Town-hall, where upwards of 200 sat down to tea. The Vicar introduced Mr. Pilkington as a kind friend who had come to help him, and Mr. Pilkington addressed the parishioners in a speech appropriate to the occasion. A selection of vocal and instrumental music was then given, in which Mrs. Sydney Smith, Miss Dyson, Miss Large, Miss Everest, Miss M. Ratcliff, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. James Large, Mr. Dyson, jun., and Mr. Seymour, took part.

Dudley.—The new iron church, erected in the Wellington-road, was opened for divine service on Wednesday, the 16th ult., the Right Rev. Bishop Claughton, Archdeacon of London, officiating in the morning, and the Rev. W. Reyner Cosens, D.D., Vicar of Dudley, in the evening. The choir of the parish church sang the service, which was full choral. The anthems were, "I have surely built Thee a house" (Boyce), and "Who is this that cometh from Edom?" (Dr. Arnold), both of which were admirably rendered. The musical portion of the services was under the direction of Mr. G. H. Mainwaring, choirmaster of the parish church. Mr. H. J. Blunden, organist, presided at the harmonium.

Eccles.—The ninth annual festival of the choirs forming the Eccles Choral Union was held in the Eccles Parish Church on Saturday, the 12th ult. The Union consists of the church choirs of Eccles, Weaste, Hope, Brindle Heath, Barton, Patricroft, St. Thomas's and St. George's, (Pendleton,) Walkden Moor, Irlams-o'-th'-Height, St. Paul's, Paddington, and Clifton. The total number of voices was 390. Mr. Meadowcroft, of Manchester, was the leader, and Mr. J. F. Bridge, of Manchester Cathedral, presided at the organ. The Rev. Clement Smith, also of the Cathedral, intoned, and Canon How preached from Matthew xxvii. 17: "They worshipped Him."

Gosport.—The twenty-third Lecture Session was opened on Thursday, the 3rd ult., at the Literary and Scientific Institution, with a musical entertainment given by Mr. Ellis Roberts, the harpist, assisted by Miss Ellen Glanville. The performance gave much satisfaction to all present, Miss Glanville being encored in several of her songs.

Hastings.—Master Harry Walker, a highly promising pupil of the Royal Academy of Music, gave a morning and evening concert (by permission of Sir Sterndale Bennett), in the spacious Pavilion of the new Pier, on the 23rd September. There was an orchestra of 25 performers, led by Mr. Weist Hill, of the Royal Academy of Music, and the following artists, also from that Institution, lent their valuable assistance: Miss Sophie Ferrari, Miss Jessie Jones, and Mr. Wadmore, vocalists, and Mr. Eaton Faning, conductor. Master Walker's performance, both at the morning and evening concerts, was characterised by a firmness of touch, a fluency of execution, and a command over the varied shades of expression rarely attained by so youthful a pianist, and the applause with which he was greeted was due alike to his own precocious talent and the excellent teaching of his instructor in the Academy, Mr. F. B. Jewson. His solo pieces were Sir Sterndale Bennett's "Caprice" (with orchestra), a "Valse de Concert," called "Alexandra," the composition of his master, Mr. Jewson, Mendelssohn's "Serenade," and Weber's variations on "Vien qua Dorina Bella;" and he also took part with Mr. Weist Hill in De Beriot and Osborne's duet from Guillaume Tell, and Beethoven's "Kreutzer" Sonata, in all of which he amply justified his right to the medal which was bestowed upon him at the last examination of the Royal Academy of Music. Miss Sophie Ferrari and Miss Jessie Jones were warmly received in their vocal solos, and Mr. Wadmore elicited deserved applause by his rendering of Mendelssohn's "I'm a roamer." Mr. Weist Hill was highly successful in a violin Fantasia, and the Adagio from Spohr's Ninth Concerto; and amongst the orchestral works, favourable mention must be made of a new Overture by Mr. F. B. Jewson, and the first movement from Mr. Eaton Faning's Symphony in C minor. The attendance was excellent at both concerts.

Hereford.—The Michaelmas concert of the Hereford Choral Society was given on Tuesday evening, the 8th ult., at the Shirehall, before a fashionable and appreciative audience. The principal vocalists were Miss Dalmaine, Miss Lydia Broad, Revs. A. Robinson and T. H. Belcher, and Mr. J. H. Lambert; Mr. G. Townshend Smith officiating as conductor. Miss D'Almaine's first song, Haydn's Canzonet, "Fidelity," entirely enlisted the sympathies of her audience, and the Scena "Softly sighs," was no less successful. In Sir Henry Bishop's song, "Should he upbraid," she obtained a well-deserved encore, and, responding to the call by singing "Home, sweet home," was again warmly applauded. Miss Lydia Broad's expressive rendering of "A Mother watched" (Leslie) was much admired. Pinsuti's four-part song, "The sea hath its pearls," given by Miss D'Almaine, Miss Broad, Rev. A. Robinson, and Mr. J. H. Lambert, was one of the genuine successes of the evening, and had to be repeated. The Rev. A. Robinson was encored for his rendering of Sullivan's "Once again," and Mr. J. H. Lambert received a similar compliment for "The Diver," which he selected in place of "The King and the Beggar Maid," allotted to him in the programme. The Rev. T. H. Belcher sang "Love sounds the alarm," with good effect. All the choruses and glees went particularly well, and afforded ample testimony of the care bestowed upon the Society by Mr. G. Townshend Smith, whose duties are not of a light character, the lack of an efficient pianist compelling him to play and conduct too. In conclusion, the Choral Society must be congratulated on a very successful concert, and it would be well if so excellent an Association were more generally supported. A town like Hereford ought, at any rate, to supply such a Society with a large number of performing members.

Knaresboro'.—The Parish Church was re-opened for divine service on Thursday, the 3rd ult., having occupied two and a half years in restoration. The morning prayers were given by the Vicar (Rev. J. Fawcett) and the Rev. J. G. S. Nichol, curate; the first lesson was read by the Rev. H. Fawcett, the second lesson by the Rev. J. Fowler, curate. The sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of Ripon, who took for his text the 28th chapter of Isaiah, 16th ver.: "Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, Behold I lay in Zion for a foundation stone; a stone, a tried stone; a precious corner stone, a sure foundation;. he that believeth shall not make haste." The musical part of the Service consisted of a Processional Hymn, "Rejoice, ye pure in heart." Preces and Responses, Tallis in G; Venite, single chant, Tucker in A; Psalms, Tucker in A; Te Deum. Battishill in D; Jubilate, Battishill in D; Hymn, "We love the place, O God; Kyrie, Berkeley in D (Joules' Chant Book); Doxology, Tallis; the pointing of the Canticles being Monk and Ouseley (used for the first time). The greatest credit is due to the choir instructor, Mr. J. W. Oxley, for his indefatigable efforts in bringing the choir into such admirable training. Mr. J. W. Oxley, the organist, presided at the organ.

Liverpool.—The resumption of the Concerts of the Philharmonic Society after the summer recess, was most successfully inaugurated on the 8th ult., by the seventh concert of the year. Principal vocal artist, Madlle. Albani; solo pianoforte, Mr. F. H. Cowen. The instrumental portion of the programme was chiefly devoted to the performance of Mendelssohn's Overture, The Calm Sea, and the Prosperous Voyage, and the same composer's Concerto in D Minor, Op. 40, executed in a most musicianlike style by Mr. F. H. Cowen, who also played Chopin's "Berceuse," and a brilliant "Valse Caprice," of his own. The second part commenced with the Sinfonia, No. 2, in F (F. H. Cowen), conducted by the composer, a clever work, the Adagio and Scherzo and Trio, being especially worthy of praise. A warm greeting was given to the young composer, at the commencement and at the close of the Sinfonia. The orchestral pieces, concluding the first and second parts of the concert, were Rossini's Overture to The Siege of Corinth, and Berlioz's arrangement of Weber's "Invitation to the Waltz." Madlle. Albani's share in the concert was highly appreciated, her pure vocalization and artistic expression winning several encores. The part-songs, from the works of Henry Smart, Klicken and C. E. Horsley, went well, and gave great pleasure.——The eighth Subscription Concert which took place on the 22nd ult., was a very interesting one; the most important work of the evening being Gade's charming Cantata The Erl King's Daughter. The principal artists were Madame Florence Lancia, Madlle. Enriquez, Mr. Edward Lloyd and Mr. Santley; solo violin, M. Sainton. The principal orchestral compositions were Beethoven's Sinfonia, No. 1, in C, Mozart's Overture to Don Giovanni, Weber's to Euryanthe, and Auber's to Zanetta. The violin solo (Mendelssohn) was splendidly played by M. Sainton. Mr. Santley was highly effective in Hatton's song "The Wreck of the Hesperus," and, for his encore gave the popular "Gia la luna." The choral music went well and the various vocal miscellaneous pieces were much applauded.

Marlborough.—On Thursday, the 3rd ult., at St. Peter's Church, the choirs of the district, in union with the Salisbury Diocesan Choral Association, held a Festival, and the result was in every way most successful. The service was opened by the processional hymn 322, by the surpliced choirs and clergy, carrying representative banners. The several choirs having taken their places in the chancel, the prayers were intoned by the Rev. G. Stallard, Præcentor and Secretary of the District, the Rev. H. de St. Croix, Association Secretary, taking the second part of the service. With the Festival was blended a Harvest Thanksgiving for St. Peter's parish, and this, with the feast of St. Michael and All Angels, was made apparent by the Psalms and Lessons selected; the Psalms being cii, Tonus Regius; cxvii, Jone vii, 4; cxlviii, tone v, 2, taken from the "Ferial Psalter." The Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were sung to a plain service by Boyton Smith, the Preces (perhaps the most impressive portion of a Choral Service), to Tallis in harmony. The Anthem. "O Lord how manifold" (Barnby), went with great spirit and effect. The 252nd hymn ("A. and M.") was sung before the sermon, delivered by the Rev. J. Parr (Vicar of St. Mary's) from the text "Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, and making merry in your hearts to the Lord." After the sermon the Te Deum was sung to Dr. Stainer's music, and during the collection of the alms, Hymn 305 was most carefully rendered, the recessional hymn being 318. The Lessons were read by the Rector of St. Peter's and the Rural Dean. After the service Mr. Walton, choirmaster, who ably presided at the organ, played the "March" from Athalie as a voluntary. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Melbourne.—The fine Organ, built by Messrs. Hill and Sons, of London, for this city, was opened in the Town Hall, on the 8th of August. Mendelssohn's Organ Sonata, No. 3, in A, Bach's Fugue, in G minor, and several other pieces, afforded Mr. Lee an excellent opportunity of displaying the admirable qualities of the instrument, which in every respect fully realised the high expectations which had been formed of it. The concert also included a selection of vocal solos by Mrs. Cutter, Miss Christian, and Signor Susini, all of which were most efficiently rendered, Mrs. Cutter receiving an encore for Beethoven's "Invocation" song, and Miss Christian's pure and musical voice telling with good effect in both her songs. The hall was tolerably well attended.

Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope.—On the 22nd August, Mr. Fred. Griffiths gave a Pianoforte Recital in the Mechanics' Institute, which attracted a large audience. The programme comprised eight pianoforte pieces (including a duet), and four songs by Miss Esther Innes and Mr. Wroe, all of which were encored. Mr. Griffiths exhibited much skill and taste in all his pianoforte performances. The selections from Mendelssohn's Lieder ohne Worte were warmly applauded; and the solo, "Com' è gentil," for the left hand, and the duet "Golden Bells" (in which Mr. Griffith was assisted by Miss Innes), were much appreciated and enthusiastically re-demanded.

Portsmouth.—On Sunday, September 29th (S. Michael and All Angel's Day), a Choral Festival took place in the Royal Garrison Church, on the occasion of the opening of a new Organ, which has recently been erected by Messrs. Hunter, of London. The service commenced at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Six choirs, representing 120 voices, and drawn from the principal churches of the surrounding neighbourhood, took part in the service. The choirs and clergy met and robed on the Governor's Green, from which they walked in procession, entering the church by the west doors. Owing to the great length of the procession, the singing of a processional hymn was not deemed advisable till the church was reached, when the organ and choirs pealed forth the Old Hundredth tune to hymn 136 ("A. and M.") as they proceeded up the nave to the stalls in the chancel. The Lessons were read by the Ven. Archdeacon Wright, Chaplain to the Forces; the Rev. R. A. Corbett intoned the service, and the sermon was preached by the Chaplain-General (the Rev. G. R. Gleig, M.A.). The proper Psalms were 96, 146, and 150 to Anglican single chants. The Anthem was Dr. Clarke Whitfeld's "Behold how good and joyful," which was well sung. "O rest in the Lord," from Mendelssohn's Elijah, was sung by a chorister boy with much feeling and taste. Mr. E. W. Saxey (the organist of the church) presided at the organ, and kept the choirs together remarkably well; and to the exertions of this gentleman the great success which attended the Festival must be chiefly attributed. The church was crowded to inconvenience.

Plymouth.—Mendelssohn's Oratorio. St. Paul, was given, for the first time in the Western Counties, by the Plymouth Vocal Association, on the 9th ult. The Albert Hall was well filled, the seating arrangements, under the supervision of Messrs. Moon, being, as usual, excellent. The orchestra was occupied by about 160 vocalists and a large and efficient band, many of the performers being amateurs, but including such professionals as Mr. Henry Reed, who resumed his old place as first violin, Mr. M. Rice, of Torquay (viola), Mr. Reed's son (violoncello), Mr. Fly (trumpet), Mr. Kearns (oboe), and Mr. Radcliffe (flute). Mr. Vernon Rigby's voice has grown more mellow, and was used with his accustomed grace and skill. His chief song, "Be thou faithful unto death," was charmingly sung, and his duet with Mr. Brandon, "Now we are ambassadors," was encored so undeniably that it had to be repeated. Mr. Brandon was hardly effective in his first air, "Consume them all," but in subsequent songs he was thoroughly successful. Madame Demeric-Lablache had little scope for the display of her fine contralto voice, but in recitatives and quartetts she was heard to advantage. The conductor, Mr. Löhr, before the concert commenced, apologised for the possible shortcomings of Madame Cora de Willhorst, by mentioning that she was suffering from a cold, and Madame Willhorst refrained from attempting some of the songs placed to her on the programme. Under all the circumstances, the performance throughout was in every respect highly creditable (the choruses being especially well rendered), and the Vocal Association must be congratulated on an auspicious commencement of the season.

Quarry Bank Parish (Dio. Lichfield).—The Annual Harvest Thanksgiving Services, solemnised in this parish, commenced on the 3rd, and concluded on the 13th ult. The music on the 3rd was Goss's Evening Service in A; Anthem, "I will give thanks," (Barnby) and Beethoven's "Hallelujah Chorus;" the hymns selected from "Hymns A and M." The prayers were efficiently intoned by the Rev. W. H. Hopkins, B.A., Oxon, curate. On the following Sunday, the Morning Service was King, in F; Anthem, "The Lord is loving" (Garrett). In the evening the Canticles were sung to Arnold, in A; the Anthems were "Fear not, O Land" (Goss) and "Hallelujah Chorus" (Handel). On Sunday, the 13th, King's Morning Service was repeated; the Anthem was "I will magnify thee" (Goss). The Festival concluded in the evening, when Goss's beautiful Service in E was sung, and the Anthem "The Glory of the Lord," by the same composer. The chorus, "The Heavens are telling," was sung after the Sermon. The musical portion of the services was admirably rendered by the choir, which is both amateur and gratuitous, although reckoning amongst its members some of the best voices in the Midland Counties. The voluntaries and accompaniments were skilfully performed by Mr. Fitzvelle, choirmaster and organist, whose indefatigable zeal in training the treble voices of the choir, cannot be too highly commended.

Ramsgate.—Sunday, the 29th Sept., being the Festival of St. Michael and All Angels, the services at St. Mary's Church were of a more than usually impressive character. Hymn 325 "Hark! hark! my soul," was sung as a processional at each Service, and the anthems were "Therefore with Angels" (Novello) in the morning, and "To Thee all Angels" and "To Thee Cherubim" (Handel) in the evening. The congregations were unusually large. Those persons who are desirous of having the beautiful Services of our Church rendered as they should be are deeply indebted to Mr. Thorne, the talented organist of St. Mary's, for giving them an opportunity of hearing the various offices of our Church performed in a devotional and at the same time attractive manner, this being the only church in Ramsgate where full choral services are given. The following Sunday was observed as a day of thanksgiving for the harvest. The church was very tastefully decorated, the altar, altar rails, pulpit, lectern and font, being adorned with flowers, fruit, ferns, hops, &c. The font especially deserves mention, and at the top and foot were crosses which were very prettily arranged. The gas standards also were decorated. The Services, which were unusually attractive, were beautifully rendered. The processional at both the morning and evening Services was the 223rd hymn, "Come, ye thankful people, come;" the Te Deum (Sullivan in D), Anthem, "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem" (Hayes); Kyrie (Mendelssohn); Creed, Gloria in excelsis, &c., (Marbeck). At Evensong the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were sung to Stainer in E flat. The Anthem was "Fear not, O Land" (Sir J. Goss). At the conclusion of the service, previous to the benediction being pronounced, the "Hallelujah Chorus" was sung. The offertories were in aid of the Ramsgate and St. Lawrence Dispensary, and amounted to the large sum of £27 14s. 10½d.

Ryde, Isle of Wight.—The first of the series of entertainments under the direction of the Rev. Dr. Noble, which were so popular last season, were resumed at the New Town Hall on the 30th September, with every prospect of success. The Readings by the Rev. Dr. Bartlett and Dr. Noble, were highly appreciated. The vocal performances of the Misses A. White and Liebe Konss, and Messrs. Redman and Sibly, were all that could be desired. Miss M. Fowles performed a selection on the harmonium with her usual effect, and accompanied the songs with taste. The second entertainment was held on the 14th ult., with equal success. Dr. Noble was assisted by the Misses Liebe Konss, Marian Wood, and others; all the vocal solos were highly appreciated, and a duet between Dr. Noble and Miss Konss, was warmly applauded.

Sheffield.—The completion of the enlargement of the Parish Church Organ was celebrated on the 7th ult., when a Recital was given by the organist in the presence of a large number of subscribers to the organ fund and their friends, admission being by ticket. The programme was of a character well calculated to show the capabilities of the instrument to the best advantage. The instrument, which was originally the work of England, a native builder, who attained considerable celebrity during the early part of the present century, has from time to time undergone alterations and enlargement, notably on one occasion by Jones, and afterwards in 1856 or '7 by Jardine, of Manchester, who added to it some capital free reed pedal pipes; more recently by Brindley, who effected considerable improvements; and now by Messrs. Brindley and Foster, the eminent organ builders, of Sheffield, who have made most extensive alterations and improvements. Much satisfaction has been given by the excellent manner in which they have carried out the work, which has been mainly confined to the Swell Organ, this having been almost entirely reconstructed. The rendering of the programme gave entire satisfaction to the numerous listeners, who testified their appreciation of the Recital by according at its close a vote of thanks to the organist, which was proposed by the Vicar. The cost of the alterations is about £320, towards which £300 had been subscribed.

South Norwood.—A series of weekly musical and literary entertainments commenced, in the Public Hall, on Tuesday evening, the 15th ult., under the direction of Messrs. J. Baucutt and W. Blount, of London. The spacious room was crowded to excess long before the entertainment began. The vocalists were Miss A. L. Fielding (who was in excellent voice), Messrs. A. D. Anderson, L. Wells, G. Linley, and F. Herbert, all of whom contributed some effective songs. The literary portion of the programme was ably sustained by Messrs. Walter Blount and J. Baucutt. Mr. F. Laughlin presided at the pianoforte.

Staveley, Derbyshire.—An evening concert, selected from the Messiah and Creation, was given in the Wesleyan Chapel, on Tuesday, the 15th ult., in aid of the new Wesleyan Chapel building fund, Whittington Moor. The principal vocalists were Miss Twigg (of the Yorkshire Concerts), Mr. T. Cooper (of the Chesterfield Parish Church Choir), Mr. Vincent Cooke, and Mr. M. Shepherd. Mr. T. Wallhead led the band, Mr. Cooke White presided at the organ, and Mr. William Walker conducted. The band and chorus consisted of 60 performers. There was an excellent attendance.

Sunderland.—On Sunday, the 13th ult., thanksgivings were offered in St. Mark's Church, both in the morning and evening, appropriate to the season of harvest, sermons being preached by the Rev. T. H. Chester, incumbent of St. Hilda's, South Shields, and by the Rev. Chas. Green, the vicar. In the arrangement of the floral decorations, exquisite taste and skill were displayed. They were chaste, and their number had been very happily chosen. The choir entered by the west door, and proceeded up the central aisle, singing a harvest processional. The service was full choral. Dykes's magnificent Te Deum, and Bridge's Anthem "Give unto the Lord," testified to the pains which had been taken both by the choir and choirmaster (Mr. Pearson). In the afternoon, the Sunday School Anniversary Service was celebrated before a large congregation, and at the evening service the church was crowded to excess. The total amount of the offertories was about £20. On the 14th ult., a musical entertainment, over which the vicar presided, was given in the School-room, by the church choir, under the direction of Mr. Pearson, and the St. Mark's Drum and Fife Band. The building was crowded to overflowing, principally by residents of the district. Several of the glees, sung by the really efficient choir, elicited tokens of appreciation. Mrs. Pearson presided with ability at the pianoforte, as accompanist, and, in conjunction with her little daughter, gave two duets. Mr. H. Ritson proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. Mr. Crooke, who had originated and arranged the evening's entertainment, the proceeds of which will go towards the establishment of a Sunday School Library. The National Anthem terminated a most enjoyable entertainment.

Theale.—Mr. W. Hawley gave his annual concert on the 22nd ult., which was well attended; the artists were Miss Larkcom, Mrs. Rippon, Mr. Hawley, Mr. Mellor, and Mr. O. Christian; Mr. Cole, solo pianist, and Mr. Style, solo clarionet. "When winds breathe soft," and "When evening's twilight," were well rendered; Messrs. Mellor and Christian were encored in both their songs, as was also Mr. Styles, in Meyerbeer's Fantasia for the clarionet. The concert was a highly successful one.

Wellingboro'.—A musical festival took place in the large Hall of the Corn Exchange on the 30th September, being the first of a series to be given by Mr. A. Randall, choirmaster, who conducted on the occasion. There were more than 100 vocalists, the instrumental accompaniments being a pianoforte and harmonium. The solo vocalists were Miss Thomas, Miss Sanderson, Miss Sanders, Mr. Warren, and Mr. S. Randall, all of whom were highly successful, several encores being enthusiastically demanded. The choruses were well rendered, especially the "Hallelujah" from the Messiah. Miss Everitt accompanied several songs with much judgment on the pianoforte, and also played an effective duet with Miss Thomas. A solo on the pianoforte by Mr. Lamb, was also greatly admired. There was a good attendance.

Weybridge.—The Annual Thanksgiving Service was held in St. James's Church, on Wednesday the 16th ult. The decorations were very fine and chaste. The choir consists of 40 voices, and the musical portion of the service throughout was well performed. Processional hymn 360 ("A. and M."), "We plough the fields," &c.; proper Psalms 65, 147 and 148 (Monk and Ouseley's Psalter); chants, Bellamy and Sir G. Elvey; Magnificat, Parisian tone, arranged by Dr. J. Stainer; Deus Misereatur old Latin tone, arranged by H. P. G. Brooke; Anthem, "O taste and see" (Sir J. Goss), which was excellently sung and much admired; hymn 410 ("S.P.C.K.") Wimbledon; hymn after sermon 463, ("S.P.C.K."); Festival from "St. Alban's Tune Book," recessional, Nunc Dimittis, Gregorian tone. The service was intoned by the Rev. Philip Bartlett, M.A. The first lesson was read by the Rev. Meade, M.A., and the second by the Rev. Spicer, M.A. The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. J. Harrison, M.A., Rector of Thorpe, Suffolk, from Rev. xiv. 14. The offertory, about £14, was devoted to the Surrey Church Association. The concluding voluntaries, finely played by the organist, Mr. H. P. G. Brooke, were "Processional March" (W. Carter.) Hallelujah Chorus Messiah, (Handel), and Sir G. Elvey's Festal March.

Windsor.—Mr. Christian's annual concert took place at the Town Hall, on the 8th ult., before a numerous and fashionable audience. Mr. Christian was patronised by H.R.H. Princess Christian, and the principal residents of the town and neighbourhood, and the concert was of a very high character. The vocalists were Madme. Thaddeus Wells, Mr. Selwyn Graham, and Mr. Christian; and the instrumentalists were Mr. Nicholson (solo flautist); Mr. Lazarus (solo clarionet); Mr. S. Hughes (solo ophicleide); and Mr. S. Kemp, R.A.M. (pianoforte). Mr. Christian rendered "The wreck of the Hesperus," and also the song from La Sonnambula, "As I view these scenes so charming" with much success. The programme was agreeably varied by several duets and trios.

Whittington Moor.—A successful concert was given in the new School-room on Monday the 21st ult., before a large audience, in aid of the school funds. Vocalists, Madame Bridge, Madame Williams, Mr. Williams and Mr. Thos. Cooper, all of whom were highly effective. The Chesterfield Quartett and Glee Society rendered several glees and part-songs in a most artistic manner. Mr. Staton presided at the pianoforte.

Yaxley, Suffolk.—A new Organ, built by Bevington and Sons, London, was opened by Mr. George Legge, organist and choirmaster of S. Thomas (Archbishop Tenison's Chapel), Regent Street, London, on the 26th Sept., who presided at two full services at the Harvest Festival. The organ was built under Mr. Legge's direction, and great pains were taken by him in drilling the village choir. The voluntaries were Hallelujah Choruses from the Messiah and Beethoven's Mount of Olives, an Adagio of Spohr's, and "Kyrie" from Haydn's Second Mass.

Organ Appointments.—Mr. F. A. Hall, of St. John the Baptist, Hoxton, to All Saints' Church, Belvedere, S.E.——Mr. Arthur S. Roofe, to St. John the Baptist, Hoxton.——Mr. J. Elliott Waugh, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Aidan's Church, Kirkdale, Liverpool, N.——Mr. Edwin M. Lott (of St. Helier's Parish Church, Jersey), Organist and Director of the Choir, to St. Peter's, Kensington Park, W.——Mr. T. Pulleyn (late Organist and Choirmaster of the Parish Church, Newport Pagnell), Organist and Director of the Choir to Christ Church, Folkestone.——Mr. R. Stokoe (late of St. Barnabas, Holloway), Organist and Choirmaster to Christ Church, May Fair.

Choir Appointments.—Mr. Percy Rivers (Tenor), to Christchurch, Lancaster Gate.——Mr. Joseph Hutchinson (late of St. Katherine's Collegiate Church, Gloucester Gate), Principal Bass to Bedford Episcopal Chapel.

DURING THE LAST MONTH,
Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

THE HYMNARY.—Tunes only, edited by Joseph Barnby.
Edition No. 5. Demy 8vo. Cloth boards, 3s.
Ditto No. 6. Demy 8vo. Cloth bevelled boards, gilt lettered, red edges, 4s.

DONIZETTI.—La Figlia del Reggimento, an Opera in Two Acts, edited by Berthold Tours, and translated into English by Natalia Macfarren; being Vol. 18 of Novello's 8vo. Edition of Operas. Paper covers, 2s. 6d.; scarlet cloth, 4s.

SCHUMANN, R.—Paradise and the Peri. A Cantata for solo voices, chorus, and orchestra. Words adapted from Moore's "Lalla Rookh," by H. W. Dulcken, Ph. D. Paper cover, 2s. 6d.; cloth, 4s.

YOUNG, J. M. W.—Te Deum Laudamus, in C. Small 8vo., price 1½d.

ARNOLD, G. B.—Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, in F. Vocal Score, 2s.; separate vocal parts, 1s.

EDWARDS, E.—Eight settings of the Kyrie Eleison, with Organ harmonies for the Nicene Creed. 8vo., price 9d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—Two-Part Anthems for Small Choirs. First Series for Boys' and Female Voices.
No. 1. Come, and let us Return. Price 6d.

BARTHOLOMEW, MRS. MOUNSEY.—Yesterday and To-morrow. Song. Words by Charles Swain. Price 1s. 6d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—Pray, child, pray. Song of the Sailor's Wife, from the Cantata "Outward Bound." Price 2s.

WAGNER, R.—Introduction and Chorus (in Act 3) from Lohengrin. 8vo., price 4d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—Weighing Anchor. Four-Part Song (for male voices), from the Cantata "Outward Bound." 8vo., price 4d.

JACKSON, R.—Six Choral Songs for S.A.T.B. 8vo., price 1s. 3d., or separately:

The Mariners. Price 2d.	The Meadow Gate. Price 3d.
The Voice of Spring 3d.	Lilian ... ... 2d.
Come when the Dawn 3d.	The Homes of England 2d.

BROUGHTON, JAMES.—Festal Sonata (a Silver Wedding). Duet for Pianoforte, by James Broughton. Price 4s.; or in separate movements:
Allegro. 1s. 6d. Andantino, 1s. 6d. Minuet, 9d. Finale, 1s. 6d.

THIRTY-FIVE PIANOFORTES, by Broadwood, Collard, Erard, Kirkman, Allison, 8 HARMONIUMS, by Christophe. PARISIAN OBLIQUES, by Ziegler, and PIANO MECANIQUE, by Debain. DOUBLE ACTION HARPS, by Erard.
MR. C. KELLY will SELL by AUCTION, on Wednesday, November 20th, at 11, Charles-street, Berners-street, the stock as above. Catalogues forwarded on application.

TO THE MUSICAL.—Clearing out SURPLUS STOCK of PIANOFORTE MUSIC. One Pound's worth (published price) post free for 3s. 6d.; 5s. worth (published price), as sample, post free for 15 stamps, with full particulars. T. Robinson, Musicseller, Romford.

SCHOTT AND CO.,
159, Regent Street, London,
Beg to announce that
Mr. ALEXANDER GUILMANT
(Organiste du Grand Orgue de l'Eglise de la Trinité à Paris),
Whose playing and compositions met with such brilliant success, has entrusted them with the sole agency for the sale of his works. Catalogues may be had post free on application.

COUNTY ASYLUM, Shrewsbury.—WANTED, TWO MALE ATTENDANTS. Wages commencing at £20, rising to £30 per annum, with board, lodging, and washing, and a suit of uniform annually. Preference will be given to musicians. Apply to the Superintendent, as above.

A CHOIRMASTER and TENOR SINGER seeks ENGAGEMENT. Exceptional qualifications. Apply to F B., Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

NOVELLO'S
OCTAVO EDITION OF OPERAS.
VOLUME XIX.

ROSSINI'S
GUILLAUME TELL,
WILL BE READY ON
DECEMBER 1.

WHEN THE BAIRNIES ARE ASLEEP. New Song, by Lady Baker. "This is more than charming; it is a highly meritorious composition, and will not fail to please wherever it is heard."—Queen, July 27. Sent for 2s.
Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

THE RAFT. Descriptive Song, by Ciro Pinsuti. "Contraltos will hail this highly dramatic and forcible song or scena as a boon. It is rarely that anything of such importance is produced for this voice."—Queen, July 27. Sent for 2s.
Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

ESMERALDA. Sung by Miss Banks with unanimous encores. "Miss Banks was no less successful with Levey's Gipsy Song, entitled 'Esmeralda,' one of the brightest modern compositions of its kind."—Standard, October 12. Sent for 2s.
Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.
AH, GENTLE FAIR. Solo and Chorus. Sung with immense success, under the direction of Herr Jonghmans. 1s. 6d. nett. post free.
ECHOES OF THE PAST. Collection of Choral Music, edited by W. J. Westbrook. 8 numbers ready, each 6d. nett.
C. Lonsdale, 26, Old Bond-street, W., London.

Lately published.
WE WATCHED HER BREATHING. Words by T. Hood. Four-part Song for S.A.T.B. By Rev. Henry J. Poole, M.A. Price 3d. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.
"We like the manner in which the words are breathed out to a placid melody, quietly harmonized for four voices at the commencement. The change of key, too, after the double bar, is extremely happy; and the fall of the 7th for the 1st voice at the final phrase is eloquently expressive of the words."—Musical Times, Oct. 1872.

A MUSICAL GHOST STORY (with a good moral), for Penny Readings. Five halfpenny stemps. New Christmas Anthem, tuneful and easy, 1½d. Address Editor of Cheap Music, Bognor, Sussex.

TO VIOLINISTS.—25 EASY VIOLIN DUETS adapted for instruction or amusement, selected from the Great Masters—Bruni, Kalliwoda, Pleyel, Parry, &c., by H. Sydney Davis. London: J. Williams, 24, Berners-street, and 123, Cheapside; or free by post for 24 stamps from H. S. Davis, 55, Fore-street, E.C.

DOWN BY THE BROOKSIDE IN THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY. By the author of "Never mind the rest." 3s. Montem Smith sings this song at Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, Lynn, Hereford, and Newport, Salop. Hutchings and Romer, Conduit-street.

A ROSE IN HEAVEN. New Song. Words by the Rev. E. D. Jackson. Music by Franz Abt. 3s.; free by post for 18 stamps. "Is a charming and melodious song, simple and sweet."—Midland Counties Herald. "This little gem will haunt the memory of those who hear it, long after the song has ceased."—Vide Graphic.

ROHNER'S widely-popular ART OF SINGING. 4s.; free by post for 24 stamps. "Rohner's "Art of Singing" is a book to lead pupils gently on, and enable them to obtain a proficiency."—Vide Midland Counties Herald. "An excellent work; very comprehensive in scope, yet simple in method."—Vide Weekly Register.
London: Sole publishers, Robert Cocks and Co., New Burlington-street. Order everywhere.

ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, HARMONIUM, HARMONY, &c., One Guinea per Quarter; Lessons and Practice on fine modern instruments. Organist, 51, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

Now ready, small 4to., price 2s. 6d.

ANGLICAN PSALTER CHANTS, Single and Double, edited by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart., etc., and EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This work contains nearly 400 Chants; which are appropriated to "Venite, exultemus Domino," the Daily and Proper Psalms, &c.; those for each Service occupying a separate page and affording several Series, suitable to each daily portion of the Psalter, from which choice may be made. The Chants have been selected with especial reference to the position of the Reciting-note.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

VENI, CREATOR SPIRITUS. Set to Music by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon, &c.

For general or Festival use: for male voices and four-part chorus, with Organ Accompaniment. ad lib. Price 3d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE ANGLICAN CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, Edited by E. G. MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper. 1s.; cloth. 2s.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co. Oxford: Parker.

Sixth Edition.

THE ANGLICAN CHANT-BOOK, edited by E. G. MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper cover, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d. Large Edition, cloth, 4s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

OUSELEY AND MONK'S PSALTER AND CANTICLES, pointed for Chanting. Second Edition. Authorised by his Grace the Archbishop of York. 24mo., without chants. 1s.; with Proper Psalms, 1s. 3d.; Proper Psalms, separately, 3d.; small 4to., with chants, 5s.; large 4to., £1 1s.; each voice part, separately, 2s. Canticles, score, small quarto., 9d.; separate parts, 3d.; words only, 24mo., 1½d. Novello, Ewer & Co., and Parker & Co.

Ninth Edition.

JOULE'S COLLECTION OF 527 CHANTS, 57 RESPONSES, &c. Price, 5s. 6d.; sep. vocal parts, 2s. each.—Tonic Sol-fa Notation. Score, 1s. 6d.

The Chants are selected with due reference to the position of the Reciting-notes.

SUPPLEMENT to the PREVIOUS EDITIONS of the ABOVE, containing Chants for the Venite, &c. Price 1s.

THE PSALTER, PROPER PSALMS, HYMNS and CANTICLES. Pointed for Chanting by B. ST. J. B. JOULE. (Large type.) Price 2s. 6d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

Seventh Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. 18mo., price 1s., in cloth, 1s. 6d.

Fourth Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. Quarto, in cloth elegant, price 7s. 6d.

Third Edition.

THE ORDER FOR THE HOLY COMMUNION, Harmonized on a Monotone in a very simple manner for Parochial use. By B. St. J. B. JOULE Price 3d. Novello, Ewer & Co.

Just Published.

CANTICLES NOTED. Second Set, by the Rev. THOMAS HELMORE, M.A. 18mo., 8d.; 8vo., 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.

HELMORE, REV. THOMAS.—The CANTICLES ACCENTED, 18mo., 3d.—Hymns of the Eastern Church, 4 voices, each 1s., PEACE, IT IS I; THE DAY IS PASSED AND OVER; THE DAY OF RESURRECTION.—S. MARK'S CHANT BOOK (in daily use at the College Chapel, Chelsea), 4s. 6d.; or the same, Part I., being the main body of the work, price 3s. 6d.; and Part II., The Table of the Chants, price 1s. (useful for places where only the Canticles are chanted). Also Two "TE DEUMS" for Choir and People, in the alternate verses; adapted from Latin arrangements by Alfieri and Baini; vocal Score and Organ Accompaniment, price 3s. Also the People's Plain Song, separate, price 1½d. Four-part Cadences for the Holy Communion, 6d. The Carol for Christmas Morning, vocal score, 18mo. edition, 2d.; melody, 18mo., 1d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NON NOBIS DOMINE, arranged to the Corresponding English Words, by Rev. W. G. LONGDEN, for the Use of Choral Meetings, as an Introit, or Anthem, or Grace after Meat. Price One Penny; Ninepence a dozen; or Five Shillings a hundred.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TE DEUM (new) in B flat. Harmony, unison, free organ part, &c. Highly effective. 1s. 6d.—Three Choral Hymns—"There is a blessed home," "O Love," and "Praise the Lord." Complete 1s.—Also the immensely popular arrangement of the Evening Hymn "Abide with me." Harmony and unison, with a free organ part. 1s.—Also the well-known "Six Kyries." 1s. By EDWARD LAWRANCE, Organist, Merthyr Tydfil. A very liberal discount on a dozen copies, direct from the composer. A specimen copy of either for twelve stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

CANTATE DOMINO and DEUS MISEREATUR, by G. A. MACFARREN. For voices in unison and organ. Octavo, 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

BOYTON SMITH'S CHANT SERVICE, in G, No. 3 (Te Deum and Jubilate). Octavo edition, price fourpence. London: F. Pitman, Paternoster-row. Salisbury: Brown and Co. This service should be distinctly ordered as "Chant Service, in G, No. 3."

"I WILL LAY ME DOWN IN PEACE." Full anthem for Evening Service, by BOYTON SMITH. Octavo, threepence.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Difficulty and delay in procuring either of the above works may be avoided by direct application (by post, enclosing stamps) to the Composer. Address, 30, St. Thomas' Street, Weymouth.

SMITH, REV. R. F., Minor Canon of Southwell. Te Deum, in F. 3d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

FOUR EASY SETTINGS of "TE DEUM," 2nd edition (Music and Pointing), for 4d.; 3s. 8d. per dozen, or 50 for 12s. 6d., post free. Novello, Ewer and Co., London and New York.

TE DEUM, in C, G, D, and E, partly chantwise, simple and dignified, by H. E. HAVERGAL, M.A. 3d. each, 9d. the set, with chants, &c.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

AVE VERUM.—A new Bass Solo and Chorus, composed expressly for, and sung by, his friend R. Scarisbrick, of Liverpool, by J. BOLINBROKE COOPER; free by post for 7 stamps. Hime and Son, 57, Church-street, Liverpool, and 18, Hamilton-sq., Birkenhead.

TWELVE KYRIES. By G. BAKER. Price Sixpence. and post-free. G. Baker, 19, Westgate, Wakefield.

THE OFFICE of HOLY COMMUNION. Set to music by the Rev. E. B. WHYLEY, M.A. 8vo., price 1s. 6d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE NICENE CREED, in G major, for Voices and Organ, by WILLIAM BLAKELEY, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Folio score. 1s. 6d. net; a liberal discount allowed to choirs. To be had of the author, Warrengate, Wakefield.

Now ready. 8vo. Price Threepence.

THE APOSTLES' CREED, Set to Music (chiefly in Recitative) for Voices in Unison, with an Accompaniment for the Organ, by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon, Organist and Director of the Choir, York Minster.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

EVENING SERVICE, in E flat.—Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis. By HERBERT S. OAKELEY, Mus. Doc., and Prof. Mus. Univ. Edinburgh. Score, 4s.; vocal parts, 4d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

JOHN M. W. YOUNG'S EASY FESTIVAL SERVICE, in C; consisting of Te Deum, Benedictus, and Jubilate, with an introductory Sketch of the History and Theology of the Te Deum, by the Right Rev. the Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham. Te Deum and Sketch, 1s.; festival size, 1½d. Benedictus and Jubilate, 10d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE COMMUNION OFFICE, in A, for Trebles (or Voices in Unison), by the Rev. H. H. WOODWARD, B.A., Mus. Bac. Voice part, 4d.; Organ score, 1s.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

VESPER MUSIC, in solemn Chant style. Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, set to easy and effective music, with a simple melody for the Congregation. By W. HAYNES, Professor of Music, Great Malvern. No. 1, 2d.; Nos. 2, 3, 4, 3d. each. Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, founded on the Gregorian theme, 2d. First and second set of favourite Hymn Tunes, 1s. each, nett.

Novello, Ewer and Co., or post free from the Composer.

Now ready. The second edition of Nine new

CHRISTMAS CAROLS, or HYMNS. In one book. Price One Shilling. "There is no doubt these carols will be as popular as they deserve to be; everyone should possess them." A. Dimoline, Publisher, College-green, Bristol.

Also in the Press, half price—The song, "Little May," Miss Hodges, 3s.; The Beatitude, "Blessed are the pure in heart," trio for three treble voices, 2s. "These are both musical gems."

Just published. Second edition.

HARK! HARK! THE ORGAN LOUDLY PEALS. A Hymn for the Dedication of NEW ORGANS, &c. Composed, with special Organ Accompaniment, by H. S. IRONS, Assistant Organist of Chester Cathedral. Organ score, folio, price sixpence; voice part only, 8vo., 1d.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE QUARTER CHIME, or 15 Original Hymn Tunes (with words), by I. CLARKE. Price 1s. 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Leeds: Hopkinson Brothers, Commercial-street. Doncaster: Meacock and Son. Or of the Author, 51, Spring-gardens.

ELEVENTH EDITION.

"The air once heard haunts the memory."—Church Opinion.

MARCH OF THE CHORISTERS. Net 1s. 6d.—"To write a really good and striking March is by no means an easy task. Mr. Allen's subjects are bold and suggestive."—Illustrated Review. "Evidently by one who thinks before he writes."—Queen. "Its freshness will make it a favourite."—Weekly Times. Novello & Co.

THE CONGREGATIONAL PSALMIST.

Edited by Henry Allon, D.D., and H. J. Gauntlett, Mus. Doc.

FIRST SECTION.—TUNES AND CHORALES.

Compressed Score.—Cloth 3s.; roan 3 6
Vocal Score.—Cloth, 5s.; roan 5 6
Sol-fa Edition.—Cloth, 3s.; roan 3 6
Instrumental Score.—Cloth, 12s. 6d.; roan, 15s.; morocco ... 28 0
Separate Vocal Parts: Soprano, Alto, Tenor, and Bass.—Stiff covers, each 1s.; cloth, 1s. 6d.; roan 2 0

SECOND SECTION.—CHANTS, SANCTUSES, &c.

Compressed Score.—Stiff covers, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s.; roan ... 2 6
Cheap Edition.—Limp cloth, 6d.; stiff cloth 0 9
Sol-fa Edition.—Limp cloth, 6d.; stiff cloth 0 9
Instrumental Score.—Cloth, 6s. 6d.; roan 7 6

THIRD SECTION.—CHURCH ANTHEMS, &c.

Containing 115 Anthems for Congregational use.

Compressed Score.—Cloth, 3s.; roan 3 6
Cheap Edition.—Limp cloth, 1s. 4d.; stiff cloth 1 8

TUNES AND CHANTS, in One Volume.

Vocal Score.—Cloth, 7s.; roan 8 0
Compressed Score.—Cloth, 5s.; roan, gilt edges 5 6
Instrumental Score.—4to. cloth, 17s. 6d.; roan, 21s; morocco ... 32 0
The Separate Parts may also be had bound up with the Chants.
Crown 8vo. cloth, 3s, 6d.; roan, 4s.

TUNES AND ANTHEMS, in One Volume.

Compressed Score.—Cloth, 5s. 6d.; roan 6 0
Separate Voice Parts: Treble, Alto, Tenor, or Bass.—Cloth, 4s.; roan 4 6

CHANTS AND ANTHEMS, in One Volume.

Crown 8vo.—Cloth, 4s.; roan 5 0
Cheap Edition.—Cloth, 2s.; roan 2 6

TUNES, CHANTS, AND ANTHEMS.—In One Volume.

Compressed Score.—Cloth, 7s. 6d.; roan, gilt edges 8 6
London: Hodder and Stoughton, 27, Paternoster-row; Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W., and 35, Poultry, E.C.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE ANTHEM (double number). 3d.
THE STORMY PETREL (Tenor and Bass Solos, double number), 3d.
THE IRONFOUNDERS (double number), 3d.
All W. W. Pearson's Glees may be had of Novello, Ewer and Co., London; and Pearson, Brampton, Rotherham.

EASY ANTHEMS for VILLAGE CHOIRS. By W. H. Gill. 2d. each. Nos. 1 to 6 now ready.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.
A Specimen Copy, post free for Stamps to the value.

"I DID CALL UPON THE LORD." Full Anthem for Four Voices, by T. Mee Pattison. Price 4d.
"A capital anthem for ordinary choirs; well written, and possesses plenty of variety. A little verse piece in the middle of it is effective, and a spirited fughetta brings it to a satisfactory conclusion."—Musical Standard.

G. A. MACFARREN'S TWO-PART ANTHEMS for Small Choirs. The texts selected by the Rev. J. Powell Metcalfe.
First Series, for Boys' and Females Voices—1. "Come, and let us return." 2. "I will look unto the Lord."
(To be continued.)
Second Series, for Female and Male Voices—1. "Unto us was born." 2. "Behold! the tabernacle."
(To be continued.)
These Anthems are available as Duets for private performance.
Price 6d. for each Anthem, or 2s. 6d. for each series of six.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THREE SHORT ANTHEMS. Suitable for the Commencement of Public Worship. Music by E. J. Wallis, M.C.O., Organist of the Downs Chapel, Clapton. Price 4d.
London: Weippert and Co., 277 and 279, Regent-street, W.

CHRISTMAS ANTHEM—"Behold, I bring you good tidings." Short, easy, and effective. Music by E. J. Wallis, M.C.O., Organist of the Downs Chapel, Clapton. Price 4d.
London: Weippert and Co., 277 and 279, Regent-street, W.

NEW BOOK OF CHURCH ANTHEMS.

Just published, price 1s. 4d., limp cloth; 1s. 8d., stiff cloth, red edges.

CHURCH ANTHEMS, &c.

Edited by Henry Allon, D.D. Containing One Hundred and Fifteen Anthems for Congregational Use, and forming the Third Section of "The Congregational Psalmist." A Larger Edition, in crown 8vo. is also now ready, price 3s. cloth; 3s. 6d., roan, gilt edges. A liberal allowance to congregations and classes.
London: Hodder and Stoughton, 27, Paternoster-row; and Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.

Just published. Sixth edition. Price Twopence.
THE NEW NATIONAL SONG,
"GOD SAVE THE PRINCE OF WALES."
Words and Music by
GABRIEL DAVIS.
Choral and other Societies performing this Part-Song can be supplied with copies of the Words gratis for distribution among the audience, on application to the Publishers. Band parts lent.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

To Choral Societies. Now ready, price 1s. nett.
GOUNOD'S NEW TE DEUM.
New Sacred Songs.
THY WILL BE DONE. Ch. Gounod. 4s.
HO, EVERY ONE THAT THIRSTETH! M. H. Richardson. 3s.

Now ready, 1 vol., demy 8vo., 6s. 6d.
MUSICAL DEVELOPMENT (An Æsthetical Treatise). By Joseph Goddard.
"It is a work which, for its profound philosophic discernment, its pure and useful treatment of a grand subject, deserves careful study."—London Quarterly Review.

To Teachers and the Principals of Schools.
NEW PIANOFORTE COMPOSITIONS for YOUNG PLAYERS. By Joseph Goddard.
First Series, price 2s. 6d. each.
1. ON THE WATER. 2. IN THE WOODS.
3. AMONG THE HILLS.
Second Series, price 3s. each.
1. O PESCATOR, and BELIEVE ME IF ALL.
2. ZIGANKA.
3. HOME, SWEET HOME.
4. THE GAZELLE.
5. CHERRY RIPE.
6. THE GYPSY.
"Mr. Goddard deserves the best thanks alike of pianoforte teachers and pupils, and every school should introduce this series of pieces to the pupils."—Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine.
Goddard and Co., 4, Argyll-place, Regent-street.

NEW SONGS,

BY

Edward Davidson Palmer.

"SOLDIER, REST!"
For Soprano or Tenor. Price 2s.

"WHERE SHALL THE LOVER REST?"
For Contralto. Price 3s.

"THE HEATH THIS NIGHT."
For Bass. Price 3s.

WORDS BY

SIR WALTER SCOTT.

LONDON: F. PITMAN, 20, PATERNOSTER ROW.

SIX PART-SONGS, for Male and Female Voices, composed for and dedicated to the Edinburgh University Musical Society. By H. S. Oakeley, Mus. Doc., and Professor of Music at that University. Nos. 1 and 2 are now ready; vocal score, price 4d.
London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWO BRASS BANDS.—The "Amateur Journal," published by T. A. Haigh, Upper-mill, Manchester, contains the best and cheapest music for brass bands. List of contents and specimen cornet parts gratis and post free.

TWO NEW SONGS—"In Love," by Tennyson; "Changed yet unchanged," words by A. Capel. Composed by Helen Corin. Price 3s.; post free 19 stamps each. T. A. Haigh, Upper-mill, Manchester.

GOUNOD'S CELEBRATED SONGS.
THE BETTER LAND. Poetry by Mrs. Hemans. 4s.
BIONDINA. Canzonetta. 4s.
OH, THAT WE TWO WERE MAYING. 4s.
THE SEA HATH ITS PEARLS. 4s.
Half price. Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

HYMNS FOR ADVENT.

A SET OF NINE

HYMNS AND TUNES

FOR

ADVENT,

SELECTED FROM

THE HYMNARY.

PRICE ONE PENNY.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SCHOOLS and CHOIRS.—The Rudiments of Vocal Music, with 32 Preparatory Exercises, Rounds, and Songs, in the Treble Clef, by T. MEE PATTISON. Price 6d.

The Exercises are in all the keys, and the Solfeggio name is placed under each note, on the moveable Do system.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TO ORGANISTS AND CHOIRMASTERS.

THE RUDIMENTS OF VOCAL MUSIC, with Twelve Exercises. Arranged expressly for the use of Choir Boys, by T. L. SOUTHGATE, Organist and Choirmaster of Emmanuel Church, West Dulwich. Price 3d., in cloth cover.

"Mr. Southgate is the model of conciseness; and, within the restricted compass of four little pages, has collected nearly all that a choir boy need know for the due discharge of his part in the music."—Musical Standard.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now ready, price 2d. each.

THREE NEW PART-SONGS.—"O Tranquil Eve," "Sweet Echo," and "Cheerily," by ALEX. S. COOPER.

"The first of these three charming Part-Songs is for A.T.T.B., and the other two for S.A.T.B. They are the work of a thorough musician."—Choir.

"Melodious and flowing. We can recommend all these Part-Songs to Choral Societies wanting something fresh."—Musical Standard.

London and New York: Novello, Ewer and Co.

CLASSICAL MUSIC at Reduced Prices. All the full Music size, for the Pianoforte.

Clementi's 12 Progressive Sonatas	nett	1	3
Cramer's Celebrated Studies. Book 1	nett	1	0
Pleyel's 6 Sonatas (dedicated to the Queen) ...	nett	2	6
Flute or Violin Accompaniment to ditto (ad lib.) ...	...	1	0
Violoncello ditto ditto ...	...	0	9
Haydn's 12 Grand Symphonies, arranged by Clementi	...	5	0
Flute Accompaniment to ditto (ad lib.)	...	2	6
Violin ditto ditto	...	3	0
Violoncello ditto ditto	...	2	9
Mendelssohn's Lieder ohne Worte, 6 books in 1 (the best engraved edition extant)	4	0

London: Published by B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

BENEDICT'S NEW PIANOFORTE MUSIC.

AN EVENING THOUGHT. Song without words. 3s.
CHARLES AND OLGA. Silver Wedding March. 4s.
LUSITANIA. Grand March. Solo, 4s.; Duet, 5s.
Half price. Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

A MUSICAL NOVELTY.

AN Original and Brilliant POLKA—The "Windermere" Polka, sent post free for 24 stamps, by the Composer, CHAS. THOMPSON, 4, Queen-street, Cardiff.

BLUE DANUBE WALTZES, by Strauss.—As a Violin Solo, 6d.; Violin and Pianoforte, 1s.; Flute, 2nd Violin, and Violoncello, each 3d.; all at nett prices, and full Music size.

London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

THE ENGINE DRIVER.—By the author of "Never mind the rest." 3s. "The most effective baritone and bass song of the season." Hutchings and Romer, Conduit-street.

MR. VERNON RIGBY'S NEW SONG.

I SAW THEE WEEP. Composed expressly for him by FRANK NAISH. In A flat and F. Price 4s.

Messrs. Duncan Davison and Co., 244, Regent-street, W.

Anthems, etc., for Advent.

ARNOLD, DR.—"Who is this that cometh." Verse A.T.B. Vocal score, 1s. 6d.; vocal parts, 10½d.

ARNOLD, DR. G. B.—"The night is far spent." 8vo., 3d.

BARNBY, J.—"It is high time." Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 9d.; class copy, 1½d.; vocal parts, 6d.

—— "When shades of night." Hymn for 4 voices. 8vo., 2d.

BEST, W. T.—"Dies iræ, dies illa" (Day of wrath, O day of mourning). Hymn for 4 voices, with a free Organ part. Organ score, 1s. 6d.; vocal score, 8vo., 3d.

GAUNTLETT, H. J.—"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace." Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d.; vocal parts, 6d.

GOSS, SIR JOHN.—"The wilderness and the solitary place." Containing Recit. for Bass; Trio for A.T.B.; Recit. for Tenor; Choral Recit. for Tenors and Basses, and two Choruses, 2s. 6d.; vocal parts, 1s. 3d.

GOUNOD, CHARLES.—"Blessed is he who cometh." Treble Solo and Chorus. Vocal score, 6d. Small class copy, 1½d.

HANDEL.—"Thus saith the Lord." B. solo. 1s.
—— "And He shall purify." Chorus. Folio, 9d.; vocal parts, 1s.; 8vo., 1½d.

—— "Comfort ye," and "Every Valley." Recit. and Air (tenor), 9d.

—— "And the glory." Folio, 1s.; 8vo., 3d.; vocal parts, 1s.

—— "O Thou that tellest" (Alto Solo and Chorus). Folio, 1s. 3d.; 8vo., 3d.; vocal parts, 1s.

HUMPHREYS, P.—"Hear, O heavens." A.T.B. and Chorus, 1s.; vocal parts, 7½d.

KENT.—"When the son of man." Verse, A.T.B. Vocal score, 1s.; ditto, 8vo., 4d.; vocal parts, 1s. 3d.

—— "Who is this that cometh?" Verse A.T.T.B. Vocal score, 1s. 3d.; ditto, 8vo., 6d.; vocal parts, 1s.

LUTHER'S HYMN.—"Great God, what do I see and hear?" Solo and Chorus. Arranged by V. NOVELLO. Folio, 9d.; octavo, 1½d.; vocal parts, 1½d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—"Hosanna to the Son of David." Full Anthem, for 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s.; vocal parts, 1s.

—— "Hosanna to the Son of David." Introit. 8vo., 2d.

—— "Drop down, ye heavens"
—— "He cometh forth." } 8vo., 2d.

MENDELSSOHN.—"How lovely are the messengers." Chorus. Folio, 1s.; vocal parts, 6d.; octavo score, 3d.

—— "Sleepers, wake." Chorale. Folio, 6d.; vocal parts, 1½d.; 8vo., 1½d.

—— "Let our hearts be joyful." 8vo., 1½d.

NARES, DR.—"O Lord, my God, I will exalt Thee." B. Solo and Chorus. Vocal score, 1s.; vocal parts, 7½d.

NEUKOMM.—"Blessed be he that cometh." Treble Solo and Chorus. S.S.A.A. 1½d.

PURCELL.—"Rejoice in the Lord alway." Verse, A.T.B. Vocal score, 2s.; vocal parts, 10½d.

REAY, S.—"Rejoice in the Lord." 8vo., 1½d.

REDFORD.—"Rejoice in the Lord." S.A.T.B. Vocal score, 1s.; vocal parts, 6d.

SMITH, MONTEM.—"The night is far spent." Full Anthem for 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d.; vocal parts, 6d.; 8vo., 1½d.

TILLEARD, JAMES.—"Lo! he comes." Four voices. 8vo., 2d.

WEBBE, S., Senior.—"When the fulness of time was come." 4 voices, 1s.; vocal parts, 6d.

WISE.—"Awake, awake, put on thy strength, O Zion." A.T.B. and Chorus. 1s. 3d.

—— "Prepare ye the way."—Verse, S.S.A.B. Vocal score, 9d.; vocal parts of the two Anthems, 1s.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.,
1, Berners Street, and 35, Poultry. New York: 751, Broadway.

NEW CHEAP MUSIC.

24 pages, price 6d.

NATIVITY. A Christmas Cantata. Words by G. Bennett. Music selected, arranged, and partly composed by C. Ward. Specimen copy, 7 stamps.

32 pages, price 6d.

A WINTER'S EVENING. Consisting of favourite Vocal and Instrumental Pieces, arranged or composed by Dr. Leslie. Post free, 7 stamps.

24 pages, full music size, in wrapper, 1s. 6d.

THE HARMONIUM TREASURY. A collection of popular Secular and Sacred Pieces, easily arranged for Harmonium or Pianoforte.

4th edition, 32 pages, price 6d.

A CHRISTMAS CANTATA. Composed by Dr. Fowle. Tuneful and easy music, consisting of Marches, Anthems, Hymns, Carols, and Glees. The work contains Dr. Fowle's favourite Anthem, "Arise, shine, for thy light is come." Post free, 7 stamps.

Cloth, price 2s.

THE CHORISTER. Volume One. Twenty popular copyright Anthems, with Instrumental Accompaniment.

Cloth cover, price 8d.

TWENTY-FIVE EASY ANTHEMS, &c. In vocal score. Post free 9 stamps.

In wrapper, price 6d.

TEN OPERA PART-SONGS AND CHORUSES. Arranged for S.A.T.B., with Accompaniment, by T. Crampton.

Cloth cover, 9d.

CRAMPTON'S SINGING-CLASS MANUAL. A complete and interesting Guide to Singing at Sight. Post free, 10 stamps.

Cloth cover, price 2s.

FIFTY EASY VOLUNTARIES, for Organ or Harmonium. All original Compositions by Modern Composers. Edited by Dr. Fowle.

63 pages, full music size, 4s.

NEW CONCLUDING VOLUNTARIES, for Organ, with Pedal Obbligato. All original compositions. Edited by Dr. Fowle.

"The book contains some important compositions."—Sir J. Benedict.
"There is some fine music in this volume."—Sir G. Elvey.

New and cheap edition, price 2s.

PARADISE. An easy Oratorio. By J. Fawcett.

"Paradise" has attained a degree of popularity never before awarded to any Oratorio, except those of the great masters. The plot of "Paradise" renders it a fitting Oratorio for a Christmas performance by small choirs.

A Tonic Sol-fa edition is published, price 1s.; also Orchestral Parts.

In wrapper, price 9d.

THE LITTLE CHORISTER. 109 Gems of Children's Song in the Old Notation, with Tonic Sol-fa underneath. Post free, 10 stamps.

Published monthly, One Penny.

THE PART-SINGER. Glees and Anthems, arranged for S.A.T.B., with Accompaniment. The November No. contains an original and easy Anthem for Christmas by Dr. Fowle.

LONDON: F. PITMAN, 20, PATERNOSTER ROW.

THE HYMNARY

A BOOK OF CHURCH SONG;

EDITED BY THE

REV. WILLIAM COOKE,

HON. CANON OF CHESTER; AND THE

REV. BENJAMIN WEBB,

VICAR OF S. ANDREW'S, WELLS STREET.

THE MUSIC EDITED BY

JOSEPH BARNBY.

THE FOLLOWING EDITIONS ARE NOW READY:—

		s.	d.
No. 1.	Hymns only. Royal 24mo. Bourgeois Antique. Cloth, red edges	1	0
,, 2.	Hymns only. Royal 24mo. Nonpareil Antique. Double Columns. Cloth, red edges	0	9
,, 3.	Hymns with Tunes. Demy 8vo. Cloth	4	0
,, 4.	Hymns with Tunes. Demy 8vo. Cloth, bevelled boards, gilt lettered, red edges	5	0
,, 5.	Tunes only. Demy 8vo. Cloth	3	0
,, 6.	Tunes only. Demy 8vo. Cloth, bevelled boards, gilt lettered, red edges	4	0

Will be shortly issued:

,, 7. Hymns with Tunes. Treble part only.

Other editions are in preparation.

Edition No. 2 (white edges), in quantities of not less than 25, will be supplied to the Clergy at 6d. each, on direct application to the Publishers.

A Discount of 20 per Cent. will be allowed to the Clergy, for Cash, when not less than six copies of one edition are taken.

Applications for permission to print the Hymns and Tunes for Choral Festivals should be addressed to the Publishers.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).
NEW YORK: 751, BROADWAY

Printed by NOVELLO, EWER and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.); also at 751, Broadway, New York.
Sold also by KENT and Co., Paternoster-row. Friday, November 1, 1872.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

And Singing-Class Circular,

Published on the 1st of every Month.

The Music Pages only are stereotyped, those persons who would possess the Musical Articles, Notices, Advertisements, &c., can only ensure doing so by taking the work as it appears.

No. 358.—Vol. 15. Registered for transmission abroad. DECEMBER 1, 1872. Price 2d.; Post-free, 2½d. Annual Subscription, Postage-free, 2s. 6d.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S
AMERICAN ORGANS.

Messrs. METZLER & CO. have the pleasure to announce that they have made arrangements with the MASON AND HAMLIN ORGAN COMPANY for the SOLE AGENCY for the Sale of their Instruments in the United Kingdom.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

The cases of these instruments are of solid black walnut throughout, backs as well as sides and fronts; of elegant designs, carved and panelled. Interior as well as exterior of thorough and careful workmanship in every detail. They are remarkable for their great power, as well as for rich and beautiful qualities of tone. Patented improvements used in them are enumerated under each particular style.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style A. Price 20 guineas.

Five octave, single reed. One stop. Tremulant. With one set of vibrators, eight feet pitch throughout, tremulant and knee-swell. Panelled front and sides, with carved moulding and ornaments. Price 20 guineas.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style C. Price 25 guineas.

Five octave, double reed. Five stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Tremulant. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet; tremulant and knee swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows. Panelled fronts and sides, with carved mouldings and ornaments.

No style of the cabinet organ is more popular or satisfactory in proportion to its cost than this. Its moderate price brings it within the means of many, while it has sufficient power for the accompaniment of a considerable chorus of voices; its compass is ample, and the variety of tone considerable.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style F. Price 28 guineas.

Five-octave, double reed cabinet organ, projecting keyboard. Five stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Tremulant. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet. Tremulant and knee-swell. Self-adjusting reed valves, and improved bellows. Heavily panelled front and sides, with carved ornaments. Ivory fronts to keys.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 21. Price 32 guineas.

Five-octave, double reed. Five stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Vox humana. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet; improved vox humana; automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows: foot-swell; ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises; lamp stands, &c. Heavily panelled front and sides, best finish.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style E. Price 35 guineas.

Five-octave double reed, with sub-bass and octave coupler. Seven stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Manual Sub-bass. 6. Octave coupler. 7. Tremulant. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of sixteen feet; and one octave of sub-bass connected with the manual; also octave coupler, giving effect to four sets of reeds; knee-swell and tremulant; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows. Panelled front and sides, carved mouldings and ornaments.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 27. Price 45 guineas.

Five-octave, double reed, with sub-bass and octave coupler, Seven stops. 1. Diapason. 2. Viola. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Sub-bass. 6. Vox humana. 7. Octave coupler. Two sets vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet; with one octave of sub-bass connected with the manual; also octave coupler, giving effect of four sets of reeds; improved vox humana and automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; foot swell; extra ivory and ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises, &c. Heavily panelled front and sides, smooth finish. Price 45 guineas.

Coupler connects with octave below.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 48. Price 55 guineas. New Drawing-room Model, in resonant case.

Five-octave, double reed, with euphone, octave coupler, and sub-bass, resonant. Nine stops. 1. Diapason. 2. Viola. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Sub-bass. 6. Vox humana. 7. Octave coupler. 8. Euphone. 9. Automatic swell. Having two sets of vibrators throughout, with one octave of sub-bass connected with the manual; also octave coupler, giving effect of four sets of reeds; improved vox humana and automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; foot-swell; extra ivory, and ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises, &c. Heavily panelled fronts and sides, best finish, &c.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 46. Price 85 guineas.

Two manuals, four sets of reeds, resonant. Nine stops. 1. Bourdon. 2. Diapason bass. 3. Diapason treble. 4. Vox humana. 5. Hautboy. 6. Principal bass. 7. Principal treble. 8. Coupler. 9. Automatic swell. Having two manuals and four sets of vibrators throughout; one of four feet pitch, two of eight feet, and one of sixteen feet; with improved vox humana and automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; two foot-swells; extra ivory, and ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises, &c. Heavily panelled front and sides, best finish.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 12. Price 75 guineas. For church or chapel.

Two manuals, four sets reeds, in closed case. Nine stops. 1. Bourdon. 2. Diapason bass. 3. Diapason treble. 4. Hautboy. 5. Tremulant. 6. Principal bass. 7. Principal treble. 8. Coupler. 9. Automatic swell. Four sets of reeds throughout, one of four feet pitch, and one of eight feet to upper manual; and one of eight feet pitch and one of sixteen feet lower manual. Having automatic swell; one foot swell for the upper, and one for lower manual; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; clothed mortises. Case has front board and base. Extra ivory and ivory fronts to keys.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 10. Price 105 guineas.

Two manuals and pedal bass organ. Six sets of reeds. Twelve stops. 1. Principal bass. 2. Principal treble. 3. Diapason treble. 4. Diapason bass. 5. Hautboy treble. 6. Hautboy bass. 7. Bourdon treble. 8. Bourdon bass. 9. Manual coupler. 10. Pedal coupler. 11. Violoncello. pedals. 12. Bourdon pedals. Having four sets of vibrators to manuals: one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet to upper manual; and one of eight feet, and one of sixteen feet, to the lower manual; two independent sets of vibrators to the pedals, one of eight feet pitch, and one of sixteen feet; pedals full scale, twenty-seven notes; manual coupler and pedal coupler; improved bellows, with hand-lever at back, and blow pedal in front for performer; foot swell; cloth mortises, &c. Extra ivory and ivory front to keys. Accompanied by black walnut seat for performer.

METZLER AND CO., 37, GREAT MARLBOROUGH STREET, LONDON, W.

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MRS. ALFRED J. SUTTON (Soprano)
Is open to engagements for Concerts and Oratorios.
54, Duchess-road, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

MADAME HELENA WALKER (Soprano).
All communications respecting Engagements for Oratorios and Concerts must be addressed to her residence, 6, West Bank-rd Edge-la. Liverpool.

MISS RACHEL FARRAR (Soprano),
From the London Academy of Music, for Concerts, Oratorios, &c.
75, Stamford-crescent, Ashton-under-Lyne.

MADAME MARIE ROUSSEL (Soprano).
Ballad Concerts, &c.
Address Mr. F. H. Horscroft, Cathedral, Salisbury.

MISS AGNES LARKCOM (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. 14, Bedford-street, Reading.

MISS BLANCHE REIVES (Principal Soprano only).
Oratorios, Opera, Concerts, &c. 28, Queen's-road, Norland-square, W., and 106, Renfrew-street, Glasgow.

MRS. J. W. JACKSON (Soprano).
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Address 56, Lee-crescent, Birmingham.

MISS ELLEN GLANVILLE (Soprano),
2, Percy-terrace, Ladbroke-grove-road, Notting-hill. W.

MISS AMELIA CLELLAND (Soprano)
Will Sing at Stretford, Dec. 9th; Kendal (Messiah), 10th; Derby, 16th; Middlesbro' (Messiah), 23rd.
For Press Critiques and Terms, address Newton-heath, Manchester.

MISS ELIZA HEYWOOD (Contralto).
For Oratorios, Concerts, and Critiques. 1, Blenheim-terrace, Stretford-road, Old Trafford, Manchester.

MISS AGNES BYRON (Contralto).
For Concerts, Oratorios, Lessons, 114, Leighton-road, N.W.

MISS RUTH HARLOW (Contralto).
For Oratorios, Miscellaneous Concerts, etc.
Address Lark-hill, Tonge, Middleton.

MISS MARIENNE POTTER (Contralto),
60, Tabernacle-walk, Finsbury-square.

MISS SOFIA FREEMAN (Contralto),
46, Bentinck-place, Little Horton-lane, Bradford.

MISS GLEDHILL (Contralto).
Concerts and Pupils. 51, Devonshire-road, N.

MR. STEDMAN (Tenor).
Address 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. GREENHILL (Tenor.)
For Concerts, Pupils, &c., 1, St. George's-terrace, Kilburn.

W. M. DYSON (Tenor).
For Oratorios or Concerts. Address Cathedral Choir, Worcester.

MR. GEORGE W. B. CREAKE (Principal Tenor).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address The Cathedral, Ely.

MR. N. DUMVILLE (Principal Tenor).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. WILLIAM DUMVILLE (Tenor),
5, Elvington-street, Hulme, or Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. H. T. BYWATER (Tenor),
Of the Birmingham Town Hall Concerts, is open to Engagements for Oratorios and Concerts. 40, Darlington-street, Wolverhampton.

W. H. BLISS (Tenor).
For Oratorio and Concert Engagements, apply to Brandon-villa, Court-hill, Lewisham.

MR. ALFRED KENNINGHAM (Tenor),
St. Andrew's, Wells-street. Address 3, Alfred-place, Bedford-sq. W.

MR. W. B. LING (Tenor),
Principal Tenor, Trinity College, Cambridge (late of Peterborough Cathedral). For Oratorios, Miscellaneous Concerts, &c,
Address Trinity College, Cambridge.

MR. HERBERT WALKER (Tenor).
For Oratorio and Concert Engagements. Address 78, Osborne-street, Bradford, Yorks.

MR. ALBERT JAMES (Tenor).
Address Tenby-villa, Horton-road, Dalston, E.

MR. HENRY BRIGGS (Principal Tenor),
Parish Church, Leeds, is open to Engagements for Concerts and Oratorios.

CARLOS LOVATT, Vocalist (Baritone).
For Oratorios, address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. C. J. BISHENDEN (the celebrated Bass).
For Engagements and Pupils, 52, Mortimer-street, Cavendish-sq., W.

MR. FARLEY SINKINS (Basso).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.; also for Oxford Glee Party.
Address Principal Bass, Ch. Ch. Cathedral, Oxford.

MR. CHARLESWORTH PRINCE (Bass Vocalist).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address 68, Tennyson-place, Bradford.

MR. O. CHRISTIAN (Basso).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address, 18, Adelaide-square, Windsor.

MR. T. WOODWARD (Bass).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Gloucester.

C. D. COLLET (Bass, Teacher of Singing),
Sunnybank, Hazleville-road, Hornsey-lane, Highgate, N.

MR. THORNTON WOOD (Bass)
(Of the Royal Albert Hall Concerts), for Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address 2, Hallfield-place, Bradford, Yorks.

MR. F. H. HORSCROFT,
Principal Bass of Salisbury Cathedral.
Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Address The Cathedral, Salisbury.

MR. H. WATSON (Solo Pianist and Accompanist).
For terms, &c., address 25, Market-place, Manchester.

MISS LOUISA EALAND (Sight Accompanist).
Concerts or Musical Parties. Terms moderate. 143, Ferndale-rd. Brixton.

MR. J. TILLEARD,
Removed to Seaton-villa, Slaithwaite-road, Lewisham, S.E.
Lessons in Singing and Composition.

T. R. WILLIS, Organ Builder,
29, Minories, London, E. Wood and Metal Pipe Maker.
Voicing, Tuning, and Repairing. List sent for stamp.
Second-hand Organs for Sale.

T. R. WILLIS (established 1827,) Maker and Importer of Brass and Wood Instruments, Harmonium Reeds, Music Strings, Wire, &c., Violins, Concertinas, &c. 29, Minories, London. List for stamp.

IMPORTANT TO MUSIC SELLERS.—Having the largest varied Stock of Music in Europe, orders received in the morning are executed the same day, or if in stock posted immediately if required. Terms highly advantageous.
London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

MUSIC ENGRAVED, PRINTED, AND PUBLISHED in the best style, and on moderate terms, a statement of which sent on application by B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

The King of all Reed Instruments yet invented.

W. HATTERSLEY and CO.'S Celebrated Improved HARMONIUMS, for quality of tone, rapidity of touch, workmanship, improved action, &c., stand unequalled. These charming instruments have been compared side by side with the American organs, and pronounced superior at half the price.

DRAWING ROOM MODEL,
Full Organ Tone, with knee swell to Treble and Bass, all stops effective.
9 Stops, Walnut case, 17 guineas.
12 ,, Burr ,, 22 ,,
13 ,, ,, ,, 26 ,,
Lists of prices and testimonials free.
W. Hattersley and Co., 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS in HARMONIUMS.—W. HATTERSLEY and Co.'s celebrated IMPROVED HARMONIUMS, pronounced by the profession to be the nearest approach in tone to the organ of any hitherto invented. This improvement produces a rich, full, organ-like quality of tone, entirely free from all harsh or reedy sound, and by the careful voicing of the reeds, the articulation is fully equal in rapidity to the pianoforte. These instruments are manufactured by us for private sales only, and of the best materials and workmanship. W. Hattersley and Co., Harmonium Manufacturers, 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield (late 95 and 107, Meadow-street).
Lists of prices and testimonials free.

RUSSELL'S MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

CONCERTINAS, Harmoniums, Organ-Accordions. Flutinas, Drums, Fifes, Flutes, Violins, Cornets, Saxhorns, Clarionets, Flageolets, Guitars, Banjos, Musical Boxes, Strings, &c. Self-Instruction books. Instruments repaired or exchanged. Price lists free. J. Russell, 158, Goswell-road, Clerkenwell, London.

ACCURATE METRONOMES, 1s., post free. Rudiments of Singing, 1s. per dozen. Singing Class Tutor, 7th ed., 6d. each. D. Scholefield, Trinity-street, Huddersfield.

E. & W. SNELL'S IMPROVED HARMONIUMS. For tone, touch, articulation, and general excellence, are pronounced by the profession and public the best and cheapest manufactured. Price lists, with full description, free of E. and W. Snell, 37, Kelly-street (re-named), Kentish-town, London, N.W. Manufactory, Little King-street-north. Trade supplied. Pedal Harmoniums on Organ Principles.

BRASS, REED, STRING, and DRUM and FIFE BANDS, PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS, supplied at wholesale prices at J. MOORE'S, Buxton-road, Huddersfield. Patterns and prices post free. Music for any kind of band. Patronised by the army, navy, and rifle corps.

KELLY'S ORGAN HARMONIUMS, as manufactured for Her Majesty, are the only instruments of English manufacture that received any award at the Paris and Dublin Exhibition. A liberal allowance to the clergy.—11, Charles-street, Berners-street. Price lists post free.

SECOND-HAND PIANOFORTES, by Broadwood, Collard, Erard, and other makers, always in stock; also PARISIAN PIANOFORTES, at prices suitable to the trade, for cash only.

MILLS' MUSICAL MARVELS for the MILLION, MOORGATE-street. Music and Musical Instruments (of first quality), at marvellously moderate prices. J. A. Mills, 36A, Moorgate-street.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Military Musical Instruments, of first quality, sold under the import price of foreign goods; prices and patterns post-free. Address Thomas Campton, Burbage, Leicestershire.

TO be SOLD, a very rich soft toned old VIOLINCELLO, by T. Smith, and formerly the property of the late Mr. John Garrat; is in good condition, and any professor will find this a genuine Instrument. No reasonable offer refused. Address as above.

ORGAN for SALE, new.—A fine-toned, high-class instrument, suitable for Church or Chamber—contains 20 stops, two full rows of keys, swell to CC, and pedal organ, 30 notes. Apply J. J. S., 18, Burton-crescent, W.C.

A GRAND C ORGAN for SALE, with 3 full manuals, and 35 stops. Apply to Mr. Kennard, 47, Ethelbert-road, Margate.

ORGANS for SALE (new), 11 stops, 2 manuals, full compass, bourdon pedal pipes, 100 guineas. 8 Stop Organ and 7 Stop Organ, with general swell and pedals. A. Monk, Organ Builder, Anglers-lane, Kentish-town-road, London.

ORGAN for SALE.—4 stops, stopped diapason, open diapason, principal, flute. Capital condition, £19. ALSO, TWO OTHERS. Edwards, Chesham, Bucks.

ORGAN for SALE, 2 rows of keys (CC to F), 12 stops, a separate pedal organ of 29 bourdon pipes; in handsome case of solid oak, with gilt front speaking pipes. Height, 13 ft.; width, 6 ft.; depth, 6 ft. Price 130 guineas. Address Diapason, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, London.

N.B.—A photograph of the above can be forwarded.

CHURCH ORGAN; very powerful tone; CC to G. 65 guineas; great bargain. Hammond and Sons, 366, Old Kent-road.

ORGAN for SALE.—Suitable for a small Church or Chapel. Contains 10 stops, bourdon pedal pipes, CCC upward, 27 notes, pedal coupler to keys, enclosed in general swell; mahogany case, French polished, with gilt pipes in front. Price £130. On view, by applying, 56, Courland-grove, Clapham, S.W.

THREE very fine HARMONIUMS for SALE, by CHRISTOPHE and ETIENNE, with eleven, fourteen, and seventeen stops respectively; in one of them the stops join at C, instead of F; they have the patent knee action. Prices very low. Can be seen at 78, Westbourne-grove, Bayswater (corner of Monmouth-road), W.

TO PIANOFORTE DEALERS, and Others.—The Cheapest house in the trade to Purchase PIANOFORTES and HARMONIUMS is H. T. Cassini, Finsbury House, Wood-green, near London (12 minutes ride from King's-cross-station).

OLD VIOLINS; Great Bargains.—Panormo, £9; Betts, £7 10s.; Fendt, £6 10s.; old English, £2 10s.; also two or three Italian Instruments (exchanged if not approved of). Very best Italian, 1st, 6d., or sent for 7 stamps. John Alfred Mills, 36A, Moorgate-street.

THE PATENT LOOPED-BINDER PORTFOLIO.

The Best and Simplest ever Invented.

By using it you can bind your Music or Periodicals yourself quite easily.

When open it lies perfectly flat—a great advantage, especially for Music, for which it is particularly adapted, as any piece may be removed and another placed instead. Is also cheaper than ordinary bookbinding.

Music Sizes.	Prices.
Full Music, 15 by 11	3 0
Ditto, ½ bound extra	4 0
MSS. Music, 12½ by 10	2 6
Musical Times, 11 by 7½	1 6

Periodical sizes on application.

The Wire Binders necessary for above are 4d., 5d., and 6d. per Box, containing One Gross, or with Gum Tickets, ½ gross loose, 6d.; 1 gross mounted, 1s. They make a very secure Binder even without the Folio.

Sole Maker, Thomas Edmondson, 11, Dame-street, Dublin. May be ordered through any stationer or music-seller; or from F. Pitman, 20, Paternoster-row; C. Jeffreys, 57, Berners-street, London; John Heath, George-street, Parade, Birmingham.

ORGAN STUDIO, 166, Strand.—LESSONS or PRACTICE (and at St. Michael's, Stockwell, S.W.) on fine two-manual C ORGANS—(HILL and SON)—Pedal compass, 29 notes. Apply to W. VENNING SOUTHGATE, at his Studio. (Organist, St. Michael's, Stockwell.)

ORGAN LESSONS and PRACTICE on a fine new Instrument, with two manuals, 15 stops, 2½ octaves of pedals, with Bourdons throughout. Terms moderate. Allen's Musical Instrument Warehouse, 17, Percy-street, Bedford-square, W. Lessons and practice on other Instruments also.

TO ORGANISTS.—PRACTICE may be had on a very fine ORGAN. Two manuals, swell, variety of stops, 2½ of pedals, and Bourdon to CCC. Terms very moderate. Address E. Francis, Organist of St. Peter's (W.C.), 188, Upper-street, Islington, N.

ORGAN LESSONS.—Ladies and Gentlemen wishing to qualify themselves for appointments or examinations, are requested to apply to Dr. Holloway, F. C. O., 73, Hemingford-road, Barnsbury, London, N. (Certificates granted when competent.)

ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, HARMONIUM, HARMONY, &c. One Guinea per Quarter; Lessons and Practice on fine modern Instruments. Organist, 51, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

MADAME RIPPON (Contralto), Mr. A. F. RIPPON (Violinist), Soloist or Leader. For Oratorios, Concerts, Soirées, &c. Address Schubert House, Crown-street, Reading, Berks.

MISS EDITH WYNNE begs to announce her return to town. Letters, &c., to be addressed to her residence, 18, Bentinck-street, W.

MADAME LAURA BAXTER (Member of the Royal Academy of Music, first principal Contralto, Royal Italian Opera, Drury Lane, Royal English Opera, Covent Garden, Sacred Harmonic Society, Exeter Hall, &c.), begs to request that all communications respecting ENGAGEMENTS for Oratorios and Concerts, may be addressed to her at her private residence, 53, Bedford-square, W.C.

MRS. NOBLE (Associate R. A. Music), Professor of Singing, receives Private and Professional Pupils. Address 3, Fitzroy-street, Fitzroy-square, W. Mrs. NOBLE'S highly successful Pupils, Miss ELLEN HORNE (Soprano), 13, Torriano-avenue, Camden-road, N.W., and Madame POOLE (Contralto), 32A, George-street, Hanover-square, W., continue to accept ENGAGEMENTS (together or separately) for Oratorios, Concerts, &c., in London and in the Provinces.

MISS ELCHO (Pianiste) requests that all communications respecting Concert and Soirée Engagements, and Lessons (Pianoforte and Singing), may be addressed to her, 15, Albert-road, Abbey-road, N.W., where critiques may be obtained.

MISS GRACE ARMYTAGE (Mrs. H. C. Sanders), Primo Soprano (London and Provincial Concerts, Dublin, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Belfast, &c., &c.). MR. HENRY C. SANDERS, Principal Baritone, for Oratorio, Concerts, Opera, &c., &c., 2, Athalstane-villas, Stroud-green-road, Finsbury-park, N.

THE ENGLISH GLEE UNION (Sixth Season).

Mr. H. ASHTON. Mr. T. PEARSON.
Mr. J. F. MEEN, and Mr. J. RUDKIN.
Assisted by
Madame ASHTON.
(Miss F. Danielson.)

Are prepared to give their Musical Entertainments at Institutions, &c. For terms, &c., address J. Rudkin, Sackville-house, Brook-green, Hammersmith, W.

VOCAL QUARTETTE, for ORATORIOS, CONCERTS, &c.

MISS MYERS	Soprano.
MRS. LINCEY-NALTON	Contralto.
MR. HERBERT WALKER	Tenor.
MR. THORNTON WOOD	Bass.

And, when needed, Mr. ALFRED MOORHOUSE (piano or harmonium), Organist of the Bradford Festival Choral Society.

For terms, apply to Thornton Wood, 2, Hallfield-place, Bradford.

ST. JOHN'S WOOD SOCIETY of MUSICIANS. Conductor, Mr. LANSDOWNE COTTELL. Prospectus post-free. A. Perkes, Sec., 37, Abbey-road, N.W.

ONE GUINEA'S worth of MUSIC for 2s. 6d., slightly soiled, including the surplus of the past year's issue. Post free, 2s. 10d. JAMES SMITH & SON, 76, 74, and 72, Lord-street, Liverpool.

PASCALL'S VOICE JUJUBES.

Strongly recommended to Singers and Public Speakers. Agreeable and effective. In boxes only, Sixpence and One Shilling each, or post free for eight and fourteen stamps. None genuine without the name and address on each box.—Jas. Pascall, 21, Wells-street, Oxford-street, London, W.

THE "FLEXURA," or Patent Steel Spring Waist Boot, gives an arched and elegant appearance to the foot. Gentlemen's West End Boots, One guinea. Ladies' Boots, of exquisite neatness, at low charges. Fancy Slippers carefully made up. Lasts made to the Feet on unerring principles. C. A. Hoskins, Practical Bootmaker, 268, Oxford-street (entrance in George-street).

Now ready. Small 4to. Price 1s. Treble Part, price 6d. (Alto, Tenor and Bass Parts, price 6d. each, will be shortly ready.)

SECOND SERIES.

THE

CANTICLES AND HYMNS

OF THE CHURCH,

POINTED FOR CHANTING, AND SET TO APPROPRIATE ANGLICAN CHANTS SINGLE AND DOUBLE;

TOGETHER WITH

Responses to the Commandments,

EDITED BY THE

REV. SIR F. A. G. OUSELEY, BART., ETC.,

AND

EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This Work contains a Selection of Double (besides additional Single) Chants; together with special settings of "Benedicite," and a Collection of Kyrie Eleisons, old and new.

This Pointing of the Canticles is authorised by His Grace the Archbishop of York.

London: NOVELLO, EWER & CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: 751, Broadway.

THE CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, for Matins and Evensong, edited by JOHN WHITE, and intended principally for the use of Amateur Choirs, contains the music for the Versicles, Responses, Creeds, &c.; also the Canticles pointed for chanting, with a selection of Anglican Chants and Gregorian Tones for each Canticle. The work contains altogether about 150 Single Chants, and 50 Gregorians, together with a "Benedicite" written specially for it by the Rev. WILLIAM STATHAM. Price Three Shillings.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Warrington: P. Pearse.

THE BRISTOL TUNE BOOK.—A Manual of Tunes and Chants, intended as a companion to all Hymn Books, containing 258 Tunes (100 varieties of metre), and 85 Single and Double Chants. The whole arranged in Short Score, and the Harmonies carefully selected from the best authorities, with ruled music paper for manuscript additions. Adopted in several hundred congregations. More than 100,000 copies have already been sold.

No. 1. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 6d.
,, 2. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 3s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION.

,, 3. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 0d.
,, 4. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 2s. 6d.

Congregations or Associations requiring large quantities may obtain them on special terms by application to the Bristol Publishers.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Bristol: W. and F. Morgan; and all booksellers and musicsellers.

NOW READY,
A New and Enlarged Selection of

PSALMS, HYMNS and ANTHEMS, arranged for Congregational or Private use, by SAMUEL SMITH, Bradford. Very neat and compact, 218 pp. Imperial 32mo.

In limp cloth, edges turned in 1 0
Cloth boards, coloured edges, gilt lettered 1 6
Roan, gilt edges, and lettered 2 0

London: Hamilton, Adams and Co.; and Novello, Ewer and Co.
Bradford: Thomas Brear.

THE BRADFORD TUNE BOOK and PSALMS and CHANTS, together or separate, supplied in all the various forms, as before.

Eighth Edition.

TUNES NEW AND OLD.—Comprising all the metres in the Wesleyan Hymn Book; also Chants, Responses, and Doxologies. Compiled by JOHN DOBSON, and for the most part revised and re-arranged by HENRY JOHN GAUNTLETT, Mus. Doc. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Sold also at 66, Paternoster-row. Prices: plain cloth, 3s. 6d.; cloth lettered, 4s.; cloth extra, gilt edges, 5s.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges,

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes, as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN; containing nearly 270 Tunes for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SCHOOLS and CHOIRS.—The Rudiments of Vocal Music, with 32 Preparatory Exercises, Rounds, and Songs, in the Treble Clef, by T. MEE PATTISON. Price 6d.

The Exercises are in all the keys, and the Solfeggio name is placed under each note, on the moveable Do system.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A MANUAL OF SINGING,

FOR THE USE OF CHOIR TRAINERS AND SCHOOLMASTERS.

BY RICHARD MANN,

Organist of the Abbey Church, Cirencester, &c.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

This work offers to the clergy and other amateur choir trainers a systematic and simple course of instruction, by which they may teach their pupils to read music at sight, in a comparatively short time.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWENTIETH EDITION.

Price 1s. A specimen copy post free for 12 stamps.

THE COLLEGIATE AND SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING MANUAL.

FOR CHOIRS.—The easiest system that can be obtained for training improving, and learning to read music at sight.

FOR SCHOOLS.—Every requisite for learning Music, and reading at sight in a few lessons.

FOR CHORAL SOCIETIES.—The exercises will be found invaluable, tending to produce musical effects seldom heard.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Second Edition, 2s. 6d. nett.

(COMPANION WORK TO THE ABOVE.)

COLLEGIATE VOCAL TUTOR.

Containing Treatise on Voice and Vocal Art, with Anatomical Illustrations of the Vocal Instrument.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Now ready, in Three Books, 6s. each. Post-free for Half-price.

COLLEGIATE SOLFEGGI.

Specially adapted for Colleges, Public Schools, Singing Classes, &c.

Book 1 (Duets); Books 2 and 3 (Trios).

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Third edition. Paper cover, 1s.; bound cloth, 1s. 6d.

CATHEDRAL CHANT BOOK.

Containing nearly 200 Single and Double Chants; also the Gregorian Tones.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TO ORGANISTS AND CHOIRMASTERS.

THE RUDIMENTS OF VOCAL MUSIC, with Twelve Exercises. Arranged expressly for the use of Choir Boys, by T. L. SOUTHGATE, Organist and Choirmaster of Emmanuel Church, West Dulwich. Price 6d., in cloth cover.

"Mr. Southgate is the model of conciseness; and, within the restricted compass of four little pages, has collected nearly all that a choir boy need know for the due discharge of his part in the music."—Musical Standard.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

C. JEFFERYS, 57 BERNERS ST.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY.

A COLLECTION OF

PART-SONGS, GLEES, CHORUSES, &c.

EDITED BY MICHAEL WATSON.

1	'Tis silent eve	Michael Watson.
2	Corin's fate	R. Turner.
3	Where the pearly dew-drop falleth ...	E. J. Loder.
4	The Winter being over	Ellen Avery.
5	Fairy voices	T. G. B. Hatley.
6	Moonlight	J. L. Glover.
7	Good-bye	J. L. Hatton.
8	I thought of thee	W. F. Banks.
9	The Forsaken	J. L. Hatton.
10	Bonny May	J. H. L. Glover.
11	Spring Song	J. L. Hatton.
12	The Winds	C. J. Frost.
13	County Guy	G. A. Macfarren
14	The birdes that had left their song ...	do.

Price 2d. each number. Other Numbers in the Press.

THE POPULAR

Operatic Arrangements,

SOLOS AND DUETS,

And Original Pianoforte Pieces,

By FELIX GANTIER,

Of which lists may be had on application.

WILLIE PAPE.

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 1 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Has sorrow thy young days shaded," and "The Young May Moon."

*IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 2 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "My lodging is on the cold ground," and "Garry Owen."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 3 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Minstrel Boy" and "St. Patrick's Day."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 4 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The harp that once thro' Tara's halls" and "Rory O'More."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 5 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Love's young dream" and "Sprig of Shillelah."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 6 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Valley lay smiling before me" and "The Girl I left behind me."

*HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 1 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasias on Airs, "Ye banks and braes" and "Bonnie Dundee."

HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 2 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Flowers of the Forest," "Kelvin Grove," and "Campbells are comin'."

HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 3 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Annie Laurie" and "Wha'll be king but Charlie."

LLANGOLLEN 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Ash Grove," "Poor Mary Ann," and "March of the Men of Harlech."

* Performed with great success by Madlle. Sophie Heilbron.

LOUIS DUPUIS.

CATHEDRAL GEMS:

1. NANTES.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 12th Mass 3 0
2. WORMS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Weber's Mass in G 3 0
3. ROTTERDAM.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 3rd (Imperial) Mass 3 0
4. MALAGA.—Fantasia, on subjects from Beethoven's Mass in C 3 0
5. ROUEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Gounod's Messe Solennelle 3 0
6. CAEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Rossini's Stabat Mater 3 0
7. MAYENCE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 1st Mass, B flat 3 0
8. COLOGNE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 1st Mass, in C 3 0
9. PARIS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise 3 0
10. LONDON.—Fantasia, on subjects from Handel's Messiah ... 3 0
11. NORWICH.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's Creation 3 0
12. CANTERBURY.—Fantasia, on Spohr's As pants the Hart ... 3 0
13. YORK.—Fantasia, on Handel's Judas Maccabæus ... 3 0
14. SALISBURY.—Fantasia, on Mendelssohn's St. Paul ... 3 0
15. WELLS.—Fantasia, on Haydn's Mass in B flat (No. 18.)... 3 0

Beautifully illustrated in Colours, with views of celebrated Cathedrals.

C. JEFFERYS, 57, BERNERS STREET (W.).

VOCAL COMPOSITIONS

BY

HERBERT S. OAKELEY,

MUS. DOC., & PROF. MUS. UNIV. EDINBR.

FOR A SINGLE VOICE.

* SIX SONGS (Bagatelles).
No. 1. A Psalm of Life.
2. Home they brought her warrior dead (Sung by Mdme. Sainton-Dolby).
3. To the wood.
4. When Napoleon was flying.
5. Troubadour song (Sung by Mdme. Sainton-Dolby).
6. Farewell.

† I DO NOT ASK A BRIGHTER LOT.

† GLÜCKLICHE STUNDEN ("Happy Hours"), English, German, and Italian words (Sung by Mr. Sims Reeves, at Hereford Festival, 1861, and at the Monday Popular Concerts).

† O DU MEIN MOND.

† BREAK! BREAK! BREAK! English and German words (Sung by Madme. Sainton-Dolby, at Gloucester Festival, 1862).

† BUGLE SONG ("Blow, Bugle, blow"), English and German words (Sung by Mdme. Lemmens-Sherrington).

‡ SEMPRE PIÙ T'AMO
‡ A QUI PENSE-T-IL'? } (Sung by Mdlle. Tietjens).

‡ FAREWELL! IF EVER FONDEST PRAYER, English and Italian words (Sung by Mr. Sims Reeves, at Worcester Festival, 1860).

‡ 'TIS NOT ALONE THAT THOU ART FAIR," in D flat or in B flat, Tenor or Baritone (Sung by Mr. Santley).

FOR TWO VOICES.

‡ THREE VOCAL DUETS, English and German words,
No. 1. Time flies fast away.
2. Meet me at even.
3. The evening star.

FOR FOUR OR MORE VOICES.

† FOUR VOCAL QUARTETTS, English and German words (1st set)—
No. 1. Evening and Morning (suitable as a Funeral Anthem, and published in 8vo. form).
2. Parting.
3. A Warning (Sung by Mr. Henry Leslie's Choir.)
4. The Glow-worm.

† THREE VOCAL QUARTETTS, German and English words, (2nd set)—
No. 1. Morgenlied.
2. Abendlied.
3. Nachtlied.

* STUDENT'S SONG, "Alma Mater."
† SIX PART-SONGS, ... } For male voices.
Composed for Edinburgh University Musical Society.

† MORNING AND EVENING SERVICE IN E FLAT,

† O GOD, WHO HAST PREPARED, (short anthem).

† FOUR ANTHEMS,
No. 1. "O praise the Lord" (Sung at Canterbury Choral Festival, 1868).
2. "O God, our refuge" (for five Voices).
3. "This is the day" (sung at Peterborough Choral Festivals, 1862 and 1871, and at the Enthronement of the Archbishop in Canterbury Cathedral, 1869).
4. "O Everlasting God" (for St. Michael's Day).

† "WHO IS THIS THAT COMETH FROM EDOM?" (Full Anthem for Palm Sunday, in the Press).

PUBLISHED BY
* CRAMER, WOOD AND CO., 201, Regent Street.
† NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street.
‡ LAMBORN COCK AND CO., 63, New Bond Street.

BRITISH ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY, St. James's-hall, Thursday evenings, December 5th, 19th, January 9th, 23rd, 1873, February 6th, 20th. The programmes selected from the works of the great masters, a symphony, a concerto, two overtures, and vocal music at each concert. New works by British composers will be produced. Overture to the MS. Oratorio, "St. John the Baptist," by George Alexander Macfarren; new overture, by John Francis Barnett. Mr. Arthur S. Sullivan has promised an orchestral work. An analytical and historical programme of each concert by Mr. G. A. Macfarren. The concerts will commence at 8 o'clock, and terminate as near 10 o'clock as possible. Mdme. Lemmens-Sherrington, Mdme. Florence Lancia, Miss Blanche Cole, and Miss Edith Wynne, Mdme. Patey, and Miss Julia Elton; Mr. W. H. Cummings, Mr. E. Lloyd, and Mr. Vernon Rigby, Mr. Lewis Thomas, Mr. Patey, and Mr. Santley. Pianoforte—Mdme. Arabella Goddard, Mr. J. F. Barnett, and Mr. W. G. Cusins; violin, Mr. Carrodus; clarionet, Mr. Lazarus; violoncello, Mr. Edward Howell. Conductor, Mr. GEORGE MOUNT. Full orchestra of 75 performers. Principal violin, Mr. Carrodus; accompanist, Mr. J. Zerbini.

Subscription:—Stalls, £2 2s.; reserved seats, in area or balcony, £1 1s.; a limited number of stall tickets to the members of the musical profession at one guinea. For a single concert—stalls, 10s. 6d.; reserved area or balcony, 5s.; area or orchestra, 2s.; gallery, 1s.

J. B. Cramer and Co., Lamborn Cock, Mitchell's Library, Chappell, Ollivier, Keith, Prowse, A. Hays, and at Austin's Ticket Office, St. James's-hall. By order, VAL NICHOLSON, Secretary, 201, Regent-street, W.

DEAN'S ORCHESTRAL BAND meets in the Large Class Room every Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Academy of Music, 77, City-road, for the Practice and Public Performance of the works of the best masters. Competent amateurs are invited to attend. Conductor, Mr. H. J. Dean.

BELFAST MUSICAL SOCIETY.—WANTED, a CONDUCTOR, who must have a thorough knowledge of Orchestral Music, be accustomed to training choruses, and arranging scores for instruments. To a really competent musician a liberal salary will be given; besides which, a position as Organist can be readily obtained, and there is a large field for private tuition.

GEORGE BRETT, Hon. Sec.,
Nov. 7, 1872. Athenæum Rooms, Belfast.

WORCESTER CATHEDRAL.—There will shortly be a VACANCY for an ALTO in this Choir. Stipend £70 per annum. Applications, stating age of the Candidate, and enclosing testimonials as to character and musical efficiency, to be sent forthwith to the Præcentor, Bromwich House, Worcester. Second-class railway fare will be allowed to the selected candidates. The trial will take place on or about the 17th of December.

MR. WILLIAM CARTER'S CHOIR, Royal Albert Hall.—There are VACANCIES for ALTOS and TENORS. Address Mr. William Carter, 22, Colville-square, W.

CHURCH CHOIR.—Two BOY TREBLES, of fair knowledge and practice, are open to an ENGAGEMENT, in S.E. district, at a moderate remuneration. X. Y. Z., 15, Coventry-street, W.

AS LEADER of CHOIR in Church or Chapel. A young professional Lady wishes above position. Address S., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

AS LEADER, in Church or Chapel Choir.—A Professional Lady seeks a RE-ENGAGEMENT. Best References. Stipend moderate. A. Z., Library, 221, Fulham-road, S.W.

ST. MARY'S, Aldermanbury.—Two TREBLES (boys) are REQUIRED. Services, Sunday Morning and Evening. Salary, £4 per annum. Apply to the Organist, at the Church, on Tuesday or Friday evenings, from 7 to 9 p.m.

CHORISTERS.—There are VACANCIES for TREBLE BOYS in the Choir, St. Mary's, Arley Hall. Address H. King, Organist, Arley, Northwich, Cheshire.

WANTED.—TREBLES and ALTOS (Boys). Salary £3 a year; also TENOR, salary £5. Two plain Services on Sunday, and weekly practice. Apply Wednesday evening, at eight, or Sunday after Evening Service, the Organist St. Mary's Chapel, Park-street, Grosvenor-square.

A LADY (Contralto) desires a SUNDAY ENGAGEMENT. Address F. S., Novello, Ewer and Co.

ALTO and TENOR WANTED, for St. Peter's, Eltham Road. Salary, £10; attendance twice on Sundays, and on Friday Evenings. Apply to Mr. Bradford, Fern Villa, St. James's, Hatcham; or at the Church, on Friday Evenings.

CHOIRMAN.—WANTED, for the Church of S. Thomas', Regent-street, W., ALTO, TENOR, and BASS. Apply personally to Mr. George Legge, Organist, &c., on Fridays, between 8 and 9.30 p.m.

ALTO and BASS WANTED for the Choir of a Church near Regent-street, W. Attendance—Sunday, morning and afternoon, with rehearsal in the week. There is also a VACANCY for a BOY with good voice, and some knowledge of music. Apply by letter, stating salary required, to Rev. M.A., 4, Earl's-court-road, Kensington, W.

WANTED, a MALE ALTO for St. George-the-Martyr Church, Southwark, S.E. Apply in first instance by letter to H. Wilson, 645, Old Kent-road, S.E. A small salary given.

WANTED, for a Choir in Norwood, ALTO, TENOR, and BOY TREBLE Voices; preference to those residing in vicinity. State qualifications, register of voice, and salary. Address, J. L. D., Ashlawn, Hamlet-road, Upper Norwood.

ST. BARNABAS, Guildford-road, South Lambeth.—WANTED, an ALTO and TENOR. Choral Service, Verse and Solo Anthems Morning and Evening. Good voice, and a knowledge of music indispensable. For particulars, apply to Mr. T. Baxter, 15, Guildford-road, South Lambeth, S.W.

WANTED, a TENOR, in a Surpliced Choir; must be able to read music at sight. Two Sunday services, and one weekly practice. Salary £10 per annum, to be increased to £12 at the end of six months. Apply to F. Everard W. Hulton, Mus. B., 48, Redcliffe-road, S.W.; or at the vestry of St. Luke's Church, Chelsea, after Sunday evening service.

WANTED, a TENOR and BARITONE, for a Catholic Choir. Duties—Sunday morning, and one weekly rehearsal. Good voice, and ability to read at sight indispensable. Apply by letter only to J. Hallett Sheppard, Esq., 9, Moore-park-road, West Brompton.

DURHAM COUNTY ASYLUM, Sedgefield, near Ferry-hill.—WANTED, NURSES for the above Asylum. To eligible persons a liberal stipend will be given, together with board, lodging, and washing in the institution, and two suits of uniform annually. Candidates under 30 years of age, and who have a knowledge of music, and so be able to materially assist in the Singing at Concerts and Services, in Chapel, &c., perferred. For further particulars apply to the Medical Superintendent.

November 25, 1872.

DURHAM COUNTY ASYLUM, Sedgefield, near Ferry-hill.—WANTED, a TENOR Singer for the above Asylum, who would also act as an Attendant in the wards. He must possess a good voice, and be able to read well at sight, and take Solos in the Concerts and Services in Chapel. To an eligible person a liberal stipend will be given, together with board, lodging, and washing in the institution, and a suit of uniform annually. For further particulars apply to the Medical Superintendent.

November 25, 1872.

TENOR WANTED; Christ Church, Lee.—Surpliced Choir. Sunday Morning and Evening; practice, Friday evening. £10 per annum. Address, Mr. Ridley Prentice, 30A, Wimpole-street, W.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, Thornhill-square.—TENOR Voices WANTED for the Voluntary Choir of this Church. Apply by letter to D., 56, Amwell-street, E.C.

WANTED, TWO BASSES, for the Voluntary Choir of a City Church; Morning Service only. Full Choral, Anthems, &c. Wednesday, practice. Apply personally, Mr. Bicknell, 4, Primrose-street, Bishopsgate.

WANTED, a SITUATION as CHOIRMASTER, or BASS.—The Advertiser has a very good Bass voice, is accustomed to conduct a choir, to teach singing and the French language in schools, and in training boys for the choir. First-class references. Apply, by letters only, to Mr. F. B., 35, Hindon-street, Pimlico, London.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.—The Organist will be glad to receive the names of Gentlemen who may be willing to become members of the Choir, at the Special Sunday Evening Services for 1873. The music will be of the most simple character, chiefly consisting of chants and hymn tunes.

ORGANIST REQUIRED for a Village Church in Surrey, and to Train the Choir, Sunday Services and Week-day Practice; not Gregorian. Salary £40; no field for tuition, &c. J. R. C., More-place, Betchworth, Surrey.

ORGANIST.—A Gentleman is willing to give his services at a Church in London, where there are merely Sunday and week-day Evening Services. Good organ required. Address, stating particulars, J. B. L., care of Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED for the Parish Church, Richmond, Yorks. To a competent man there is a good opening for a General Practice, to which may be added the Musical Teaching of a large Grammar School. Applications, with testimonials, before Monday the 16th of December, to the Churchwardens, from whom particulars may be had.

AN ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER of Six Years' experience requires a RE-ENGAGEMENT in London or few miles round. Disengaged January 1st, 1873. Good testimonials and references. Services, choral or plain. Address Y., Townly's Library, Surbiton, Surrey.

AN ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER will be WANTED, at the beginning of the new year, for the Parish Church of Swindon, Wilts. Three Services on Sunday, one in the week. For an experienced man there is a large field for private tuition. Salary, £50 per annum. Unexceptionable references required. Apply to Rev. H. G. Baily, Swindon.

THE ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER of St. Michael and All Angel's, Paddington, is open to ENGAGEMENT for training Choirs in or near London. Address, Mr. Walter H. Sangster, Mus. Bac., Oxon., 14, Westbourne villas, Paddington.

THE MUSICAL TIMES,

And Singing-Class Circular.

DECEMBER 1, 1872.

THE ACCOMPANIMENT OF RECITATIVE.

By G. A. Macfarren.

The broad distinction between ancient and modern in music dates from the invention of recitative in the last decade of the sixteenth century. Then, an association of Florentine nobles and gentlemen undertook the interesting experiment of restoring to the art of song the characteristics that had marked it in the Grecian age, as opposed to the qualities to which the music of the period was limited. These qualities were rhythmical tune, exemplified in the songs and dances of the people, and the imitations of these by schooled artists; and contrapuntal elaboration, exemplified in the motets or moving parts, and anthems or counter themes, constructed upon ecclesiastical or secular melodies for church use, and in the madrigals of the musicians. In neither of these was there scope for free declamation, nor for any but the most general expression of words, which, in classic times, had been the main if not the sole object of vocal music. The idea was then conceived of recitative. Rinuccini was the poet who first wrote verses to be set upon this novel system; and Caccini, Peri, Cavalieri, and Monteverde were the first musicians who illustrated its principles. The experiment was so entirely successful that the new style of declamatory music not only took a place beside the rigidly ruled art of the period, but has, to a great extent, superseded it, and importantly modified the materials and the structure of subsequent composition.

To secure the perfect freedom of the singer in his declamation, to hasten or retard the words as he might be impelled by the passion they embodied, it was essential that the accompaniment should be of such a nature as might in no respect restrict his performance in the matter of measure, while it might fully guide and support him in the matter of intonation. Accordingly, it was confined usually to a single instrument, in most cases the theorbo or large lute; and this, in the earliest instances, was played by the singer himself, whose fingers were moved by the same impulse that directed his vocal utterance.

It appears that Lully, when he established dramatic music in France, used very freely the recitative form; but it is not so sure that he imported to Paris his country's use of accompanying the colloquial singing with a single instrument, since, in some of his operas, the harmony is sustained by the band during the vocal declamation. The same was probably the case in the earlier court masques written by Lanière and some English musicians in the time of Charles I. On the other hand, it is evident that at the clubs and like places, where, for the first time in English history, the public paid for admission to musical, not dramatic, performances, it was common to accompany the recitative on some equivalent to the pianoforte—the harpsichord, or virginals, or what not—with also a bowed instrument,—the violoncello or double bass, or both,—to support the bass notes, because of the little resonance of the keyed string instruments of the time. Thus were the Cantatas of Purcell and other composers accompanied, and this was the standard method of playing to recitative for a long time to come.

Near the end of the seventeenth century, Vinci was the first to write what in England is called "Accompanied Recitative." This he reserved for the more dramatic passages in his operas, while he retained for ordinary colloquy and narration what the Italians name "Recitativo parlante." The distinction is, that in the latter the instruments just named were used, and in the former the full orchestra.

Let it not be supposed that the practice ever was, in colloquial recitative, to sustain the chords on any instrument from semibreve to semibreve, as they were habitually written in Italy and elsewhere; these extensive notes imply the prevalence but not the sustenance of the same harmony, which harmony was and is to be repeated according to the punctuation of the words, whenever their sense indicates a breathing place for the singer. Hence Mendelssohn was at variance with the usage of elder times, even down to the very period in which himself wrote, when, in his accompaniments to Israel in Egypt, he wrote sustained chords in four parts for two violoncellos with double stops, in the very few instances of colloquial recitative which occur in that work. In the old days, a skilful accompanist would, so to speak, feed the singer by dispersing the chords so as to have the vocal note at the top, and repeating them in changed positions whenever a different note of emphasis suggested such prompting, and seldom striking them in a mass, but sprinkling them in more or less extended arpeggio as the movement might admit. Here was then what may be termed an atmosphere of harmony, wherein the voice floated with buoyancy unfettered; and, if the analogy be accepted, the changes of chords may be likened to the variations of the wind, or the passing from one current of air into another; almost as imperceptible as the ether was the accompaniment, and yet of substance sufficient for the voice to rest upon it as the clouds repose upon the air.

Let it neither be supposed that it was ever the purpose of Vinci or his countless followers in the accompanied recitative to put upon the singer the limitations of metrical music. In this the voice is left for long periods entirely alone, or, less often, the harmony is either sustained or tremulously iterated with undefined accent; the occasional detached chords of a well-directed band little more restrict the voice than do the spread chords of the pianoforte, while they impart, perhaps, more vigour to the general effect; and the interposed interludes, of a bar or more in length, illustrate the sentiment or picture the circumstances the words describe.

The encomiasts of Rossini accredit him as the first to discard, throughout an opera, the colloquial in favour of the accompanied recitative, and they say that Otello (1817) was the first work thus constructed. Close investigation might trace that this, like other assumed innovations of the master, had precedent in the practice of another. The French operas of Gluck, for example, and not of Gluck only, have the orchestra throughout.

What was then exceptional has become usual now. Colloquial recitative is scarcely to be found but in works of fifty years old, the orchestra is employed with far greater prominence in music of our times than in the accompanied recitative of Handel, of Mozart, and of Rossini, and lyrical declamation has consequently acquired a widely different character from that which stamped it of yore.

As there are but few works at present in vogue which are constructed on the old principle, it is as little to be wondered, as it was to be helped, that the tradition of how to accompany recitative should be all but lost, especially as considerations of personal display have mainly induced the desuetude of that practice. To prevent this loss from becoming total, it is desirable to place on record one most valuable testimony on the subject while memory is still fresh to retain it, and while general respect is sufficiently vivid for the person from whom this account was received, to ensure its perfect credence.

The late Sir George Smart, when one of the young gentlemen of the Chapel Royal, was engaged with his co-choristers, from year to year, to sing at the Ancient Concerts. He was, however, excepted from the vocal duties of his fellows, to turn over the leaves for the conductor, Joah Bates. Already, in those early years, Smart entertained aspirations to the conductor's office, to which in due time he rose, and which he discharged, with honour to himself and advantage to music, for more years than would have made the entire lifetime of many another man. His young ambition was therefore highly gratified by his being selected for the post of turner, since this gave him special opportunity of observing all the conductor's ways and habits and rules of action, and he accordingly observed most keenly, and as carefully stored up his observations to become the groundwork of his own future practice.

Joah Bates was born about the year 1740; thus he had reached the age of 19 when Handel died, an age at which, with his fond love of music, he must have been fully capable of noting the manner of musical performances, the effect they produced, and the means whereby such effect was obtained. Here, then, we have a direct line of evidence from Bates, who must have witnessed performances over which Handel himself presided, through Smart, whose habits of accuracy were most remarkable, and whose statements are implicitly reliable. Bates proposed, and organised, and directed the famous commemoration of Handel in Westminster Abbey, which was intended to celebrate the centenary of the composer's birth; but, from a misapprehension of dates, was held the year before, in 1784. He directed also the similar Abbey performances in the next following years; and, because of his success in this capacity, and of his thorough knowledge of the uses of the elder time, he was appointed conductor of His Majesty's Concerts of Ancient Music, which were instituted to preserve those uses to the world.

Chief among the few works in which the old original form of colloquial recitative is still kept in familiarity, are the oratorios of Handel, and, among operas, the Figaro and Don Giovanni of Mozart, and the Barbiere of Rossini. In these the old form is preserved to us, but very little of the substance. The intention was, as has been shown, that the accompaniment should be played on the harpsichord or its representative, the pianoforte, with the support of the principal violoncello and double bass, the players of which read from the same copy as the clavecinist or pianist. So late was the practice continued, that the first engagement of Sir Michael Costa at the opera was to preside at the pianoforte in the orchestra; and there accordingly he presided, until 1832, when, under Monck Mason's management, the first performances in this country of a German opera company were given in alternation with those of the Italians. The German operas were conducted by Chelard of Weimar, who presided not at the pianoforte, but at the conductor's desk raised above the rest of the orchestra, as is the present wont of opera conductors in England. On a certain Monday, Der Freischütz inaugurated the German season; on the following Tuesday evening, Sir Michael occupied the conductor's stool which Chelard had filled the night before; and from thenceforward, the pianoforte has never been used in the opera orchestra except to prompt the singers.

Before this time, the violoncello had for long assumed the conspicuous prominence in accompanying the recitative, which it has almost exclusively held for the forty years since. In the latter part of the last century, the celebrated Cervetto officiated as principal violoncellist at the King's Theatre. The rich tone, the beautiful execution, and the fine taste of this artist have better than legendary authority; many of us now living have heard others talk of these his qualities, who had witnessed and delighted in their display. An artist so gifted commanded more than sufferance, even to the extent of admiration and applause, for flights of finger and perhaps of fancy, that would not have been tolerated in a player of less distinction. Accordingly, when the stage waited for the entrance of a new personage, for any necessary business of the scene, or for the ingenious by-play of a popular actor, Cervetto would fill up such otherwise moments of silence with arpeggios or like passages upon his instrument, and the audience would be pleased with his feats of skill. The pianist always resumed his functions with the resumption of the singing, and the escapades upon the violoncello served but as interludes to accompany so much of the action, or to compensate for such casual want of action, as would else make a break in the musical continuity. In Handel's time similar figurations were wont to be set forth upon the harpsichord, and the great composer is reputed to have been so happy in his performance of these that to hear him formed no little part of the evening's attraction. We read of composers of long after Handel's time, even down to Rossini, presiding at the pianoforte on the first representation of their operas: which means plainly that they accompanied the colloquial recitative. Lindley succeeded Cervetto in his post, in his excellence, and in his privilege of flourishing in the casual pauses, and Lindley's successors have taken upon them the last heritage as an heir-loom of the instrument. It is in England only, however, that the violoncello's usurpation of supremacy in recitative has ever been exercised at the opera, and in England only that it has ever disfigured the performance of oratorios.

Cervetto was also principal violoncellist at the Ancient Concerts. There in the recitatives of Handel and his contemporaries he pursued his opera practice of passaging in all the breaks of the voice part. Then, with firm authority, Bates interrupted him, insisting that the single bass notes and nothing else, should be played by the bowed instruments. In vain Cervetto quoted his King's Theatre commendations. "It was otherwise at the opera in Handel's time," said Bates, "and we are here to perform Handel's music as it used to be performed under his direction." The young choir boy stood by the side and witnessed this altercation, treasured it as a valuable experience, and, towards the end of 1866, when he was some years beyond the age of ninety, and scarcely two years before his death, related to me the entire scene with the utmost minuteness. Handel did not, neither did Bates, neither did Sir George Smart until his long career was very far advanced, beat time for the band. This was, where necessary, the province of the leader; so that the power was lost to the orchestra of the strongest violinist in it, in every passage of more than usual difficulty or requiring exceptional energy. The conductor then sat at the organ, with a harpsichord, later a pianoforte, so placed that he could reach also its keyboard, and, according to the more or less gravity of the music, he played on one or the other throughout the recitative, and likewise in the rhythmical pieces, adding in these latter, independent counterpoint of such greater or less interest, as his own musicianship, aided by the inspiration of the moment, might prompt.

It is noteworthy that in 1753, when Handel's blindness prevented him from reading his own scores, he sent for John Christopher Smith, his pseudo pupil and the son of his staunch and unalienable friend, who was at the time in France, to whom he believed he might confide the serious responsibility of the unwritten organ or harpsichord part. It would seem that the composer was not content with Smith's performance; for in 1754, he discontinued the services of this really meritorious musician, and resumed his old post in the orchestra. This he must have done with very serious difficulty, since the works were changed from night to night during the Lenten series of oratorios, and, not seeing, he could only accompany if he had the music entirely by heart. His presidency was so important in the orchestra, indeed, so greatly enhanced the interest of the music, and added so much to the attraction of the performance, that he never again relinquished it, and accompanied the recitatives and filled up upon the organ the blanks in his score on the very sixth of April, 1759, which was the day week before his death, when he closed his public career by superintending the performance of his Messiah.

When Sir George Smart became a conductor, he, persevering in the principles of his model, required the supremacy of the organ or pianoforte over the violoncello in the oratorio recitatives. Lindley, however, had taken Cervetto's place, and, with his still higher excellence, he far more than filled it. Emulous of the same distinction in an oratorio that had obtained in an opera, the famous violoncellist would have interluded the recitatives, but was stopped by Sir George as Cervetto had been by Bates; and the veteran conductor assured me that the single professional quarrel in which he was ever a party, during the many years of his being at the head of musical affairs in England, was with the brave old Lindley on this very subject. The immediate consequence was that the violoncellist, who would not forego his flourishes, seceded from Sir George's band; but his pre-eminence as a player was too widely recognised for his presence to be dispensable in other quarters or, after a while, even there. It was he then who established the practice peculiar to this country alone, of accompanying recitative with chords on the violoncello, and consequently, unless the usage has been carried to the colonies, the inhabitants of our three kingdoms enjoy exclusively the privilege of hearing the most unmusical exhibitions and the least satisfactory that have ever been habitually offered in public.

About ten years ago, Herr Otto Goldschmidt, assisted by his accomplished wife, revived Handel's L'Allegro, and had the recitatives accompanied according to Handel's fashion, Mr. Lindsay Sloper officiating at the pianoforte, as he had done with the same purpose in the performance of Bach's Passion, under the direction of Sir Sterndale Bennett. At Mr. Joseph Barnby's revival of this latter work, the same instrument held its appropriate position, until the Passion was taken into its original, natural and fitting home, the Church, when the harmonium if not the organ was, with perhaps better effect, substituted for it. Now, it may be believed, that, of all the thousands of persons who have witnessed these presentations of the works in question, there is not one—or if one, he must be a bass player—that does not infinitely prefer the effect of the keyed to that of the bowed instrument in the situation now being considered. The hard rough tone of the chords upon the violoncello, the indistinctness of their harmony, their questionable assistance to the singers, are all incidents for careful consideration; but, above all, the fact that the composers, whether of later secular or of earlier sacred music, intended an effect utterly dissimilar, should convince directors that, according to the size and uses of the building and the gaiety or gravity of the subject, the pianoforte or the organ ought to be the accompanying instrument of colloquial recitative. Let it be hoped that before long its restitution may be universal, when the richer tone and the fuller resonance of the Pianoforte than of the ancient Harpsichord, especially in the lower range of its compass, will render the bowed basses entirely dispensable.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

The novelties produced at the Saturday concerts during the past month have been in the highest degree interesting. Mozart's last pianoforte concerto in B flat, at the fifth concert, came upon us with all the freshness of a new composition, for, strange to say, although teeming with beauties throughout, it had never before been introduced in this country. The first movement is thoroughly Mozartian, both in the subject and treatment of the principal instrument in combination with the orchestra; but the melodious Larghetto and Finale (the latter founded on a subject already well known to musical amateurs) were perhaps more really enjoyed by the general audience. The performance of the concerto by Madame Arabella Goddard was one of the purest specimens of pianoforte playing we have heard for years. Not only in executive power, but in the most intellectual perception of the author's meaning, her interpretation of this charming work so thoroughly satisfied even the most exacting lovers of Mozart that the murmurs of approbation during the progress of each movement could scarcely be suppressed, and at the conclusion she was rewarded by a burst of applause as genuine as it was enthusiastic. Herr Reinecke's two cadenzas, introduced by Madame Goddard in the first and last movements, seemed scarcely in character with the calm nature of the themes, but they were excellently written for the instrument, and we need scarcely say as excellently rendered. At the sixth concert a Rondo in B flat by Beethoven, for pianoforte and orchestra, was given for the first time, the pianist being Mr. Ridley Prentice. As a novelty, this Rondo was of course welcome; but the name of its composer excited perhaps higher anticipations than were realized; and Mr. Prentice, whose playing was marked throughout by much artistic finish, could scarcely secure for the piece a cordial success. It is presumed to have been intended for one of the pianoforte concertos; but as it is known to have been completed and the orchestration filled up by Czerny, it is impossible to say how much of the composition was really by Beethoven. The performance of Rubinstein's pianoforte concerto, in D minor, by Mr. Fritz Hartvigson, at the seventh concert, scarcely did anything to advance the claims of this composer as a writer of the highest class works for his instrument; but the pianist evidenced much commendable zeal in the cause, and exhibited a vigorous, if not eloquent, touch. The orchestral compositions have been this season remarkable for a perfection of execution even beyond that of former years, Beethoven's "Eroica" and Mendelssohn's "Scotch Symphony," especially, having been rendered with an attention to minute details, which elicited the highest admiration, even from those amongst the audience to whom the works were most familiar. We must mention that Mr. Wingham's Festal Overture (performed for the first time at the summer concert of the Royal Academy of Music) was given with much effect at the fifth concert, and well received. Sir Sterndale Bennett's Cantata "The May Queen," and his beautiful and highly poetical Overture, "Paradise and the Peri," have also been amongst the most attractive items in the programme. There is little to record concerning the vocal music. Miss Margaret Hancock (who gained a prize at the National Music Meetings) displayed some good qualities as a contralto in the "May Queen," and Mr. J. H. Pearson showed that he possessed a good voice but a defective method, in two songs at the concert on the 16th ult.

NATIONAL MUSIC MEETINGS AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

The Certificates of Merit awarded at the first series of meetings in June last have been recently sent out. The successful candidates for these Diplomas are the Brixton Choral Society; Bristol Choral Union; South London Choral Association; Miss Emrick, London; Miss Hailey, Hanwell; Madlle. Ori, London; Mr. G. H. Woolley, London; Mr. F. Crane, Liverpool; Mr. H. A. Pope, London; and Mr. Sauvé, London. The Certificates are signed by Sir W. S. Bennett; Sir J. Benedict; Signor Arditi; A. S. Sullivan, Esq.; Dr. Wylde; J. Barnby, Esq.; J. Hullah, Esq.; H. Smart, Esq.; J. L. Hatton, Esq.; A. Manns, Esq.; and H. Leslie, Esq.—the Judges in the various classes in which the Diplomas were obtained.

A meeting was held on Saturday evening the 9th ult., at the Albion Hall, London Wall, in aid of the prize fund of £100, to be competed for next summer at the Crystal Palace, by the choirs of North and South Wales. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. H. Puleston, and on the platform were several gentlemen, interested in the promotion of Welsh music. Mr. Brinley Richards addressed the meeting, and after alluding to the excellent singing of the Welsh choir at the Crystal Palace, on the occasion of the National Music Meetings last season, said that he had every reason to look with hope to the realisation of his wishes. Sir Thomas Lloyd had already given his name as a subscriber of ten guineas, and his example had been followed by some of the most influential members of Parliament. In the course of the evening a musical entertainment was given under the direction of Mr. Brinley Richards, supported by Madlle. Angèle, Miss Lizzie Evans, Mr. Poole, &c. A feature in the programme was the performance of "God bless the Prince of Wales," in the chorus of which the audience heartily joined.

The Grosvenor Choral Society gave its ninth monthly concert at the Pimlico Rooms on the 8th ult. The principal solo vocalists were Miss Hellier, Miss Jenny Brown, who sang for the first time "The Return of Spring" (J. T. Torry) and Mr. Warren Wells, all of whom were received with much favour. Several concerted pieces were also sung, and instrumental solos most efficiently played by Mr. Duncan Shaw (pianoforte) and Mr. T. F. Williams (concertina). Mr. Wm. Henry Bridges officiated as conductor, and Miss White as accompanist.

The monthly concert of the St. George's Glee Union took place at the Pimlico Rooms on the 1st ult. The solo vocalists were Miss Janet King (who received a well-merited encore for her singing of "Truth in absence"), Miss Horder, Mr. James Jekyll and Mr. Tom Ellis. There were several concerted pieces for the choir, which were rendered with much precision and effect. Mention must also be made of the pianoforte playing of Miss Pritchard and Miss Shepherd. The Society gave an evening concert at the Chelsea Literary and Scientific Institution on the 8th ult., when songs by Miss Jessie Jones, Miss Horder, and Miss Janet King were warmly received and re-demanded. Some choral music and a harp solo by Miss Wade were also included in the programme.

On Thursday the 14th ult., a Literary and Musical Evening with Tom Moore was given, at Westbourne Hall, by Mr. L. M. Myers. A brief analysis of the life of the Bard of Erin was interspersed with several of the poet's choicest songs, duets and glees, by Miss Ellen Glanville (who was much applauded for her singing of "The Minstrel Boy"), Miss Dwight, Mr. Frank Elmore and Mr. Rowland. Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Rayfield Seymour were the accompanists. The proceeds of the entertainment were in aid of the Westbourne Philanthropic Society.

The Tuesday evening entertainments at the Public Hall, South Norwood, have attracted large audiences during the past month. The managers, Messrs. J. Baucutt and W. Blount, spare no pains to make these pleasant weekly réunions interesting and amusing; and they will be continued every Tuesday during the winter.

On Tuesday the 19th ult., Mr. Major J. Smith gave a concert at the Bermondsey Institute, when, in addition to his excellent band, Miss Rosina V. Houghton and Mr. W. H. Starey appeared, and sang some popular songs, which were encored. The programme included some operatic and dance music all of which was well rendered. Mr. Major J. Smith and Mr. William Byrom presided at the pianoforte, the latter gentleman playing a solo, which was re-demanded. Mr. Major J. Smith conducted.

The Thursday Evening Musical and Literary Entertainments given at the Pimlico Rooms, under the direction of Mr. J. Baucutt, have been well attended during the last few weeks. The miscellaneous character of these entertainments and the manner in which they are carried out are in every respect highly satisfactory. We understand that the entertainments will be continued every Thursday till Christmas.

We hear that "The Hymnary" has been adopted at the Chapel Royal, Savoy; S. Andrew's, Wells Street; S. Ann's, Soho; S. Stephen's, Bermondsey; S. Augustine's and S. Faith's, City; and S. Michael's, Hulme, Manchester.

We have been furnished with a notice (cut from some journal not mentioned) and programme of the inaugural concert for the present season of the "St. John's Wood Society of Musicians," which took place at the residence of the conductor, Mr. Lansdowne Cottell, on the 6th ult. As we have not been favoured with any tickets for the performance, we are of course unable to vouch for the justice of the praise which the writer in the paper sent us freely bestows upon everybody and everything at the concert; but as the name of "Mr. W. Charles Bell" appears in the programme in letters twice as large as those accorded to any other vocalist, we presume that he, at least, is beyond the reach of criticism.

The Monthly Popular Concerts at Brixton, so ably conducted by Mr. Ridley Prentice, commenced for the season at the Angell Town Institution on the 22nd Oct., with every prospect of success. The programmes of these entertainments are remarkably well selected; and the performance of Mr. Prentice in some of the most exacting pianoforte works has been thoroughly appreciated by the somewhat critical audiences assembled.

The seventh series of "Musical Evenings" commenced at St. George's Hall on the 13th ult., when a programme of the highest interest was provided. The executants were Messrs. Walter Macfarren (pianoforte), Henry Holmes (first violin), F. Folkes (second violin), A. Burnett (viola), and Signor Pezze (violoncello). Mozart's String Quartett in F, Schumann's Pianoforte Trio in D minor, and Beethoven's Quintett in C (Mr. W. H. Hann playing second viola), were faultlessly interpreted, and received with an enthusiasm which indicated most unquestionably the classical taste of the listeners. An Allegro by Gluck (played, with a Prelude Retrospectif, by Mr. H. Holmes) was an attractive feature in the selection; and the instrumental works were agreeably relieved by two songs from Miss Nessie Goode. The conductor was Mr. C. E. Stephens.

The rehearsals of the Royal Albert Hall Choral Society will commence immediately, under the conductorship of Mr. Barnby. The amalgamation of this choir with that of the Oratorio Concerts, will be a source of gratification to those who have watched with interest the progress of the last-named association during the past seasons, more especially as we hear that Oratorios, Cantatas, and other large works, given with the assistance of a large and complete band, and the most eminent solo vocalists, are to form the principal features of the programmes.

M. Gounod has recently addressed a letter to the Times complaining in the strongest terms of the manner in which his music in this country is constantly mutilated by arrangers, and published with a title-page upon which his name appears as the composer of the work. Sometimes, he says, a portion of the original melody is suppressed, at other times notes are added to it; harmonies are often changed, accompaniments simplified, and occasionally an air is wedded to words so unlike those to which it was written that the intention of the composer is positively caricatured. Certainly, if we possess no copyright law which will protect authors from such wanton deterioration of their property, the sooner the subject is brought before the legislature the better. Meanwhile, composers we are sure, will not only deeply sympathise with M. Gounod, but feel a debt of gratitude to him for calling public attention to the matter. In justice, however, to those publishers who hold the copyrights of some of M. Gounod's compositions, it may be stated that as they have never lent themselves to the practice of which he complains, the authenticity of the works issued by them under his name is beyond a doubt—a fact which many might question, seeing that Mr. Goddard, of Argyll-place, is named in the letter as the only music-seller from whom any exact information on the subject can be obtained.

Reviews.

Novello, Ewer and Co.

The Hymnary. A Book of Church Song. Edited by the Rev. W. Cooke, M.A., Hon. Canon of Chester, and the Rev. B. Webb, Rector of S. Andrew's, Wells Street. The Music edited by Joseph Barnby.

First impressions are always important; it is lucky, therefore, that the first three tunes in The Hymnary are sound and good. They are of long metre, and are by Garrett, Tours, and Barnby. We next come to that grand old set of words "O what their joy and their glory must be" (No. 4), and here not a few will be disappointed at not finding their old friend the tune "O quanta qualia sunt illa sabbata," which can hardly be called an unbarred melody, so naturally does it fall into modern musical form; but no more on this, as we will reserve a general review of the editor's work till a later time, enough to say that the words have fallen into good hands, and that Mr. Thorne has set them to a tune of great sweetness and elegance, although perhaps hardly masculine enough for the jubilant faith they so grandly express. A good long metre by Barnby (No. 5) is followed by an excellent tune by Reay (No. 6); but, although we do not profess to be musical conservatives, we confess to be a little hurt at this—answer all purposes equally well. In this passage Mr. Reay is, we suspect, the victim of the elision of a double bar from between the two chords. In many cases double bars are not only useless but likely to lead to unintended pauses, yet they are not unfrequently a necessity. But the tune is none the less good, because of this particular progression, in support of which numerous passages could be cited from the works of the man who was at once the maker and breaker of so-called "laws"—J. S. Bach. No. 7 is well known, and deservedly so, but it is a question whether it is improved by the alteration of bar 2 from the accepted especially as it is not symmetrical with the end of line 2 as followed by line 3. "Come let us all with one accord" (No. 8) should be called a metrical anthem, evidently not being intended for congregational use, but for "Choirs and places where they sing;" not that this remark is meant as a sarcastic allusion to the attempts at singing made in many churches where there is no choir. "London New" next appears, well harmonized. Like many other "old melodies," it has been ascribed to more than one author, though chiefly to Dr. Croft, but one thing may safely be said of it—it is English. A fine tune (6 lines of 7) by H. Smart (No. 10) must not be passed over without a word of praise for its dignified and calm character. The tune described as being composed by R. Redhead (Nos. 14, 23, 56), though unfortunately well known and popular, we regret to see in a work of such importance as The Hymnary. It is an arrangement, and a very bad one, of the grand old proper tune to the "Veni Creator." Nor is the conception of the arrangement itself novel, for simplified forms of the ancient melody have existed for centuries. The only part peculiar to Mr. Redhead's arrangement besides one or two melodic changes, consists in the repetition of the first line of the music for the last line of words. It is true that there are many versions of the old simplified form, but in each case the last line is grand and effective.

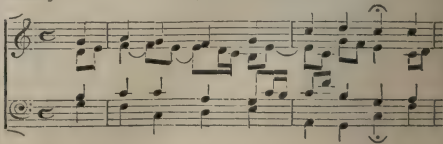
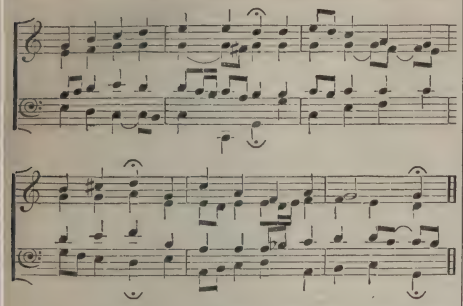
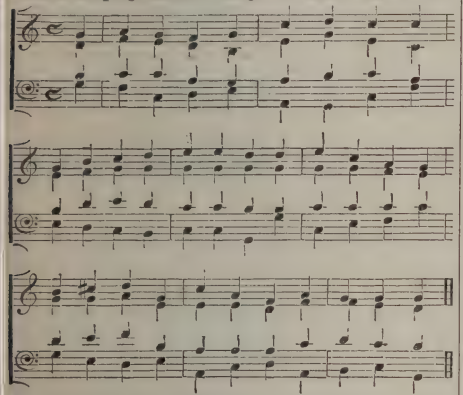
Here is one as harmonized by Bach ("Komm Gott Schöpfer, heilger Geist") given to show the form of the melody—





This might be thus simplified for general use, the framework of the progressions of the great master being retained.



Can anything be finer than this series of diatonic progressions? Let the reader play them over slowly half-a-dozen times, and try their effect. It may be objected that in this form the tune begins and ends on the dominant of the key. True, such a final close is not common in our days, but all works of art are not strictly in accordance with fashion, and the structure of this melody cannot be tampered with, without destroying much of its sublimity. The melody of "Melcombe" (No. 15) is better as here given than with the dotted notes which often mar its smoothness, but both tenor and bass parts lie too low, and the first chord of the fourth bar is slightly out of keeping with the context. A really excellent tune by Barnby (No. 16) to a very musical metre—8.8.8.6, is followed by an "Ancient Melody," founded apparently on the fifth Gregorian tone (No. 17) not of much value. Mr. A. S. Cooper writes smoothly and well, and gives a most useful setting of "Glory to the Glorious One" (No. 18). The "Ancient Melody" (No. 19) is a tune by Gibbons, of which the treble and bass parts only were published; the latter of which has not, however, been followed. No. 20, by Mr. Barnby, which is published in his collected tunes to the words "O day of rest and gladness," is here reprinted, and rightly so, as it is a capital tune, quiet but cheerful and tuneful. Sir John Goss in No. 21, has cleverly adapted two lines of words to what is practically one line of music, by which means a long hymn becomes easily learnt and remembered. The sweetness of the melody is striking. Mr. C. H. H. Parry deserves great praise for his admirable setting of Hymn 26. H. Smart's tune (No. 34) is remarkably good, but would be still better with three crotchets in place of the last three minims, which give great prominence to what unfortunately happens, uniformly through the hymn, to be an unimportant verbal termination. Sir W. S. Bennett, whose first line is, oddly enough, not unlike that of the tune immediately preceding, has produced, as would be expected, a tune of rare elegance in No. 35. Gounod's setting of Hymn 36 is very beautiful; great care must be exercised lest it be sung too fast. We almost think a slower pace than that marked would be advisable, especially in large churches. In No. 37 Dr. Gauntlett is very chromatic without any proportionate gain in effect. The tune No. 40 (by P. Bach), known as "Weimar," seems to have been the fount whence Reinagle drew his popular "St. Peter's." Sir J. Benedict has produced a very charming tune in No. 41, but one which we think might with advantage be transferred to words of a more cheerful character. Barnby's "O world! behold upon the Tree" if rightly read, both as to marks of pace and expression, will be found solemn and truly devotional. We are glad to see (No. 47) Hewlett's beautiful tune originally set to the words "Weary of earth and laden with my sin" ("Hymns Ancient and Modern," No. 286). We began by commending three long-measure tunes, and must now close for the present by giving due honour to Nos. 48 and 49, by E. J. Hopkins and Dr. Dykes, both of long measure, which will be of permanent value.

The Office of Holy Communion. Set to music by the Rev. E. B. Whyley, M.A.

Nothing more strongly shows the advance of music in one particular direction than the constantly increasing number of compositions by non-professional writers. Not to speak of the productions of amateur ladies, now vastly in vogue, because to speak of them would be to deprecate, with few exceptions, their acceptance and even their existence, since the latter proves much ignorance and bad taste, while the former promulgates the one and confirms the other; not to speak of these and the like, we acknowledge with pleasure the true musical feeling and erudition too that are evinced in the more serious works which emanate from a more earnest class of music lovers, who regard the art obviously as a medium for expressing lofty thoughts, and as demanding assiduous study for its comprehension and attainment. An instance of such music is the Service before us, the author of which is the head-master of the King's School at Peterborough, who has, it is evident, recreated himself from his classical and mathematical labours by application to the no less profound research into the principles of the joyous science. Thus, he has not only sought, but has gained a considerable mastery of the technicalities of music, and he has developed a more than average aptitude in their use; but, on the other hand, though his mastery is considerable, it is far from complete; and we must often credit him with a stronger sense of beauty than power to express it. We highly honour one who chooses such a subject as music for his recreation from other not graver pursuits, and who devotes himself so warmly to its study as to have reached the knowledge his publication evinces; but we marvel that a scholar can be content to put forth a work containing such imperfections as he certainly would not allow to disfigure any piece of literature he might issue.

To justify this last remark, and prove it not to be a captious piece of fault-finding, let us call the author's attention to the following inadvertences. At page 4, in the phrase which is twice repeated in ascending sequence, the top part leaps to the eighth of the bass by similar motion, propriety requiring the step of a second in the top part against a leap in the bass to give good effect to approaching the eighth by similar motion. In bar three from the end of page 5 there are consecutive ninths between alto and bass, the quickness of which cannot render them agreeable, although it prevents the long continuance of their harshness. Some theorists have not, it is true, enunciated a law against consecutive ninths, so immeasurably worse in effect than the ever-forbidden fifths and eighths; but this can only be because such writers must have deemed a succession of ninths so obviously abominable that no musician could need a law to prohibit their employment. Here may be mentioned the indecision of the final close of the movement induced by a cadence in another key in the very third bar before the end. In bars four and five of page 11, there is the false relation between the A♯ of the tenor and A♮ of the soprano, which has frequent precedent in the music of three centuries ago—the two chords being F♯ major and F♯ minor—but should be regarded as a speciality of past times and not perpetuated in the present. At page 21, between bars two and three, the eighth of the bass is approached by similar motion where the top part proceeds chromatically from A♯ to A♮, making the bad effect of such approach worse than if it had been from a note of another name. It might give more bitterness to these remarks than is meant to characterise them were we to extend the list. We will then but notice further the unusual use of the minor chord of the sub-dominant to express jubilation, which occurs thrice, namely, on the word "glorified" and on the declaration of faith in the "world to come,"—and again in the Gloria in excelsis, at the words "Thou only art the Lord;" but this use may be intended to refute the general idea that a minor chord can only indicate sadness, and, if so, we are not inclined to disagree on the whole with the somewhat exceptional view.

On the other hand, there is many an incident in the work that cannot but be admired, and there are some whose beauty outbalances such irregularities as have been named above. For instance, in the first number (which is an Introit appropriate to the Communion Office, and available as a short anthem for other occasions), the interrogative passages "Who shall ascend, &c.," and their answers, "Even he, &c.," are assigned to separate choirs of four voices, the one of sopranos and altos, the other of tenors and basses, with capital pertinence to the text and excellent musical effect. Again, there is peculiar freshness in the phrase where first the higher and lower voices join, on the words "He shall receive." The Sanctus is perhaps the best number in the series, and it is to be praised as much for its reading of the words as for its purely musical variety and interest. The great difficulty of treating this hymn so as to fit it at once to the description of the multitudinous heavenly choir with whom the singers are to unite in its utterance, and to the subdued and reverential feeling of the hearers induced by the solemn mystery of the celebration, is happily met if not perfectly solved; the word "Holy" is to be sung most softly, and the power of the voices to be increased from phrase to phrase until the full force is reached on the words "Glory be to Thee." Lastly,—and this for want of space rather than of further matter for praise,—there is a most charming effect from the use of an inversion of the chord of C♯ in the key of B minor at the words "O Lord God, Lamb of God," in the concluding number. Enough has been said, let us hope, to encourage the composer in further application to his musical studies, and perhaps to persuade him that to do justice to himself and to the subject, the latter requires as much thought and application as can any other that may divide with it his attention.

The Lord is my Shepherd. Anthem for female voices. Composed by Franz Schubert.

This composition, forming No. 67 of Novello's Octavo Anthems, has already made its way to the fame it deserves. Those who remember its exquisite interpretation by the female voices of Mr. Henry Leslie's choir last season will be glad to find that its issue in the cheap form will place it within the reach of all choral societies. It is also available for amateur drawing-room vocalists who desire to devote their energies to something better than the colourless "part-music" especially written for them. The anthem, although demanding trained voices and a feeling for religious compositions, is by no means difficult; and the flowing triplet pianoforte accompaniment, which runs throughout, is thoroughly within the powers of a moderately good pianist.

La Figlia del Reggimento (The Daughter of the Regiment); a Comic Opera in two acts. Composed by G. Donizetti, edited by Berthold Tours, and translated into English by Natalia Macfarren.

Had the music of this Opera not been as attractive as it is, the pleasing nature of the story would always have ensured the interest of the audience; and that the heroine has become the pet of every young prima donna may also partly be traced to the fact of its presenting an opportunity for effectively displaying those varied histrionic powers which so materially aid a vocalist in establishing her fame before the public. But the brightness of the music, the melodiousness of the solos, and the military character throughout the work (which the composer has so happily caught) have made it equally popular with musicians and the general public; and no operatic season, therefore, is likely to pass over without its constantly appearing in the bills. The edition before us is presented according to the version performed at the Italian Operas in London, and is in every respect equal to the many standard works in this form which have preceded it. Mr. Berthold Tours has performed his portion of the task with much care, and has shown excellent judgment in indicating the most salient points of the score, a feature which we consider of the utmost importance in these operatic handbooks. Of Mrs. Macfarren's translation we can also speak in the highest terms: the words selected are in all places admirably in sympathy with the notes; indeed we could point to some portions where the English text is infinitely better than the Italian.

Venetianisches Gondellied; componirt von Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy; für das Pianoforte übertragen von E. Pauer.

Mendelssohn's beautiful Gondellied, in B minor, is here so excellently transcribed as to merit the warmest praise. Herr Pauer has not only evinced the utmost skill in his arrangement, but a commendable reverence for the subject he has chosen; and the result is a charming piece, so artistically developed as to have all the effect of an original composition. In the opening the voice part is brought out with admirable clearness; and there is much ingenuity in the treatment of the theme when surrounded by arpeggios. Careful practice will be required in order to give the effect intended by the arranger; but the passages are all duly considered, and will be found to lie easily under a trained hand.

Wiegenlied. Meditation pour Piano; par Wilhelm Schulthes.

There is a refinement both in the melody and treatment of all this composer's pieces which must ever render them acceptable in a drawing-room, even when a more than usually artistic auditory happens to be assembled. The "Meditation" before us is one of the most graceful sketches Herr Schulthes has yet given us. The theme, in G flat major, is extremely attractive, and the enharmonic change into E major has an excellent effect. The variation "Quasi Arpa," being written in four staves, two for each hand, at first sight may appear somewhat difficult, but a closer examination of it will prove that the composer has adopted the very best means to show the parts clearly. Pianists who have acquired a perfect command of the key-board will thank us for drawing their attention to this elegant and brilliant little composition.

The Coral Grove. Glee, for four voices. Poetry by Perceval.

The Iron Founders. Glee, for four voices. Poetry by Neale.

Composed by W. W. Pearson.

We do not know whether Mr Pearson has had much experience in part-writing; but, with much to admire in the subjects of his Glees, there is a crudeness in some of the harmonies which can scarcely be passed over. "The Coral Grove" is decidedly the better of the two; the theme is attractive, and the parts (if we except two awkward skips of a ninth in the bass) move smoothly enough as far as the vocalists are concerned; but listeners will scarcely tolerate the two chords of the six-four, on the 3rd page (between the 6th and 7th bars), or the consecutive perfect fifths, which occur between the extreme parts, on the 4th page (last chord of bar 8 and first of bar 9), an effect which is repeated, although the G flat in the soprano is (we presume accidentally) left out. There is a boldness in the treatment of the second Glee; but the attempt to get variety in the expression of the words produces a patchiness, of all things most unsatisfactory to an audience. In the harmonies the accidentals seem thoroughly to bear out their name, for they appear almost to have come together by chance, as an instance of which we may cite the last two bars of page 2, where the F naturals and F sharps are strangely intermixed. In spite of all these defects, however, Mr. Pearson evidences the possession of musical feeling, and may still do better things.

Goddard and Co.

That fond Smile. Song. Words by Henry Gothard.

The Roses are in bloom. Song. Words by H. Eccleston, Esq.

Composed by Henry Gothard.

Mr. Gothard's verses in the first song have a refined poetical feeling which admirably fits them for the simple and melodious air to which he has wedded them. Indeed they are so far above the average of the "lines for music," that we cannot but call the author's attention to the ungraceful word "wont," which occurs so prominently as to mar the effect of the concluding portion of the first verse; and we must also take exception to the line "And thy fond smile return again," which most unquestionably means that the much prized "smile" has already returned once. Musically, we are inclined to look upon this new composer's efforts with much favour. In the song already mentioned we have an exceedingly vocal melody, in A major, accompanied in that quiet and musician-like style which so unpretentious a ballad demands. The modulations into E, and C sharp minor, well express the words, and the return to the key is accomplished without effort. "The Roses are in bloom" is somewhat more conventional in form; but it has a flowing theme, and may be made attractive by a good singer. The harmonies are carefully written throughout, if we except that between the third and fourth bar of the voice part, where C sharp, D, is made the bass to G, A, an effect which we certainly do not like.

The Worker. Song. Written by Frederick Weatherly.
Thy will be done. Words by Charlotte Elliott.
Composed by Charles Gounod.

The composer's dramatic feeling has, in our opinion, led him into an excess of "word-painting," which somewhat detracts from the merit of the first song, and we can hardly reconcile ourselves to some of the harmonies which accompany the voice-part; but there is a deep poetical feeling throughout which rivets the attention, and lifts the composition far above the "descriptive songs" of the day. The dreamy opening, in D minor, is admirably suggestive of the cheerless surroundings of the poor worker in his garret; and much effect is gained by the sympathetic accompaniment, which, although not taxing the executive powers of a pianist, will require a trained hand to do it full justice. Pedal chords are perhaps rather too plentiful; but the creeping sensation of the harmonies on the obstinate B natural, to the words "Cold lay the lifeless body," cannot be overpraised. The second song, "Thy will be done," is a prayer for a mezzo-soprano voice, with an ad lib. harmonium accompaniment; and, like all M. Gounod's sacred vocal pieces, is remarkable for earnestness and truth of expression in the voice-part. The harmonies, however, are somewhat restless; and on the 5th page we have some modulations, which however cleverly written, seem scarcely in sympathy with the simple fervour of the prayer. The ad libitum accompaniment, which is written for the harmonium or organ, seems almost an essential portion of the composition.

Lamborn Cock and Co.

As it fell upon a day. Song. The poetry by Shakspeare. The music by Charles Gardner.

Two difficulties beset the composer who attempts to illustrate the text of Shakspeare; one (and the more important) being the fear that the music will fall immeasurably below the standard of the poetry, and the other that the innumerable settings which have received an almost universal acceptance, will so haunt the memory that they cannot be successfully shaken off. The greater then is the credit due to Mr. Gardner, for he has not only caught the spirit of Shakspeare's words, but, neither consciously nor unconsciously, has he imitated any composition to the same verses by his predecessors. A light and graceful melody, with a characteristic accompaniment, is set to the opening lines; and an excellent change from G major to E flat, occurring on the words "Beasts did leap and birds did sing," gives much freshness to the composition, and makes the return to the theme, in the original key, additionally welcome. We commend this unpretentious little song with the utmost confidence to vocalists in search of novelty.

Sabbath Bells. Words by Charles J. Rowe. Music by Charlotte M. Hewke (Mrs. Edward Boult).

Knowing, from sad experience, how few song-writers can resist the temptation to "twitter" when birds are spoken of, or to run down the scale at the mention of bells, we have much pleasure in awarding praise to the simple and melodious ballad before us, for the composer has wisely attempted the perhaps somewhat more difficult task of giving a musical colouring to the feeling, instead of the words, of the poetry. The theme is extremely graceful, and accompaniments unexceptionable throughout. As a genuine specimen of an English ballad "Sabbath Bells" should make its way, even in the present crowded state of the market.

George Philip and Son.

A Manual of Vocal Music, for use in Elementary Schools. By John Taylor.

"The following Manual," says Mr. Taylor in his preface, "prepared expressly to meet the requirements of the new code of 1871, will, it is believed, thoroughly supply a pressing want, and one very generally felt by teachers." Had a number of competent musicians been requested to settle, according to their best judgment, the manner in which vocal music should be taught in Elementary Schools, a text-book would, of course, have been prepared, duly sanctioned, and introduced into these establishments, as an authority from which no departure could be permitted; but the very fact of Mr. Taylor telling us that he hopes to supply a "pressing want" is a sufficient proof of the general impression that no definite system is now being acted upon. That this Manual will be likely to "meet the requirements of the New Code" is a somewhat hazardous conjecture, considering that we have not yet been made acquainted with what these "requirements" are; but we are bound to review the work as one, at least in its author's opinion, in every respect suited to lay the foundation of a national system of musical education. Let us commence then by stating that it is one more of the many attempts to force our present notation into doing the duty of a rational one, by making the Do (or key-note) moveable, instead of stationary. The Relative and Absolute methods of notation for vocal music, are, we believe, destined to cause much dissension amongst teachers, until a system which sufficiently combines the advantages of both shall have become law. Meanwhile, however, we cannot but enter our protest against the practice of ignoring the minor scale so far as to make it a mere offshoot of the major. "The key-note of every scale" says Mr. Taylor "receives the name Do, whatever may be its pitch." Disagree with this theory as we may, it, at least, is a theory; but further on we are told that in sol-faing compositions in the minor mode the syllabic names of the notes remain unchanged. "Thus, A, which is La in the scale of C major, is also La in the mode of A minor." Now we care not to be told again and again how the minor mode "grew up," because our desire is not to find out what it was, but what it is. In the present day composers write as much in the minor key as the major; and if Do, therefore, is to represent the key-note, by what possible rule can it be presumed only to do so in the major mode? Can Mr. Taylor supply us with any reason, for instance, why in Beethoven's "Air Suisse" (which he quotes in F major and F minor) the first two notes C, F (unquestionably Dominant and Tonic) should be called Sol, Do, in the major, and Mi, La in the minor mode? Referring to the chapter on Time, we are told that "Compound duple time is that in which each bar consists of two or four measures of simple time." After this explanation, we are not surprised to find our author term four-four "Compound duple time," although as he adds "or C," and has previously described this sign as expressing Simple duple time, a student must be somewhat puzzled to arrive at anything like a clear comprehension of the subject. Compound triple time is said to be produced in the like manner, by putting together three measures of simple time, nine-eight, for instance, being created by "merging into every single bar three bars of three-eight time." Nothing in our opinion can be more erroneous than this definition. Compound time, either duple or triple, is, in modern music, nothing more than moving in triplets, for which purpose it is necessary to dot each division of the bar. The idea of using three bars of simple time to produce one of compound, causes a false notion of the matter; for by observing the baton of a conductor who marks the rhythm instead of the quantity, nobody can tell whether he is beating simple or compound time, and this is a proof that a dot after a note in the regular divisions of compound time, does not lengthen it, but makes it equal to three instead of two. The term "Compound" certainly does not express this; but it is no more absurd than many other words which are used in music, although their meaning has long since altered. Strangely enough, in speaking of the clefs, Mr. Taylor conveys a wrong impression to the learner. "The F clef," for instance, he says "is so called because it gives the name F to the note on the fourth line of the complete stave." Surely the fact of its giving the name F to the fourth line is not the reason but the result of its being "so called," and it is so called because originally it was simply the letter F itself. Whilst correcting any such inaccuracies as these (supposing that our author agrees with us that they are so) it would also be well to get rid of the word "preventative," which occurs in a foot-note at page 40, for works intended for schools cannot be too carefully written. With the exceptions we have mentioned we cordially agree with the remarks on the facts and principles of music, and also on the mode of study which Mr. Taylor enforces. The exercises are carefully written, and some very good rules are given as to the method of practising them. We may especially draw attention to the section headed "Directions to be observed in the conduct of a practical singing lesson," which contains much sound and valuable advice to teachers.

J. McDowell and Co.

Chanson Indienne; pour Piano.
L'Invitation à la Polonaise; pour Piano.
Saltarelle; pour Piano.
Les Cuirassiers de Reischoffen; pour Piano.
Par H. Kowalski.

These are unquestionably the best pieces by this composer which have yet come before us. We do not say that Herr Kowalski has displayed any remarkable vein of originality, but there is a freedom about his writing which deserves recognition. The "Chanson Indienne," in E minor, with an obstinate pedal bass, has decided character, whether that character be Indian or not; and pianists capable of drawing beauty from its simple monotony, will find it a pleasing little sketch for performance. The second piece is a graceful Polonaise, which, for the sake of English players, we are sorry is not published with English fingering. The passages are extremely elegant; and apart from its intrinsic attraction, it may be recommended as an excellent exercise for the cultivation of the delicacies of touch. The "Saltarelle" moves somewhat too much in uninterrupted triplets to justify its title—in this respect more fulfilling the requirements of the Neapolitan "Tarantelle"—but the theme is lively, and a good effect is gained by the accompaniment of five quavers against the two divisions in the melody—the left hand (which has the unequal group of quavers) being written in two-four, and the right hand in six-eight, rhythm. "Les Cuirassiers de Reischoffen" is a dashing and brilliant piece in C minor, which will repay the practice it demands. The themes are animated; and (if we except the somewhat tiresome chromatic succession of sixths) highly effective throughout.

Duff and Stewart.

The Streamlet. Song. Words by Mary Anne Stodart.
Spring Flowers. Song. Words by Agnes Strickland.
Composed by King Hall.

The flowing theme in the first of these songs is graceful and well adapted to the words. The accompaniment, too, is in good keeping with the nature of the subject, and never obtrudes itself upon the voice part, a merit especially commendable in a composer who has shown by other works that he can display his learning when it is called for. "Spring Flowers" is perhaps even more simple in construction, but the subject is extremely pleasing. The swinging accompaniment in crotchets, against the four even quavers in the melody, gives a character to the song which makes it additionally attractive; and the lengthening out of the word "welcome" forms an appropriate conclusion to each verse. Unpretentious ballads like these should always find favour with unpretentious vocalists.

The Tell-Tale Flower. Song. Written by M—. Composed by Ed. Reyloff.

Young ladies need not be told what this tell-tale flower is, nor what tale it tells them when properly put to the test. M— has assuredly not sought for novelty in choosing a subject; but the verses flow easily to the melody of Mr. Reyloff. There is certainly no more originality in the music than the poetry; and yet, by musician-like treatment, the composer has contrived to produce a little song which will probably please amateurs who want something "pretty."

Original Correspondence.

ORGANISTS' STIPENDS, &c.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—My former letter has, in one quarter, been greatly misunderstood. I nowhere asserted that "Organists do not pay tithe, and therefore they are not deserving the consideration of the clergy." I mentioned tithe simply because I firmly hold that a man who possesses a talent that can be directly used for the praise and glory of God is morally bound to offer, irrespective of fee or reward, some portion of that talent as an act of worship to Him from whom he receives it; and when he is unable to devote extra time to the duties of his office, beyond that for which he is by agreement paid, tithe seems to me to represent the lowest sum, under ordinary circumstances, that he can render as an equivalent. The payment of tithe to an Organists' fund (for I have not recommended direct payments to the clergy, nor do I make such myself) would, with occasional help from offertories or subscriptions, or in time without these, put many an organ in good condition that is sadly out of order, or enlarge many that are too small.

The reiterated complaints of organists seem to be—"We don't get money enough," and "We don't get consideration enough;" and then they attack the clergy. I am reminded of the indorsement of a brief—"No case; abuse the plaintiff's attorney."

With regard to consideration—I firmly believe that if a man throws his whole soul into his work, and shows that he is really working for God and not for pay, he will, in almost every instance, receive all the consideration from the clergy that he may require; but if he takes no interest as a churchman in his duties, but simply sells his time to God at so much per hour as a matter of business, what possible claim, provided that his stipend is regularly paid, and he is treated with civility, he can have to the especial consideration of the clergy, I am at a loss to conceive.

With regard to stipends—If men of experience would uniformly decline inadequately remunerated posts, terms would gradually be forced up, for congregations will measure ability by the sum they have to pay for the exercise of it; but if, on the other hand, we voluntarily undertake certain duties for a certain sum, be it large or small, we ought not, as a correspondent has justly observed, to grumble at fulfilling them for that sum.

The parsimony of congregations necessitating economy on the part of churchwardens is, I believe, a greater hindrance to organists obtaining fair stipends, than the non-recognition of the importance of their work by the clergy; and churchwardens themselves often bid for re-election by paring down the cost of the services to the lowest possible sum.

Organists no doubt should be fully paid, but not according to the occasional concert scale; for an organist's work cannot be fairly looked upon as equivalent to "public playing," or as performed "for the benefit of the congregation," but for the honour and glory of God; and the moment an exorbitant charge is made or wished for, God is honoured no longer. We have not yet descended to the bathos of a trade, or professional, union, so that the rate of stipend in every case must be settled by those immediately interested in the matter; it behoves us, however, always to remember that God's Church was not instituted for clergy or laity to live by luxuriously; and that as we generally obtain most of our living by secular work, playing at church, principally on a day when we should otherwise earn nothing, we ought not to require unreasonable stipends.

No organist ought to accept an appointment unless he had permission to practise as often as he pleased on the organ. Organists have not, of course, any right to demand the use of the organ for giving lessons, and where this privilege is conceded, it may fairly claim to be reckoned as a set-off against a moderate stipend, since an organist to give lessons would otherwise require an organ in his own house. I see no objection to the practice of giving lessons on church organs, provided sufficient discretion be used with regard to the music played, so as to exclude operatic selections and the like. Most of us have depended in time past upon the church organ for our advancement, and the majority of those who study the instrument do so with the view of being of service to some church or other.

Instead of classing playing at weddings, &c., as "so much extra work, for which other work has to be neglected," I would read—"an extra hour's work, for which we can usually by a little arrangement make room, and which, but for our church engagement, we should not have the opportunity of undertaking."

I fully endorse your correspondent's statement that "the clergyman in many instances is made the means of expressing the various wishes or suggestions of as many different members of his congregation." A successor of mine at St. Barebone's, a church where in my time the offertory has been, more than once, less than a halfpenny a head from the whole congregation, and where, through the predominance of Beadledom, an organist a year is about the rule, told me that the then vicar knew nothing of music, and that he was himself worried into a state bordering on despair by the absurd and contradictory crotchets of the various would-be-musical critics of his shopkeeper congregation, all of which the vicar reported to him and wished attended to. In such a case the best course is for the vicar and organist to select some church musician, in whose judgment they can both repose confidence, and send him written details as to the manner in which the service is performed, and of the congregational objections, accompanied by a fee for professional advice and decision on the merits of the case. If an organist asked for this course to be taken as an act of justice to himself, I think his vicar would comply with his request. The result would probably be that the organist might obtain a few hints that would be serviceable to him,

"Grant to us, Lord, we beseech Thee."

SHORT FULL ANTHEM FOR FOUR VOICES.

The Collect for the ninth Sunday after Trinity.

Composed by J. BARNBY.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: J. L. PETERS, 599, Broadway.

cres - - - cen - - - - - - do.
Thee, the spi - rit to think and do al - ways such things as be right - cres - - - cen - - - - - - do.
Thee, the spi - rit to think and do al - ways such things as be right - cres - - - cen - - - - - - do.
Thee, the spi - rit to think and do al - ways such things as be right - cres. cres - - - cen - - - - - - do.
Thee, the spi - rit to think and do al - ways such things as be right - cres - - - cen - - - - - - do.
f dim.
- - ful; that we, who can - not do a - ny thing that is good with -
f dim.
- - ful; that we, who can - not do a - ny thing that is good with -
f dim.
- - ful; that we, who can - not do a - ny thing that is good with -
f dim.
- - ful; that we, who can - not do a - ny thing that is good with -
Gt. Org. Sw.
f dim.
p f pp f
- - out Thee, with - out Thee, May by Thee be en -
p f pp f
- - out Thee, with - out Thee, May by . .
p pp f
- - out Thee, with - out Thee, May by Thee be en - a - - p pp f
- - out . . Thee, with - out Thee, May by Thee be en - p pp Gt. f

dim.
p
- - a - bled, en - a - bled to live, . . to live ac - cord - ing to Thy word.
Thee be en - a - bled to live, . . to live ac - cord - ing to Thy word.
- - bled to live ac-cording to Thy word, ac - cord-ing to Thy word, may
- - a - bled, en - a - bled to live ac - cord - ing to Thy word, may Gt.
Sw.
f
May by Thee be en - a - bled to live ac - cord - ing to Thy by Thee be en - a - bled to live, to live ac - cord - ing to Thy by Thee be en - a - bled to live ac - cord - ing to Thy mf
pp
word, thro' Je - sus Christ, our Lord, thro' Je - sus Christ, our Lord. A - men.
Ped.

Price Seven Shillings and Sixpence.

Beautifully printed on superfine paper, elegantly bound, gilt edges.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

NEW AND OLD.

THE WORDS EDITED BY THE

REV. H. R. BRAMLEY, M.A.,

THE MUSIC EDITED BY

JOHN STAINER, M.A., MUS. DOC.

With Forty-five Illustrations by

A. HUGHES, WIEGAND, FRANCIS WALKER, FRASER, HUNDLEY, LEIGHTON, T. and E. G. DALZIEL, ZWECKER, MAHONEY, &c.

ENGRAVED BY THE BROTHERS DALZIEL.

This Work may also be had (without illustrations) in the following forms:—

FIRST SERIES, paper cover	... ...	1s.	6d.
,, ,, cloth gilt	... ...	2s.	6d.
SECOND SERIES, paper cover	... ...	1s.	6d.
,, ,, cloth gilt	... ...	2s.	6d.
FIRST AND SECOND SERIES COMPLETE, cloth gilt	... ...	4s.	0d.
THE WORDS ONLY, FIRST AND SECOND SERIES	... ... each	0s.	1½d.

Also published in Forty-two Penny Numbers, as under:

FIRST SERIES.

1.	God rest you, merry gentlemen	Traditional Air.
2.	The Manger Throne	C. Steggall.
3.	A Virgin unspotted	Traditional Air.
4.	Come, ye lofty	Sir G. J. Elvey.
5.	Come, tune your heart	Rev. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley, Bart.
6.	The First Nowell	Traditional Air.
7.	Jesu, hail	J. Stainer.
8.	Good Christian men, rejoice	Old German.
9.	Sleep, holy Babe	Rev. J. B. Dykes.
10.	Good King Wenceslas	Helmore's Christmas Carols.
11.	When I view the Mother holding	Joseph Barnby.
12.	The seven joys of Mary	Traditional Air.
13.	On the Birthday of the Lord	Rev. J. B. Dykes.
14.	What Child is this?	Old English.
15.	Glorious, beauteous, golden bright	Maria Tiddeman.
16.	Waken, Christian Children	Rev. S. C. Hamerton, M.A.
17.	A Child this day is born	Traditional Air.
18.	Carol for Christmas Eve	Rev. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley, Bart.
19.	When Christ was born	Arthur H. Brown.
20.	Christmas Morning Hymn	Joseph Barnby.

SECOND SERIES.

21.	Carol for Christmas Eve	Traditional.
22.	Jesus in the Manger	Henry Smart.
23.	The Holly and the Ivy	Old French.
24.	The Moon shone bright	Traditional.
25.	The Virgin and Child	C. Steggall.
26.	The Incarnation	Traditional.
27.	Christmas Day	J. Stainer.
28.	The Cherry Tree Carol	Traditional.
29.	God's dear Son	Traditional.
30.	Christmas Hymn	Sir John Goss.
31.	The Babe of Bethlehem	Traditional.
32.	In Bethlehem, that noble place	Rev. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley, Bart.
33.	A Cradle Song of the Blessed Virgin	Joseph Barnby.
34.	Christmas Song	Rev. J. B. Dykes.
35.	Jacob's Ladder	Traditional.
36.	The Story of the Shepherd	Joseph Barnby.
37.	The Wassail Song	Traditional.
38.	In terrâ pax	Rev. J. B. Dykes.
39.	Dives and Lazarus	Traditional.
40.	From far away	Rev. J. B. Dykes.
41.	Carol for Christmas Day	Arthur S. Sullivan.
42.	The Child Jesus in the Garden	J. Stainer.

LONDON:

NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).

NEW YORK: J. L. PETERS, 599, BROADWAY.

while the vicar would have greater confidence in his judgment and discretion, and would have his hands so strengthened, that he might, if necessary, state to the objectors that their crotchets had been submitted to, and condemned by, competent authority, and that they must abstain from interference with the music in future. If the clergy only knew all that their organists have to put up with in some places from ignorant lay interference, what courage a little support from the clergy gives them, and how they almost despair at times for the want of it, I think it would rarely be withheld, and the clergy would refrain from annoying them by the repetition of the imaginary grievances of silly babblers and busybodies, who are, musically speaking, totally uneducated.

The permanent appointment system would not answer. When vicar and organist cannot work well together, they should part. "Two kings of Brentford on one throne will never do."

Gallery scandals and bibulous organists are not yet things of the past. I knew of one gallery scandal and two instances of organists frequenting the public-house between the hymns or during the sermon, in my own neighbourhood, that existed almost to the present date. Organists have much improved during the last 20 years, but the Church service has not yet reached the bulk of them, or we should not find so many organists non-communicants, and others not churchmen in any sense, as is evidenced by their attendance upon the services of any communion that can give them the best pay; indeed, my predecessor in one post, I have good reason to believe, was not even baptized. Such cases as these, whether the men themselves are moral characters or not, are ecclesiastical scandals, and I think it must be said that the clergy are responsible for the continuance of them.

In conclusion, I would say that it has not been my intention to throw contempt upon my own profession, but to treat of some matters under discussion from a different point of view to that from which they have been presented by others, and to call attention to and denounce certain abuses unhappily to be found in our body, the continuance of which gives opportunity to aggrieved clerics who have met with bad specimens of our race to condemn us altogether.

I am, Sir, faithfully yours,
SCRUTATOR.

MISS YOUNG'S MUSICAL GAME.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—I have seen a complete set of the apparatus referred to in your August number, in the possession of Mr. Waterfield, a broker in Broad Street, Peterborough, who informs me that he bought it at the sale of the late Dean Waddington's effects in London. I have not yet had time, nor opportunity, to study the game; but the set seems perfect, and is well finished. If the merits of the game equal the description, it is well worth reproduction.

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant,
G. O. WRAY.

Bury St. Edmunds, October 26, 1872.

DR. HILES'S "HARMONY OF SOUNDS."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—In your last number the reviewer of my "Harmony of Sounds" acknowledged that "Dr. Hiles is clear in his reasoning, and logical in his deductions:" yet he was of opinion that "riper theorists" would not agree with my work. This is very perplexing. Is it possible to be too clear, or too logical? Or may it be (I shudder at the suggestion) that the "riper theorists" are over-ripe; and therefore unable to agree with anybody or anything?

But what fault can the riper theorists, or the "accomplished authors of the systems of harmony recently reviewed" find with the statements you quote from page 19 of my treatise? Will they dispute that the consonances of C are, as a whole, consonant with that sound only? Or that G and F are discordant? Or that these two sounds are termed fundamental basses—dominant, subdominant—of the scale of C? Can they deny that F is an important sound, or that its triad is an important chord, in the key of C? These are the assertions over which your reviewer stumbles:—will he, or any of the riper theorists, kindly demonstrate their fallacy?

The little pleasantry about the relative pitch of D sharp and E flat does not seem to be pointed at my book. But as the critic appears to have been in doubt upon the subject—to be, in fact, one of those who "wish to be told how to write grammatically" without much trouble to themselves,—I would refer him to pages 83-4-5, and I think he may, without any very "pedantic process," get to understand how it is that a discordant note is drawn so powerfully towards its resolution, that the sound which we (by custom) write as D sharp, is often made considerably higher than the true E flat.

Yours faithfully,
HENRY HILES.

Whalley Range, Manchester, Nov. 9, 1872.

[If Dr. Hiles does not know that many of our ablest theorists discard the subdominant as one of the roots of the key, we are glad to have informed him of the fact; but we can scarcely be made to understand that this is one of the "assertions" over which the reviewer of his work "stumbles." His inference that the critic appears to be "one of those who wish to write grammatically without much trouble," because he relates the fact of two mathematicians disagreeing as to the relative pitches of D sharp and E flat, is a personal attack which had better have been avoided; but had we wished to be enlightened on the subject, we certainly do not gain much additional information by being told that D sharp is often, by performers, "made considerably higher than the true E flat."

THE WRITER OF THE REVIEW.]

THE SIGNATURE OF THE MINOR MODE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—Although correspondence about the signature of the minor mode seems productive of little good, I cannot refrain from making a few remarks in answer to "Mode's" letter.

The major scale is the only one derived directly from nature, being obtained from the consonant harmonics of any tone with those of dominant and subdominant. Any one of the sounds of the scale may be used as a mode note, thus seven different sets of scales or modes may be formed; the modern minor takes the sixth of the major scale, and a series from A to A is the minor mode of the key of C, generally called A minor, of no connection whatever with the key of A (major).

It was not till harmony was introduced, and even considerably afterwards, that the sharpened seventh of the minor mode was used to accommodate the usages of modern ears by a final cadence.

The original seventh was sung and written in minor hymn tunes (in "Windsor" it occurs three times); and even now such melodies as "John Anderson my Jo!" are frequently sung with the seventh a tone below the mode note, and nearly all nations that do not use instruments that give harmony, sing the seventh not raised chromatically.

The sharpened seventh, although no doubt in modern music more used than the diatonic, is certainly an accidental, and therefore should not be placed in the signature.

"Mode" is not correct in saying that the seventh of the minor mode is seldom used but as an appoggiatura or passing note; and I will conclude by asking him to write on paper (and publish if he still thinks suitable) the signatures for all the minor scales. I am sure I do not understand by his letter how he would have them.

I am, Sir, yours faithfully,
ARTHUR CROOK,
Organist of St. Mark's ("Mayor's Chapel") and St. Andrew's, Montpelier, Bristol.

9, Hampton Terrace, Bristol, Nov. 5, 1872.

[We shall be glad to elicit opinions upon this much vexed question; but must urge upon our correspondents the absolute necessity of being as brief as possible in their communications. "Mode" we sincerely hope will not comply with Mr. Crook's request to "write the signatures for all the minor scales."—ED. Musical Times.]

BRITISH ORCHESTRAL ASSOCIATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

DEAR SIR,—In the last number of the Musical Times appears an article, signed "Communicated," relating to the establishment of a society called the British Orchestral Association. This society announces that its performers must be Englishmen—no Irish need apply; I beg pardon, I mean that foreigners are to be forbidden. I don't know whether the British nation will be a gainer by such noble patriotism, but at all events the whole thing seems to be, in an artistic sense, a piece of narrow-minded intolerance. The committee seem not to be overstocked with logic in their proceedings; they exclude persons born out of the realm, but on the other hand are obliged to play the works of dead foreigners. Why, the very strings those gentlemen play on are made by foreigners! I remark that a set of selfish people spring up from time to time, like weeds in a garden, who treat music like a patent gunpowder, or a new mitrailleuse; people who, after they learn what they can from foreigners, kick them out like empty orange peel, under the bombastic pretence of improving national art; they seem to ignore the fact that music can only progress through the continual intercourse with other nations. We have an example what evil is produced through a separate national pitch. Why cannot the different nations, who take a real interest in music, call together a congress and settle the difficulty? we should then at last obtain a chance of hearing an orchestra in better tune; and be able to dispense with barbarous transpositions altogether: the benefit of a universal pitch would be incalculable.

But, to return to the British Orchestral Association, I should like to know what would become of musical affairs in England, notwithstanding the talented native element, if the sale of every foreign musical production, old and new, had to be stopped from similar misguided sentiments of patriotism. Perhaps another association will start with such a project one of these days.

The new Society does not state in its announcement whether subscriptions from foreigners are to be refused. Would the committee graciously condescend to permit their paying at the doors? Would that assembly of patriotic gentlemen behold with as much abhorrence the money of foreigners as their presence in the orchestra? I think an explanation on that point is due to those amateurs who are unfortunately born in the country of Handel, Bach, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Cherubini, etc.

I am, dear Sir, yours faithfully,

November 5, 1872. Straniero.

NATIONAL BALLAD CONCERTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—Will you kindly permit me to say that no charge is made for "Book of Words" to purchasers of tickets at the advertised prices for the above concerts.

Every purchaser of tickets—whether it be 1s., 2s. 6d., or 5s.—is presented with the same number of books as tickets free of cost—and only on complimentary tickets are visitors requested to purchase a "Book of Words."

I have enclosed cash tickets, also a complimentary.

I am, Sir, faithfully yours,

Ralph Percy, Director.

St. George's Hall, November 5, 1872.

[The tickets which Mr. Percy has now sent us confirm the truth of his assertion that an additional tax is not levied upon those who purchase the right of admission at the advertised prices; but he has merely written the word "complimentary" upon one of the tickets, and now announces that every person is "requested" to obtain a book of the words, instead of saying, as before, that he "must." Has Mr. Percy so large a circle of friends, that he finds it necessary to have complimentary tickets printed separately from the rest; and, if so, will those privileged persons who receive them sufficiently appreciate the "compliment," when they find that they are made to pay for admission at the doors?—Ed. Musical Times.]

THE YOUTH'S PART IN "ELIJAH."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—I quite agree with "A Cornish Parson" when he states, "Master Self" cannot congratulate himself upon initiating the custom of the part of Elijah's servant being taken by a boy. I am also inclined to think Mr. Nunn cannot be credited as the originator. I heard "Elijah" performed in Whitby four years ago, under the able conductorship of Mr. Burton, of Leeds: the part of the "youth" was then sung by a boy. I think, therefore, Mr. Burton ought to have the praise of being one of the originators, and perhaps he alone deserves the credit.

Will you oblige me by placing these few lines in your next issue. Your obedient Servant,

Gisbro', N.R. York. Jno. A. Metcalf.

WORKS ON HARMONY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—In the Introduction to the "Principles of Harmony," by W. W. Parkinson (Novello, Ewer and Co.), the author states (p. 27), that in the year 1841 J. F. Fètis issued a comprehensive sketch of the history of harmony. Will you, or the author, or any one, kindly inform me whether the abovementioned book is published in the English language or not? If published, where? At what price?

Also, where Mr. H. C. Lunn's "Elements of Music systematically explained" is to be got? What price?

E. Ll.

[Perhaps some of our readers can supply our correspondent with the desired information respecting the work of M. Fètis, named by Mr. Parkinson. Mr. H. C. Lunn's "Elements of Music" is published by C. Jefferys, 57, Berners-street; price 1s. 6d.—Ed. Musical Times.]

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of concerts, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded as early as possible after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot be inserted. Our correspondents must specifically denote the date of each concert, for without such date no notice can be taken of the performance.

Our correspondents will greatly oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all Subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music pages are always stereotyped, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

As "G.A.C." has neglected to furnish us with his name, we cannot give insertion to his letter.

Musicus.—We regret that we cannot furnish our correspondent with the titles of any works bearing especially upon the subject mentioned. The various standard Histories of Music would, we think, be found useful.

Brief Summary of Country News.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this Summary; as all the notices are either collated from the local papers, or supplied to us by occasional correspondents.

Aberdeen.—The first entertainment for the winter took place in the School-room on Thursday, the 21st ult., the Vicar in the chair, when readings were given by the Rev. H. F. Brock and D. Stothart, Esq. The music was well rendered by the Church choir, under the direction of Mr. Eyre, of Doncaster, who accompanied, and also sang several buffo songs. The glees and part-songs were sung in a manner which reflected the highest credit upon the members of the choir, and also upon their teacher, Mr. Eyre.

Auckland, New Zealand.—The first of the Choral Society's concerts in the new Hall was given on the 13th Sept., and although the building is much larger than its predecessors, it was filled in every part. The performance consisted of Mendelssohn's Lobgesang and Beethoven's Mass in C, both of which were excellently rendered; the choral portions especially, under the able directorship of Mr. Browne, being remarkable for fulness and delicacy throughout. A word of praise is due to the efficient orchestra, which has scarcely been equalled in any society out of London. A very successful performance of Comic Opera has also taken place in the Choral Hall, which was highly patronised, and will no doubt be followed by lyrical representations of higher importance.

Birmingham.—Messrs. Harrison's "popular" concert, at the Town Hall, on the 12th ult., was rendered more than usually attractive by the presence of Mr. Charles Hallé's band, and the engagement of Madame Lemmens-Sherrington and Mr. Sims Reeves as vocalists. The programme included Mendelssohn's Scotch Symphony and the Overtures to Der Freischütz, Guillaume Tell, and Zauberflote, all of which were played to perfection. Mr. Charles Hallé's performance of Beethoven's Concerto, in G was, as might be expected, one of the principal features of the concert; and the singing of Madame Sherrington and Mr. Sims Reeves (for the latter of whom an apology was made, on the score of indisposition) was warmly applauded. The hall was crowded in every part.

Bradford.—The Corporation have selected the eminent firm of Turret Clock and Patent Carillon Machine Manufacturers, Messrs. Gillett and Bland, Steam Clock Factory, Croydon, to carry out the work of supplying the bells and manufacturing the great chime, clock and carillon machine on their improved patented system for the new Town Hall. At present Worcester boasts of having the largest bells in England, but the Bradford bells will far eclipse them. The whole work, including clock, carillons, machine, bells and their fixings, &c., will cost about £4500. The total cost of the Worcester clock and bells is £6214. It has not yet been decided what tunes are to be played.

Brighton.—On Thursday, the 7th ult., Mr. Hiles, organist of All Saints' Church, Buckingham-place, gave an Organ Recital upon the instrument which ordinarily leads the musical services of the church. A collection was made for repairs and additions (which a note appended to the programme described as urgently required) to the organ upon which Mr. Hiles played. The programme comprised a choice selection of pieces, in the execution of which Mr. Hiles evinced a good command of the mechanism of the organ, with a mastery of the manuals, and a creditable display of those refined touches of expression which give organ-playing its highest value. There was a full and influential congregation, and Mr. Hiles's playing seemed to give universal pleasure and satisfaction.—Mr. E. H. Thorne, organist of St. Patrick's Church, gave his annual Pianoforte Recital at the Pavilion on the 13th ult. The chief feature in the programme was of course the performance of the concert-giver, which we need scarcely say was received with that enthusiasm which such highly-finished and classical playing invariably elicits, even from what we may term a "mixed" audience. Beethoven's "Sonata Appassionata" (which Mr. Thorne performed entirely from memory), a Sonata in E flat by Haydn, Chopin's "Marche Funèbre," and Sir Sterndale Bennett's "Theme and Variations," Op. 31, gave ample opportunity for the display of the pianist's varied powers; and although Mr. Thorne modestly selected only two of his own compositions—a Nocturne and Minuet and Trio—they were sufficient to show that he is possessed of high creative, as well as executive, powers. Miss Ida Thorne was greeted with the warmest applause for her finished rendering of a song by Mr. Thorne, "I watch and wait for thee," Kücken's "Weep not, fond heart," a Reverie by Schira, and Sullivan's "Orpheus with his lute." The room was well filled.

Cirencester.—Mr. Cockton gave a concert in the Corn Hall, on the 6th ult., which was well patronised. Locke's music to Macbeth was effectively sung by Mr. Cockton's choir, the solos being sustained by Mr. O. Christian and a lady amateur. Miss Agnes Larkcom was encored in Randegger's song, "Only for one," and was successful in a duet with Mr. Christian, "The Syren and Friar." Several of the "Orpheus Quartetts" were carefully rendered by Mr. Cockton's glee party.

Devonport.—The first subscription concert of the Devonport and Stoke Musical Society was given at the Mechanics' Institute on the 20th ult. Mozart's First Mass was rendered with much effect, the "Gloria" and "Sanctus" being amongst the most successful pieces. The principal vocalists were Mrs. Dinnis, Mrs. Hayward, Miss Blackler, Mr. Dinnis, and Mr. May, jun. The second part was miscellaneous, and included several solos, duets, and concerted pieces, the executants being some of the singers above named with the addition of Miss Dowse, Mrs Hankinson, Messrs. Donovan and Fairweather. A special word of praise must be given to Mr. W. H. Hannaford, of Manchester, who performed Mendelssohn's first concerto with much effect. Mr. Harris was the leader, and Mr. Alleston conducted.

Doncaster.—Mr. J. H. Eyre gave the first of a series of winter entertainments in the Guild Hall, on Monday the 11th ult., before a large audience. The Rev. H. C. Russell gave two readings; and the Misses Barton, Miss Bloomfield, and Mr. Haslegrave assisted in the vocal department, Mr. Booth presiding at the pianoforte. Mr. Eyre was most successful in his songs.

Douglas, Isle of Man.—The members of Miss Wood's choir and friends recently assembled in St. James's Hall, and partook of an excellently prepared tea, after which Miss Wood was presented, by his Worship the High-Bailiff, S. Harris, Esq., on behalf of the class, with a handsome and valuable timepiece. It had been the desire of Miss Wood's friends and pupils to make the presentation at the open-air concert lately given in the Nunnery Grounds, but the gift not having reached Douglas, the committee were unable to carry out their first intention. The High-Bailiff performed the duties of chairman, and in presenting the timepiece, referred to Miss Wood's very laudable efforts on behalf of the Soup Dispensary, the Hospital, and other institutions dependent upon charity. Mr. Hawley returned thanks in an appropriate speech, and in conclusion, expressed a hope that Miss Wood's choir would be largely reinforced by volunteers for the charity concerts about to be given during the winter. The rest of the evening was devoted to vocal music—several songs being sung by Miss Muntz, Messrs. Nicholls, Kissack, and Kerruish, Mrs. Spittall presiding at the pianoforte.

Glasgow.—The concert at the City Hall, on Saturday the 16th ult., was attended by a highly appreciative audience. Madame Haigh-Dyer, an old favourite at these concerts, sang the pieces allotted to her in the programme with much artistic finish, and Miss Eliza Heywood, a new contralto, promises to be an acquisition to the concert-room. Mr. Reed Larwill, also new to Glasgow, possesses a good tenor voice, and Mr. Orlando Christian (bass) sings with considerable taste. The reader was Mrs. Newbery.

Gravesend.—On Tuesday evening, the 19th ult., a concert was given in the Assembly Rooms, Harmer-street, in aid of the fund for the new organ recently erected in St. Andrew's (Presbyterian) Church. The first part was composed of selections from the Messiah, Creation, Eli, &c., and the second consisted of miscellaneous secular music. Miss Jessie Royd was highly successful in the airs allotted to her, especially in "I will extol Thee," from Eli, which was encored; Mr. Micklewood sang "Comfort ye" and "Every valley," and "In splendour bright," with good effect. The choruses (by a choir of about forty voices, under the direction of Mr. Coburn, of Grays) were excellently rendered. In the second part a pianoforte duet on themes from Gounod's Faust, was effectively played by Miss Payne and Mr. H. Thomas. Two part-songs (unaccompanied), "O who will o'er the downs?" and Sullivan's "Hush thee, my baby," were sung by the choir; and songs were contributed by the above-named vocalists, and Messrs. Ridgwell and Lugg. The hall was well filled in every part.

Hull.—On the 8th ult., the Artillery Barracks was well filled at the 33rd public concert of the Hull Harmonic Society. The committee had selected Handel's Oratorio Judas Maccabæus for performance, and engaged the following principal vocalists:—Madame Tonnelier (Mrs. H. C. Cooper), soprano; Mr. Nelson Varley, of London, tenor, and Mr. Robt. Hilton, vicar choral, Westminster Abbey, bass. Mr. H. C. Cooper led the band, and Miss Hair presided at the harmonium. The choir was unusually strong, there being about fifty more performers in the orchestra than usually take part in the Society's concerts. Under Mr. J. W. Stephenson's conductorship, the choruses were well rendered, and the solo singing was excellent throughout. In addition to the vocalists already named, the amateur talent of the town was represented by Mrs. Poskitt, Miss Rigg, and Mr. Vivian, to each of whom principal parts were allotted. Mr. Hilton's fine voice was advantageously heard in the opening recitative, and his singing throughout the Oratorio was highly effective. Madame Tonnelier, Mr. Varley, and Mr. Vivian were also thoroughly efficient, and gained well deserved applause in their solos. The excellence of the performance of the Oratorio was manifested by the absorbing interest displayed by the large and fashionable auditory.

Lea.—On Wednesday, the 30th Oct., a concert was given in the Public Schools, by Mr. Radford and family, assisted in the orchestra by Mr. Woodhouse. The instrumental music, which included two overtures, was excellently performed. Bishop's glee, "Hark, Apollo strikes the lyre," and the same composer's "Tramp o'er moss and fell," were loudly applauded; and Stevens's "Oberon" received an encore. Among the vocal solos, a Cavatina "I'm a merry gipsy girl" (sung by Miss A. Radford), and a German song, "Fünfmalhundert Tausend Teufel," given by Mr. R. Radford), deserve special praise. The performers, twelve in number, were, with one exception, members of the same family.

Leytonstone.—The Choral Society recently formed in this neighbourhood gave its first concert on the 22nd ult., under the direction of the new conductor, Mr. Alexander Cooper. The programme comprised a good selection of solo and part-music, in all of which the members acquitted themselves very creditably, and to the manifest satisfaction of the audience. Mr. Dakin (a member of the committee) added greatly to the attractions by some very able readings from Dickens.

Liverpool.—The ninth subscription concert of the Philharmonic Society took place on the 5th ult. Principal artists:—Madlle. Ilma di Murska, Signor Campobello, and Signor Borella. The chief orchestral work was Beethoven's Sinfonia in D, No. 2. The overtures were those to Semiramide (Rossini), and to Olimpie (Spontini). The concert concluded with Wagner's March in Tannhäuser. The part-songs were given with much spirit, "The Bait" (Hatton) being encored. The solos were good in various styles, and the duet from Linda di Chamounix, "Questo vostro appartamento," exceedingly well sung by Madlle. Ilma di Murska and Signor Borella.——The tenth subscription concert of the Philharmonic Society took place on the 19th ult. A very fine performance of Rossini's Stabat Mater being given to a crowded and enthusiastic audience. Principal artists: Madlle. Tietjens, Madame Trebelli-Bettini, Signor Bettini, and Signor Agnesi. The second part of the programme was miscellaneous. Madame Trebelli-Bettini and Signor Bettini gave, for the first time in this hall, a charming duet from Flotow's new Opera, L'Ombra. The detached instrumental works were Mehul's Overture to Joseph; Weber's to Oberon; Mendelssohn's "Scherzo" from A Midsummer Night's Dream (vehemently encored); and the noble March, "Cornelius" by the same composer. Mr. Best, on taking his place for the first time as the Organist of the Philharmonic Society, received a well merited ovation.——On Friday evening, the 25th October, the committee of the Children's Festival of Sacred Song, and other friends, partook of tea, &c., through the kind hospitality of the president, G. P. McKerrow, Esq., when an opportunity was given those present to make suggestions for the better carrying out of any future gatherings and improvements of singing in Sunday schools generally. The committee, to show their appreciation of the conductor's devoted labours, thought it a fitting occasion to present him with a silver-mounted Ivory Baton, bearing the following inscription:—"Presented by the Liverpool Sunday-school Union, to Mr. J. B. Clarke, conductor of the Children's Festival of Sacred Song, held in St. George's Hall, September 15th, 1871, September 27th, 1872."

Llanelly.—On the 29th October Miss Clark gave a concert at the Athenæum, when she played several pianoforte pieces, which were warmly received. She was ably assisted by two of her pupils, and by the following vocalists: Miss Francis, Miss Martell, Mr. Pritchard, and Mr. Merrick, all of whom were highly effective, Miss Martell receiving an encore for her rendering of the "Sailor boy's letter," Mr. Pritchard eliciting much applause for his solos, and Mr. Merrick's voice being displayed to the utmost advantage in "Why do the nations," from the Messiah and the song of "The Wolf," both of which drew forth the most unqualified marks of admiration.

Maitland, Australia.—On Monday evening the 19th August, an Organ Recital was given at St. Paul's Church, the performers being Mr. Henry, R. Gibson, of Sydney, and Miss Thackeray, of West Maitland. Mr. Gibson commenced with Mendelssohn's "I waited for the Lord," which was followed by a sparkling composition by S. Clarke, very well rendered. After a symphony by Beethoven (the well-known No. 2), Mr. Gibson played the "Hallelujah Chorus" with much spirit, and an air, also from the Messiah, concluding with the "Kyrie," and the "Gloria," from Mozart's Twelfth Mass. Miss Thackeray's portion of the entertainment began with Haydn's "In native worth," which was succeded by Sebastian Bach's "St. Ann's Fugue," Mendelssohn's "O rest in the Lord," the "Coronation Anthem," by Handel, an Adagio, by Hummel, an aria from Mendelssohn's Elijah, and the "Kyrie" and "Gloria," from Haydn's Mass No. 2, all of which were played with admirable precision and taste. In the course of the evening a collection was made on behalf of the church funds.

Melbourne, Australia.—The Argus of Monday, August 19th, relates the following amusing incident in connection with the monster concert given at the Town-hall by Messrs. Lyster and Cagli. The organ performances by Messrs. Summers, Plaisted, Herz, and Edwards, were distinguished in every case by skilful and meritorious treatment, and their reception by the audience was, with a singular exception, of quite an enthusiastic kind. The exception alluded to was the performance, by Mr. Plaisted, of the Prelude and Fugue on "St. Ann's" tune, which occurred late in the evening, and many amongst the audience were in no mood to listen to it. It was very well played; but Mr. Plaisted must have been amazed, after finishing, to hear his labours rewarded with a volley of hisses. He had been unconsciously all the time he was performing that he was the object of this delicate kind of compliment; he, on the one hand, had been revelling in all the suggestive glories of an elaborate fugue, and, on the other, the malcontents had been sibilliating with might and main, but as he had no chance against the "tuba mirabilis" any more than a guinea-pig could howl down a clap of thunder, and so there was the amusing spectacle presented of a number of people with set lips and faces, expressive of impotent rage, hissing inaudibly at a mighty organ, that rolled and thundered out its harmonies with an unconscious indifference to opposition that almost touched the sublime.

Newbury.—A concert was given at the Town Hall on the 19th ult. Several instrumental solos, trios, &c., were performed by Mr. Lazarus, Mr. H. Nicholson, and Mr. S. Kemp. Madame T. Wells was encored in "Savourneen Deelish," and Mr. O. Christian was well received in "The Wreck of the Hesperus" (Weiss); a duet, "When the wind blows in from the sea" (H. Smart), sung by Madame Wells and Mr. Christian, was much admired; and Mr. Nicholson's flute fantasia on national airs was heartily encored. Mr. S. Kemp was conductor. There was a large and fashionable audience.

Newtown, Montgomeryshire.—On the 15th ult. a sacred concert was given in the Baptist Chapel, upon the occasion of opening the new harmonium. The first part of the concert was miscellaneous, the second part consisting of selections from Samson. The principal singers were Miss Louisa Davies, Mr. Emlyn Evans, and Mr. F. Roberts. Miss Davies was enthusiastically encored in "Let the bright Seraphim," which she sang with much effect. The choir (numbering 70 voices) was under the direction of Mr. J. C. Gittins, to whom great credit is due for the precision with which the choruses were given. The harmonium (which is a fine instrument, by Alexandre, containing 22 stops and 2 manuals) was presided over by Mr. J. T. Rawlings, of Shrewsbury, who displayed its various powers with great effect.——On the 20th ult. a concert was given in the Music Hall, which attracted a full and fashionable audience. The vocalists were Mr. Santley, Madame Florence Lancia, Miss Cafferata, Miss Enriquez, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Maybrick; M. Sainton (violin), and Mr. Lindsay Sloper (pianoforte). The performance was in every respect highly successful; and much credit is due to the Glee and Madrigal Union for having provided such an entertainment.

Newport, Salop.—On Tuesday evening, the 29th October, Mr. Smart, organist of the parish church, gave his annual concert in the Assembly Room, to a large audience. The performers were Miss Edith H. Andrews (soprano), Mr. Montem Smith (tenor), Mrs. Blagrove (Miss Freeth) (solo pianoforte), Mr. Blagrove (concertina), Mr. W. Petitt (violoncello), and Mr. Smart (violin). The programme was rendered in an admirable manner by the executants, and the audience seemed thoroughly to appreciate their efforts. Mr. Smart may be congratulated on his success.

Northallerton, Yorkshire.—On the 19th ult., the Church Musical Society gave a miscellaneous concert, the chief features of which were Mendelssohn's "Hear my prayer" and Garrett's "Just Judge of Heaven." The solos were sung in a most effective manner—in the former by Miss Brooks, and in the latter by Miss Middleton. Conductor, Rev. F. Page Roberts; pianist, Miss Mercer; harmonium, Mr. W. Wheldon.

Norwich.—A miscellaneous concert was given on the 7th ult., in Mr. Noverre's Room (which was crowded by members of the Cathedral choir), assisted by Miss Fearnside, a pupil of Dr. Buck's, who made a very promising first appearance, having a voice of fine quality and good compass. The first part consisted of sacred and the second of secular music. Among the selections in the first part we may especially mention the air from Handel's Susanna, "If guiltless blood," by Master Allen; the "Benedictus" from Mozart's Requiem, by Master Smith, Mr. Minns, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Thouless; "The soft southern breeze," from Barnby's Rebekah, well sung by Mr. Minns, and the air "Tears of sorrow," from Spohr's Crucifixion, which Mr. Smith gave with much pathos. The whole of the second part was very efficiently performed. Mr. George Gaffe was heartily applauded for his artistic playing of a Nocturne, by Döhler, and a Galop, by Ascher.

Ossett, Yorkshire.—On Tuesday evening the 19th ult., Handel's Oratorio, the Messiah, was given under the auspices of the Choral Society. The principal vocalists were Miss Anna Hiles and Miss Anyon, of Leeds, Mr. Whitehead, of Durham Cathedral, and Mr. Clafton, of Oldham. Mr. J. W. Dean conducted. The band and chorus numbered 80 performers and was the most effective ever heard in the town. "The Trumpet shall sound," was re-demanded, but in consequence of the length of the programme, the encore was not accepted. Mr. Robinson, of Hull, played the trumpet-solo very finely. The large School-room was crowded, and altogether the concert was in every respect a great success.

Pera, Constantinople.—After the full rehearsal of the Messiah, by the British Choral Union, on the 21st October in the Memorial Church, the members assembled in the school-room, when the Rev. C. G. Curtis addressing the meeting, said that he had been desired by the British Choral Union to read these few words:—"The Members of the British Choral Union of Constantinople beg Herr William Christiani to do them the favour of accepting the accompanying present as a small, but, they hope, not unacceptable token, to remind him how highly and gratefully they appreciate the consummate skill, perfect taste, unflagging zeal, and undaunted perseverance with which he has constantly laboured during more than seven months to prepare by his personal instruction their various and widely scattered classes for the performance, altogether unprecedented in this country, of Handel's Oratorio of the Messiah." Mr. Curtis then, amid hearty applause, handed the memorial, neatly engrossed on vellum, and an envelope containing a cheque for £70, to Mr. Christiani. Herr W. Christiani, who was greeted with loud applause, regretted that his imperfect knowledge of the English language prevented him from expressing all that he felt. He could only say he thanked them for their kind present, and that he would with the greatest pleasure work day and night for the Choral Union (Applause).——On the following evening the Messiah was given in Christ Church (Memorial Church), under the able direction of Herr Christiani. The choruses were all excellently rendered, the "Hallelujah" being especially effective. The principal vocalists were Mrs. Triandafiles (née Davis), Mrs. H. Hanson, Miss Gaston, Miss Curtis, Messrs. T. Tucker, Mainwaring, Stock, J. Streeter and Knighton, all of whom were highly successful in the solos allotted to them. The harmonium, played by Mr. Mohart, a promising young artist, blended well with the stringed instruments throughout the Oratorio.

Richmond, Yorks.—A concert was given in the Town Hall, on Tuesday the 29th October, by Mr. J. H. Rooks, being his farewell concert previous to his departure from Richmond. The performance consisted of Handel's Messiah, which was rendered most efficiently throughout. The Hall was inconveniently crowded, the majority being ladies. The principal vocalists were Miss Smythe (soprano), Miss Becket (contralto), in place of Miss Fletcher, Mr. R. Leach (tenor), and Mr. Thornton Wood (bass). The choir was large and efficient, and the rendering of most of the choruses evinced great care and attention on the part of the conductor, Mr. J. H. Rooks. Mr. W. Creser, Mus. Bac., presided at the pianoforte, and Mr. Hunter played the trumpet solo very well.

Ryde, Isle of Wight.—At the weekly meeting of St. Mary's Catholic Association, held on Tuesday the 12th ult., Mr. C. W. Salter, the organist, delivered a very able lecture on "Mozart." After describing the wonderful genius which made Mozart a musical prodigy at the age of 5, he dwelt on the pecuniary difficulties which beset the composer, and made him devote all his valuable time to the mere drudgery of teaching the harpsichord. The lecture was listened to with great interest, more particularly, perhaps, because the Mass music of Mozart is frequently sung in St. Mary's Church. At the conclusion of the lecture, the president spoke in highly eulogistic terms of Mr. Salter, and of his admirable treatment of the subject, and proposed a well-merited vote of thanks to the lecturer, which was carried with acclamation.

Sheffield.—A performance of Handel's Samson was given on the 28th October, by the members of the Sheffield Harmonic Choir, under the direction of Mr. H. Coward. The principal vocalists were Miss Blanche Burr, Miss Julia Derby, Mr. Arthur Thomas, and Mr. F. A. Bridge. The band and chorus numbered about 100; leader, Mr. Peck; solo-trumpet, Mr. Robinson; organist, Mr. Wragg. The entire performance was most successful, and reflected great credit upon all concerned.

Southampton.—On the 19th ult. the Sacred Harmonic Society repeated the Oratorio of Paradise Lost, by Mr. Ellerton, who, it is scarcely an exaggeration to say, stands foremost amongst the amateur composers of England. The part-music and simple choruses, all of which are well written, made the greatest impression; and the solo music was excellently rendered, Mr. Hilton imparting a tone to the character of Satan, which it sadly lacked on the last occasion, when it was undertaken by a gentleman whose abilities proved very far inferior to his conception of the part. Mr. Nelson Varley again undertook the character of Beelzebub, which involved more trying and continuous tenor singing than usually falls in Oratorio to that register of voice. Miss Banks was the soprano, and Mrs. Osborne Williams the contralto. The Oratorio was supported by a highly efficient band; and, considering the resources at the disposal of the conductor, Mr. Charles Fletcher, the work throughout was most effectively interpreted.

Southgate.—A musical entertainment was given in the School-room, on Tuesday evening, the 12th ult. The artists engaged were Miss Ellen Glanville, who received the honour of an encore on each appearance, Mr. Frank Thornton, Mr. W. Weller, and Mr. Sydney Hill. The room was well filled with a highly fashionable audience.

Southsea.—On Tuesday afternoon, the 19th ult., at St. Jude's Church, Mr. George Cooper, organist of the Chapel Royal, St. James's, St. Sepulchre's, &c., gave a Recital on the fine organ, erected by Messrs. Gray and Davison. The large audience listened with much interest to the entire performance, and appeared to appreciate fully the masterly manner in which the instrument was handled by Mr. Cooper. We may specially allude to the "Litany Fugue" of Mozart and the "St. Ann's Fugue" of Bach as being perfect marvels of execution. The Andante of Mendelssohn, known as the "Pilgrim's March," also gave Mr. Cooper an opportunity of producing fine orchestral effects and exhibiting his complete command over the pedals. "He layeth the beams" (from the Redemption) was given as a solo on the great diapasons and trumpet; and a fitting and grand climax, in "Kings shall be thy nursing fathers" (from the Coronation Anthem "My heart is inditing"), by Handel, brought this successful recital to a close.

Tranmere.—On Friday evening the 1st ult., the gathering in of the harvest was celebrated at St. Paul's Church by a special service. The church was tastefully decorated with corn, evergreens, &c. The Service was choral, the anthem being "I waited for the Lord," from Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise, the solo parts of which were sung by Madame Billinie Porter, and Miss F. Armstrong. Mr. B. Porter presiding at the organ. The Rev. G. F. Dean read the prayers, and the Rev. Dr. Redhead preached from Rev. vii. 13, 14. After the service a collection was made in aid of the schools.

Worthing.—A Sacred Harmonic Society has recently been formed here, which is likely to be productive of the most beneficial results to the art in this locality. The conductorship has been placed in the able hands of Mr. L. S. Palmer, whose ability and energy in the promotion of good music are well known. The first public meeting of the Association has already taken place, the president (the Rev. Wm. Read) in the chair, when a working committee was elected and a code of rules drawn up.

Yeadon.—On Sunday, the 10th ult., St. John's Church was re-opened, after having been closed since the 25th of August, for the purpose of cleaning and decorating. A sermon was preached in the morning by the Rev. S. Flood, B.D., of St. Matthew's, Leeds. The afternoon service was intoned by the Rev. Mr. Carr, curate of Kirkstall, the preacher being the Rev. T. R. Bruce, of Carlton. The preacher in the evening was the Rev. C. F. Booker, M.A., rector of Stanningley. The anthems were—morning, "Behold how good and joyful" (Clark); afternoon,

"If ye love me, keep my commandments" (Monk); evening, "Praise the Lord, O my soul" (Stables). These as well as the hymns were effectively rendered by the new surpliced choir, which had no additional aid. The organ, a new instrument, built by Messrs. Halmshaw, of Birmingham, was admirably played by Mr. Stables, the organist of Kirkstall Church, who has trained the choir.

Organ Appointments.—Mr. F. H. Bradley, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Mark's Parish Church, Shelton, Stoke-on-Trent.——Mr. Frederick William Pacey (Organist and Choirmaster of St. Clement's, Oxford), to Holy Trinity Church, Bolton, Lancashire.——Mr. Neville G. Barnett, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Philip the Evangelist, Arlington Square, N.——Mr. Alfred J. Fisher, Organist and Choirmaster to Christ Church (with St. Ewen's), Bristol.——Mr. H. S. Irons (of Southwell Minster), Assistant Organist to Chester Cathedral.——Mr. T. Webster (of St. John's, Egremont), Organist and Choirmaster to Christ Church, Southport.——Mr. A. J. Gosden, to Parish Church, Harwich.——Mr. John Hele, Mus. Bac., Oxon., Organist and Choirmaster to St. Peter's Church, Plymouth.

Choir Appointment.—Mr. J. Percival Blackett (Bass) to St. Matthias, Stoke Newington.——Mr. R. Spencer Davis to St. Matthias, Stoke Newington.——Mr. W. W. Meadows (Organist and Director of the Choir of St. Mary's, Sunbury, S.W.), Choirmaster to St. Saviour's, Sunbury, S.W.——Mr. T. W. Simons, First Alto to the Temple Choir.

ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER WANTED, for Christ Church, Hornsey. Salary £50. Duties, two Services on Sunday, one week-day Service, and weekly rehearsal. Application, with testimonials, to be sent in, on or before the 7th December, to the Vicar, Vicarage, Crouch End.

ORGANIST.—The Advertiser is desirous of obtaining an APPOINTMENT in the South of London; good testimonials. Address R. G. R., Stansfield's Library, 67, High-street, Peckham, S.E.

AN Organist requires a RE-ENGAGEMENT as ORGANIST, or ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER; a thorough musician; first-class testimonials. Address H. Jacobs, New-road, Brading, Isle of Wight.

WANTED, a SITUATION as ORGANIST, or ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER; good testimonials as to character and ability; salary moderate; state full particulars as to district, and opening for teaching: Scotland preferred. Address Cremona, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

WANTED, a Gentleman to take an occasional Service, and to play at a weekly rehearsal (West-end Church), in return for practice on a good three-manual Organ. Address E. Rogers, 89, Upper Gloucester-place, Regent's-park, N.W.

WANTED, a CHOIRMASTER, who can teach with tact and skill. Anglican music; surpliced choir; two Services on Sunday; communicant desired; small stipend. Address, S. T., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

CHOIRMASTER WANTED, attendance thrice in the week, to practise the boys and conduct rehearsal, and twice on Sunday; must be a communicant; services fully choral. Address full particulars to the Vicar, St. Saviour's, Highbury, N.

TO THE CLERGY.—ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER (15 years' standing) seeks an APPOINTMENT in a Church, with good Choir and Organ. Testimonials from present and former situations. Locality preferred where a Ladies' School might be established. Address J. J., Musical Times office, 1, Berners-street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER.—WANTED, by a respectable young Man, a SITUATION as above. J. C., 8, New Gloucester-street, Haggerston, London, E.

PIANOFORTE TUNER.—WANTED, for an old established house in the Country, a first-class man for out-door work. Apply with references, stating salary and age, to P. T., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TEACHING CONNECTION, six miles from Oxford. For particulars, apply to F. W. Pacey, Abingdon, Berks.

WANTED, a Young Man who understands the SHEET MUSIC DEPARTMENT; one who can try over the music preferred. Apply by letter to M., care of Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

WANTED, an ASSISTANT in a Music Shop, either a young Lady or a young Gentleman. Must be a good pianist, and sharp at the counter. Address H. H., care of Novello, Ewer and Co.

MUSIC TRADE.—WANTED, an ASSISTANT for the Sheet Music Department. Apply by letter to X., care of Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

WANTED, a MUSIC AND PIANOFORTE SALESMAN for a Music Warehouse in Glasgow. Address S. & P., 49, Buchanan-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, by a Lady, a SITUATION in a MUSIC WAREHOUSE, is a good Pianist and Vocalist, and understands Book-keeping. A. L., Nadauld, Stationer, 142, High-street, Kingsland.

WANTED, by a London Professor, an ASSISTANT, capable of playing the Church Service, teaching Choir Boys, and giving Lessons on Piano and in Singing to Junior Pupils. Address, with full particulars of antecedents, &c., and Salary expected, to W. H. Monk, Esq., Glebe Field, Stoke Newington, N.

TEACHER of MUSIC required for an ELEMENTARY CLASS in Kensington. For terms and particulars, apply to Mr. Higham, 39, Halsey-street, Sloane-square.

THE TOUCH of PIANOFORTES restored. Keys Pinned, Polished, and Re-layed. Hammers and Levers covered, and the original touch and tone restored for 3 guineas. H. G. Bartlett, Pianoforte Maker, 195, Brixton-road, S.W.

TO THE MUSIC TRADE.—Parties who may have a good and bona-fide BUSINESS for SALE, may hear of a purchaser by addressing as under.

A small stock of SHEET MUSIC and SMALL GOODS for SALE at a reduced price. The Music has lately been purchased into Stock, and is in a good and clean condition.

Apply to Mr. Frederick Lucas, Public Accountant, 26, Maddox-street, Regent-street, London, W.

MR. H. S. IRONS, Assistant Organist of Chester Cathedral (formerly Organist of Southwell Minster), is ready to treat with a respectable Young Man as ARTICLED PUPIL. Terms on application at his residence, 4, Abbey-court, Chester.

THE Master of St. John's Choristers' School has VACANCIES at Christmas for TWO BOARDERS. Terms, including education, residence, music, and extras, most moderate. Special advantages to boys having good voices. Lay Clerk, St. John's College, Cambridge.

THE ORGANIST of a City Church is prepared to receive one or two ORGAN PUPILS; good organ; terms moderate. Y. X., Novello, Ewer and Co., Poultry.

TO COMPOSERS and PUBLISHERS.—Dr. Holloway continues to revise and prepare manuscript compositions for publication. Lessons in composition by post if required. Address 73, Hemingford-road, Barnsbury, London, N.

Just Published. Part 2, 1872.

H. WHITE & SON'S CATALOGUE of ANCIENT and MODERN MUSIC, Vocal and Instrumental. Post free for one stamp. London: H. White and Son, 337, Oxford-street, W.

OLD PSALMODY.—WANTED to PURCHASE, anything by Clipshaw, Collins, Gate, Milgrove, or Wainwright. Send particulars—not the books—to Rev. H. Parr, Vicarage, Yoxford.

LITHOGRAPHIC COPYING cheaper system for publishing than Engraved. Psalmody, Band, Choral, Church, and other Music prepared; specimen. F. C. Wood, 32, Vincent-square, Westminster.

TO PUBLISHERS.—New Songs for Music—"I'm a soldier of peace" (Sacred); "I miss thee from the bonnie banks of Dee" (Mariner's). N. J. Petherbridge, 2, Elm-road, Kingston.

SCHOTT AND CO.,
159, Regent Street, London,
Beg to announce that
Mr. ALEXANDER GUILMANT
(Organiste du Grand Orgue de l'Eglise de la Trinité à Paris),
Whose playing and compositions met with such brilliant success, has entrusted them with the sole agency for the sale of his works. Catalogues may be had post free on application.

TO CAPITALISTS, MUSICAL INSTRUMENT MAKERS, and Others.—To be DISPOSED OF, the valuable Patents for England and France for improvements in American Organs, with all the newly-invented specially designed plant and machinery, with steam power, and a large number of Cabinet Organs, and the sole Agency for the Smith American Organ Company. The Organs may be seen at 18, Berners-mews, and particulars obtained of H. G. K. Breavington, 108, Lancaster-road, Notting-hill.

NOVELLO'S
OCTAVO EDITION OF OPERAS.
VOLUME XIX.

ROSSINI'S
GUILLAUME TELL,
WILL BE READY ON JANUARY 1, 1873.

W. C. FILBY'S LATEST WORKS.

A VESPER PRAYER. Trio for Soprano, Contralto and Tenor	3	0
NIGHT'S APPROACH. Ditto ditto	3	0
TO AN INFANT SLEEPING. Three-part chorus for Female Voices	1	6
PLEASURES AND PERILS. Duet for Two Trebles	4	0
L'AURORE. Morceau brillant for the Piano	4	0
LA GENTILLESSE. Morceau expressif for the Piano	3	0

Published by W. Czerny, 81, Regent-street, W., Sole publisher of the newest works of this popular composer.

DURING THE LAST MONTH, Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

REDHEAD, E.—Te Deum laudamus, in the key of C. 8vo., 6d.

HUNT, H. G. B.—Gloria. 8vo., 2d.

SMITH, REV. R. F.—Te Deum laudamus, in the key of F. 8vo., 3d.

ROGERS, ROLAND.—Cantate Domino and Deus Misereatur. 8vo., 1s.

CROWE, DR. R. W.—The days of man are but as grass. Anthem, with Verse for A.T.B. Vocal score, 2s. 6d.; vocal parts, 1s.

GLADSTONE, W. H.—Gracious and righteous is the Lord. Anthem. 8vo., 3d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—Two-Part Anthems for Small Choirs. First Series for Boys' and Female Voices.
No. 2. I will look unto the Lord. Price 6d.
3. Behold the tabernacle. Price 6d.
Second Series for Male and Female Voices.
No. 1. Unto us was born this day. Price 6d.

NOVELLO'S Octavo Anthems:—
No. 68. Stand up and bless the Lord. Sir John Goss. .. 4d.
69. Wherewithal shall a young man. Sir G. J. Elvey. 6d.
70. Praise the Lord. Sir G. J. Elvey. .. .. .. 4d.
71. O praise the Lord with me. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley. 3d.
72. Thou wilt keep him. Dr. Gauntlett. .. .. 3d.
73. I will cry unto God. Dr. Steggall. .. .. 3d.
74. We have heard with our ears. A. S. Sullivan. .. 6d.
75. God said, Behold I have given you. G. A. Macfarren. 6d.

SMITH, REV. R. F.—The Lord is nigh unto them. Anthem for four voices. 8vo., 6d.

RINGROSE, W. W.—O how amiable are Thy dwellings (84th Psalm). Cantata. 8vo., paper covers, 4s.; ditto, cloth, 5s. 6d.

THE HYMNARY.—Nine Hymns, with Tunes for Advent, selected from "The Hymnary," price 1d.

THE HYMNARY.—Ten Hymns, with Tunes for Christmas, selected from "The Hymnary," price 1d.

AMATEUR.—Musical Fragments, illustrative of the proper treatment of certain parts of the Church Service. 8vo., 1s.

BELCHER, W. T.—Four Hymns, with Tunes. 8vo., 6d.

HAYNES, W.—Second set of Twelve Hymns, with Favourite Tunes (composed and arranged). 8vo., 1s.

IRONS, H. S.—Hark! hark! the Organ loudly peals. Folio, 6d. Voice part, 1d.

LOBB, W. H.—Harvest Thanksgiving Hymn. 8vo., 1d.

MANLY, FRANK.—Stradella. Grande Fantasie sur l'opera de Flotow. 2s.

SPARK, W.—The Organist's Quarterly Journal. Vol. 2, price 21s.

— Sonata for the Organ. 3rd Edition, 2s. 6d.

REINAGLE, A. R.—Processional March for the Organ or Harmonium, 1s.

W. L. D.—March of St. Walter, for the Organ. 1s. 6d.

PARKINSON, W. W.—The Natural and Universal Principles of Harmony and Modulation, with Illustrative and Analyzed Extracts from the works of Classical Composers. 4to. demy. Cloth, gilt edges, 15s.

GREEN, J.—Progression of Chords. Appendix to The Tritone. Price 2s.

PALMER, L. S.—First Studies in Sight Singing for the use of Schools, Choirs, Choral Societies, &c. 8vo. 3s.

MACLEAN, DR. C.—Songs in Three part Harmony, for the use of Elementary Choirs. Cloth, 7s. 6d.

Oblong folio, Price Three Shillings.

Six Organ Pieces for Christmas:—

No. 1. "SIT LAUS PLENA, SIT SONORA."
2. "QUEM VIDISTIS, PASTORES?"
3. "PSALLITE OMNES, ANGELI."
4. "VENITE IN BETHLEHEM."
5. PASTORALE.
6. "O MAGNUM MYSTERIUM!"

By W. T. BEST.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

NATIONAL MUSIC MEETINGS.

SECOND ANNUAL MEETING, 1873.

NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.'S EDITION OF THE PIECES TO BE PREPARED FOR COMPETITION.

The Competitors in each Class will be required to perform a Selection of Pieces from those enumerated below under the respective headings: the number and order of the pieces, and the other conditions of trial, being at the discretion of the Jury of each Class.—(See Rule 22.)

Class I.—Choral Societies.

Not exceeding 500 members and not less than 200 each Society, including male and female voices.

Price, complete in paper cover, 1s. 6d.; or singly, as follows:—

The many rend the skies	Handel. ..	2d.
I wrestle and pray (Motett)	Bach. ..	4d.
Dies Iræ (C minor Requiem)	Cherubini. ..	6d.
Hallelujah (Mount of Olives)	Beethoven. ..	2d.
See what love (St. Paul)	Mendelssohn.	1½d.
Come with torches (Walpurgis Night) ...	Mendelssohn.	4d.

Class II.—Choral Societies.

Not exceeding 200 members each, including male and female voices.

Price, complete in paper cover, 1s.; or singly, as follows:—

Cherub and Seraphin (Jephtha)	Handel, ..	2d.
Oh God, Who in Thy heavenly hand (Joseph)	Handel. ..	3d.
Jehovah, God of Hosts (Motett)	Spohr. ..	4d.
Hosanna (Anthem)	O. Gibbons.	3d.
Fire! Fire! (Madrigal)	Morley. ..	2d.
Sweet honey-sucking bees	Wilbye. ..	4½d.

Class III.—Choral Societies for Men's Voices.

Not exceeding 80 voices.

Where is he (Engedi)	Beethoven. ..	2d.
The Word went forth (Fest-Gesang) ...	Mendelssohn.	4d.
The night battle song	Schumann. ..	3d.
We happy shepherd swains	Netherclift. ..	1½d.
Hohenlinden, "On Linden when the sun was low"	T. Cooke.
The night is cloudless and serene	Schubert. ..	4d.

Class IV.—Church Choirs.

Hymn—Dundee—All praise to Him ...
„ Hanover—O worship the King ... } .. .. 1d.
Psalm xcvii.—Chant, Turner ... ...
Te Deum and Benedictus, in F ... ... Gibbons.
Vocal score, 4s. Vocal parts, 1s. 6d.
Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, in E ... Sir John Goss.
Vocal score, octavo 4d. Ditto, folio, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 3d. each.
Anthem—God is gone up ... ... Dr. Croft.
Vocal score, octavo, 4d. Ditto, folio, 1s. 3d. Vocal parts, 3d. each.

NEW BARITONE SONG.—"The Seafarer." By James Thomson. Price 3s.
Wood and Co., 3 Guilford-street.

Now ready, small 4to., price 2s. 6d.

ANGLICAN PSALTER CHANTS, Single and Double, edited by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley, Bart., etc., and Edwin George Monk.

This work contains nearly 400 Chants; which are appropriated to "Venite, exultemus Domino," the Daily and Proper Psalms, &c.; those for each Service occupying a separate page and affording several Series, suitable to each daily portion of the Psalter, from which choice may be made. The Chants have been selected with especial reference to the position of the Reciting-note.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

VENI, CREATOR SPIRITUS. Set to Music by Edwin George Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon, &c.

For general or Festival use: for male voices and four-part chorus, with Organ Accompaniment, ad lib. Price 3d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE ANGLICAN CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, Edited by E. G. Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper, 1s.; cloth, 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Oxford: Parker.

Sixth Edition.

THE ANGLICAN CHANT-BOOK, edited by E. G. Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper cover, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d. Large Edition, cloth, 4s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

OUSELEY AND MONK'S PSALTER AND CANTICLES, pointed for Chanting. Second Edition. Authorised by his Grace the Archbishop of York. 24mo., without chants, 1s.; with Proper Psalms, 1s. 3d.; Proper Psalms, separately, 3d.; small 4to., with chants, 5s.; large 4to., £1 1s.; each voice part, separately, 2s. Canticles, score, small quarto., 9d.; separate parts, 8d.; words only, 24mo., 1½d. Novello, Ewer & Co., and Parker & Co.

Ninth Edition.

JOULE'S COLLECTION OF 527 CHANTS, 57 RESPONSES, &c. Price, 5s. 6d.; sep. vocal parts, 2s. each.—Tonic Sol-fa Notation. Score, 1s. 6d.

The Chants are selected with due reference to the position of the Reciting-notes.

SUPPLEMENT to the PREVIOUS EDITIONS of the ABOVE, containing Chants for the Venite, &c. Price 1s.

THE PSALTER, PROPER PSALMS, HYMNS and CANTICLES. Pointed for Chanting by B. St. J. B. Joule. (Large type.) Price 2s. 6d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

Seventh Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. 18mo., price 1s., in cloth, 1s. 6d.

Fourth Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. Quarto, in cloth elegant, price 7s. 6d.

Third Edition.

THE ORDER FOR THE HOLY COMMUNION, Harmonized on a Monotone in a very simple manner for Parochial use. By B. St. J. B. Joule. Price 3d. Novello, Ewer & Co.

Just Published.

CANTICLES NOTED. Second Set, by the Rev. Thomas Helmore, M.A. 18mo., 8d.; 8vo., 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.

HELMORE, REV. THOMAS.—The CANTICLES ACCENTED, 18mo., 3d.—Hymns of the Eastern Church, 4 voices, each 1s., Peace, it is I; The day is passed and over; The day of resurrection.—S. Mark's Chant Book (in daily use at the College Chapel, Chelsea), 4s. 6d.; or the same, Part I., being the main body of the work, price 3s. 6d.; and Part II., The Table of the Chants, price 1s. (useful for places where only the Canticles are chanted). Also Two "Te Deums" for Choir and People, in the alternate verses; adapted from Latin arrangements by Alfieri and Baini; vocal Score and Organ Accompaniment, price 3s. Also the People's Plain Song, separate, price 1½d. Four-part Cadences for the Holy Communion, 6d. The Carol for Christmas Morning, vocal score, 18mo. edition, 2d.; melody, 18mo., 1d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

ADDITIONS TO THE

REV. T. HELMORE'S PLAIN SONG WORKS.

The Canticles Accented. Price 3d.

The Psalter and Canticles Accented. Paper covers, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d.

Appendix to Accompanying Harmonies to the Brief Directory. Parts 1, 2 and 3. Price 4d.

The Psalter Noted. Appendix 1, giving the Proper Psalms, noted as before in their right order of the six days to which they are Appointed. Price 6d.

Accompanying Harmonies to ditto. Price 8d.

The Psalter Noted. Appendix 2, giving the Proper Psalms newly noted for the Four Great Festivals (second set). Price 4d.

Accompanying Harmonies to ditto. Price 4d.

Canticles Noted (second set). Large Edition, 2s. Small Edition, 8d.

Cadences for the order of the Administration of the Lord's Supper, in compressed vocal score. Price 6d.

Paper on Church Music, with special reference to the joining of all the People in Sacred Song, read at the Church Congress, Wolverhampton, October 1867. Price 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NON NOBIS DOMINE, arranged to the Corresponding English Words, by Rev. W. G. Longden, for the Use of Choral Meetings, as an Introit, or Anthem, or Grace after Meat. Price One Penny; Ninepence a dozen; or Five Shillings a hundred.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.. 1. Berners-street. W.

TE DEUM (new) in B flat. Harmony, unison, free organ part, &c. Highly effective. 1s. 6d.—Three Choral Hymns—"There is a blessed home," "O Love," and "Praise the Lord." Complete 1s.—Also the immensely popular arrangement of the Evening Hymn "Abide with me." Harmony and unison, with a free organ part. 1s.—Also the well-known "Six Kyries." 1s. By Edward Lawrance, Organist, Merthyr Tydfil. A very liberal discount on a dozen copies, direct from the composer. A specimen copy of either for twelve stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS, in C. By Edward Redhead, Mus. Bac., Oxon. 8vo. Price 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1 Berners-street, W.

FESTIVAL TE DEUM for CHRISTMAS. Suitable for Parish Choirs. Partly in unison, with full organ part. Price 6d. Novello, Ewer and Co.'s; or of the Composer, George H. Westbury, Andover. Allowance to Choirs.

BY REV. R. F. SMITH, M.A., Minor Canon of Southwell, TE DEUM, in F, in 4 parts, 3d. SHORT ANTHEM, "The Lord is nigh," S.A.T.B., 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer & Co., 1, Berners-street, W., & 35, Poultry, E.C.

CANTATE DOMINO and DEUS MISEREATUR, by G. A. Macfarren. For voices in unison and organ. Octavo, 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

FOUR EASY SETTINGS of "TE DEUM," 2nd edition (Music and Pointing), for 4d.; 3s. 8d. per dozen, or 50 for 12s. 6d., post free. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TE DEUM, in C, G, D, and E, partly chantwise, simple and dignified, by H. E. Havergal, M.A. 3d. each, 9d. the set with chants, &c.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWELVE KYRIES. By G. Baker. Price Sixpence, and post-free. G. Baker, 19, Westgate, Wakefield.

THE NICENE CREED, in G major, for Voices and Organ, by William Blakeley, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Folio score. 1s. 6d. net; a liberal discount allowed to choirs. To be had of the author, Warrengate, Wakefield.

Octavo size. Price 3d. each.

THE NICENE CREED, set to Music in an Easy form (principally monotone), with a free accompaniment for the Organ by R. W. Crowe.

THE NICENE CREED, set to music for four voices, chiefly in unison with a free accompaniment for the Organ. By S. Percival.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Now ready. 8vo. Price Threepence.

THE APOSTLES' CREED, Set to Music (chiefly in Recitative) for Voices in Unison, with an Accompaniment for the Organ, by Edwin George Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon, Organist and Director of the Choir, York Minster.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

JOHN M. W. YOUNG'S EASY FESTIVAL SERVICE, in C; consisting of Te Deum, Benedictus, and Jubilate, with an Introductory Sketch of the History and Theology of the Te Deum, by the Right Rev. the Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham. Te Deum and Sketch, 1s.; festival size, 1½d. Benedictus and Jubilate, 10d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE COMMUNION OFFICE, in A, for Trebles (or Voices in Unison), by the Rev. H. H. Woodward, B.A., Mus. Bac. Voice part, 4d.; Organ score, 1s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now ready, 24 pp. price 3d.

THE MATIN and VESPER CANTICLES of HOLY CHURCH, set to Anglican Chants of Ecclesiastical Character. By Arthur Henry Brown, of Brentwood.

London: Thomas Bosworth, 198, High Holborn, W.C.

Just Published, Fifth Edition, revised. Price 7s.

PARR'S CHURCH of ENGLAND PSALMODY; a Complete and Authentic Manual for the Parochial Organist; containing 361 Tunes in 100 metres; 289 Chants, with Responses—in all 689 compositions,—free from modern alterations and corruptions; with Memoirs of all the Composers, and references to the works from which the pieces are taken; presenting an amount of information on the History and Bibliography of Psalmody not to be found elsewhere.

London: W. Macintosh, 24, Paternoster-row.

TWELFTH EDITION.

"The air once heard haunts the memory."—Church Opinion.

MARCH OF THE CHORISTERS. Net 1s. 6d.—"To write a really good and striking March is by no means an easy task. Mr. Allen's subjects are bold and suggestive."—Illustrated Review. "Evidently by one who thinks before he writes."—Queen. "Its freshness will make it a favourite."—Weekly Times. Novello & Co.

Just published. Second edition.

HARK! HARK! THE ORGAN LOUDLY PEALS. A Hymn for the Dedication of NEW ORGANS, &c. Composed, with special Organ Accompaniment, by H. S. IRONS, Assistant Organist of Chester Cathedral. Organ score, folio, price sixpence; voice part only, 8vo., 1d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

FOUR HYMNS, Set to Music by Dr. BELCHER. Price 6d. nett.

*TRIUNE GOD.—THY PRAISE TO SING.
CHRIST ALONE! CHRIST ALONE!
JUST AS I AM.—WITHOUT ONE PLEA.
BREAST THE WAVE, CHRISTIAN.

* Suitable for use at the opening of a new organ.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS. By Dr. BELCHER. Price 3d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD.—Sacred Song for Baritone or Contralto. Words from the 23rd Psalm. Compass from B♮ to F♮. Music by MILES BENNETT.

"We can unhesitatingly recommend this song to any baritone or contralto vocalist who can sing words with expression. Mr. Bennett has given a sacred character to his music in excellent sympathy with the words he has selected; and we cannot too much commend the musician-like manner in which the whole of the accompaniments are written."—Musical Times, Oct. 1st, 1871.

"A very familiar passage is here set with no small feeling for the deep sentiment of the words, and with a degree of musical effect which warrants us in speaking of the song very favourably."—Musical World, May 27th, 1871.

"The sacred and trusting nature of the words is well expressed in the music of both voice and accompaniment."—Cheltenham Looker-On.

"A singularly beautiful song."—Banffshire Reporter.

"Should be the Christmas favourite of sacred songs."—Review.

"Every genuine musician who may purchase a copy will thank us for noticing this song."—Dorsetshire Guardian.

"An exquisitely beautiful and finished composition.—Wrexham Advertiser.

Sent post free for 18 stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1 Berners-street, W.

Also by the same composer "GRATITUDE," 24 stamps; and "CONSOLATION," 18 stamps.

IN MEMORIAM.

OUR HOME'S ETERNAL REST. Sacred Song. Words by W. H. Baker; Music by R. ANDREWS, 3s.; sent post free for 19 stamps. Address R. Andrews, Bowdon, Cheshire. London: J. Williams.

G. A. MACFARREN'S TWO-PART ANTHEMS for Small Choirs. The texts selected by the Rev. J. Powell Metcalfe.

First Series, for Boys' and Females Voices—1. "Come, and let us return." 2. "I will look unto the Lord." (These Anthems may appropriately be used in Advent and Lent.) 3. "Behold the Tabernacle." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Christmastide.)

Second Series, for Female and Male Voices—1. "Unto us was born." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Christmas.) 2. "Blessed is the soul." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Whitsuntide.) 3. "Come ye and let us go up." (This Anthem may be appropriately used at the opening of a church.)

These Anthems are available as Duets for private performance.

Price 6d. for each Anthem, or 2s. 6d. for each series of six.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Dr. Allon's new Anthem Book.

NOW READY.

CHURCH ANTHEMS, &c. Edited by HENRY ALLON, D.D. Containing 115 Anthems for Congregational Use. Crown 8vo., price 3s. cloth: 3s. 6d. roan, gilt edges. Cheap Edition, 1s. 4d., cloth; 1s. 8d. stiff cloth, red edges.

London: Hodder and Stoughton, 27, Paternoster-row. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

I WILL LAY ME DOWN IN PEACE. Anthem for Evening Service. By BOYTON SMITH. 8vo., 3d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE ANTHEM (double number). 3d.

THE STORMY PETREL (Tenor and Bass Solos, double number), 3d.

THE IRONFOUNDERS (double number). 3d.

All W. W. Pearson's Glees may be had of Novello, Ewer and Co., London; and Pearson, Brampton, Rotherham.

EASY ANTHEMS for VILLAGE CHOIRS. By W. H. GILL. 2d. each. Nos. 1 to 6 now ready.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A Specimen Copy, post free for Stamps to the value.

"I DID CALL UPON THE LORD." Full Anthem for Four Voices, by T. MEE PATTISON. Price 4d.

"A capital anthem for ordinary choirs; well written, and possesses plenty of variety. A little verse piece in the middle of it is effective, and a spirited fughetta brings it to a satisfactory conclusion."—Musical Standard.

"HARK! 'TIS THE BREEZE OF 'TWILIGHT CALLING. Canon, from "Israel's Return from Babylon," by J. R. SCHACHNER. Sung by Her Grace the Duchess of Newcastle, Mdlle. Tietjens, Miss Banks, Mr. Sims Reeves, Mr. Tom Hohler, and Mr. W. H. Cummings. Duet—Soprano and Tenor, or Two Soprani, 4s. Also, Solo—Arranged as a Song in a lower key, 4s. Sold at half-price.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. HALLETT SHEPPARD begs to announce that his new MASS for Male Voices, with Organ Accompaniment, is now in course of publication, by Messrs. Burns, Oates and Co., 17, Portman-street, and that a public performance of it will shortly be given. His Grace the Archbishop of Westminster has kindly promised to be present. Full particulars will be duly announced. Amateurs, duly qualified, who may be desirous of joining the choir on the occasion, are requested to forward their names without delay to Mr. Hallett Sheppard, 9, Moore-park-road, West Brompton.

CHURCH AND STATE.

Every Clergyman and Church Layman should now take in a Church Newspaper, and the Best by far is

The English Churchman

AND CLERICAL JOURNAL.

Established in 1843.

For the cultivation of a healthy public opinion, few influences are so potent as those wielded by the Newspaper Press. The mission of the "ENGLISH CHURCHMAN" is thus readily defined.

Since the amalgamation of the "CLERICAL JOURNAL" with the "ENGLISH CHURCHMAN," the Proprietors have succeeded (they believe) in combining excellence of Literary merit, with Cheapness of Price; and they hope that, owing to its attractiveness as a Family and General Newspaper, the "ENGLISH CHURCHMAN" will obtain access to the homes of many thousands of English Churchmen and Churchwomen, who now depend for their information on current events either on Newspapers professedly Radical and hostile to the Church, or on others which, avowedly Church-like, are noted only for their success in playing fast and loose with great principles.

The "ENGLISH CHURCHMAN" is published at Two o'Clock every Thursday Afternoon. It can be obtained through any respectable Newsvendor in Town or Country; or One Copy will be sent per Post, direct from the Office, upon the following terms, PAYABLE IN ADVANCE:—

Three Months, 4s. Six Months, 7s. 6d. One Year, 14s.

Remittances may be made by Post-Office Orders, payable at the King-street, Covent Garden Office, in the name of GEORGE SLATER; or by Cheques, crossed "Twinings."

A Single Copy (Unstamped), THREEPENCE.

Office of the "English Churchman," 2, Tavistock Street, Covent Garden, London, W.C.

In One Volume, crown 8vo., price 7s. 6d.

MUSICAL CRITICISM and BIOGRAPHY, from the Published and Unpublished Writings of THOMAS DAMANT EATON, late President of the Norwich Choral Society. Selected and Edited by his Sons.

London: Longmans, Green, and Co., Paternoster-row.

REINAGLE'S ORGAN MUSIC for AMATEURS. Processional March. 2s. 3d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

REINAGLE'S TEN AIRS. 1s. 6d. Novello and Co.

REINAGLE'S SHORT PIECES. 2s. 3d. Whittingham, Streatham.

REINAGLE'S ORIGINAL MELODIES. 2s. 3d. Whittingham, Streatham.

PRELUDE and DOUBLE FUGUE for the ORGAN (dedicated by permission to Sir William Sterndale Bennett, Mus. Prof. Cantab.). By R. W. CROWE. Price 3s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. CECIL BURCH'S Fantasia on "Rockingham." For Piano. Price 4s.

London: Metzler and Co. Post free 25 stamps from the Composer, Cheshunt, N., where all trade communications should be addressed.

READY THIS DAY.

GOUNOD'S

"NAZARETH,"

TRANSCRIBED FOR THE PIANOFORTE, BY

SYDNEY SMITH.

Price Four Shillings.

LONDON: ASHDOWN AND PARRY, HANOVER SQUARE.

Just published. Second edition.

VIVENTE. Grand Galop de Concert. "This is a bold inspiriting galop, melodious and effective."—Musical Standard.

FIRST TARANTELLA. "VILLAGE REVELS." Impromptu characteristic. Composed by William Blakeley, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Price 4s. each, or post free on receipt of 24 stamps, from Mr. Wm. Blakeley, Warrengate, Wakefield.

ESMERALDA. For piano. By W. Kuhe.

"A very brilliant arrangement of Mr. Levey's capital and most popular song, in Mr. Kuhe's elegant and highly approved style."—Queen. Sent for 2s. Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.

W. H. BIRCH'S POPULAR OPERETTAS, now being performed throughout England. Sparkling, brilliant, and not difficult.

No. 1. The Merrie Men of Sherwood Forest. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.; single voice parts, 1s. each.

No. 2. Ballad Operetta—Katrine, the Pride of Killarney. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

No. 3. Eveleen, the Rose of the Vale. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

The above Operettas are written for a Full or Small Orchestra.

Choral Societies can hire the vocal scores, single voice parts, and band parts, on very moderate terms. See opinions of the press.

W. H. Birch's Christmas Anthem, "Behold, I bring you glad tidings." Price 6d.

W. H. Birch's Christmas Carol. Price 6d.

Part Song, "Hurrah for merry Old Christmas." Price 6d.

Address W. H. Birch, 76, Southampton-place, Reading.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S
POPULAR PART SONGS FOR S.A.T.B. 8vo.

1. "I love the merry spring time"	...	14th edition	...	0	2
2. "Gaily thro' the greenwood"	...	17th ,,	...	0	2
3. "Welcome, merry May"	...	6th ,,	...	0	2
4. "The mountain Maid"	...	5th ,,	...	0	2
5. "Come o'er the mountain"	...	8th ,,	...	0	2
6. "Hail, merry, merry Christmas"	...	12th ,,	...	0	2
7. "Songs of praise the angels sang"	...	5th ,,	...	0	3
8. "Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow"	...	6th ,,	...	0	3
9. "Fairy revels"	...	7th ,,	...	0	3
10. "Oh! peaceful vale of rest"	...	5th ,,	...	0	1½
11. "The merry bird"	...	5th ,,	...	0	3
12. "Come, let us be merry and gay"	...	4th ,,	...	0	3
13. "Forest echoes"	...	6th ,,	...	0	3
14. "Haste, ye merry elves"	...	5th ,,	...	0	3
15. "The streamlet"	...	2nd ,,	...	0	3

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: Hime and Addison.

SIX PART-SONGS, for Male Voices, composed for and dedicated to the Edinburgh University Musical Society. By H. S. Oakeley, Mus. Doc., and Professor of Music at that University. Nos. 1 and 2 are now ready; vocal score, price 4d.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE REAPER AND THE FLOWERS. Four-part Song, with a Solo. Words by Longfellow. Music by J. B. Boucher. Price Threepence.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Lately published.

WE WATCHED HER BREATHING. Words by T. Hood. Four-part Song for S.A.T.B. By Rev. Henry J. Poole, M.A. Price 3d. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

"We like the manner in which the words are breathed out to a placid melody, quietly harmonized for four voices at the commencement. The change of key, too, after the double bar, is extremely happy; and the fall of the 7th for the 1st voice at the final phrase is eloquently expressive of the words."—Musical Times, Oct. 1872.

PART-SONGS BY BOYTON SMITH.—No. 1, "Trab, Trab;" No. 2, "Beware." 8vo., 2d. each.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Just published.

SIX CHORAL SONGS, for S.A.T.B. Composed by Robert Jackson, of the Royal Academy of Music. Price, in paper covers, 1s. 3d.; separately—"The Mariners," 2d.; "The Meadow Gate," 3d.; "The Voice of Spring," 3d.; "Lilian," 2d.; "Come when the dawn," 3d.; "The homes of England," 2d.

The above Songs are very suitable for Class Singing and Concerts.

Also,

GRACIOUS IS THE LORD. Anthem for 4 voices. 8vo., 4d. Sung at the Cathedral, Manchester.

SUMMER MOONLIGHT. Folio, 1s.; 8vo., 2d.

AURORA GILDS YON EASTERN SKY. Folio, 1s.; 8vo., 1½d. Part-songs for S.A.T.B.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Manchester: Hime and Addison, Forsyth Bros.; and from the Composer, 23, Barker-street, Oldham.

THE OLD ELM TREE. Prize Part-song for T.T.B. Easy and effective. 8vo., 2d.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. WENTWORTH PHILLIPSON begs to announce the publication of his "Guide to Young Pianoforte Teachers and Students." Price One shilling; post free 14 stamps. This Guide is quite novel in form, and contains an analysis of the most difficult of Cramer's Studies. 14, Harrington-street, Ampthill-square, London, N.W.

NOW READY.

THE NATURAL PRINCIPLES OF HARMONY.
By W. W. Parkinson. Price 15s.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: W. W. Parkinson and Son, 24, St. Ann's-square.

Just published. Second edition, 8vo., 7s. 6d.

A THEORY OF HARMONY. Founded on the Tempered Scale. With Questions and Exercises for the use of Students. By John Stainer, Mus. Doc., M.A., Magd. Coll., Oxon, Organist to St. Paul's Cathedral.

Opinions of the Press.

"There is much ingenuity in Dr. Stainer's method, and he has the gift of conveying his ideas in concise terms."—Athenæum.

"Dr Stainer is, as far as we know, the first writer on musical harmony who has endeavoured to make his theory accord with physical facts."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"With such works as Dr. Stainer's at command, cheap, concise, and comparatively simple, a knowledge of the theory of music or 'thorough bass' ought to be insisted on by every conscientious professor of the art."—John Bull.

"To the student, perplexed and chained down by the multitudinous rules of the old theorists, we cannot give better comfort than to advise him to read forthwith Dr. Stainer's ingenious and thoughtful book."—Choir.

"The only really original book on Harmony that has appeared in the present century."—Morning Post.

"Our own conviction is, that the new organist of St. Paul's has done an immense service to the theory of his art by the publication of this work."—Westminster Review.

"Dr. Stainer's 'Theory of Harmony, founded on the Tempered Scale,' is a clever and successful attempt at carrying the system of common sense now adopted in tuning, into the stronghold of musical theory itself."—Guardian.

Rivingtons, Waterloo Place, London; Oxford and Cambridge.

MUSICAL PRESENTS.—High-class Music for Students and others. To be had, gratis and postage free, a LIST of 400 CLASSICAL WORKS, bound, at greatly reduced prices. Published only by Robert Cocks and Co.

A ROSE IN HEAVEN. New Song.—By FRANZ ABT. No. 1 in F, No. 2 in G., 4s. each. "This little gem will haunt the memory of those who hear it long after the song has ceased." Vide Graphic. Also as a Duet for Soprano and Contralto. 4s.

HE GIVETH HIS BELOVED SLEEP. Sacred Song. Music by Franz Abt. 3s. "A valuable addition to the family collection of Sunday music." Vide Orchestra. "A calm and holy feeling pervades this song, and its spirit is sweetly soothing."—Court Circular. "Words and Music are alike sweet, soothing, and melodious."—Christian World. "This song is a gem of sacred melody."—Vide the Standard.

NOT A SPARROW FALLETH TO THE GROUND. Sacred Song. By F. Abt. 3s. "This sacred song breathes a deep religious spirit, and appeals to the trusting heart of the Christian."—Vide Brighton Times.

FRANZ ABT'S VOCAL TRIOS for THREE EQUAL VOICES, with an Accompaniment for Pianoforte.

No. 1.—How Sweet and Soothing the Vesper Chime.. 3s.

No. 2.—When Life's Brief Dream is Over." (The Prayer from Rossini's "Moses in Egypt.") 3s.

FRANZ ABT'S VOCAL DUETS for SOPRANO and CONTRALTO, 3s. each.

A Rose in Heaven. 4s.	Oh! ye Tears.
Adieu.	Say Who Comes Here?
A Dream of Angels.	The Rose and the Nightingale.
A Forest Ramble	Tell me, fair Star.
Fairy Chimes.	The Thrush and the Jay.
Kathleen Aroon.	The Rose and the Maiden.
The Evening of Life.	The Swallow's Come.
The Lark.	The Sabbath.

London: Sole Publishers, Robert Cocks and Co., New Burlington-street. N.B.—All sheet music at half-price, post free in stamps.

In one folio vol., elegantly bound, 21s.

LAYS AND LYRICS OF SCOTLAND. A Collection of the best Scottish Songs, arranged with new symphonies and accompaniment, for the Pianoforte. By John Fulcher. With a historical epitome of Scottish song by James Ballantine.

"The volume before us is certainly one of the finest collections of Scottish Song ever published, for although there may be some unknown to the general public, all which have obtained popularity are included. The work is elegantly got up, and its value is materially heightened by an appendix of notes, historical, biographical, and critical, relating to the principal songs contained in the volume."—Musical Times, Nov. 1872.

"Nothing appears to have been omitted that could help to make the volume complete, and the result is a collection of Scotch Songs which has rarely been equalled."—Scotsman.

Glasgow: Swan and Pentland. London: Chappell and Co.

BREAVINGTON'S
IMPROVED AMERICAN ORGANS.

Breavington's Patent Double and Solo Sound Boards and Patent Improved Automatic Swell, with the use of a New Metal for the Treble and Solo Stops, have so improved the American Organs, that they entirely surpass the imported instruments in quality of tone and resonant power; and, being much more simple in construction, they are not so liable to get out of order, and can be manufactured at much lower prices.

We submit the Report of a Committee of very eminent Organists.

Wholesale Warehouse—Berners-mews; Manufactory—Notting-hill.

We, the undersigned, have made a thorough examination of "The Breavington Silver Reed Organ."

We beg specially to mention the following points of its excellence, viz.:—

1st.—The general sweetness and mellowness of tone, and directly in connection with this the manufacture of the Vibrators from a new material, by which increased durability is secured. By a more careful system of voicing, great promptness of speech is also obtained, without any sacrifice of tone, the effects of which are, of course, especially to be observed in the lower notes of the 16 feet stops.

2nd.—The greatest possible extent of vibrating space is obtained by placing the mechanism employed in various internal arrangements below, instead of above the sound-board.

3rd.—The introduction, as a substitute for the ordinary tremulant, of a revolving fan, the rotation of which is regulated by the action of the foot upon the bellows pedal.

The effects attainable by this means are especially noticeable in a stop of 16-ft. tone called by Messrs. Breavington "The Silver Reed Euphone."

The new action applied to the octave-coupler is most simple and effective, and the new suspended sound board for solo stops is very ingenious.

We have also much pleasure in testifying to the beauty and elegance of the several designs, which we have inspected, as well as to the general excellence of the materials and the highly finished style of workmanship employed in the production of these Instruments, and in our opinion they realise as nearly as possible the greatest amount of perfection which can reasonably be expected from Instruments of this class.

HENRY SMART,
Organist of St. Pancras Church, Euston Road.
CHARLES STEGGALL, Mus. D., Cantab.
Organist to the Honble. Society of Benchers, Lincoln's Inn; and Professor of the Organ at the Royal Academy of Music.

RICHARD LIMPUS,
Organist of St. Michael's Church, Cornhill, and Hon. Sec. of the College of Organists.
CHARLES E. STEPHENS,
Member of the Philharmonic Society of London, and Hon. Member of the Royal Academy of Music.

TESTIMONIALS RECEIVED FROM THOSE WHO HAVE THE ORGANS IN USE.

Caprera Cottage, Eastbourne, July 24th, 1872.

Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in informing you that the Instrument I purchased of you last May is a complete success. When residing in London I possessed for many years a very superior Organ, but which from its great bulk I was compelled to dispose of. On settling down here I was desirous of replacing this Instrument if possible with one of more compact form, and embracing some of its merits. For this purpose I obtained successively no less than four Harmoniums all of superior quality, and of the best makers, but I failed to obtain the rich mellow tone to which I had been inured. I then purchased one of your Anglo-American Organs at 30 Guineas, having the Vox Humana stop, and the Automatic swell, and have now obtained all I desired, the Instrument embracing all the merits of my London Organ, with the advantage of being much less than half its size, at half its price. Wishing you every success, I remain yours truly, JOSHUA NETTLETON.

Messrs. Breavington & Co.

The Lymes, Bowdon, 12*th August*, 1872.

Gentlemen,—Having had repeated opportunities of examining the mechanism, and testing the powers of your Instruments, I have no hesitation in saying that they are quite equal to the best of the so-called American Organs, and superior to the Cabinet Organs of any other English Firm. All the Instruments of your manufacture which I have selected and purchased, have given and continue to give the highest satisfaction.

J. M. BENTLEY, Organist and Choirmaster of Bowden Church.

412, Bethnal Green Road, July 22d, 1872.

Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in testifying to our entire satisfaction with the tone of the Anglo-American Reed Organ supplied to us by you, and every one who has heard it considers it vastly superior to the Harmonium; the articulation is almost as rapid as that of the Pianoforte, and the tone is very similar to that of the swell portion of an ordinary Pipe Organ, when several of the reed stops are drawn, with this immense advantage, that while the American Organ remains in tune splendidly, the reed stops of the ordinary Pipe Organ want constant attention, and almost require tuning every time the instrument is played upon. The Vox Humana we consider very superior to the Vox Celeste or Tremolo. I am, Gentlemen, yours sincerely, GEORGE BATE, L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., &c.

Elstead, Godalming, Surrey, July 20th, 1872.

LADY JEPHSON has much pleasure in recommending the American Organ which she has purchased from Messrs. Breavington. She considers the tone very superior to her Harmonium, and being able by the use of the knee swells to give expression; a great advantage, especially in small rooms.

"International Exhibition.—The American Organs shown by Messrs. Breavington and Sons are of most excellent quality, and especially distinguished by an absence of all unpleasant reediness. They are also remarkably moderate in price; and in churches where an organ is unattainable, from want either of funds or of space, one of these instruments would be probably the best substitute that could be found."—From the Musical Record Report, September 1st, 1872.

Elegantly bound in Cloth, gilt edges, price 6s. 6d.

SACRED SONGS FOR LITTLE SINGERS.

(Dedicated, by the gracious permission of Her Majesty, to H.R.H. the Princess Beatrice.)

Words by

FRANCES RIDLEY HAVERGAL.

Music Composed and Arranged by

ALBERTO RANDEGGER.

ILLUSTRATED BY THE BROTHERS DALZIEL.

Price Seven Shillings and Sixpence.

Beautifully printed on superfine paper, elegantly bound, gilt edges.

NATIONAL NURSERY RHYMES

AND

NURSERY SONGS.

SET TO MUSIC BY J. W. ELLIOTT.

With Sixty-five Illustrations by

H. S. MARKS, A.R.A., A. HUGHES, GRISET, HOUGHTON, PINWELL, DALZIELS, F. WALKER FRASER, WIEGAND, ZWECKER, MAHONEY, SMALL, C. GREEN, FRENCH, &c.

ENGRAVED BY THE BROTHERS DALZIEL.

EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

The present volume is intended as a contribution to what may be justly considered a not unimportant department of our national song literature—the Nursery Rhymes namely, which seem appointed, by tacit and universal consent, to be "said or sung," and to be listened to, with unwearied interest and appreciation, in those great National Institutions the British Nursery and Home School-room. To all who are interested in the selection of books for children the book is now offered by the Publishers, with the hope that it may gain general and extended approbation. Especial pains have been taken to secure the suffrage of that still larger public, in petticoats and knickerbockers, whom a genial English writer of the last century, who loved children, and spoke and wrote of them with infinite tenderness and affection, describes as "masters in all the learning on the other side of eight years old."

In composing the musical portion of the volume, especial care has been taken by Mr. Elliott to keep the songs strictly within the capacity of children's execution, and the compass of children's voices. In his own family he has found a young jury ready to test the various tunes, and has chosen only those melodies which found prompt acceptance, were easily remembered, and came trippingly off the tongue.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"As we open this highly ornate work we find ourselves exclaiming—as we once heard a Frenchman, on entering into a newly-furnished room, exclaim—'Luxe epouvantable!'"—Saturday Review.

"Simple as is the style of these pieces, there is much character and considerable elegance about most of them; while the neatness of the volume and its clever illustrations give it a value as a handsome table-book."—Daily News.

"The Brothers Dalziel, with a good many eminent colleagues, have just been offering empirical solutions of the artistic problem how to illustrate a nursery rhyme."—Spectator.

"Without in any way reflecting upon the interior of this book, we pause at the outside to remark that a debt of gratitude is due to the designer of the cover and to the bookbinder. Inside we have all those nursery rhymes which have been in use so long that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, set to very easily acquired and pleasing airs, within the compass of children's voices, and exquisitely illustrated by the Brothers Dalziel. These illustrations are the most humorous and spirited, as well as the most artistic pictorial representation of the absurdities of the nursery rhymes, that we ever remember to have seen."—Echo.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO. NEW YORK: J. L. PETERS.

Now ready, 1 vol., demy 8vo., 6s. 6d.

MUSICAL DEVELOPMENT (An Æsthetical Treatise). By Joseph Goddard.

"It is a work which, for its profound philosophic discernment, its pure and useful treatment of a grand subject, deserves careful study."—London Quarterly Review.

To Teachers and the Principals of Schools.

NEW PIANOFORTE COMPOSITIONS for YOUNG PLAYERS. By Joseph Goddard.

First Series, price 2s. 6d. each.

1. ON THE WATER. 2. IN THE WOODS. 3. AMONG THE HILLS.

Second Series, price 3s. each.

1. O PESCATOR, and BELIEVE ME IF ALL.
2. ZIGANKA.
3. HOME, SWEET HOME.
4. THE GAZELLE.
5. CHERRY RIPE.
6. THE GYPSY.

"All the pieces are extremely melodious. The harmonies are unexceptionable. The fingering is extremely good, and is marked, as it should be, only where it is really necessary."—Musical Times.

"Mr. Goddard deserves the best thanks alike of pianoforte teachers and pupils, and every school should introduce this series of pieces to the pupils."—Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine.

NEW DRAWING-ROOM COMPOSITIONS.—Original, tasteful and elegant. Each post-free for 2s.

LES SYLPHES (Valse Brillante). Gothard.
KISSES SWEET (Polka). Gothard.
STAR OF INDIA (Valse de Concert). Heilbron.
IVY. Gounod.

All the above works are now being played in public with immense success.

To Choral Societies.

SIX ORIGINAL PART-SONGS by CH. GOUNOD. Price 6d. each net.

1. OMNIPOTENT LORD.
2. LITTLE CELANDINE.
3. GITANELLA.
4. BRIGHT STAR OF EVE.
5. MY TRUE LOVE HATH MY HEART.
6. TAKE ME, MOTHER EARTH.

Goddard and Co., 4, Argyll-place, Regent-street.

THOMAS' WELSH SONGS and GLEES. In 36 Nos. as Songs; the same, for 4 voices. Each free by post for 15 stamps. Any separate voice part to the Glees, price 3d. nett. A list forwarded gratis.

London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

HOPE TOLD A FLATTERING TALE. By Netherwood. Brilliantly transcribed for the Pianoforte. Post free for 18 stamps. London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

Songs by the author of "Never mind the rest," suitable for introduction at Readings, Lectures, &c.

THE ENGINE-DRIVER, 4s.; My father's apple-tree, 3s.; Keep a light heart, say I, 3s.; The straight path thro' the wood, 3s.; An English wife for me, 3s.; Now and then, or three hundred years ago, 3s.; Kit Flanagan and the fairy, 3s.; Down by the brookside in the merry month of May, 4s.

Hutchings and Romer, Conduit-st. B. Williams, 19 Paternoster-row

DOWN BY THE BROOKSIDE IN THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY. By the author of "Never mind the rest." This graceful and effective song is now being sung by Mr. Montem Smith with great success, having been in each case re-demanded. 4s.

Hutchings and Romer, 9 Conduit-street.

THE ENGINE-DRIVER, by the author of "Never mind the rest," depicts exciting events in the life of an Engine-driver with remarkable fidelity, stirring words, flowing melody; not difficult; Tenor, Baritone, or Bass; 4s. Hutchings and Romer, 9, Conduit-street.

MR. VERNON RIGBY'S NEW SONG.

I SAW THEE WEEP. Composed expressly for him by Frank Naish. In A flat and F. Price 4s.

Messrs. Duncan Davison and Co., 244, Regent-street, W.

DREAM OF ANGELS, LITTLE ONE. New Song by Franz Abt. One of the celebrated composer's most charming songs. Sent for 2s. Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

NEW SONGS by VIRGINIA GABRIEL.

The Passing Ship. Words by the Earl of Pembroke. 4s.
The Angel and the Child. Words by H. W. Longfellow. 4s.
My one true Love. Words by F. T. Palgrave. 4s.
The Shadow on the Floor. Words by G. M. Elva Wood. 4s.

Half-price.

Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

NOTICE.—GOUNOD'S NEW SONGS.

DUFF and STEWART publish THE BETTER LAND, BIONDINA, HEUREUX SERA LE JOUR, OH, THAT WE TWO WERE MAYING, and THE SEA HATH ITS PEARLS. These songs have been composed and the words selected by M. Gounod during his residence in England. Each song bears his signature.

Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

I LOVE MY LOVE. By Ciro Pinsuti.

"Signor Pinsuti has produced nothing happier than the fresh, brilliant song before us. It is tuneful without being commonplace, and it is accompanied in masterly fashion."—Queen. Sent for 2s. Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford-street.

TEN HYMNS WITH TUNES FOR CHRISTMAS, SELECTED FROM THE HYMNARY.

PRICE ONE PENNY.

O COME, ALL YE FAITHFUL - - Old Melody.
APPROACH, ALL YE FAITHFUL - - J. Barnby.
CHRISTIANS, AWAKE - - - Sir John Goss.
HARK! THE HOSTS OF HEAVEN ARE SINGING H. Smart.
O COME, NEW ANTHEMS LET US SING - H. J. Gauntlett.
HARK! THE HEAVEN'S SWEET MELODY - Sir John Goss.
O COME, LOUD ANTHEMS LET US SING - S. S. Wesley.
CHRIST IS BORN; TELL FORTH HIS FAME - Ch. Gounod.
COME, YE NATIONS, THANKFUL OWN - Sir G. Elvey.
HARK! THE HERALD-ANGELS SING - Mendelssohn.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; New York: J. L. Peters.

Now ready. The second edition of Nine new

CHRISTMAS CAROLS, or HYMNS. In one book. Price One Shilling. "There is no doubt these carols will be as popular as they deserve to be; everyone should possess them." A. Dimoline, Publisher, College-green, Bristol.

Also in the Press, half price—The song, "Little May," Miss Hodges, 3s.; The Beatitude, "Blessed are the pure in heart," trio for three treble voices, 2s. "These are both musical gems."

DR. GAUNTLETT'S CHRISTMAS CAROLS, old and new. For Catalogue, apply to the Church Music Press, 24, Notting Hill-terrace., W.

DR. SPARK'S POPULAR CHRISTMAS ANTHEM, "I shall see Him, but not now." Score, 1s. 6d.; Separate parts, 1s. "Peculiarly interesting and effective."—The Queen.

"A beautiful Anthem which should be used everywhere, 'in choirs and places where they sing.'"—Express.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Second Edition.

CAROLS for the CHURCH SEASONS. Part 1. By Rev. E. Handley, M.A. Price 3d.; or 2s. 6d. per Dozen.

London: Novello, Ewer, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

New Carol for Christmas-tide.

SIMPLE CAROLLERS ARE WE. Words by J. P. Douglas. Music by J. B. Boucher. Price Twopence.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

APPROACH, ALL YE FAITHFUL. Hymn for Christmas. By Benjamin Congreve. Price 1½d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

HATTON'S FAVOURITE CHRISTMAS ANTHEMS. Especially suited to Small Choirs.

Early orders should be given for these popular works.

In the days of Herod the King	0	3
Hosanna to the Son of David	0	2
Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord ...	0	3
Let us now go even unto Bethlehem	0	2
All the ends of the world	0	2

Metzler and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, W.

Price One Penny.

THE CHRISTMAS HYMNS: "Christians, awake," and "Hark! the herald angels sing" (Mendelssohn). Just published in Metzler and Co.'s Series of Penny Part Songs. The Two Hymns newly arranged by Rimbault.

Metzler and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, W.

"CHRISTIANS, AWAKE!" Hymn for Christmas, set to music by John Hullah. Price 3d.

Metzler and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, W.

LITTLE CHRISTMAS. A French Village Legend, with Music for Female Voices, transcribed and adapted for Drawing-room performance. By W. Chalmers Masters. Octavo, Three shillings nett. Also, separately from the above work, Christmas Carol, "With heart and voice let us rejoice." Solo and Chorus. Price 1s.

Lamborn Cock, 63, New Bond-street.

I WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS. Song. Price 6d.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR. Song. Price 6d.

THE HOLLY TREE AND MISTLETOE. Four-part Song. Price 8d.

I WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS. Ditto ,, 3d.

GIVE ME THE LUSTY WINTER TIME. Ditto ,, 3d.

To be had of Dr. Belcher, Hampstead-road, Birmingham.

MUSIC FOR THE COMING SEASON.

Hymns for Christmas.

DYKES, Rev. J. B.—"Christmas, happy Christmas." 8vo., 3d.

FOUR HYMNS.—Set to Music by Dr. Dykes, W. H. Monk, J. Baptiste Calkin, and J. Barnby. 1½d.

HARRIS, EDMUND.—"Hark! the herald angels sing." 4 voices. 6d.

— "High let us swell." 4 voices. 6d.

JONS, DR.—"Hark! the herald angels sing." Four voices. — "Jesus Christ is risen to-day." 4 voices. } Folio, 1s. the two. Class copies, 1½d. each.

MORAINE.—"Hark! the herald angels sing," and "While shepherds watched their flocks." 4 voices. 1s. 6d.

MENDELSSOHN.—"Hark! the herald angels sing." Adapted by W. H. Cummings. Folio, 1s.; 8vo., 1½d.

NOVELLO.—"O come, all ye faithful." The celebrated Christmas Hymn, Adeste Fideles, for Solo, Duet, Trio, and Quartett. Folio, 6d.; class copy, 1½d.; vocal parts, 1s.; orchestral parts, 5s. 6d.

PATTEN, W.—"Hark! the herald angels sing!" Solo. 6d.
— "While shepherds watched their flocks." Solo. 6d.
— "High let us swell our tuneful notes." Solo. 6d.

SMITH, S.—"High let us swell." Solo or Duet with Chorus. 1s.

TILLEARD, J.—"Hark! the herald angels sing." In C, for 4 voices. 6d.
— The same Hymn to a different tune, in F. 6d.

Carols, etc., for Christmas.

BARNBY, JOSEPH.—"When I view the Mother holding." Treble voices. 8vo., 2d.
— "'Twas in the winter cold." 4 voices. 8vo., 2d.
— "Holy night! Peaceful night!" 4 voices. 8vo., 2d.
— "O come, all ye faithful." 4 voices. 2d.

BRAMLEY AND STAINER.—"Christmas Carols," New and Old. The words edited by the Rev. H. R. Bramley, M.A. The music edited by John Stainer, M.A., Mus. Doc. Set I., 1s. 6d.; words, 1½d.; cloth gilt, 2s. 6d. Set II., 1s. 6d.; words, 1½d.; cloth gilt, 2s. 6d.; together, cloth, 4s.; also in separate numbers at 1d. each. Large edition, beautifully illustrated, cloth, 7s. 6d.

COOPER, J. T.—"There were whisp'rings in the heavens." 4 voices. 8vo. — "Shades of silent night dividing." 4 voices. 8vo. } Class copies, 1½d.

LEE, S.—"Shades of silent night dividing." 4 voices. 8vo.

MOODBAN, C.—The Christmas Fairies. "Brave spirits of the woods are we." Glee, S.S.T.B. 9d. Small class copy, 1½d.

ROSVENOR, THE HON. VICTORIA.—"Carol, carol, Christians." 4 voices, 1s. 8vo., 3d.

SANDLEY, EDWARD.—Four Carols. 3d.
Dedicated (by permission) to the Lord Bishop of Oxford.

TAVERGAL, H. E.—"Six Christmas Carols." For 4 voices. I. Christmas Morn. II. The Kings of the East. III. The Star. IV. The Angel's Song. V. The Holy Birth. VI. The Humiliation. 1s. Vocal parts, 2d. each.
— A Christmas Carol. Words by Ben Jonson. For 1 or 4 voices. 6d.

TELMORE AND NEALE.—Carols for Christmas-tide. Set to Ancient Melodies by the Rev. Thomas Helmore, M.A. Words principally imitation of the original, by the Rev. J. M. Neale, D.D.

Vocal score for 4 voices, with organ accompaniment, folio...	s.	d.
	4	6
Treble part, 18mo.	0	6
Ditto, in packets of 50	20	0
Compressed score, 18mo.	1	0
The words only, 32mo.	0	1½
Ditto, in packets of 50	5	0

TONS, THOMAS.—A Christmas Madrigal. "The winter winds are blowing." 4 voices. Folio size, 6d. Class copy, 1½d.

WINDSAY, MISS.—"Carol, carol, Christians." 4 voices. 8vo. 3d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—"Christmas." A Four-part Song. Words by Leigh Hunt. 1s. Small class copy, 1½d. Vocal parts, 6d.

MACRAY.—"A song, a song keep singing." A Christmas Carol. 4 voices. 6d.

MATHEY.—"O! Christmas is the season." Madrigal, 4 voices. 9d.

MONK, DR. E. G.—"See the morning star." For Christmas. 4 voices. — "Sing the battle sharp and glorious." For Easter. 4 voices. } Folio, 1s. the two. Class copies, 1½d. each.

NOVELLO.—"The twelfth night song." 4 voices. Words by Herrick. 1s. 6d. Class copy, 1½d.

PEARSALL, R. L.—Caput Apri Defero. "The Boar's Head." Song for 4 voices. 1s.; vocal parts, 4d.
— "Come let us be merry." Song for 4 voices, 1s. Class copy, 1½d.; vocal parts, 8d.
— "In dulci jubilo." An ancient Carol. Folio, 1s. 6d.; octavo, 3d.

SILAS, E.—"Christmas Carol." 6 voices. From the Noel Bourguignon de Cui Barôrai. Translated by H. W. Longfellow. Vocal score, 3s. 6d.; Vocal parts, 1s.

SULLIVAN, A. S.—"The last night of the year." A Four-part Song. Folio, 1s.: octavo, 1½d.

"THE Boar's Head Carol," and "O the Roast Beef of Old England." 1½d.

WESTBROOK, W. J.—"Holly berries, holly berries." Carol. For 4 voices. 6d.

Anthems for Christmas.

ALLEN, GEORGE B.—"In the beginning was the Word." Vocal score, 1s.; ditto, 8vo, 1½d.; vocal parts, 9d.

BARNBY, J.—"The Grace of God that bringeth salvation." For 4 voices, with Treble solo, 1s.; class copy, 1½d.; vocal parts, 7½d.
— "Drop down, ye Heavens." Tenor Solo and Chorus, 1s.; vocal parts, 9d.
— "Sing and rejoice." Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s.; vocal parts, 1s.; class copy, 1½d.

BEST, W. T.—"While Shepherds watched their flocks by night." For a Bass voice, with Chorus. Vocal score, 1s.; vocal parts, 6d.
— "Behold I bring you glad tidings." For a five-part Chorus and Organ. Vocal score, 1s. 6d.; vocal parts, 1s.

CLARKE, J. HAMILTON.—"There were Shepherds abiding in the fields." Four voices. Vocal score, 1s.; vocal parts, 1s.

ELVEY, Sir G. J.—"Arise, shine, for Thy Light is come." Full for S.A.T.B., 9d.; vocal parts, 6d.; class copy, 1½d.

GADSBY, HENRY.—"Sing, O daughter of Sion." 4 voices. Vocal score, folio, 1s.; do., 8vo, 3d.; vocal parts, 1s.

GLADSTONE, W. H.—"Behold how good and joyful." 4 voices. Folio, 2s.

GOSS, Sir J.—"Behold, I bring you good tidings." Full for S.A.T.B., 6d.; vocal parts, 6d.; class copy, 1½d.

GOUNOD, CH.—"O sing to God" (Noel). For Soprano and Alto, with Chorus of female voices, 2s. 6d.; class copy, 6d.; vocal parts, 4½d.; orchestral parts, 8s. 9d.

GREENE.—"Behold, I bring you glad tidings." For two Trebles or Tenors, with Chorus for 4 voices. 1s. 6d.; vocal parts, 10½d.

HATTON, J. L.—"Blessed be the Lord God of Israel." Four voices. 2s. 6d.; vocal parts, 1s.

HOPKINS, E. J.—"Let us now go even unto Bethlehem." S.A.T.B., 9d.; vocal parts, 6d.; class copy, 1½d.

JACKSON, W. (Masham).—"O come hither and behold." Full, 4 voices, with short Bass solo. 1s.; vocal parts, 6d.
— "O Zion, that bringest good tidings." Full, 4 voices, 1s.; vocal parts, 1s.
— "Sing, O Heavens." 4 voices, 1s.; vocal parts, 6d.

LESLIE, HENRY.—"Fear not, we bring you good tidings." Full, 4 voices, 9d.; vocal parts, 6d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—"For unto us was born." 2 voices, Soprano and Bass. 8vo., 6d.
— "Behold the tabernacle." For 2 voices. 6d.
— "He cometh forth." 4 voices. 8vo., 2d.
— "While all things were in quiet silence." 8vo., 1½d.

MENDELSSOHN.—"Rejoice, O ye people." 8 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 6d.
— Ditto, arranged for 4 voices by Dr. Steggall. Vocal score, folio, 9d. 8vo., ditto, 1½d.

MONK, W. H.—"Hallelujah! for unto us a child is born." Full, 4 voices, 6d.; class copy, 1½d.

NOVELLO.—"Sing unto the Lord." Short Anthem for S.A.T.B., with verse for 4 Trebles, 9d.; small class copy, in score, 1½d.; vocal parts, 7½d.

PERGOLESI.—"Glory to God in the highest." 4 voices. 8vo., 1½d.

PURCELL.—"Behold I bring you glad tidings." Verse, A.T.B. Folio, vocal score, 1s.; vocal parts, 10½d.

SEWELL, JOHN.—"Break forth into joy." 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. vocal parts, 1s.

SMITH, CHARLES W.—"Behold I bring you glad tidings." 4 voices. Folio, 6d.; 8vo., 1½d.

SPARK, Dr. W.—"I shall see him, but not now" (Balaam's prophecy). 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. 6d.; vocal parts, 1s.

THORNE, E. H.—"In the beginning was the Word." Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 9d.; class copy, 1½d.; vocal parts, 6d.

TURLE, JAMES.—"This is the day which the Lord hath made." 8vo., 3d.

VERRINDER, C. G.—"The light hath shined." 8vo., 1½d.

VITTORIA.—"Behold I bring you glad tidings." S.A.T.B. Vocal score, 9d.; class copy, 1½d.

WESLEY, S. S.—"Blessed be the Lord God of Israel." Full, 4 voices, 1s. 6d.; vocal parts, 1s.; class copy, 1½d.
— "Glory be to God on high." 8vo., 2d.

CHAPPELL & CO.

Have now on View the largest Stock in London of PIANOFORTES by all the great Makers, of ALEXANDRE HARMONIUMS, greatly improved, and of ORGAN HARMONIUMS. Any of these Instruments can be Hired for Three Years, and, provided each Quarterly Instalment shall have been regularly paid in advance, the Instrument becomes the property of the hirer at the expiration of the third year.

THE ALEXANDRE NEW SIX-GUINEA ORGAN HARMONIUM.

SOLID OAK CASE, FIVE OCTAVES, AND TWO FOOT-BOARDS.

The ever-increasing musical culture of all classes of society has established so large a demand for free reed instruments that many makers have sprung up who offer articles of such inferior and nasal quality of tone that the title of Harmonium suggests to many lovers of music the nearest approach to an instrument of torture that can be met with in the present age.

In the Instruments now offered to the public the tone will be found divested of all that has hitherto been considered objectionable. This end has been obtained by using a larger and thicker tongue, and a new system of voicing, which renders the tone rich and organ-like.

Another advantage in the new system is the increased strength of the reeds, and diminished liability to go out of tune by forcing the bellows.

The new system is applied to all the large instruments with still greater effect, and without extra cost.

CHAPPELL & CO., 50, NEW BOND STREET.

NEW WORK FOR SINGING CLASSES.

CHAPPELL'S PENNY OPERATIC PART-SONGS.

For Soprano, Alto, Tenor, and Bass.

The present collection of Part-Songs is entirely new, being selected and adapted from the most striking and popular Choruses in the Favourite Foreign Operas. The Arrangement is purely Vocal, such Choruses only being chosen as can be sung without the aid of an Instrumental Accompaniment. The Words have been expressly written for the work and the harmonies arranged in four parts, as likely to be most useful in small classes.

1.	Hymn of the Fisherman's Children	Adapted to a Melody from Herold's "ZAMPA."
2.	Fays and Elves (In mia fe)	... ... From Flotow's "MARTA."
3.	Spring's Bright Glances (In Elvezia non v'ha) ...	... From Bellini's "LA SONNAMBULA."
4.	From Yonder Vale and Hill (D'immenso giubilo) ...	From Donizetti's "LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR."
5.	Here we Rest (Qui la selva)	... From Bellini's "LA SONNAMBULA."
6.	Onward to Battle (Squilli echeggi)	... ... From Verdi's "TROVATORE."
7.	Rataplan (Rataplan)	From Donizetti's "LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO."
8.	The Gipsy's Star (Vedi! le fosche)	... ... From Verdi's "IL TROVATORE,"
9.	War Song of the Druids (Dell' aura tua profetica) ...	... ... From Bellini's "NORMA."
10.	In Mercy, hear us! (Cielo clemente)	From Donizetti's "LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO."
11.	Come to the Fair! (Accorete, giovinette)	... ... From Flotow's "MARTA."
12.	Friendship (Per te d'immenso giubilo)	From Donizetti's "LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR."
13.	Away, the Morning freshly breaking (The Chorus of Fishermen).	... ... From Auber's "MASANIELLO."
14.	Pretty Village Maiden (Peasants' Serenade Chorus). ...	... ... From Gounod's "FAUST."
15.	The soft Winds around us (The Gipsy Chorus)	... ... From Weber's "PRECIOSA."
16.	See how lightly on the blue sea (Senti la danza invitaci) ...	From Donizetti's "LUCREZIA BORGIA."
17.	See the Moonlight Beam (Non fav Motto)	" " " "
18.	On yonder rocks reclining	" " From Auber's "FRA DIAVOLO."
19.	Happy and light	From Balfe's "BOHEMIAN GIRL"
20.	Come, come away (Ah! que de moins)	From Donizetti's "LA FAVORITA."
21.	Hymen's torch (Il destin)	From Meyerbeer's "LES HUGUENOTS."
22.	Come on, Comrade (The celebrated Chorus of Old Men) ...	... From Gounod's "FAUST."
23.	'Gainst the Powers of Evil (The Chorale of the Cross) ...	... " "
24.	O Balmy night (Com è gentil)	From Donizetti's "DON PASQUALE."

Postage free, 1½d. each; or 3 for 3½d.

(To be continued.)

A NEW WORK FOR THE ORGAN.

HANDEL'S CHORUSES

Arranged for the Organ, with PEDAL OBBLIGATO, EXPRESSLY for the use of AMATEURS, by DR. RIMBAULT. Price 3s. each. Nos. 1 to 12 are now ready:—

No. 1. ZADOCK THE PRIEST.	No. 5. SING UNTO GOD.	No. 9. FOR UNTO US A CHILD IS BORN.
2. FROM THE CENSER.	6. HALLELUJAH.	10. HE TRUSTED IN GOD.
3. WE NEVER WILL BOW DOWN.	7. LIFT UP YOUR HEADS.	11. BUT THE WATERS OVERWHELMED THEM.
4. HE GAVE THEM HAILSTONES.	8. LET US BREAK THEIR BONDS ASUNDER.	12. THE HORSE AND HIS RIDER.

(To be continued.)

The present publication has been undertaken with a view to supply a musical want long felt by amateurs and lovers of the organ, i.e., an edition of HANDEL'S CELEBRATED CHORUSES arranged for the organ with pedal obbligato, that shall be effective, combining all the salient parts of the score, and yet at the same time be within the reach of those performers who have not made the instrument their entire study. We have, it is true, many arrangements; some for "Organ or Pianoforte," others by our most eminent organists. The first belong to a past age; the second, in all cases, are only fit for professional performers, and require an amount of skill for their proper execution rarely attained by amateurs. In the present edition, the notation has been carefully studied so as to simplify the reading, whilst the pedals, in all cases of difficulty, have the assistance of the left hand of the performer. Many other points have been considered so as to render the arrangement fitted to the object it has in view—to supply an edition of HANDEL'S CHORUSES for the Organ expressly for the amateur.

CHAPPELL & CO., 50, NEW BOND STREET, LONDON.

Printed by NOVELLO, EWER and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.) Sold also by KENT and Co., Paternoster-row; and J. L. PETERS, 599, Broadway, New York.—Saturday, November 30, 1872.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

And Singing-Class Circular,

Published on the 1st of every Month.

The Music Pages only are stereotyped, those persons who would possess the Musical Articles, Notices, Advertisements, &c., can only ensure doing so by taking the work as it appears.

No. 359.—Vol. 15. Registered for transmission abroad. JANUARY 1, 1873. Price 2*d.*; Post-free, 2½*d.* Annual Subscription, Postage-free, 2*s.* 6*d.*

CHARLES HALLE'S "PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE SCHOOL."

PREFACE.

A few remarks will suffice to explain the object of this Publication and its distinguishing features.

"The Practical Pianoforte School" will consist of a series of Pieces selected from the best Composers, and calculated to guide Students, by gradual steps, from the very beginning to the highest degree of execution, and at the same time to form their taste and style.

The Work will be divided into five sections, namely, Elementary, Easy, Moderately Difficult, Difficult, and Very Difficult. Commencing with the rudiments of Musical Notation, the Pieces will succeed each other in such progressive order that Students, after having mastered one number, may safely proceed to the next, thus sparing both Teacher and Pupil the difficult task of selection.

Each Piece will be prefaced by a certain number of Exercises written expressly by me for this Publication, and having some bearing upon the difficulties of the Composition which they introduce. The daily practice of these Exercises should always precede that of the Piece, until both are mastered.

Long experience has convinced me that the usual mode of fingering is insufficient from the danger of contracting bad habits, as they cannot always be under the eye of th yet require a constant guide in this, more than in any other matter. Every note therefore r except that in the case of reiterated chords the fingering will be marked only once, and be fingered when they are to be played with the thumb and fourth finger.

All turns, shakes, appoggiaturas, and other ornaments, will be clearly explained whenever their proper execution may be doubtful; and in the more advanced Pieces the in brackets, supplementary signs of expression, where they may appear to me to faci rendering of the Composer's intention. These I give on my own responsibility, and as r of the master-pieces which I have made my study for many years.

Two Metronome marks will be prefixed to every Piece and Exercise;—the firs time beyond which Students ought not to venture before they can play both Piece and Exercise without fault; and the second giving the correct time.

The utmost endeavours will be used to keep the entire Work free from errors, and the greatest care bestowed upon its publication which the long and intimate relations I have had with Messrs. Forsyth Brothers have led me to entrust to them.

A long experience as a Teacher and Performer, and a thorough acquaintance with the whole range of Pianoforte Music, encourage me in the hope that this "Practical Pianoforte School" may prove what I wish it to be—a safe guide towards a sound musical Education.

Charles Hallé.

Forsyth Brothers have great pleasure in announcing that they have been entrusted by Mr. Charles Hallé with the publication of his Practical Pianoforte School, the nature and object of which Mr. Hallé has so fully explained in his Preface, that they need do little more than draw attention to the latter.

Section 1, "Elementary," consisting of Six Numbers,—Section 2, "Easy," Twenty Numbers, and Eight Numbers of Section 3, "Moderately Difficult," will be ready early in January, and may be ordered through any Music-seller, or direct from Forsyth Brothers.

The remaining numbers of Section 3, and also Sections 4 and 5, will be published as speedily as possible.

Each number will be sold at half the marked price, and postage free.

FORSYTH BROTHERS,

LONDON, REGENT CIRCUS, OXFORD STREET. MANCHESTER, CROSS STREET, AND SOUTH KING STREET.

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MRS. ALFRED J. SUTTON (Soprano)
Is open to engagements for Concerts and Oratorios.
54, Duchess-road, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

MISS BLANCHE REIVES (Principal Soprano only).
Oratorios, Opera, Concerts, &c. 28, Queen's-road, Norland-square, W., and 106, Renfrew-street, Glasgow.

MISS ELLEN GLANVILLE (Soprano),
2, Percy-terrace, Ladbroke-grove-road, Notting-hill, W.

MISS AGNES LARKCOM (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. 14, Bedford-street, Reading.

MISS JENNY TWIGG (Soprano).
Oratorios, Concerts, &c. 41, Hampton Villas, Clough-road, Sheffield.

MISS CLELLAND (Soprano)
Announces change of residence to 15, Elizabeth-street, Cheetham-hill, Manchester, where communications for Concerts and Lessons may be addressed.

MRS. J. W. JACKSON (Soprano).
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c., address 56, Lee-crescent, Birmingham.

MADAME MARIE ROUSSEL (Soprano).
Ballad Concerts, &c.
Address Mr. F. H. Horscroft, Cathedral, Salisbury.

MISS KATE WILD (Contralto).
Address 14, Addington-square, S.E.

MISS GLEDHILL (Contralto).
Concerts and Pupils. 51, Devonshire-road, N.

MADAME ARNOLD POTTER (Contralto).
50, Elmore-street, Islington, N.

MISS SOFIA FREEMAN (Contralto),
46, Bentinck-place, Little Horton-lane, Bradford.

MISS RUTH HARLOW (Contralto).
For Oratorios, Miscellaneous Concerts, etc.
Address Lark-hill, Tonge, Middleton.

MR. ALFRED KENNINGHAM (Tenor),
Of St. Andrew's, Wells-street, recently appointed to St. Paul's Cathedral.
Address 3, Alfred-place, Bedford-square, W.

MR. ALBERT JAMES (Tenor).
Address Tenby-villa, Horton-road, Dalston, E.

MR. HERBERT WALKER (Tenor).
For Oratorio and Concert Engagements. Address 78, Osborne-street, Bradford, Yorks.

MR. J. MELLOR (Tenor).
For Oratorios and Concerts, &c., address Vansittart-road, Windsor.

MR. REED LARWILL (Tenor),
Of Crystal Palace and London Popular Concerts. Glasgow and Edinburgh, January and February. For Oratorios, Opera Concerts, &c.
Address, 36, Cumming-street, Pentonville, London, and Mr. Airlie, Saturday Evening Concerts, Glasgow.

MR. J. H. PEARSON (Counter or High Tenor).
Principal, Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. STEDMAN (Tenor).
Address 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. GREENHILL (Tenor.)
For Concerts, Pupils, &c., 1, St. George's-terrace, Kilburn.

W. M. DYSON (Tenor).
For Oratorios or Concerts. Address Cathedral Choir, Worcester.

MR. GEORGE W. B. CREAKE (Principal Tenor).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address The Cathedral, Ely.

MR. N. DUMVILLE (Principal Tenor).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. WILLIAM DUMVILLE (Tenor),
5, Elvington-street, Hulme, or Cathedral, Manchester.

W. H. BLISS (Tenor).
For Oratorio and Concert Engagements, apply to Brandon-villa, Court-hill, Lewisham.

CARLOS LOVATT, Vocalist (Baritone).
For Oratorios, address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. MONTEITH RANDELL (Basso).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Apply, 47, Johnson-street, Ladywood, Birmingham.

MR. FARLEY SINKINS (Basso).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.; also for Oxford Glee Party.
Address Principal Bass, Ch. Ch. Cathedral, Oxford.

MR. T. WOODWARD (Bass).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Gloucester.

C. D. COLLET (Bass, Teacher of Singing),
Sunnybank, Hazleville-road, Hornsey-lane, Highgate, N.

MR. THORNTON WOOD (Bass)
(Of the Royal Albert Hall Concerts), for Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address 2, Hallfield-place, Bradford, Yorks.

MR. F. H. HORSCROFT,
Principal Bass of Salisbury Cathedral.
Concerts, Oratorios, &c. Address The Cathedral, Salisbury.

MR. O. CHRISTIAN (Basso).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address, 18, Adelaide-square, Windsor.

MR. H. WATSON (Solo Pianist and Accompanist).
For terms, &c., address 25, Market-place, Manchester.

MR. J. TILLEARD,
Removed to Seaton-villa, Slaithwaite-road, Lewisham, S.E.
Lessons in Singing and Composition.

T. R. WILLIS, Organ Builder,
29, Minories, London, E. Wood and Metal Pipe Maker.
Voicing, Tuning, and Repairing. List sent for stamp.
Second-hand Organs for Sale.

T. R. WILLIS (established 1827,) Maker and Importer of Brass and Wood Instruments, Harmonium Reeds, Music Strings, Wire, &c., Violins, Concertinas, &c. 29, Minories, London. List for stamp.

IMPORTANT TO MUSIC SELLERS.—Having the largest varied Stock of Music in Europe, orders received in the morning are executed the same day, or if in stock posted immediately if required. Terms highly advantageous.
London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

MUSIC ENGRAVED, PRINTED, AND PUBLISHED in the best style, and on moderate terms, a statement of which sent on application by B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

The King of all Reed Instruments yet invented.

W. HATTERSLEY and CO.'S Celebrated Improved HARMONIUMS, for quality of tone, rapidity of touch, workmanship, improved action, &c., stand unequalled. These charming instruments have been compared side by side with the American organs, and pronounced superior at half the price.

DRAWING ROOM MODEL,
Full Organ Tone, with knee swell to Treble and Bass, all stops effective.
9 Stops, Walnut case, 17 guineas.
12 „ Burr „ 22 „
13 „ „ „ 26 „
Lists of prices and testimonials free.
W. Hattersley and Co., 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS in HARMONIUMS.—W. HATTERSLEY and Co.'s celebrated IMPROVED HARMONIUMS, pronounced by the profession to be the nearest approach in tone to the organ of any hitherto invented. This improvement produces a rich, full, organ-like quality of tone, entirely free from all harsh or reedy sound, and by the careful voicing of the reeds, the articulation is fully equal in rapidity to the pianoforte. These instruments are manufactured by us for private sales only, and of the best materials and workmanship. W. Hattersley and Co., Harmonium Manufacturers, 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield (late 95 and 107, Meadow-street).
Lists of prices and testimonials free.

RUSSELL'S MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

CONCERTINAS, Harmoniums, Organ-Accordions. Flutinas, Drums, Fifes, Flutes, Violins, Cornets, Saxhorns, Clarionets, Flageolets, Guitars, Banjos, Musical Boxes, Strings, &c. Self-Instruction books. Instruments repaired or exchanged. Price lists free. J. Russell, 158, Goswell-road, Clerkenwell, London.

ACCURATE METRONOMES, 1s., post free. Rudiments of Singing, 1s. per dozen. Singing Class Tutor, 7th ed., 6d. each. D. Scholefield, Trinity-street, Huddersfield.

E. & W. SNELL'S IMPROVED HARMONIUMS. For tone, touch, articulation, and general excellence, are pronounced by the profession and public the best and cheapest manufactured. Price lists, with full description, free of E. and W. Snell, 37, Kelly-street (re-named), Kentish-town, London, N.W. Manufactory, Little King-street-north. Trade supplied. Pedal Harmoniums on Organ Principles.

BRASS, REED, STRING, and DRUM and FIFE BANDS, PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS, supplied at wholesale prices at J. MOORE'S, Buxton-road, Huddersfield. Patterns and prices post free. Music for any kind of band. Patronised by the army, navy, and rifle corps.

KELLY'S ORGAN HARMONIUMS, as manufactured for Her Majesty, are the only instruments of English manufacture that received any award at the Paris and Dublin Exhibition. A liberal allowance to the clergy.—11, Charles-street, Berners-street. Price lists post free.

SECOND-HAND PIANOFORTES, by Broadwood, Collard, Erard, and other makers, always in stock; also PARISIAN PIANOFORTES, at prices suitable to the trade, for cash only.

HARGREAVES'S PROFESSIONAL AND CONNOISSEURS' HARMONIUM.

The following Testimonial from Boyton Smith, Esq., in reference to No. 3 of this model, is addressed to all who desire the most satisfactory instrument of the Harmonium class ever yet offered to the public:—

"Dear Sir,

"The Harmonium I had of you some time since is

"The most satisfactory instrument of the class I ever had.

"The mechanical arrangement

"Is excellent, and has never been out of order.

"While from the

"Agreeable quality and variety of its tone, it is ever a pleasure to play upon it.

"I have never tired of it, as I have of other kinds; and it is

"Its capability of producing continued new effects that renders it truly as you style it

"'THE PROFESSOR'S HARMONIUM.'"

"My violoncello stop is the wonder of every one,

"So close is the resemblance.

"Yours faithfully,

"Weymouth, 1872." "BOYTON SMITH.

See testimonials from Dr. H. Leslie and others.

Another model constructed with 2 manuals, surpasses all Harmoniums hitherto constructed, in offering some distinct qualities in voicing from the most delicate upwards, and some novelties.

HARGREAVES'S AMERICAN IRON FRAME PIANO

Has a double iron frame cast in one piece; cross strings, suspended soundboard: it is the ne plus ultra of piano construction, excelling all others made with wooden bracings, or mixed iron and wood bracings, falsely called iron frame Pianos. It is especially addressed to all those wishing to possess the finest toned instrument that money can purchase.

The above specialities at

William Hargreaves, 61, Dale-street, Manchester.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

BREAVINGTON and SONS having succeeded in manufacturing, under their patents, instruments of finer quality of tone, of greater volume and power than any of those imported, desire to extend their manufactory. Capital only is required to make this one of the most profitable investments of the day, as the Organs can be made at half the price of those imported, the sale at a low price being unlimited. £5,000 to £10,000 required, or the patents, plant, and newly-invented and perfected Reed, Tube, Sound Board, and all necessary machinery and plant for sale. Particulars by letter addressed to 108, Lancaster-road, Notting-hill.

References as to the quality of the Organs—Henry Smart, Esq., Dr. Steggall, R. Limpus, and Charles E. Stephens, Esqs.

A. MONK'S 100 GUINEA ORGANS.—2 manuals (full compass), 10 stops, bourdon pedal pipes. Organs from 30 guineas. 7 stop ORGAN (new) FOR SALE, general swell and pedals, 65 guineas. Angler's-lane, Kentish-town-road, London.

ORGAN to be SOLD, by Gray and Davison, now in the Church of S. Paul, Bow Common, E. Address the Vicar.

ORGAN.—To be SOLD, a fine powerful ORGAN, now in Albion-street Chapel. Two complete sets of keys, 24 stops, and open pedal pipes, large scale. Can be seen and heard.—John Whittaker, 180, Stamford-street, Ashton under Lyne.

WANTED, a good second hand ORGAN for a small Church. Two manuals preferred; also pedals. Price must be moderate. Address (giving size, price, and full particulars), T. W. K., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, London.

PEDAL PIANOFORTE. — To be SOLD, cheap. The Piano, a square, by Broadwood; the pedals nearly new. Full compass C to F, 2⅝ octaves. Enquire of Mr. H. Wedlake, 28, Lime-street, Camden-town.

ORGAN for PRACTICE.—2 manuals, full compass, 30 bourdon pedal pipes, CCC to F.—Mr. Warren's Organ Studio 245, Kentish-town-road.

TO ORGANISTS.—PRACTICE may be had on a very fine ORGAN. Two manuals, swell, variety of stops, 2½ of pedals, and Bourdon to CCC. Terms very moderate. Address E. Francis, Organist of St. Peter's (W.C.), 183, Upper-street, Islington, N.

ORGAN STUDIO, 166, Strand.—LESSONS or PRACTICE (and at St. Michael's, Stockwell, S.W.) on fine two-manual C ORGANS—(HILL and SON)—Pedal compass, 29 notes. Apply to W. VENNING SOUTHGATE, at his Studio. (Organist, St. Michael's, Stockwell.)

ORGAN LESSONS and PRACTICE on a fine new Instrument, with two manuals, 15 stops, 2½ octaves of pedals, with Bourdons throughout. Terms moderate. Allen's Musical Instrument Warehouse, 17, Percy-street, Bedford-square, W. Lessons and practice on other Instruments also.

PROFESSIONAL Persons can be accommodated with the use of a ROOM and PIANOFORTE for giving LESSONS; or for a Quartett Party, at Harris's Music Library, 33, Rathbone-place, W.

MADAME RIPPON (Contralto), Mr. A. F. RIPPON (Violinist), Soloist or Leader. For Oratorios, Concerts, &c., address Schubert House, Crown-street, Reading.

MISS GRACE ARMYTAGE (Mrs. H. C. Sanders), Primo Soprano (London and Provincial Concerts, Dublin, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Belfast, &c., &c.). MR. HENRY C. SANDERS, Principal Baritone, for Oratorio, Concerts, Opera, &c., &c., 2, Athalstane-villas, Stroud-green-road, Finsbury-park, N.

MADAME LAURA BAXTER (Member of the Royal Academy of Music, first principal Contralto, Royal Italian Opera, Drury Lane, Royal English Opera, Covent Garden, Sacred Harmonic Society, Exeter Hall, &c.), begs to request that all communications respecting ENGAGEMENTS for Oratorios and Concerts, may be addressed to her at her private residence, 53, Bedford-square, W.C.

MRS. NOBLE (Associate R. A. Music), Professor of Singing, receives Private and Professional Pupils. Address 3, Fitzroy-street, Fitzroy-square, W. Mrs. NOBLE's highly successful Pupils, Miss ELLEN HORNE (Soprano), 13, Torriano-avenue, Camden-road, N.W., and Madame POOLE (Contralto), 32A, George-street, Hanover-square, W., continue to accept ENGAGEMENTS (together or separately) for Oratorios, Concerts, &c., in London and in the Provinces.

MISS ELCHO (Pianiste) requests that all communications respecting Concert and Soirée Engagements, and Lessons (Pianoforte and Singing), may be addressed to her, 15, Albert-road, Abbey-road, N.W., where critiques may be obtained.

THE ENGLISH GLEE UNION (Sixth Season).
Mr. H. ASHTON. Mr. T. PEARSON.
Mr. J. F. MEEN, and Mr. J. RUDKIN.
Assisted by
Madame ASHTON.
(Miss F. Danielson.)
Are prepared to give their Musical Entertainments at Institutions, &c. For terms, &c., address J. Rudkin, Sackville-house, Brook-green, Hammersmith, W.

VOCAL QUARTETTE for ORATORIOS, CONCERTS, &c.
MISS MYERS ... ...
MRS. LINCEY-NALTON
MR. HERBERT WALKER
MR. THORNTON WOOD
And, when needed, Mr. ALFRED MOORE ... monium), Organist to the Bradford Exchange.
For terms, apply to Thornton ... Ballfield

DEAN'S ORCHESTRAL BAND meets in the large Class Room every Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Academy of Music, 77, City-road, for the Practice and Public Performance of the works of the best masters. Competent amateurs are invited to attend. Conductor, Mr. H. J. Dean.

OLD VIOLINS.—Great Bargains.—Panormo, £9; Betts, £7 10s.; Fendt, £6 10s. Old violin, £4, 15s. Also, two or three Italian instruments (exchanged if not approved of). Very best Italian, 1s. 6d., or sent for 7 stamps. John Alfred Mills, 36A, Moorgate-street.

ONE GUINEA'S worth of MUSIC for 2s. 6d., slightly soiled, including the surplus of the past year's issue. Post free, 2s. 10d. JAMES SMITH & SON, 76, 74, and 72, Lord-street, Liverpool.

PASCALL'S VOICE JUJUBES.

Strongly recommended to Singers and Public Speakers. Agreeable and effective. In boxes only, Sixpence and One Shilling each, or post free for eight and fourteen stamps. None genuine without the name and address on each box.—Jas. Pascall, 21, Wells-street, Oxford-street, London, W.

LITHOGRAPHIC COPYING cheaper, and equal to engraved. Excellent system for supplying and publishing all kinds of music. Specimen. F. Wood, 32, Vincent-square, Westminster.

QUARTERLY SALE OF UNREDEEMED MUSICAL PROPERTY. 75 Pianofortes, by Broadwood, Collard, Erard, Kirkman, Allison. 12 Gothic and Grecian Harps, by Erard, Eral, &c., &c. 5 splendid 7-octave Grand Pianofortes, by Broadwood, Collard, and Erard, in Walnut and Rosewood cases. Also, several Parisian Obliques, by Bord; Harmoniums, by Alexandre, Christophe and Etienne, &c. A number of valuable old Violins, Violoncellos, modern Guitars, Concertinas, Flutes, Accordions. A large quantity of new Sheet Music and Bound Works. MR. C. KELLY will SELL by AUCTION, at 11, Charles-street, Berners-street, Oxford-street, on Wednesday, January 8th, 1873, at 1 o'clock precisely, the stock of a Music Seller in the West of England, and Unredeemed Pledges from the principal London Pawnbrokers, comprising some of the finest instruments ever manufactured. May be viewed, and Catalogues had the day prior and on morning of Sale.

Now ready. Small 4to. Price 1s. Treble Part, price 6d. (Alto, Tenor and Bass Parts, price 6d. each, will be shortly ready.)

SECOND SERIES.

THE

CANTICLES AND HYMNS

OF THE CHURCH,

POINTED FOR CHANTING, AND SET TO APPROPRIATE ANGLICAN CHANTS SINGLE AND DOUBLE;

TOGETHER WITH

Responses to the Commandments,

EDITED BY THE

REV. SIR F. A. G. OUSELEY, BART., ETC.,

AND

EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This Work contains a Selection of Double (besides additional Single) Chants; together with special settings of "Benedicite," and a Collection of Kyrie Eleisons, old and new.

This Pointing of the Canticles is authorised by His Grace the Archbishop of York.

London: NOVELLO, EWER & CO., 1, Berners Street, and 35, Poultry. New York: J. L. PETERS, 599, Broadway.

THE BRISTOL TUNE BOOK.—A Manual of Tunes and Chants, intended as a companion to all Hymn Books, containing 258 Tunes (100 varieties of metre), and 85 Single and Double Chants. The whole arranged in Short Score, and the Harmonies carefully selected from the best authorities, with ruled music paper for manuscript additions. Adopted in several hundred congregations. More than 100,000 copies have already been sold.

No. 1 Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 6d.
„ 2. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 3s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION.

„ 3. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 0d.
„ 4. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 2s. 6d.

Congregations or Associations requiring large quantities may obtain them on special terms by application to the Bristol Publishers.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Bristol: W. and F. Morgan; and all booksellers and musicsellers.

NOW READY,

A New and Enlarged Selection of

PSALMS, HYMNS and ANTHEMS, arranged for Congregational or Private use, by SAMUEL SMITH, Bradford.

Very neat and compact, 218 pp. Imperial 32mo.

In limp cloth, edges turned in 1 0
Cloth boards, coloured edges, gilt lettered 1 6
Roan, gilt edges, and lettered 2 0

London: Hamilton, Adams and Co.; and Novello, Ewer and Co.
Bradford: Thomas Brear.

THE BRADFORD TUNE BOOK and PSALMS and CHANTS, together or separate, supplied in all the various forms, as before.

Eighth Edition.

TUNES NEW AND OLD.—Comprising all the metres in the Wesleyan Hymn Book; also Chants, Responses, and Doxologies. Compiled by JOHN DOBSON, and for the most part revised and re-arranged by HENRY JOHN GAUNTLETT, Mus. Doc. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Sold also at 66, Paternoster-row. Prices: plain cloth, 3s. 6d.: cloth lettered, 4s.: cloth extra, gilt edges, 5s.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges.

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes, as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN; containing nearly 270 Tunes for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SCHOOLS and CHOIRS.—The Rudiments of Vocal Music, with 32 Preparatory Exercises, Rounds, and Songs, in the Treble Clef, by T. MEE PATTISON. Price 6d.

The Exercises are in all the keys, and the Solfeggio name is placed under each note, on the moveable Do system.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NOTICE.

MERCER'S CHURCH PSALTER and HYMN BOOK. An APPENDIX of ADDITIONAL HYMNS, CHANTS, SANCTUSES, and RESPONSES, the Harmonies carefully revised by Sir JOHN GOSS, may now be had, either separately, or bound up with the work in all its various sizes and forms. Prospectuses, with full particulars, will be forwarded on application.

London: James Nisbet and Co., 21, Berners-street, W.; Lamborn Cock and Co., 62 and 63, New Bond-street, W.

A MANUAL OF SINGING,

FOR THE USE OF CHOIR TRAINERS AND SCHOOLMASTERS.

BY RICHARD MANN,

Organist of the Abbey Church, Cirencester, &c.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

This work offers to the clergy and other amateur choir trainers a systematic and simple course of instruction, by which they may teach their pupils to read music at sight, in a comparatively short time.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWENTIETH EDITION.

Price 1s. A specimen copy post free for 12 stamps.

THE COLLEGIATE AND SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING MANUAL.

FOR CHOIRS.—The easiest system that can be obtained for training improving, and learning to read music at sight.

FOR SCHOOLS.—Every requisite for learning Music, and reading at sight in a few lessons.

FOR CHORAL SOCIETIES.—The exercises will be found invaluable, tending to produce musical effects seldom heard.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Second Edition, 2s. 6d. nett.

(COMPANION WORK TO THE ABOVE.)

COLLEGIATE VOCAL TUTOR.

Containing Treatise on Voice and Vocal Art, with Anatomical Illustrations of the Vocal Instrument.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Now ready, in Three Books, 6s. each. Post-free for Half-price.

COLLEGIATE SOLFEGGI.

Specially adapted for Colleges, Public Schools, Singing Classes, &c.

Book 1 (Duets); Books 2 and 3 (Trios).

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Third edition. Paper cover, 1s.; bound cloth, 1s. 6d.

CATHEDRAL CHANT BOOK.

Containing nearly 200 Single and Double Chants; also the Gregorian Tones.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

SIX CHORAL SONGS, for S.A.T.B. Composed by ROBERT JACKSON, of the Royal Academy of Music. Price, in paper covers, 1s. 3d.; separately—"The Mariners," 2d.; "The Meadow Gate," 3d.; "The Voice of Spring," 3d.; "Lilian," 2d.; "Come when the dawn," 3d.; "The homes of England," 2d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Manchester: Hime and Addison, Forsyth Bros.; and from the Composer, 23, Barker-street, Oldham.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.

W. H. BIRCH'S POPULAR OPERETTAS, now being performed throughout England. Sparkling, brilliant, and not difficult.

No. 1. The Merrie Men of Sherwood Forest. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.; single voice parts, 1s. each.

No. 2. Ballad Operetta—Katrine, the Pride of Killarney. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

No. 3. Eveleen, the Rose of the Vale. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

The above Operettas are written for a Full or Small Orchestra.

Choral Societies can hire the vocal scores, single voice parts, and band parts, on very moderate terms. See opinions of the press.

W. H. BIRCH'S Christmas Anthem, "Behold, I bring you glad tidings." Price 6d.

W. H. BIRCH'S Christmas Carol. Price 6d.

Part Song. "Hurrah for merry Old Christmas." Price 6d.

Address W. H. Birch, 76, Southampton-place, Reading.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S
POPULAR PART SONGS FOR S.A.T.B. 8vo.

1. "I love the merry spring time" ... 14th edition ... 0 2
2. "Gally thro' the greenwood" ... ... 17th ,, ... 0 2
3. "Welcome, merry May" ... ... 6th ,, ... 0 2
4. "The mountain Maid" ... ... 5th ,, ... 0 2
5. "Come o'er the mountain" ... ... 8th ,, ... 0 2
6. "Hail, merry, merry Christmas" ... 12th ,, ... 0 2
7. "Songs of praise the angels sang" ... 5th ,, ... 0 3
8. "Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow" ... 6th ,, ... 0 3
9. "Fairy revels" ... ... 7th ,, ... 0 3
10. "Oh! peaceful vale of rest" ... ... 5th ,, ... 0 1½
11. "The merry bird" ... ... 5th ,, ... 0 3
12. "Come, let us be merry and gay" ... 4th ,, ... 0 3
13. "Forest echoes" ... ... 6th ,, ... 0 3
14. "Haste, ye merry elves" ... ... 5th ,, ... 0 3
15. "The streamlet" ... ... 2nd ,, ... 0 3

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: Hime and Addison.

THE REAPER AND THE FLOWERS. Four-part Song, with a Solo. Words by Longfellow. Music by J. B. BOCCHER. Price Threepence.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

THE OLD ELM TREE. Prize Part-song for T.T.B. Easy and effective. 8vo., 2d.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

NOW READY.

THE NATURAL PRINCIPLES OF HARMONY.
By W. W. PARKINSON. Price 15s.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: W. W. Parkinson and Son, 24, St. Ann's-square.

Just published. Second edition, 8vo., 7s. 6d.

A THEORY OF HARMONY. Founded on the Tempered Scale. With Questions and Exercises for the use of Students. By JOHN STAINER, Mus. Doc., M.A., Magd. Coll., Oxon, Organist to St. Paul's Cathedral.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"There is much ingenuity in Dr. Stainer's method, and he has the gift of conveying his ideas in concise terms."—Athenæum.

"Dr Stainer is, as far as we know, the first writer on musical harmony who has endeavoured to make his theory accord with physical facts."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"With such works as Dr. Stainer's at command, cheap, concise, and comparatively simple, a knowledge of the theory of music or 'thorough bass' ought to be insisted on by every conscientious professor of the art."—John Bull.

"To the student, perplexed and chained down by the multitudinous rules of the old theorists, we cannot give better comfort than to advise him to read forthwith Dr. Stainer's ingenious and thoughtful book."—Choir.

"The only really original book on Harmony that has appeared in the present century."—Morning Post.

"Our own conviction is, that the new organist of St. Paul's has done an immense service to the theory of his art by the publication of this work."—Westminster Review.

"Dr. Stainer's 'Theory of Harmony, founded on the Tempered Scale,' is a clever and successful attempt at carrying the system of common sense now adopted in tuning, into the stronghold of musical theory itself."—Guardian.

Rivingtons, Waterloo Place, London; Oxford and Cambridge.

In one folio vol., elegantly bound, 21s.

LAYS AND LYRICS OF SCOTLAND. A Collection of the best Scottish Songs, arranged with new symphonies and accompaniment, for the Pianoforte. By JOHN FOLCHER. With a historical epitome of Scottish song by JAMES BALLANTINE.

"The volume before us is certainly one of the finest collections of Scottish Song ever published, for although there may be some unknown to the general public, all which have obtained popularity are included. The work is elegantly got up, and its value is materially heightened by an appendix of notes, historical, biographical, and critical, relating to the principal songs contained in the volume."—Musical Times, Nov. 1872.

"Nothing appears to have been omitted that could help to make the volume complete, and the result is a collection of Scotch Songs which has rarely been equalled."—Scotsman.

Glasgow: Swan and Pentland. London: Chappell and Co.

C. JEFFERYS, 57 BERNERS ST.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY.
A COLLECTION OF
PART-SONGS, GLEES, CHORUSES, &c.
EDITED BY MICHAEL WATSON.

1 'Tis silent eve ... ... Michael Watson.
2 Corin's fate ... ... R. Turner.
3 Where the pearly dew-drop falleth ... E. J. Loder.
4 The Winter being over ... ... Ellen Avery.
5 Fairy voices ... ... T. G. B. Hatley.
6 Moonlight ... ... J. H. L. Glover.
7 Good-bye ... ... J. L. Hatton.
8 I thought of thee ... ... W. F. Banks.
9 The Forsaken ... ... J. L. Hatton.
10 Bonny May ... ... J. H. L. Glover.
11 Spring Song ... ... J. L. Hatton.
12 The Winds ... ... C. J. Frost.
13 County Guy ... ... G. A. Macfarren
14 The birdes that had left their song ... do.

Price 2d. each number. Other Numbers in the Press.

THE POPULAR
Operatic Arrangements,
SOLOS AND DUETS,
And Original Pianoforte Pieces,
By FELIX GANTIER,
Of which lists may be had on application.

WILLIE PAPE.

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 1 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Has sorrow thy young days shaded," and "The Young May Moon."
*IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 2 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "My lodging is on the cold ground," and "Garry Owen."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 3 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Minstrel Boy" and "St. Patrick's Day."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 4 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The harp that once thro' Tara's halls" and "Rory O'More."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 5 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Love's young dream" and "Sprig of Shillelah."
IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 6 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Valley lay smiling before me" and "The Girl I left behind me."
*HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 1 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasias on Airs, "Ye banks and braes" and "Bonnie Dundee."
HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 2 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Flowers of the Forest," "Kelvin Grove," and "Campbells are comin'."
HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 3 .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Annie Laurie" and "Wha'll be king but Charlie."
LLANGOLLEN 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Ash Grove," "Poor Mary Ann," and "March of the Men of Harlech."

* Performed with great success by Madlle. Sophie Heilbron.

LOUIS DUPUIS.

CATHEDRAL GEMS:

1. NANTES.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 12th Mass 3 0
2. WURMS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Weber's Mass in G 3 0
3. ROTTERDAM.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 3rd (Imperial) Mass 3 0
4. MALAGA.—Fantasia, on subjects from Beethoven's Mass in C 3 0
5. ROUEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Gounod's Messe Solennelle 3 0
6. CAEN.—Fantasia, on subjects from Rossini's Stabat Mater 3 0
7. MAYENCE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 1st Mass, B flat 3 0
8. COLOGNE.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 1st Mass, in C 3 0
9. PARIS.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise 3 0
10. LONDON.—Fantasia, on subjects from Handel's Messiah ... 3 0
11. NORWICH.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's Creation 3 0
12. CANTERBURY.—Fantasia, on Spohr's As pants the Hart ... 3 0
13. YORK.—Fantasia, on Handel's Judas Maccabæus ... 3 0
14. SALISBURY.—Fantasia, on Mendelssohn's St. Paul ... 3 0
15. WELLS.—Fantasia, on Haydn's Mass in B flat (No. 16.)... 3 0

Beautifully illustrated in Colours, with views of celebrated Cathedrals.

C. JEFFERYS, 57, BERNERS STREET (W.).

ROYAL ALBERT HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.—NOTICE to CANDIDATES.—There are a few VACANCIES, for which early application should be made, addressed to the Secretary, Royal Albert Hall, Kensington-gore.—By order.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE, Tenbury.—There will be a COMPETITIVE TRIAL of VOICES to fill Vacant Probationerships in the Choir of the above College, on Friday, Jan. 3, 1873, at No. 33, Great Pulteney-street, at 2 o'clock. No boys under 9 or over 13 need compete. For particulars refer to the Rev. The Warden.

BOYS WANTED for the Choir of Christ Church, Spitalfields. Stipend £3 to £8 per annum, according to ability. Apply by letter to J. Tunstall, 104, Barnsbury-road, N.

WANTED, TWO BOYS (Trebles). Stipend according to ability. Must be able to read. Choral Service, Anthems. Apply to Mr. Samuel Gee, R.A. Mus., College Park, Lewisham, S.E.

CONTRALTO, TENOR and BASS (Professional), WANTED, for St. Saviour's, Warwick-road, Paddington. Apply to the Organist, at the Church, or at 37, Howley-place, Maida-hill-west. Salary from £15 to £20.

A LADY (Contralto) desires a SUNDAY ENGAGEMENT. Address F. S., Novello, Ewer and Co.

CONTRALTO WANTED for a Church in Kensington. Two Sunday Services; no week-day practice. Good voice and first-rate reader indispensable. Salary £10. Apply, Organist, 163, Piccadilly, W.

ALTO, TENOR and BASS Voices WANTED for a Church near the City (East). Stipend £12 per annum. Also similar voices in exchange for Organ Lessons. Apply by letter to L. E. M., 11, Sparsholt-road, Hornsey-rise, N.

WANTED, in addition to the surpliced Choir of a Church west of Tottenham-court-road, a few UNPAID MEN'S VOICES. Anglican music. Communicants desired. Address, stating voice and reference, J. H. B., Messrs. Novello and Co., 1, Berners-st., W.

TRINITY COLLEGE, Cambridge.—There will be a VACANCY for a BASS Voice in the Choir of this College at Ladyday. Only well-trained Singers, able to take the SOLO and LEADING parts, need apply. Salary £90. Applications to be made to the Rev. Louis Borissow, Trinity College, Cambridge, not later than the 21st January, 1873.

THE ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER of St. Paul's Church, Kingston Hill, S.W., is open to an ENGAGEMENT early in January. Anglican or Gregorian Services. Address Organist, care of Verger, St. Paul's Church, Kingston Hill, S.W.

WANTED, by an experienced Organist, a SUNDAY ENGAGEMENT. Also, WEEK-DAY DUTY. Address W., care of Mr. Steward, 27, Portland-street, Golden-square, W.

A MARRIED GENTLEMAN and PROFESSOR of MUSIC residing in Kensington, is desirous of meeting with a gentleman who would reside and board in his house. Terms £100 to £150 per annum, which latter sum would include Instruction in Music. Address by letter, L., Post-office, Richmond-road, West Brompton, S.W.

THE ORGANIST of a City Church is prepared to receive one or two ORGAN PUPILS. Good organ; terms moderate. Y. Z., Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TO ORGANISTS. — A Gentleman wishes to take LESSONS of an Organist in the City or W.C., who would appoint him as DEPUTY, or allow him to take a week day evening service regularly. Apply, stating terms, to T. C. H., care of P. Lawless, Philpot-lane, E.C.

AN ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER of Six Years' experience requires a RE-ENGAGEMENT in London or few miles round. Disengaged January 1st, 1873. Good testimonials and references. Services, choral or plain. Address Y., Townly's Library, Surbiton, Surrey.

WANTED at the end of January, 1873, an ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER for St. Peter's Church, Hindley, near Wigan. Three Manual Organ, by Schulze, just being completed. Salary £60 per annum. Applications to be sent in, on or before 7th January, to Rev. P. Jones, Hindley, near Wigan.

AS ORGANIST.—A youth (15) open to an ENGAGEMENT (Church of England). Fully competent for Full Service. Address Warren Tear, 12, Clapham-road, S.W.

WANTED, an ENGAGEMENT at March, as ORGANIST or ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, in London, by an Organist and Choirmaster. Testimonials. Moderate salary required. Address "Inversion," Novello, Ewer and Co.

ORGANIST WANTED for the Parish Church of Westport, Co. Mayo. The duties are to attend Service twice on Sundays, and to teach the Choir. Salary £50 per annum. Address applications with testimonials to Dr. Stanistreet, Cathedral, Tuam, Co. Galway. There is a good opening in the town and neighbourhood for tuition.

BIRMINGHAM TRIENNIAL MUSICAL FESTIVAL.—The thirty-first Celebration is appointed to be held on the 26th, 27th, 28th, and 29th of August, 1873. Conductor, Sir Michael Costa.—By order of the Committee, Howard S. Smith, Secretary.

POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE, 309, Regent-street, W. Lent Term will commence on Tuesday, 7th January, 1873. THEORY of MUSIC.—A course of LESSONS will be given by Dr. J. STAINER on liberal terms. Ladies and gentlemen desiring to join are requested to leave their names at the office.

THE ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER of St. Michael and All Angels', Paddington, is open to ENGAGEMENT for training Choirs in or near London. Address, Mr. Walter H. Sangster, Mus. Bac., Oxon., 14, Westbourne villas, Paddington.

TUNER and REPAIRER of Pianos and Harmoniums WANTED. State age, experiences, salary, and references. Address A. B. C., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TO Efficient PIANOFORTE TUNERS.—A steady respectable Man can obtain a most comfortable SITUATION in a Pianoforte and Music Warehouse in an establishment within 20 miles of Glasgow. Liberal wages given. Address B., care of Messrs. R. Cocks and Co., New Burlington-street, London, W.

BANDMASTER.—An APPOINTMENT WANTED by a competent Man to teach and conduct a Reed, String, or Brass Band, and arrange music, &c. Moderate terms. U. J., 1, Beehive Cottage, Deverill-street, New Kent-road, S.E.

THE MASTER of the Choristers' School has VACANCIES for BOARDERS. Age 9 upwards. Terms, most moderate. No extras. Special advantages to boys with voices. Next quarter opens Jan. 13. Lay Clerk, St. John's College, Cambridge.

CHORISTER SCHOOL, S. Michael's, Paddington, for middle-class BOYS. Terms 20 guineas, including board, lodging, washing, and sound English education. Age of admission from 8 years. Apply to the Vicar, 17, Cambridge-terrace, Hyde-park, W.

TO THE MUSIC TRADE.—A Young Man desires RE-ENGAGEMENT in the Music Trade. He has been ten years in the retail business, and has a thorough knowledge of the London catalogues. Can give references as to character and ability. Address C. C. C., 57, Berners-street, London.

FOR IMMEDIATE DISPOSAL.—An old-established PIANOFORTE and TUNING BUSINESS in a market town 50 miles from London. Has been in the same family for upwards of half a century. Moderate capital required. A practical man would find the above a desirable opportunity. Address, Mr. Godding, Newbury.

TO THE MUSIC TRADE.—Parties who may have a good and bona-fide BUSINESS for SALE, may hear of a purchaser by addressing as under.

A small stock of SHEET MUSIC and SMALL GOODS for SALE at a reduced price. The Music has lately been purchased into Stock, and is in a good and clean condition.

Apply to Mr. Frederick Lucas, Public Accountant, 26, Maddox-street, Regent-street, London, W.

SCHOTT AND CO.,
159, REGENT STREET, LONDON,
Beg to announce that
Mr. ALEXANDER GUILMANT
(Organiste du Grand Orgue de l'Eglise de la Trinité à Paris),
Whose playing and compositions met with such brilliant success, has entrusted them with the sole agency for the sale of his works. Catalogues may be had post free on application.

In One Volume, crown 8vo., price 7s. 6d.
MUSICAL CRITICISM and BIOGRAPHY, from the Published and Unpublished Writings of THOMAS DAMANT EATON, late President of the Norwich Choral Society. Selected and Edited by his Sons.
London: Longmans, Green, and Co., Paternoster-row.

READY THIS DAY.

GOUNOD'S
"NAZARETH,"
TRANSCRIBED FOR THE PIANOFORTE, BY
SYDNEY SMITH.
Price Four Shillings.
LONDON: ASHDOWN AND PARRY, HANOVER SQUARE.

Just published. Second edition.
VIVENTE. Grand Galop de Concert, "This is a bold inspiriting galop, melodious and effective."—Musical Standard.
FIRST TARANTELLA. "VILLAGE REVELS." Impromptu characteristic. Composed by WILLIAM BLAKELEY, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Price 4s. each, or post free on receipt of 24 stamps, from Mr. Wm. Blakeley, Warrengate, Wakefield.

THE MUSICAL TIMES,

And Singing-Class Circular.

JANUARY 1, 1873.

"ST. PAUL" AT ST. PAUL'S.

By G. A. MACFARREN.

THE oratorio is a development of an office of the primitive Western Church, which was preserved in the Reformed use established by Luther. This office, still periodically fulfilled in Rome, is the musical recital of the story of the Passion, at Eastertide; from one or other of the Gospels, in a semi-dramatic form; the object being to keep the sacred narrative alive in the memory of the faithful, and to render it most impressive by vitalising the several persons who appear in the history, with an individual representative to deliver the words that each is recorded to have said.

In the middle of the sixteenth century, the application of this means of addressing a public was extended from the single, special, historic subject, to divers, various, and generally moral themes, and the performances instituted in the oratory by St. Filippo Neri were in a didactic form. Half a hundred years later, the musical works were distinctly dramas, which were represented in churches as the most effectual means of conveying religious and ethical instruction. In the seventeenth century the term "oratorio," as defining the relation of such works to the part of a church wherein they were given, was adopted by authors who furnished literary matter for the compositions in question, and it has become the distinctive art term by which they are described. The personification of abstract moral ideas gave place to the dramatisation of incidents in sacred history, more frequently those of the old than of the new dispensation. The performance of oratorios was discontinued in churches and transferred to the theatres, where it was restricted, for the most part, to the season of Lent; and, in our times, Rossini, Donizetti and Verdi have contributed to the number of these sacred lyrical dramas.

Such is in brief the progress of the oratorio in Italy, where however, desecrated as it has been by the style of its treatment and the locality of its performance, its ecclesiastical association is still maintained in the Passion recitals first named. In Germany, its relation to the Church has never been infracted; for, though oratorios are given as often as otherwise in concert rooms, this is with a view to the expediency of the occasion, and always with the idea of their being written for the Church, and appropriate to sacred buildings. It was Luther's express intention that the highest art means should illustrate the recitation of the Passion story at the Easter celebration, and successive musicians, accordingly, as the art advanced, exerted ever their utmost powers upon works for this purpose. Considerably later, other subjects were admitted into the scope of the oratorio; in the south, there has been far wider latitude in the arrangement of the form of these compositions, making it more dramatic and filling it more freely with non-scriptural poetry, than in the north; but the class of work has not there been appropriated to secular institutions.

In England, the very name of oratorio was unknown, until Handel produced a work of the class it defines. This was Esther, which was written during his abode at the mansion of the Duke of Chandos, in the summer of 1720, and it was privately performed there. It was nearly twelve years afterwards that it was first given in public. Its attraction then at the concert-room in Villiers Street, induced Handel himself to produce it at the King's Theatre in the Haymarket, and the performance of a sacred composition in a theatre was thus apologetically advertised. "N.B.—There will be no acting on the stage, but the house will be fitted up in a decent manner for the audience. The music to be disposed after the manner of the Coronation Service." The success of Esther established the "oratorio or sacred drama" as a department of art in which musicians might address the public with certainty of welcome according to their merit.

The performance of these works was given in theatres only—the King's, Lincoln's Inn Fields, and Covent Garden, but not without raising the scruples of serious people. To meet these, when the Messiah was reproduced here in 1743, after its success in Dublin, the name of the composition was withheld, as too holy for announcement in a playbill, and the work was advertised as "A Sacred Oratorio," this title referring to the nature of the subject, and not to the source of the text, since other oratorios similarly derived were not so distinguished. It was not till this masterpiece was given in the chapel of the Foundling Hospital, in 1750, under its original name, that it seems to have been duly accepted in London; whence the inference is, that, there needed ecclesiastical sanction to authorize the appropriation of the holiest of themes to musical use, though its adoption in the other arts of poetry and painting had never been questioned. The same work was the first, out of the range of strictly Church music, that was included in the performances of the Three Choir Festivals; this was at Hereford, 1759, and its introduction there with others of its class, has been matter of discussion almost ever since, one earnest set of thinkers assuming that a church was an unfit arena for the most powerful and impressive setting forth of sacred subjects, in exact opposition to the arguments that had been urged against their presentation in secular edifices. The world at large accepts the oratorio as a class of work worthy to exercise the noblest genius, and capable of edifying the best cultivated public; a section of the public would exclude it from performance in theatres and concert rooms because of its too great sacredness for such localities; while another section would exclude it from churches, which locality they advance as being too sacred for such works. This is an anomaly, which, to have prevailed at all, has prevailed too long; and it is cause for felicitation to earnest thinkers, that the time seems to be at hand for disregarding, if not abolishing, such inconsistency.

Besides these contrarieties and contradictions in public views as to the destination of the oratorio, the Church of England itself, or its highest authorities, have had wide fluctuations in their general estimation of music in reference to Church use, even as an element of the daily ritual. In old times, in places where the means were competent, it was the custom to employ the highest available resources of the art in the Church's service. So, in the Chapel Royal, there was always a full band, the members of which were styled "Gentlemen" of the institution, the instrumentalists having this appellation in common with the singers. There is ample evidence of this, as well in the cheque-books and like documents, as in pictorial representations of the chapel with the full band discharging its functions. In St. Paul's Cathedral, again, though no instrumental band was comprised in the establishment, it was usual to have one on special occasions; at the Festival of the Sons of the Clergy, for instance, Purcell's Te Deum was annually performed with complete orchestral requirements, from almost the time of the opening of the new cathedral, until 1743, when the setting of the hymn by Handel, in celebration of the battle of Dettingen, was produced, and in the following year this work was substituted for Purcell's, and it was given at the recurrence of the Festival every year for nearly a century. It was early in the fifth decade of the present hundred years that this long standing usage was discontinued. The Church authorities, I am assured, came then to the most strange, since totally unaccountable conclusion, that instruments of the viol class were profane, were of worldly and fleshly, if not diabolical suggestion, and were thus inapt for use within sacred precincts. I (pardon the personality) am assured too that the Times newspaper supported this extraordinary tenet; and hence it must be admitted that, within and without the circle of the church, it was entertained by those who could think seriously, if perhaps not wisely. Under the ordainment of these authorities, the yearly orchestra which the Royal Society of Musicians furnish for the benefit of their fellow charity the Sons of the Clergy, was disallowed to perform in the Metropolitan Church; under their ordainment, the instruments employed to solemnize the Burial Service of the Duke of Wellington, in 1852, were those only which constitute the German bands, which annoy some and, let us hope, delight others at our street corners; and for these cornets and clarionets, and the like, in addition to the organ, Sir John Goss had to compose his funeral music; and under their ordainment also, for the Sons of the Clergy Bicentenary Festival, in 1854 the same distinguished musician was limited to the same means in the composition of his anthem. Any other occasion may serve to discuss the relation of violins and theology, military instruments and Church rites; let it however here be protested on art grounds, that nothing could be more inconsistent than the combination of wind instruments each of them expressing the will and feeling of the player, with that multitudinous wind instrument whose tone is inflexible to the player's control, and which is an aggregate of imitations of the specialities of all the brass and reed instruments. On another occasion these same authorities relaxed their rigour against bows and strings, and permitted not only their presence within the hallowed aisles, but the performance of an oratorio intact, a sacred oratorio, that very Messiah which was in some sort unrecognized before it was given in a sacred building, and had since been deemed inappropriate to such a site. This was in 1861, when it was desirable to raise funds to defray the cost of the great organ of Messrs. Hill and Son, lately purchased from the Panopticon, and to help towards the decoration of the church, and the Feast of St. Paul was celebrated by a performance of this work by a band of some seventy, and chorus of very far larger number, and the most popular solo vocalists of the day. Sir John Goss, in his capacity of Cathedral Organist, presided over this, which, in spite of myriad obstacles, was artistically a successful performance. Had it been fiscally so, one may suppose it might not have been the sole occasion of holding a musical festival in honour of the Feast of St. Paul, in the building dedicated to him. It was first intended that, most fitly, Mendelssohn's oratorio which depicts the character and career of the Apostle, should have been the work to celebrate his Conversion; but the comparatively better knowledge of the other oratorio among the executants was expected to ensure a proportionately better performance, while its comparatively better knowledge among the public was expected to ensure a proportionately better attendance. They who were present concur in expressions of marvel at the wondrous effects of the combined elements of sound on this occasion in that stupendous medium of sonority, and there needs no strain of imagination for every one to feel that they must have been indeed sublime. The pecuniary results have not been made public. Is the sale of guinea and half-guinea tickets the just guage of such an undertaking's value, or are heart impressions and trains of thought, the one that may flow on for a lifetime, the other that may be indelible?

The admission in England of the oratorio to what is elsewhere its natural home, the church—and admission as a lawful child, rather than as a foundling, if it ever obtain general recognition, will date from the performance of Bach's Passion, at Eastertide, in Westminster Abbey, in 1871. The pretext of benefiting a charity, which, as an apology for oratorio performances, has too long equivocated, and therefore damaged the question of their propriety within ecclesiastical walls, was not then set up in its justification; neither was that of raising money for Church uses. It was deemed that here, as in other lands, the teaching of sacred history on the anniversaries of its chief events, would be enforced by the appropriating of the highest of art accessories to its elucidation. The great and devout work of the great and devout master, which illustrates the Passion after the old Roman wise which Luther preserved, but boundlessly surpasses in excellence every other endeavour to do justice to this hallowed purpose, was given in our Abbey with an effect that cannot pass away. It constituted a Special Service, all who attended which must have experienced a special influence, and this influence can only have been for the highest good. The Abbey performance was repeated at the due season in 1872; and the example of the Dean and Chapter was adopted in some smaller institutions, where Handel's Passion and his Messiah were given, less completely perhaps, but with the same purpose of elevating public feeling to the level of the great commemoration. In like manner to the Abbey, these churches opened their performance freely to the public; and though the zeal of diversely thinking parties led them violently to reprobate the employment of this means of religious instruction, there are reasons to believe that the experiment—for as yet it can only be accounted as such—was successful, and reasons to wish for the permanence of the practice.

In the same spirit and with corresponding means, the Conversion of St. Paul is to be celebrated on the coming 25th of January in our Cathedral. This is not to be a Special Service, but the ordinary performance of Evensong with a copious selection from Mendelssohn's Oratorio to constitute the anthem. As well as this eminently suitable manner of celebrating the day, there will be an appropriate sermon. Else everything will proceed as at the usual Evening Service at 4 o'clock, the public will be freely admitted, and there will be no offertory. To give effect to the music—anthem, let it be called—the choir will be amplified to the extent of 60 or 70 boys and men, and be supported by a band of about 40. These will occupy the usual locality of the singers at the Daily Service, which will be enlarged to accommodate them. The solos will be sustained by members of the Cathedral choir, boys and men, the auxiliaries of which, all professional, will only assist as chorus. The whole of the musical functionaries will be identified with the ecclesiastical duties of the day, by being vested in surplices which, for the players, will have the sleeves so looped up as to leave freedom to the arms and hands. The objectors to musical festivals in churches have made a point, which is assumed to be a strong one, of the profanity of exercising a carpenter's calling within the hallowed precincts; accordingly it is expressly stipulated in the provisions for the coming occasion, that sounding of hammer and piercing of nail shall not take place in the building; so, as the desks will not be erected by miracle, all joiner's work for their preparation will be performed outside. The suggestion of this great measure—great as a vigorous step in the onward progress of the times great as a method of instructing and refining the public by means of an art which almost shares the sacredness of religion—is due entirely to the new organist, Dr. Stainer. On him rests also the responsibility of the entire arrangements which must be entangled enough to engross all his thoughts as will that of conducting the performance. It is his own avowal that he receives the most cordial support of the Dean and Chapter, which is highly to their credit; it is not every body of this nature that appreciates an officer who can devise what is as much for the advantage of their institution as for the benefit of the public, and in admiring the confidence of the ruling body, a commendation is expressed of him in whom they worthily confide.

The duration of the extended anthem may not, it seems, exceed some three quarters of an hour. Great ingenuity was needed then, in the selection of such portions of the oratorio as would present the most salient features of St. Paul's character and works, and yet come within the closely limited space of time, and such ingenuity has been well exercised. The compilation shows the Apostle, first, as experiencing his conversion, second, as preaching the gospel, and third, as suffering for the truth's sake and as being glorified for his works on earth to prepare men for heaven.

The first section will begin with the Tenor Recitative, "And as he journeyed," including the presentation of the miracle of the arrest of Saul, in his course of persecution, by the voice from heaven. The Chorus, the finest, grandest and most impressive in the work, "Rise up and shine," will follow. Then the Choral "Sleepers, wake." which is most important to the selection, as being in fact the motto of the oratorio, the words of the first stanza being inscribed upon the title-page, and the music of the three first lines being the main feature of the overture; and again, as being a particular comment on the preceding chorus, which in itself especially celebrates the awakening of man from the gross darkness of ignorance to the light of truth. The fine tune of this Choral is ascribed to the year 1599, so that, in its present form, it dates not to the time of the author of the Reformation; but it is obviously an adaptation of a far earlier ecclesiastical melody, and thus its phrases cannot have been unknown to Luther, and whoever penned the hymn must have been imbued with his spirit. It has often been said that Mendelssohn was in some degree indebted to an earlier work for his bright graphic thought of employing brass instruments, with their majestic summons that might awaken a sleeping world from the lethargy of ages, for the interludes between the several lines of this

ne. The work referred to, is the production of a most diffi- ont anonymous amateur, an oratorio of small merit which as published at Hamburg, in 1778, under the title of The isciple at Emmaus. Among many other Chorals, this ne truly occurs therein to the 2nd verse of the hymn, Jesus Christ ist wieder kommen," and it stands in the same by of D in which the author of St. Paul has set it; but e rhythmical arrangements of the notes is remarkably fferent. There are parts moreover in the score for two rns and one trumpet, but these are quite subordinate to ose for the violins, hautboys, and basses which stand above id below them; hence, to put an end to the allegation, it clear that if the idea of the trumpet interludes be taken om this piece, he who took it must have doubly tasked his vention in setting aside the old thought to make way for is original, brilliant and poetical conception. In due iccession, the Recitative "And his companions," and the reat typical Air, "Oh God, have mercy," will next come; o be followed by the Recitative, "And there was a disciple," id the Air with Chorus, "I praise Thee, O Lord," which may e regarded as Saul's apprehension of the grace that was waiting him in his coming baptism, and as the encouraging oice of his newly awakened conscience. The Recitative will nsue "And Ananias went his way," and the final Chorus of he First Part, "Oh, great is the depth," which completes his famous scene of the Conversion.

The second section will comprise the Recitative "And Paul ame," showing how St. Paul was called to his apostleship; he duet for Paul and Barnabas, "Now we are ambassadors," vhich, in its gentle earnestness, bespeaks the meek and loving pirit of the holy men who went forth to preach Jesus to the vorld; and the Chorus, "How lovely are the messengers" in vhich the beauty of their mission, more than its labours and ares, is sweetly represented.

The third section of these cleverly chosen pieces will egin with the Recitative, "And they all persecuted Paul," vith the ensuing Air for tenor accompanied by the violoncello, "Be thou faithful." After this, the Recitative, "And Paul ent," in which the Apostle takes leave of the Ephesians, and the Quartett with chorus "Far be it," wherein the weeping congregation utter their regrets for him whose lessons of love to one another have peculiarly drawn their affections to himself. The Chorus, "See what love," will follow,—a reflection on Paul's labours and their result, picturing the peace of mind which rewards the steadfast pursuit of a high purpose. Lastly, there will be the conclusion of the narrative in the Recitative "And though he be offered," which introduces the Chorus, "Not only unto him" that terminates the oratorio.

This epitome of Mendelssohn's work has a sort of completeness, which will make it eminently interesting and perfectly suitable to the occasion. An oratorio will thus, for the first time in England, be integrated in the Church Service, and it will be wonderful if, in this position, invested with all the associations of the place and the time, of the season that is illustrated, and of the solemnity to which it will be made incidental, the effect of the music be not deeply penetrating. It would be vain to attempt to foretell the issue of what can but be regarded as an experiment; still it may be hoped that in restoring thus the English Church Service to the grandeur of long bygone times, very much may be added to its attractiveness, and, what is of far loftier importance, very much indeed to its impressiveness.

Here may be stated, as bearing on the question of the presentation of oratorios in church, that it is designed to celebrate the approach of Easter, in 1873, at St. Anne's Church, Soho, with a series of performances, on the Friday evenings throughout Lent, of Bach's setting of the Passion as narrated in the Gospel of St. John. They will be under the direction of Mr. Barnby, the instigator and conductor of the Abbey performances of the Matthew Passion. Such a course as this cannot be ineffective in preparing the minds and hearts of visitants for the solemnity of the coming season, in preparing them to estimate the sorrows that were borne for man, and in vivifying the historic lesson which the Church then teaches.

Music has been mainly considered but as a decoration at most, wholly dispensable if not quite redundant, of the Church's Service; it may now be proved to be an essential element of the Service itself. The change may work much for art in giving musicians an object and a responsibility far beyond any they have at present; it may work more for religion, in bringing multitudes who would else be careless of them to receive its lessons, and in addressing these lessons to the living feelings of auditors instead of to their cold understanding. Church authorities may be slow to acknowledge that this great change, if it come about, was due to men of another calling, but their acknowledgment is not needed. The world will be indebted to Mr. Barnby and Dr. Stainer, and such other artists as may aid them in the fulfilment of their difficult self-imposed task, for any good that may spring from the adoption of Oratorios in Church.

THE death of Mr. Henry Gamble Blagrove, the eminent violinist, which occurred on Sunday the 15th ult., at his residence in London, is an event which would have cast a deeper shadow over musical England, had he not been for some time incapacitated, by failing health, from taking any active part in his profession. One of the first students of the Royal Academy of Music, Mr. Blagrove, with many others now universally acknowledged in the world of art, gave early indications of those rare gifts which the excellent training of the Academy had so carefully fostered; and after a short residence in Germany, during which time he took lessons of Dr. Spohr, he performed a Concerto by Molique at one of the Philharmonic Concerts with brilliant success, and from that period became a recognized leader and solo player at all the highest concerts in England. From the fact of his having appeared as a violinist in public before he was five years of age, he was always thought by the present generation to be a much older man than he was; and he has often told the writer of these lines that, when he appeared in the orchestra, grave doubts were entertained by many amongst the audience whether he was really the Blagrove. That he was a fine player upon his instrument, uniting purity of tone with the most facile execution, is too well known to need a record here; but that he was a true and conscientious artist, and an upright and honourable gentleman, it may be the privilege only of those who, like myself, were personally acquainted with him, to testify. As an earnest of the esteem in which he was held, an annuity was purchased for him, which unfortunately he lived but for a brief period to enjoy. His name, however, has been so long known in the country of his birth, that it will be long referred to in testimony of the fact, that even in "unmusical" England exceptional talent will arise, and that the Royal Academy of Music can ripen that talent into perfection. H. C. L.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

Mendelssohn's Oratorio, "St. Paul," was given at the Saturday afternoon concerts on the 30th November, and with an effect which leads us to hope that the miscellaneous performances (good as they invariably are) may occasionally be set aside for the presentation of some of the great sacred works. The choir had evidently been well trained for the occasion, and especially in the chorales, showed evident signs of progress; although much has yet to be done before that steadiness and balance of tone absolutely demanded in the elaborate choruses of the standard Oratorios can be attained. The solo vocalists were Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Miss Julia Elton, Mr. J. H. Pearson (for whom the tenor music appeared especially well suited) and Mr. Lewis Thomas. A feature of much interest was the performance by Dr. Stainer of Mendelssohn's own organ accompaniment, which although we believe long published, has never before been played in this country. On the following Saturday two novelties were produced, one being an early Symphony in E flat by Mozart, and the other an arrangement for the pianoforte of Beethoven's violin Concerto, in D major, by the composer himself. Both these works were listened to as curiosities; for those who know Mozart's Symphonies written in the zenith of his career, could find but little in this youthful essay to warrant more than a passing recognition of its graceful melodiousness, and the violin Concerto (even adapted for the pianoforte by Beethoven) could only recall recollections of its excessive beauty in its original form. Miss Agnes Zimmermann (the pianist) did all that could be done for the composition (an additional attraction in the performance being the introduction of Beethoven's own cadenzas), and was received with warm and well deserved applause. The vocalists were Madame Sinico and Signor Gustav Garcia. The last of the concerts before Christmas took place on Saturday the 14th ult, the principal attraction in which was presumed to be Mendelssohn's Quintet in A, Op. 18, performed by all the violins, violas and violoncellos of the orchestra. We almost regret that the result was so successful with a large majority of the audience, since it may justify the conductor in presenting many other perversions of the expressed intentions of composers. No praise can be too great, however, for the manner in which the executants acquitted themselves of their task, and the applause which followed the conclusion of the work amply proved that the public fully appreciated the concession made to the "sensational" spirit of the day. Madlle. Nita Gaetano displayed an excellent voice and style in two Italian airs, and was warmly received. A genuine effect was created by Mr. Thurley Beale, who is rapidly advancing to a foremost rank as a baritone singer. When first heard at Mr. Barnby's Oratorio Concerts, we predicted with the utmost confidence his success; and his finished singing of the air "How great, O Lord," from Sir Julius Benedict's "St. Peter," and Handel's "O ruddier than the cherry" before the Crystal Palace audience has more than confirmed the truth of our remarks. There can be little doubt that Mr. Beale will now take rank as an artistic exponent of the highest class of sacred music.

BRITISH ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY.

If any doubt existed as to the possibility of forming a first-rate band exclusively composed of British-born subjects, it must assuredly have been dispelled at the first concert of the above-named Society, which took place at St. James's Hall on the 5th ult. The principal orchestral works—Beethoven's Symphony in C minor and the Overtures to "Ruy Blas" and "Oberon"—most effectually tested the highest powers of the instrumentalists, and that they were in every respect equal to the task was amply proved, not only by the solid applause which greeted the conclusion of the two Overtures and every movement of the Symphony, but by the frequent subdued murmurs of approbation from those to whom every note of these compositions is familiar, and who are constantly accustomed to hear them interpreted by our finest orchestras. The "Ruy Blas" Overture was played with a vigour and decision which fully revealed the minutest beauties of this noble orchestral piece; and the performance of Beethoven's Symphony was one of the finest—if not the finest—ever heard in this country. That a great portion of the effect produced was owing to the skill and intelligence of the new conductor, Mr. George Mount, we willingly concede; but the brightness of the strings and the perfection of tone in the wind instruments, even in the most exacting portions of this most exacting Symphony, were the theme of universal admiration; and the storm of approbation which burst forth after the final chord was indeed most fairly and legitimately earned. Sir Sterndale Bennett's Pianoforte Concerto in F minor was rendered by Madme. Arabella Goddard with a care and artistic conception of the composer's meaning in every phrase, which reflected the highest credit not only upon her power of faithfully interpreting a work of genius, but upon her zeal in endeavouring, by the bestowal of her best energies on the task, to prove to the world that the composition of an Englishman is worthy to rank with the creations of those to whom (from the accident of their having been born in a foreign country) the palm of superiority has been too often rashly conceded. Madme. Goddard was most warmly applauded at the conclusion of the Concerto, and recalled to the platform to receive the renewed congratulations of the audience. The vocalists were Madme. Lemmens-Sherrington and Mr. Lewis Thomas, the former singing Handel's hackneyed "Sweet bird" (with Mr. Radcliffe's excellent flute obbligato), and the latter Sir Julius Benedict's "Rage, thou angry storm," the two afterwards giving with much effect Spohr's melodious duet from "Faust." "Dearest, let thy footsteps follow." The second concert, on the 19th ult., again contained a most attractive selection of orchestral compositions; Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony," Beethoven's "Leonora" Overture (No. 3), Mr. Sullivan's "Overtura di Ballo" and Wagner's Prelude to "Lohengrin" being not only interesting in themselves, but well selected for contrast in style. All went well, if we except a slight tendency in the conductor to hurry the Symphony, which somewhat marred the effect of the stringed instrument passages. Mr. Edward Howell's performance of Goltermann's Violoncello Concerto in B minor was a triumphant display both of his executive and expressive powers; and that his efforts were thoroughly appreciated may be judged by the applause which was liberally showered upon him during the progress of the piece and the heartiness with which he was recalled at the conclusion. Herr Goltermann's Concerto is a work too, of high excellence; and we trust that other violoncellists will not allow it longer to rest in obscurity. Miss Blanche Cole and Mr. Cummings were the vocalists, the latter winning admiration from all by his artistic rendering of Sir Sterndale Bennett's air "His salvation is nigh," from the "Woman of Samaria."

ST. GEORGE'S HALL.

A WINTER season of Italian Opera was commenced on Tuesday the 10th ult., the opening work being Rossini's little known opera "Conte Ory." The resources of this establishment appear to be extremely limited; but it is announced that only those lyrical works which do not demand much scenic effect will be presented. "Conte Ory," however, although not wanting much scenery, absolutely requires the most finished and experienced vocalists; and if we may judge from the company on the opening night, these are not likely to be forthcoming. Madlle. Risarelli in the part of the Countess, sang with much confidence, but her voice is unsympathetic, and she occasionally forces it beyond its legitimate power. Madlle. Bundsen is a tolerably good contralto, and Madame Danieli displayed an agreeable mezzo-soprano voice; but the tenor Signor Danieli, is not equal to the exacting music of Rossini although he occasionally warmed to the part sufficiently to command much applause. Signori Rocca and Fallar are also included in the company, the former of whom will no doubt be found highly useful. The orchestra, although small, is thoroughly efficient, and Signor Fiori promises to be an able conductor. "Il Barbiere di Siviglia," produced on the 21st ult., introduced Signor Mottino as Figaro, and Signor Topai as Dr. Bartolo, both of whom are very decided acquisitions to the company, Signor Mottino, especially making a highly favourable impression upon the audience.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

THE competition for the Westmorland Scholarship and the Potter Exhibition took place on Monday, the 23rd ult. at the Institution in Tenterden Street, Hanover Square, the examiners being the Principal (Sir Sterndale Bennett), Mr. F. R. Cox, Mr. W. Dorrell, Signor Garcia, Mr. John Hullah, Mr. H. C. Lunn, Mr. G. A. Macfarren, Mr. Walter Macfarren, and Dr. Steggall. The results were as follows:—Westmorland Scholarship—Miss Emma L. Beasley, elected. Miss Annie Butterworth, Miss Nessie Goode, and Miss Harford highly commended. Potter Exhibition—Miss Florence A. Baglehole, elected. Miss Mary Taylor, highly commended. Miss Clara Whomes, Miss Annie Martin, and Miss Annie J. Turner, commended. Mendelssohn Scholarship—Mr. Eaton Faning, unanimously elected by the Mendelssohn Foundation Committee, and the Committee of the Royal Academy of Music.

MADLLE. S. F. HEILBRON gave an evening concert at St. George's Hall on the 2nd ult., before a thoroughly appreciative audience. Two movements from Beethoven's "Allegro Appassionata," a Polonaise of Chopin, Listz's "Valse de Faust," and two short solos (one of her own composition), tested most powerfully the young pianist's varied capabilities; but in every piece she was highly successful, and the applause with which she was received was most legitimately earned. Miss Heilbron was assisted by several eminent vocalists; and the accompanists were Mr. Louis Emanuel, Mr. W. Ganz, and Herr Lehmeyer.

ON his resignation (after a 30 years' service) of the post of Professor of Music to the Battersea Training College, Mr. John Hullah has been presented with a valuable testimonial by the former students of the Institution. The chair was taken by the Principal of the College, the Rev. Evan Daniel, on the occasion of the presentation, and several of Mr. Hullah's part-songs were sung during the evening.

WE find that the Committee of the Mendelssohn Testimonial Foundation, desirous of increasing its funds, has addressed a circular to professors and lovers of music in this country, soliciting aid in furtherance of the object. This appeal may, we trust, produce the desired effect; but we must enter our protest against the assertion that, "with the exception of one or two Exhibitions, differing in value at the Royal Academy of Music, this is the only Musical Scholarship Foundation in the British Empire. The "Sterndale Bennett Scholarship" at the Royal Academy of Music is a free one, tenable for two years; and we believe we are correct in stating that there are others at the Universities, certainly there is one at Oxford.

We understand that the Hereford Musical Festival is fixed to take place on September 9, and three following days. The Dean and Chapter have granted the use of the Cathedral, on condition that if a surplus be obtained, it shall be devoted to the charity. Several eminent vocalists have already been engaged; and the valuable services of M. Sainton, as principal violin, have been secured. "Elijah" and the "Messiah" will, as usual, be given; and a performance of Mendelssohn's "St. Paul" will take place on one of the evenings in the Cathedral. Seventy gentlemen have signified their intention of acting as stewards; and as a proof of the strong feeling in favour of the Festival by the Cathedral clergy, it may be mentioned that amongst those who have accepted this office are the Hon. and very Rev. the Dean, both Archdeacons, and all the Canons Residentiary. Mr. J. H. Arkwright, of Hampton Court, has been re-appointed chairman; and we are glad to announce that Mr. G. Townshend Smith continues his old post in the double capacity of Hon. Sec. and Conductor.

The obituary of the past month includes the names of two vocalists who have for many years been well and honourably known. Mr. James Shoobridge, Vicar Choral of St. Paul's, died on the 9th ult., and was buried on the 16th at Abney Park Cemetery. The music at the burial service was Purcell's Chant in G minor, and Felton in C minor; the anthem being "Lord, for Thy tender mercies' sake" (Farrant). On the same day Patrick's Service in G minor was given, morning and afternoon; Anthem, "Lord, let me know mine end" (Sir J. Goss). The decease of Mr. Orlando Bradbury, of the Chapel Royal St. James's, and Westminster Abbey, took place on the 14th ult. On the following day Canon Conway referred to the event in a most feeling manner. The Anthem sung was "Brother, thou art gone before us" (Sir J. Goss).

Madame Burrington gave her third annual concert in the Hammersmith Assembly Rooms on November 25th. She was assisted by Miss Ellen Glanville, whose fine soprano voice was heard to advantage in Ganz's "Sing, sweet bird" (encored), Mr. Albert James, Mr. Chaplin Henry, Master Burrington, Mr. Otto Booth (violin), Mr. Churchill Arlidge (flute), and Mr. Burrington (piano). The room was crowded with a highly fashionable audience.

A Concert was given on the 2nd ult. by the Quaver Choral Society at the Albion Hall, London Wall, in aid of the Schoolmasters' Benevolent Institution. The hall was crowded in every part with a most attentive audience. The programme consisted of sacred and secular music, the selections in the first part being from the works of Handel, Haydn, Mendelssohn and Gounod. The solos, "O rest in the Lord" (Miss Butterworth), "Angels ever bright and fair" (Mrs. Bicknell), "In native worth" (Mr. Baker), and "Nazareth" (Mr. Phillips), were very well sung and much applauded. The choruses were on the whole well given, especially "The heavens are telling." The secular part included a pianoforte duet (played by the Misses Bilby and Malivoire, and encored), Locke's "Macbeth" Music (the solos by Mrs. Bernard, Messrs. Bernard and Phillips), and songs by Miss E. Davies and Mr. F. H. Cozens. The part-songs were rendered with precision and expression, and reflected the greatest credit upon the conductor, Mr. W. Bicknell. Miss Malivoire, Miss Bilby and Mr. F. Cozens accompanied.

We are now enabled to give a complete list of all the Prizes to be awarded at the forthcoming National Music Meetings at the Crystal Palace. Class I. Choral Societies, not exceeding 500 Voices, and not less than 200 each Society: The Challenge Prize, value £1,000, and a Purse of £100; Second Prize, a Fifty Guinea Harmonium, given by Messrs. Alexandre, Père et Fils.——Class II. Choral Societies not exceeding 200 Voices each Society: A Purse of £100.——Class III. Choral Societies for Men's Voices not exceeding 80 Voices each: A Purse of £50.——Class IV. Church and Chapel Choirs: A Purse of £30; Second Prize, a Ten Guinea Library of Music, to be chosen by the successful Choir from the Publications of Messrs. Novello and Co. (Given by Messrs. Novello, Ewer, and Co.).——Class V. Military Bands of Reed and Brass Instruments, not less than Thirty Performers: A Purse of £50; Second Prize, A new Echo Cornet, value £26 11s. Class VI. Bands of Regiments of the Line, not less than Thirty Performers: A Purse of £50; Second Prize, a B♭ Clarinet and an E♭ Clarinet, value £12 12s. each.——Class VII. Brass Bands (not included in the foregoing), not less than 18 Performers: A Purse of £50; Second Prize, A B♭ Baritone, value £22 10s.——Class VIII. Soprano Solo Singers: A Purse of £30.——Class IX. Contralto, or Mezzo-Soprano Solo Singers: A Purse of £30.——Class X. Tenor Solo Singers: A Purse of £30.——Class XI. Baritone or Bass Solo Singers: A Purse of £30.——Class XII. Trumpet Solo Players: A Purse of £25; Second Prize, A Slide Trumpet, value £15 15s. The Second Prizes in Classes V. VI. VII. and XII. are given by Messrs. Besson. The Music to be sung at the "National Music Meetings in Classes I. II. and III. has just been issued in the Tonic-Sol-fa notation. It has been already published by Messrs. Novello in the ordinary notation, the particulars of which have been announced in our advertisement columns.

Mr. J. Baucutt's entertainment at the Pimlico-rooms, on Thursday the 19th ult., attracted a large audience. Some excellent songs were given by Mesdames Agnes L. Fielding, L. H. St. Clare, M. McLellan and F. Powell; and Messrs. E. Foote and P. Hazeldine. The concert, which did not conclude till a late hour, evidently gave great satisfaction. For the future these pleasant réunions will be given once a month, instead of weekly.

Messrs. J. Baucutt and W. Blount's musical and literary entertainments at the Public Hall, South Norwood, have proved a decided success. The last entertainment of the first series took place on Tuesday the 17th ult. The programme, comprised songs by Madame Rolfe, and Messrs. G. Linly, E. Foote, R. W. Woodward, and P. Hazeldine, all of whom were in excellent voice. Mr. J. Baucutt supplied the literary portion of the programme, and won much applause for his able rendering of a Christmas selection.

A new edition (10th thousand) of "The Hymnary with Tunes" has just been published, containing a carefully prepared index of metres; together with a General index giving the composers' names in alphabetical order, the metre, number of hymn, and name of tune, source, &c.

On Monday evening, the 16th ult., a concert was given by the members of the Southgate Road Choral Society, in the large School-room, Balmes Road. The choral pieces were sung with spirit and precision, and elicited much applause. The soloists who especially deserve mention are Miss Shury, who sang "I know that my Redeemer liveth" and "Robert toi que j'aime," Mr. F. Bristol, who gave an effective rendering of "The Miller of the Dee," and Messrs. Gordon and Wollen, who sang the "Army and Navy" duet very well. Leslie's part-song "Daylight is fading" was also a decided success. Great praise is due to Mr. Haskell (the conductor of the Society), for the care he has evidently bestowed on the members.

The very excellent classical concerts at Stoke Newington, under the able direction of Mr. W. H. Monk, which gave so much pleasure to the local residents last season, have been re-commenced with increased success, two performances having already taken place. The programmes contain the finest examples of the chamber compositions of the great masters; and as Mr. Henry Holmes holds the post of first violin, supported by some of the most efficient executants of the day, the enterprise is in every respect worthy of patronage by all who desire the spread of good music. Four concerts are to be given, the third taking place on the 21st inst.

On Tuesday evening the 10th ult, Handel's "Messiah" was performed at Finsbury Chapel, Finsbury Circus, under the direction of Mr. Watford. The principal vocalists were Madame Suter, Miss Potter, Mr. Arthur Thomas and Mr. Chaplin Henry. The choir, numbering 250, was remarkably steady throughout, and gained several unanimous encores. The orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. James Turner, was thoroughly efficient. The solo singers were highly effective, Miss Potter receiving an encore for the air "He was despised." The whole performance was a decided success, and reflected much credit upon the energetic conductor.

The monthly concert of the St. George's Glee Union took place at the Pimlico Rooms on the 6th ult. The choral portion of the programme was generally well given and much applauded, the quartett "the Chafers" receiving an encore. The principal solo singers were Miss Horder, Miss Janet King, Miss Buley and Mr. W. Gadsby, all of whom were highly successful, several songs being encored. Miss Pritchard's pianoforte solo, "Rigoletto," was re-demanded, and a very youthful violinist, Master Tournever, gained encouraging applause for his execution of two difficult fantasias. The choir continues to improve in numbers and efficiency under Mr. Garside's conductorship.

On Monday evening the 9th ult. Mr. R. Forsey Brion (Associate of the Royal Academy of Music) delivered a lecture on "The Life and Works of Mozart" in connection with the Wood Green winter evening entertainments. He was assisted by Mrs. E. Sowerby, Miss Brion and Messrs. G. B. Sowerby and Walter Reeves, who illustrated the lecture by songs, duets &c. from the works of the great composer. All acquitted themselves with much credit; but special mention should be made of Mr. Walter Reeves, whose rendering of the song "Qui sdegno" was highly effective. The lecturer acted as accompanist, and played Mozart's Sonata in F, which was received with warm applause.

WE have much pleasure in drawing attention to the interesting lectures on "Musical Acoustics," lately given to the pupils of the Royal Academy of Music by Sedley Taylor Esq. M.A., late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge. The science of sound is so little investigated by those engaged in music as an art that we are glad to find the matter placed before the students of our National Institution as a necessary portion of their education; and we feel convinced that lectures from so thorough a master of his subject, and so ably and lucidly delivered, are of such vital importance that Mr. Taylor may, we hope, fairly congratulate himself upon having initiated a custom in the Royal Academy of Music which in all other art-schools has invariably proved so beneficial.

ON Friday the 13th ult., a concert was given by the blind pupils of the London Society for Teaching the Blind to Read, at the Institution, Upper Avenue Road, Regent's Park. The chair was occupied by John Hullah, Esq., who at the close of the performance, expressed his high admiration of the great skill and patience which had evidently been bestowed on the rehearsals by the talented and zealous conductor, Mr. Edwin Barnes. A feature in the concert was a well written Anthem, by Charles E. Stephens, "O praise the Lord, all ye nations," which was rendered with much precision and effect.

ON the 9th ult., a meeting of natives of the Principality resident in London and their friends was held at the Vestry Hall, Chelsea, with the double view of stimulating Welsh literature and of providing funds to liquidate the debt on Sloane Street Welsh Chapel. Mr. Osborne Morgan, M.P., presided, and several gentlemen interested in the object of the meeting supported him. Mr. Brinley Richards, before adjudicating the prize for the best original Psalm or Hymn Tune, composed and arranged for the use of choirs, made several remarks on the manner in which, with all its national feelings, Wales had been "left out in the cold" in the matter of educational endowments; and congratulated the meeting upon the establishment of the University College for Wales. Several vocal solos were given with much success by Miss Lizzie Evans, Miss Davies, and Mr. R. D. Poole; and a Fantasia on Welsh airs by Mr. Brinley Richards was warmly applauded.

A CORRESPONDENT writing to us from Hobart Town, Tasmania—with reference to an article which appeared in this journal, entitled "Distant Music,"—gives a glowing account of the state of the art in that Colony; and, as in the paper mentioned, but little was said of music in Tasmania, we willingly make the following extract from his letter:—"First and foremost we have a fine Town Hall (perhaps, excepting the Melbourne Hall, the finest in the Colonies), containing a splendid organ, built for us by Walker and Son, with 37 stops; we have an excellent Philharmonic Society, which, in addition to giving any number of miscellaneous concerts, has produced, without curtailment, the "Messiah," "Creation," "Elijah," "Israel," "Naaman," &c., and is now preparing Costa's "Eli." It has also done selections from many of the chief Operas. A kindred Society in the city has given, amongst other works, the "Ancient Mariner," the "May Queen," "Legend of St. Cecilia," "Choral Symphony," "Loreley," &c. Nearly all the churches have good English-made organs in them; the Anglican Cathedral and St. Andrew's Church especially fine ones. Music is taught in the public schools of the Colony, and forms one of the subjects offered to lady candidates for the Associate of Arts examination. Love of music is one of the leading characteristics of the colonial-born, who will take refuge in Christy Minstrelsy, if no other musical safety-valve offers for the time being; and I am sure I am within the mark when I say that every second house possesses a pianoforte. The quartering of troops in the Colony has had the effect of leaving us many excellent instrumentalists, who formerly belonged to the regimental bands; and their assistance to our musical societies, and in bringing on pupils to supply their places, is of great service. Then, again, we have had professors of very great experience resident in the Colony. In the northern part of the island, Mr. John Adams (a pupil of Sir George Elvey), Mr. Robert Sharpe, now at Southampton; and in the south (Hobart Town) Mr. C. S. Packer, the late Mr. F. A. Packer, both Royal Academicians. Mr. Buddee, a very fine pianist, several excellent violinists, &c."

Reviews.

NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

The Hymnary. A Book of Church Song. Edited by the Rev. W. Cooke, M.A., Hon. Canon of Chester, and the Rev. B. Webb, Rector of S. Andrew's, Wells Street. The Music edited by Joseph Barnby.

PASSING by some German melodies which are carefully harmonized, and one or two good modern tunes, we come to a striking example of a solid and satisfactory composition, by Wesley (No. 58), which will certainly be found to "grow upon" hearers and singers if often used. Dr. Armes is most successful in his setting of "O God, before the sun's bright beams" (62). Here, again, it may be necessary to point out that much will depend upon a strict adhesion to the metronomic sign. Good tunes of double long metre are sufficiently scarce to make No. 63 very acceptable; it is most excellent. Nos. 67 and 68 (Gauntlett, Steggall), both of L.M., are very good, especially the former, which will rank with its author's most happy efforts. The appearance of No. 70 is against it, giving it a strong likeness to a part-song; but, if taken very slowly, it will be found to consist of a charming melody simply and characteristically harmonized. Some learned professors would perhaps be startled at the progression between the last chord of bar 3 and the first of bar 4; but Mr. G. A. Macfarren is quite entitled to be considered an authority in himself. The effect produced by it is, in our judgment, not objectionable at all; and we know no other test as to what is right or wrong in music. In No. 73, which is the same setting (which Dr. Dykes contributed to Chope's Congregational Hymn and Tune Book), to the words "The day is past and over," he has unwittingly suggested the two first lines of the fine tune to the same hymn given in the Merton Collection (from the Mainz Choralbüch) as St. Jerome. The notes are very dissimilar in appearance, but the effect very similar. Sir John Goss has treated the hymn "Abide with me" in a most original manner, and has succeeded in avoiding the bad accents which mar nearly all the settings of these lovely verses. It cannot be long before this tune (74, second tune) is largely known and accepted. No. 77 is improved by its transposition from G into F. To the fine hymn "God that madest earth and heaven," Dr Steggall has wedded a tune which cannot be too highly praised. We are sorry not to find more than one tune to "Sun of my soul" (84). That given here can only claim admittance as being widely used. It is called German, but all we can say is that if Germany cares to own it, we shall consider England relieved from a most unpleasant responsibility. Some have traced it to a fragment from Mozart, others are equally sure that they recognize in it a French waltz. Of course it must have a history of its own, but in the name of art, let us draw a veil over it! We are very glad to see Dr. Hayne's "Sweet Saviour, bless us ere we go;" it has stood the test of many years' use, and yet is fresh and welcome. A short tune by Gounod (90) will prove a favourite; it thoroughly bears its author's stamp. Dr. Garrett has cleverly managed a somewhat difficult metre, and has produced a very stirring tune in No. 99. The words of No. 101 are in one of those "galloping" metres (as they have been aptly named), which force the composer into a secular rhythm, and Mr. Barnby has been unable to make his tune an exception to the rule. Mr. J. Baptiste Calkin has in No. 104 given an admirable tune. The effect produced by the change to the major for verses 5, 6, 7, will be solemn and impressive. The well-known tune No. 108 is one of Redhead's very best, and shows how he often rises far above the ordinary level. The first tune No. 110 appears in a much preferable form as No. 213, where not only the pitch and barring are more conformable to its style, but that objectionable thrusting forward of the major third in the Amen, called by the would-be learned the Tierce de Picardie,—but which might as reasonably be called anything else,—is omitted. The second tune, No. 110 (Mr. Barnby), is original, effective, and capable of illustrating the force of the words to the highest extent. Of Mr. Macfarren's tune No. 112, it must be said that it is not sufficiently solemn for the character of the hymn. The accent of the words in lines 1 and 2 of the second stanza occurs most unfortunately in the music; but Mr. Macfarren is not responsible for this. Here we must for the present pause. If an apology is needed for the length of our review of The Hymnary, it must be to the effect that the work itself is long, and presents a series of modern tunes, the greater part of which demand careful notice.

I did call upon the Lord. Anthem for four voices. Composed by T. Mee Pattison.

This is written with admirable purity. It is less remarkable for interest. There is little doubt that a musician, who has so well mastered technicalities as the anthem evinces of its author, may soon gain fluency of thought if he persevere in the practice of writing; while the effect is so agreeable on an audience, and so salutary on a choir, of grammatical correctness, that any deficiency of excitement in the character of this music will be more than made up for by its unpretensive soundness. By all means go on, Mr. Pattison, and fulfil our hope of still more attractive things from your hand. The piece is brief in extent, contains a repeat of its first strain which little lengthens its effect, is easy of execution, and is on all these counts, widely available.

Grant to us, Lord, we beseech Thee. Short full Anthem for four voices. Composed by J. Barnby.

We have not met with a more charming piece than the present, from the hand of its productive author. The ten bar rhythm of its opening strain is rendered symmetrical by its repetition, and the unusuality of this stamps the piece with a distinctive character, which at once arrests and lastingly holds the attention. "Short" is one of its defining terms, and an obviously true one, for the entire length reaches but to three pages; and this shortness fits it for many places and occasions whence greater extent with equal merit might exclude it. Brevity is the soul of wit, and often also the body of expediency; the piece before us exemplifies the virtue of brevity both in its spiritual and corporeal conditions. Let no one misprize this quality of conciseness. "I have not time to write a short letter," says the always felicitous word-measurer, Charles Lamb, apologetically for inditing a long one. An extended composition, in words or in notes, admits of dull passages as relief to more salient points; but a compact work requires that each word or every note be of indispensable interest in itself and necessity to the whole. The anthem is less chromatic than are some of Mr. Barnby's pieces, and it gains by the loss of sharps and naturals, for its purpose of devotional expression, and in executive facility. It is set to the Collect for the ninth Sunday after Trinity; it beautifully embodies the meek tenour of the text; and it is available for large choirs or for small, and desirable for any.

Paradise and the Peri. The words written and adapted from Moore's "Lalla Rookh," by H. W. Dulcken, Ph.D.; the music composed for solo voices, chorus, and orchestra, by Robert Schumann.

Schumann's music is now so rapidly obtaining, not only artistic recognition, but popular favour, in this country that we may reasonably anticipate a large demand for this octavo edition of one of the most charming of the composer's vocal works. Musicians have long known this Cantata and fully appreciated its many beauties; but it has been rarely heard save in the drawing-rooms of enthusiastic amateurs, the expensive form in which it was published making it almost inaccessible to Choral Societies, the spread of which will do more for the introduction of good music to the general public in one year than the speculation of private individuals can effect in a century. In the extreme delicacy and refinement with which Schumann has treated this subject, we have a faithful reflection of its composer's mind; and although the fanciful colouring of the orchestral score can be but faintly shadowed forth in the pianoforte part, the transcription is excellent throughout. Amateur vocalists who desire to employ their powers upon something higher than the songs of the day will be delighted with the many solos which abound in this work; and, though we admit that several of the choruses will demand steady and zealous practice, the time consumed will be amply repaid when the difficulties have been fairly vanquished. The Cantata has evidently been carefully edited, and is printed with that clearness which distinguishes all the octavo editions of the standard works issued by this firm.

Haydn's Spinnlied, für Pianoforte; übertragen und Mrs. John Housley; gewidmet, von E. Pauer.

This beautiful song and chorus, from the "Seasons," is here transcribed by Herr Pauer with such skill and knowledge of effect as to make the piece a highly attractive one for the pianoforte, apart from any considerations as to its origin. No great difficulties are presented to the performer, although the left hand passages require much neatness of execution. In arrangements like these we consider Herr Pauer especially happy; for, although he must have strong temptations (seeing that he is himself so perfect a master of the key-board) to introduce the most elaborate embellishments, he never allows himself to do so at the expense of obscuring the theme. Such transcriptions will help to bring good music before amateurs in a legitimate manner.

Dornröschen (Moss-Rose); Perlenregen (Shower of Pearls). Two pieces for the Pianoforte, by George Reynald.

These two little sketches, although conventional in form and treatment, are so extremely graceful and musicianlike that they cannot but recommend themselves to refined players and listeners. "Dornröschen" abounds in arpeggios and scales perhaps somewhat too much; but the principal theme is melodious, and the second subject, in the subdominant, forms an effective contrast. "Perlenregen" is decidedly the better of the two pieces; and, if delicately played, will certainly rival the many "Showers of Pearls" which have preceded it. Both compositions may be confidently recommended to pianists with agile fingers and a refined touch.

Pray, Child, pray. Song of the Sailor's wife, from the Cantata, "Outward Bound." Words by John Oxenford. Music by G. A. Macfarren.

We have already recorded our high estimate of this song on the production of Mr. Macfarren's Cantata at the recent Norwich Festival; and have now only to congratulate contralto vocalists upon its publication in a separate form. The excessive beauty of the music will always ensure it a welcome, even apart from the work of which it forms an integral portion, and we shall be glad if the popularity which it is certain to attain should lead to a performance in London of the Cantata itself, when we trust more justice may be done to its merits than was accorded to it on its first representation.

Yesterday and To-morrow. Song. Words by Charles Swain. Music by Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew.

Mr. Charles Swain's thoughtful poetry has received a most sympathetic setting from Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew, whose name is a guarantee for musical excellence. Were the composer not so perfect a mistress of theory, the melody would be overladen with the weight of the accompaniment—for every note is harmonized—but the chords move on so smoothly with the voice-part that they enrich, without disturbing the flow of the theme. The effect of the unexpected chord of B flat, which commences the final phrase of each verse, "So 'twill be to-morrow," is extremely beautiful.

The Charge of the Light Brigade. Words by Tennyson. Composed for Chorus (unaccompanied) by Edward Hecht.

We scarcely think Tennyson's impassioned verses suitable for music; but, considering the difficulty of the task, the composer of this chorus has been fairly successful. The continued restlessness caused by change of key, throughout the composition will cause a corresponding restlessness with the listeners; but boldly sung, with a good body of voices, the effect would be, we think, satisfactory, especially if given, according to the author's intention, without accompaniment.

Rest hath come. A Dirge. Words by Leyland Leigh.
Like to like. Song. Words by G. J. Whyte Melville.
Composed by Henry Hiles, Mus. Doc., Oxon.

Dr. Hiles's Dirge has a placid melody aptly expressive of the words, a good effect being gained by the broken phrases "Rest hath come," against the continuous accompaniment; and we may also mention as a point worthy of commendation, the commencement of the voice-part on the second of the bar. "Like to like" is perhaps somewhat over-harmonised; but the theme is vocal and melodious. We particularly admire the treatment of the words "Do thou love me," at the conclusion, the ascent of the minor seventh being extremely happy.

Cramer, Wood and Co.

Cramer's Christmas Carols; Ancient and Modern.

Many of these Carols are well known, and some are by modern composers. Of the latter we prefer that by Mr. C. E. Willing, which has a good melody, well harmonised. In Mr. Simpson's "While Shepherds watch'd their flocks at night," the consecutive fifths between bass and treble, in the 13th bar, 2nd page, may be considered "pastoral," but we do not like them. Neither can we admire the harmony of "God rest you, merry gentlemen;" but of course the natural in the 7th bar against the E, and the first chord on the 2nd page of Mr. Simpson's Carol already alluded to, are misprints.

Joseph Masters.

The Chorister's Instruction Book. By Frederick Helmore.

This book, says its author upon the title-page, is "the result of thirty years' practical experience in all the more popular methods of teaching the rudiments of music." The many Manuals of this kind which have lately come before us afford ample proof that neither thirty, nor any larger number of years' experience will be of much service to a teacher who publishes the result of his labours, unless he has acquired the difficult art of sifting falsehood from truth in the course of his investigations, and of logically arranging his thoughts upon paper, untrammelled by any abstract respect for the many musical errors which have become sanctified by time. In this respect Mr. Helmore's little book is so thoroughly satisfactory that we scarcely know where to begin or where to end our praise. The explanation of the pitch and value of the notes is extremely clear, and interest is given to the subject by a short paragraph informing the student how it happens that the Semibreve, or very short note, has in the present "fast age" become the name of the longest note in general use. The Clef signs, too, are shown in their original form, as simple letters; and every effort is made by the author to obviate (as he truly says) "the laborious efforts used to mystify the young musician," Scales are built up gradually, according to the fixed law which decides the place of the tones and semitones, whatever may be the starting sound; and aptly indeed is it said that "the key-note is like home." although the number of poor musical wanderers who never know their "home" is a fact which speaks but little for those to whose fostering care they are entrusted. But it is in the chapter upon Time where Mr. Helmore more especially earns the thanks of those who have the cause of musical education at heart, because this subject—although one of the most important—is the one in which authors of Elementary Treatises almost invariably fail. After a careful explanation of simple, duple, and triple time, we have the facts about Compound Time fairly and rationally stated; and this, to us, is so refreshing that we quote the paragraph as it stands. Speaking of Duple Time, he says, "When a musical composition abounds in triplets, in order to prevent the necessity of the frequent use of the figure 3, the number of minims, crotchets, quavers, or semiquavers, &c., necessary to fill a bar are marked at the commencement of the composition, and the single notes are dotted to make the number complete." This kind of Time, he says, is called "Triplet Common Time"; and, in the same manner, "the different kinds of Triple Time have their corresponding kinds of Triplet Triple, or rather Compound Triple Time, as it is usually named." Precisely so—the truth, at last: but what a pity it is that Mr. Helmore, who has invented the term "Triplet," to replace the absurd word "Compound" (which really means nothing at all), should not have been enabled to carry out his reform thoroughly and dot his signs of Simple Time to produce his "Triplet Time," precisely as he dots his notes. But here, of course, the received system asserts its right, not because it is true, but because it is old; and so we must go on expressing the quantity instead of the rhythm, and confusing our young pupils with a simple subject, when by a mere alteration of the time-signatures all difficulty would be at once removed. Let us be content, however, with the fact of Mr. Helmore's having called attention to the matter by this plain speaking, and wait patiently for the time when other teachers will have the temerity to think for themselves. In the chapter on Intervals the only thing that we object to is calling from C to F sharp a "major" instead of an "augmented" fourth, and indeed we can scarcely see how, practically, many of his terms can apply; but this, is after all, a mere matter of opinion; and where there is so much that is good, we are by no means inclined to be over critical upon some minor points upon which we may differ. The book is, as we have already said, the result of acute observation; and we sincerely wish that the majority of teachers would employ thirty years of their professional life with as much credit to themselves and as much benefit to their pupils.

ASHDOWN AND PARRY.

Nazareth (Jesus de Nazareth) de Gounod. Transcrit pour Piano, par Sydney Smith.

WHY an arrangement published in Hanover Square and the work of an Englishman, should have a title-page stating it is "transcrit pour Piano, par Sydney Smith," we are at a loss to imagine; but as the music luckily speaks to the world in an universal language, we can conscientiously recommend the piece to our countrywomen and countrymen as a very excellent and faithful rendering of M. Gounod's popular song. The air is well preserved, and the surrounding accompaniments, which lie well under the hands, are written throughout with a good knowledge of effect.

WILLIAM MORLEY.

The Alps. Two Characteristic Pieces, for the Pianoforte. No. 1. The Arrival. No. 2. The Farewell. Composed by R. Loffler.

WHAT these pieces have to do with the Alps more than any other part of the world—mountainous or not mountainous—and why one should be called the "Arrival," and the other the "Farewell," we are at a loss to conceive. Apart from the question of their being "characteristic" (a quality which the composer claims for them on the title-pages) we may, however, affirm that they are melodious and easy to play; and these will be considered irresistible attractions by the many purchasers who care not for any powerful employment either of the mind or fingers. The "Arrival" has a simple theme in F major, with an equally simple variation. The "Farewell" is based on a somewhat more tuneful subject, in C major, which passes, by a rather sudden dominant harmony, into E flat. The conventional arpeggios then surround the air, in the original key, and the piece concludes.

Broken Dreams. Ballad. Written by J. S. Lyons. Composed by Louis Pereira.

THIS is a fair specimen of a modern ballad, with no particular recommendation except that the melody is vocal, and the accompaniments musicianlike. The greatest enemies of the "sensational" spirit, so characteristic of the present day, cannot accuse our favourite song writers of yielding to its influence; for few compositions of this class aim at eliciting anything from the audience for which they are manufactured save that languid applause which results from a balmy endurance both of the song and the singer. "Broken Dreams" has unquestionably as great a right to a place in the extempore programme of a mild musical party as many songs we could mention signed by a much more popular composer.

METZLER AND CO.

Instruction Book for the American Organ.

Princess Victoria Pianoforte Tutor; with numerous full-page illustrations, especially adapted for the instruction of children.

By E. F. Rimbault.

THE first of these books pre-supposes that the pupil is acquainted with the rudiments of music, and the aim of the work is therefore to give all the necessary instructions for ensuring a good touch upon, and a thorough acquaintance with, the American Organ, which is now becoming a fashionable household instrument. In the performance of his task we are bound to say that the author has been highly successful; and we cordially recommend this Tutor not only to students of the American Organ but of all instruments of the Harmonium class. In the Pianoforte Instruction book the portion which relates to the pitch and value of notes is clear and concise; but we can never be made to understand why those which are written outside the staff (or with leger lines) are not taught by lines and spaces, as those inside invariably are. The manner in which Time is explained we do not agree with. "Compound Common Time," we are told, "occurs when two bars of Triple Time are joined in one;" and then a bar of six-eight is given, which contains a dotted minim. Is this a sample of "two bars of Triple Time joined in one"? Again "Compound Triple Time is when the measure of Common" (we presume the author means Simple) "Triple Time is divided into nine parts, and is expressed by the figures $\frac{9}{8}$." Will a pupil understand anything about the natural accent of this time by being told that it is "divided into nine parts"? In all other respects we have nothing but praise for the work: and we may add that the illustrations are excellent and well selected.

Original Correspondence.

THE SIGNATURE OF THE MINOR MODE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—The difference of opinion which prevails upon the subjects of the signature of the minor mode, and of the relative pitches of G sharp, and A flat (or rather the name that shall be given to the two methods of dividing a diatonic tone) has always appeared to be consequent upon viewing the matter from two different stand-points—harmony and melody.

The whole question of notation is, after all, only—Which is the most convenient and consistent method of graphically representing certain sounds? Two pitches being given, differing by a minute degree, which is most in accordance with our ideas of correct theory, to call one G sharp, and the other A flat, or vice versâ? A succession of notes being given which it is impossible to generalize into a signature, on account of what is evidently the same note being in some places a semitone flatter or sharper than in others, which particular accidentals shall we pick out for the signature, and which allow to remain as accidentals?

The minor scale is of such an artificial character, and at different periods has experienced so many modifications, that discussions about it are often rather vague. If, however, we agree to consider only that particular form now most generally used for modern music, we shall have something to start from. Here, then, we shall find a scale which for purposes of harmony, is the same as the diatonic major scale, with two alterations only—the flattening by a semitone the thirds on the tonic and subdominant. If the dominant third be also flattened, as it always is by the usual signature, we shall get a scale in which we may write, in which much very fine music has been written, but which is certainly not the modern scale we have agreed to consider, which decidedly requires that the third in the dominant triad shall be major.

In such a scale, however, a wide interval of three semitones occurs between the sixth and seventh degrees, which some think produces a harsh effect, as melody (although we need look no further than Mozart, in the Cum Sanctum, Twelfth Mass, to find good authority for the contrary opinion), hence the occasional flattening of the 7th, and sharpening of the 6th, as passing notes.

Hence if great practical inconvenience resulted from the use of the present signature, an inconvenience great enough to warrant a change and the upsetting of established usage (which there certainly does not), the most correct signature would be such as would represent A minor by G♯; D minor by C♯, B♭. The prejudice of musicians against seeing sharps and flats together in a signature would be one of the greatest difficulties to be overcome in such a change; but it is only a prejudice.

Berlioz, in his work on the Orchestra, has made some very bitter remarks on the talented inventor of the English Concertina, because, having unequally divided the interval between G and A, he called the sharper semitone A♭, and the flatter, G♯, instead of vice versâ. His argument is entirely founded on the melodial merits of the case, had he paused for a moment to consider the question harmonically, he must have seen that Wheatstone was right in his nomenclature.

The physical laws which govern pure harmony are perfectly exact. We know without the slightest doubt that a musical note is the result of a certain definite number of vibrations in a given time, and that in order that another note may harmonize with it, it is necessary that a simple relation shall exist between the two numbers of vibration, otherwise a decidedly unpleasant effect is produced, and the two notes are "out of tune."

It is otherwise as regards melody, which is very much more the subject of individual taste and imagination. Two single sounds may occur in succession, which as harmony could not be tolerated, if sounded together. It is known that some nations possess melodies that would necessitate the division of the octave into very many more than the twelve divisions of the equal temperament, but it is impossible for any, except as a matter of individual taste, to say their effect is bad. What some may consider harshness, others may call character. Thus it would seem that the requirements of harmony possess the greatest claim to consideration as the basis of a systematic and consistent method of notation.

If we examine a scale of eight notes, tuned to the diatonic scale, so as to produce the purest harmonic effects in that one key, we find the numbers of their vibration bear to each other the following relations:—

In such a scale the fifths in the triads of the tonic, dominant, subdominant, mediant, and super-dominant, are all quite perfect, bearing to their roots the proportion of $\frac{3}{2}$ to 1.

The major thirds on the three first, and the minor thirds on the two latter, are also perfect, bearing to their roots the proportion respectively of $\frac{5}{4}$ to 1, and $\frac{6}{5}$ to 1. The third and fifth on the supertonic are a trifle too flat.

Allowing this scale to remain as it is, let us introduce a G♯, which of course must bear the same relation to the E that the E does to the C—major third, that is to say, $\frac{5}{4}$ of $\frac{5}{4}$, or $\frac{25}{16}$. Now let us introduce an A flat, which must of course bear the same relation to the upper C, as the lower C does to the E, viz., 1 to $\frac{5}{4}$, which we find to be $\frac{8}{5}$. This A flat also forms a perfect minor third to the F, for $\frac{8}{5}$ of $\frac{4}{3}$ is $\frac{32}{15}$.

Thus then we have the G sharp $\frac{25}{16}$, and the A flat $\frac{8}{5}$. Which of these is the higher number or sharper pitch? Reducing the fractions for comparison, we have the G sharp equal to $\frac{1.25}{80}$ and the A flat to $\frac{1.28}{80}$, the latter greater than the former by $\frac{3}{80}$.

If this interval be so divided, and we reverse the nomenclature, we must form the major triad on E by E A♭ B, and the minor triad on F, by F G♯, C, which is simply ridiculous. Or if, retaining those names, we write E G♯ B, &c., we sacrifice all the practical advantage sought to be gained by this hypercritical division of the interval to a mere pedantic fancy. If on the contrary we call the sharper pitch A flat, and in a purely melodial passage wish to slightly sharpen the leading note to A, what practical or theoretical disadvantage can accrue from writing such an altered G sharp as A flat? I must confess I can see none, for such note cannot be viewed as bearing any relation to the dominant harmony, to which it is quite foreign.

Practically the whole question has little importance, since the equal temperament entirely disposes of the difficulty; but it is well, perhaps, for us sometimes to examine the exact foundations upon which such a beautiful superstructure as the musical art rests.

I am, Sir, yours truly,
ROBT. SMITH.

M. FETIS'S TREATISE ON HARMONY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—The work by Fétis referred to by your correspondent E. LL. is probably his "Traité complet de la théorie et de la pratique de l'harmonie." Of this treatise the fourth edition was published at Paris in 1849, enlarged by a preface and notes, and may be still in print. The usual price of a good second-hand copy is about nine shillings. I have never met with an English translation of it. Fétis also published "Manuel des compositeurs," which has been translated by Mr. W. Guernsey.

Yours faithfully,
December 11, 1872. G. A. C.

BRITISH ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

DEAR SIR,—The outcry of "Straniero" in your last number against the above Society on account of its confessed national character is based on the usual lame story of all good music having been written by Germans and other continental composers. That Beethoven, Mozart, &c., wrote music of the best kind, all the world knows and acknowledges. The foreign music of the present day is, however, quite as remarkable for its inferiority to the English as the latter was, perhaps, to the former when those two composers lived—that is, for the sake of argument, admitting that this was the case. But because we admit that they produced good music there is no reason why that of Purcell, Battishill, Arne, Sir J. Stevenson, Sir Henry Bishop, Onslow, Balfe, and Wallace should be forgotten, and what is much more to the purpose at the present time, why we should hear trashy "Savoyard's Dreams" by Lumbye, "Symphonic Poems" by Liszt, wearisome "Serenades" by Brahms, and incomplete scraps of Wagner's operas and other indifferent orchestral compositions by various German (would-be) composers so much oftener than the fine works of Bennett and Macfarren, not to mention others, lest this should be considered an attempt to advertise anyone. Of one English composer we do hear a great deal, and the more the better. From the "Prodigal Son" to "Cox and Box," from the "Tempest" to the Masque in the "Merchant of Venice," his music is better than that of any of the modern Germans I have mentioned. Of course "Straniero" would put me down something, which, judging by his letter, he very strongly resembles, but my impressions are not the result of staying in England and hearing what he would possibly consider as "nothing," but of passing three years in Germany, studying music there deeply and with the most eminent masters that country can boast of (as I had done with the best men here previously), such subjects as Counterpoint, Fugue, &c.; hearing all the rehearsals and concerts in the Leipsic Gewandhaus, during that time, as well as many in Berlin, Dresden, and other German towns, and seeing Wagner conduct complete performances of his own operas. Having done this, I sincerely believe that at the present day not only can England boast of better native orchestral performers than any other country can do with justice, but also of profounder musical theorists and more original composers, if by originality we understand sweet and beautiful melody combined with good and clever harmony, both sufficiently new to produce the impression of being heard for the first time, and not the ludicrous (one might almost say the "insane") straining after mere eccentricity, by which such writers as the Germans I have mentioned strive (in their orchestral works) to obtain notoriety.

Yours faithfully,
UNION JACK.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of concerts, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded as early as possible after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot be inserted. Our correspondents must specifically denote the date of each concert, for without such date no notice can be taken of the performance.

Our correspondents will greatly oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all Subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music pages are always stereotyped, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

TETRACHORD.—We do not know any professors who teach the "Geneuphonic System."

Brief Summary of Country News.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this Summary; as all the notices are either collated from the local papers, or supplied to us by occasional correspondents.

ANDOVER.—On Thursday the 5th ult., special services were held in the Parish Church, on the occasion of re-opening the organ. There were two full choral services, both of which were attended by large congregations. In the afternoon an excellent selection of organ music was given by Mr. Gamblin, of St. Cross, Winchester, which displayed to perfection the qualifications of the instrument, the re-construction of which has been most successfully carried out by Messrs. Bevington and Sons, of London. In justice to Mr. Chuter (organist of the church) it must be said that the manner in which the service was sung gave ample proof of the state of efficiency to which he has brought the choir.

BARNES.—On the 13th ult., Mr. Burnham Horner gave a lecture on Mendelssohn, at the Institute. The vocal illustrations were rendered by Miss Pocklington, who sang, with great success, "Infelice," the "Charmer," and several other of Mendelssohn's songs. Amongst other pianoforte illustrations, Mr. Horner played "Andante and Presto agitato," and "Six Christmas Pieces," with great brilliancy. The lecture was received with the warmest applause by a highly appreciative audience.

BEDFORD.—The sixth season of the Bedford Amateur Musical Society was concluded by a concert at the Assembly Rooms, on Tuesday, the 10th ult., when Mendelssohn's Elijah was performed. Mrs. Sydney Smith, Miss Alice Barnett, Mr. Leslie Braham, and Mr. J. Lander, were highly effective in the solo parts; "Hear ye Israel," by Mrs. Sydney Smith; "O rest in the Lord," by Miss Alice Barnett, and the two tenor songs by Mr. Leslie Braham, being particularly deserving of mention. Mr. J. Lander, too, was thoroughly efficient in the trying part of the Prophet; and the choruses, especially "Thanks be to God" and "Be not afraid," were rendered with a precision and power which well merited the applause they received. Mr. P. H. Diemer conducted, Mr. R. Rose presided at the harmonium, and Mr. T. J. Ford at the pianoforte.

BIRMINGHAM.—At St. George's Parish Church, the organ, originally built by Elliott, has been re-built and enlarged by Mr. Banfield, of Birmingham. It contains 43 stops, with 8 couplers, and 8 composition pedals; of the stops, 7 are at present without pipes. About half the stops, and the entire action, &c., are new; the rest, with the case, formed part of the original instrument. The organ was opened on November 24th and 27th. Sermons were preached by the Lord Bishop of Worcester, by the Rev. Samuel Minton, M.A., and the Rev. Canon Wilkinson, D.D. The services were Dr. Clarke Whitfeld's "Te Deum laudamus" and "Jubilate" in E, and G. A. Macfarren's "Cantate" and "Deus Miserestor" in G. The anthems were "Sing, O Daughter of Zion," by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. Ouseley, Bart; "O praise God in His holiness," by Clarke Whitfeld; and "Hallelujah to the Father," by Beethoven. The services included a hymn written for the opening of the organ by the Rector, "Triune God, Thy praise to sing," set to music by Dr. Belcher, who presided at the organ, which is certainly one of the finest in the town.

BOURNEMOUTH.—Miss Ella Morgen's concert took place on the 23rd November. The bénéficiare, whose executive powers are of a high order, played selections from Beethoven, Mendelssohn and Liszt. Miss Butterworth (of the Royal Academy of Music), who possesses a beautiful contralto voice, sang "Ben e ridicolo" (Randegger) and "He roamed in the Forest" (O'Leary). The performances of both young ladies were warmly applauded.

BURY ST. EDMUNDS.—The first concert for the season, given by the St. Mary's Choir, Glee, and Madrigal Society, proved very successful. The five-part glee, "Queen of the valley," evidenced the careful training of the choir. The Society had the valuable assistance of Miss E. Spiller from London, and Miss Bacon from Ipswich. An interesting feature in the programme was a pianoforte duet from Euryanthe, played by the conductor, Mr. T. B. Richardson, and his little daughter (aged 11), which was enthusiastically re-demanded. Mr. T. B. Richardson conducted with his usual ability, and the accompaniments were skilfully rendered by his pupil, Mr. G. Whitehead, the assistant organist of St. Mary's Church.

CHELTENHAM.—Mr. J. A. Matthews's first subscription concert for the season was given in the Corn Exchange on the 2nd ult. The works performed were Mendelssohn's music to Racine's Athalie, and a selection from Mozart's Nozze di Figaro, to the English words, translated and adapted by Natalia Macfarren. Athalie was given entire, the illustrative verses being read by Mr. J. Moden. The solos and choruses were well executed, and reflected much credit on all concerned. The Overture and War March were admirably rendered by a band of 30 performers, and encored. The second part was miscellaneous, and contained some excellent vocal pieces, several of which were re-demanded. Mr. E. G. Woodward was leader of the band, and Mr. J. A. Matthews conducted. The room was crowded in every part.

CLIFTON.—On Tuesday, November 26th, Madame Norman-Neruda and Mr. Charles Hallé gave, under the auspices of Mr. J. C. Daniel, at the Victoria-rooms, a Recital, in the course of which they performed a variety of first-rate compositions. Never, probably, did either artist play more finely, and rarely has an audience enjoyed a greater musical treat. Madame Norman-Neruda's rendering of Handel's sonata in A was a superb example of violin playing, and elicited an enthusiastic encore. A similar compliment was exacted by her brilliant execution of some Hungarian dances. Mr. Charles Hallé also charmed every one by his performance of the music allotted to him.

DALKEITH.—On Tuesday evening the 26th November, a private Mendelssohn concert was given, under the auspices of the Dalkeith Choral Union. The chair was occupied by the Rev. James Rennie, Glasgow, who opened the meeting with an able sketch of Mendelssohn's career. The musical selection began with the quartet, "Cast thy burden," from Elijah, which was very effectively rendered. This was followed by the duet, "In His hands," from Come, let us sing. The choir, under the direction of the Society's conductor, Mr. G. P. Heathcote, then sang the chorale from St. Paul, "Sleepers, wake," with much precision and effect. The other solos in the sacred part most worthy of mention were, "Oh for the wings," from Hear my prayer, and "Be thou faithful," from St. Paul. The secular portion of the entertainment included the Duet, and Hunting Song, from the Lieder (well played by Mr. Thomas Berry, organist of Inveresk Church, who also acted as accompanist), and the songs "The first violet," "On song's bright pinion," "A roamer," &c. The entertainment was in every respect highly successful.

DEVIZES.—The Amateur Choral Society gave its first concert of the season, on Thursday, the 5th ult., at the Town Hall, under the direction of Mr. J. T. Abraham. A well selected programme was very carefully given, and Miss M. Welch greatly contributed to the success of the concert by two pianoforte solos, played with much taste and skill. Mr. Sly accompanied, and Mr. W. Price presided at the harmonium.

DOUGLAS, ISLE OF MAN.—A most successful concert was given by Miss Wood's choir, in behalf of the coal fund, in the Victoria Hall, on Wednesday, the 11th ult., in the presence of Mrs. Loch and a large and fashionable audience. The orchestra was filled with nearly one hundred singers, of whom upwards of twenty were members of the Ramsey Choir, who most kindly gave their services upon the occasion, and whose fine voices told well in the part-songs. The concert opened with a verse of "God save the Queen," followed by the part-song "The Watch on the Rhine," which was given with much spirit. "Carrie Lee," a song of Miss Wood's composition (the chorus to which was sung with much delicacy and taste by the choir) gave great pleasure, and was vigorously re-demanded. The part-songs "Come let us be merry," "Caput apri," by Pearsall, and "Hark, 'tis the trumpet," were all given with precision and vigour, and well deserved the encores which they received. The duet between pianoforte and harmonium brought forward Mrs. Valintine for the first time, and we trust that a lady possessing so perfect a command over her instrument, will often again delight a Douglas audience. Mr. Howell Thomas, who made his début, received a well-merited recall for his solo on the violoncello, "The Blue Bells of Scotland," and Mr. Kerruish's song "The Vagabond" was also encored. In the trio, the "Queen of the Night," Mrs. Spittall took the principal part, and her fine voice told with much effect. A harmonized setting in four parts of "The last Rose of Summer," was sung with taste by Misses Valintine and Hampton, and Messrs. Nicholls and Livesey. The accompaniments were divided between Mrs. Spittall, Miss Wood, and Miss Valintine.

DUBLIN.—The large organ erected by Mr. Barker, of Paris, and now standing in the Cathedral, Marlborough Street, was recently formally inaugurated by Mr. Best. The instrument is very highly spoken of by the local press, and two performances were given upon it, at one of which, the principal artists of the Italian Opera, then in the city, rendered invaluable aid by some vocal selections.

GLASGOW.—Mr. Best, of St. George's Hall, Liverpool, gave two Recitals of organ music in Sandyford U. P. Church, on Saturday and Monday, the 14th and 16th ult. The attendance resembled the advent of some great preacher, the edifice being crowded in every part on each occasion, so that a handsome sum would be realised for the benefit of the Sandyford Crèche Fund. Mr. Best also presided at the organ during the usual services on Sunday, the 15th ult.

GLOUCESTER.—The first concert of the Choral Society took place in the Shire-hall on the 9th ult., before a large audience. The principal singers were Misses Julia Jones, Stockwell, and Edith Taylor, and Messrs. T. Hunt (of St. George's Chapel, Windsor), Phillips, and Pickford, all of whom acquitted themselves so well that their several performances call for no especial remark. The choruses went steadily throughout. Mr. J. A. Matthews, of Cheltenham, presided as usual at the organ, and played the Overture and Dead March, which were loudly applauded. Mr. J. Hunt ably officiated as conductor.

GRANGE.—On Wednesday evening, the 11th ult., the Grange Musical Society gave its annual Christmas concert, in the Institute. The first part was devoted to Romberg's Cantata, The Lay of the Bell, the principal parts being most efficiently sustained by Miss Hubberstey, Mr. Harrison, the Rev. Matthew Wood, and Mr. Ashley. The second part was miscellaneous, and contained some well-selected vocal pieces, all of which were warmly received, Mr. Harrison's song, "Once again," being re-demanded. Great credit is due to Mr. Bather, the Society's conductor, for the excellent manner in which he has trained the choir.

GRAVESEND.—The seventh annual concert in aid of the funds of the Orphanage of the Out-door officers of H. M. Customs. was given on the 5th ult. at the Assembly-rooms, under the direction of Mr. W. Phillips. The vocalists were the Misses Gertrude and Edith Holman Andrews, Miss Ada Percival, Mr. Charles Haywood, Mr. Chaplin Henry, Mr. Farquharson, and Mr. W. Barlow, all of whom were highly effective, several of their songs receiving encores. The concert was a great success, artistically and pecuniarily, the room being crowded by the élite of the town. Mr. J. Fountain Meen was the accompanist.

GREENOCK.—On the 6th ult., a highly successful concert was given in the Town Hall, by the Greenock Orpheus Club, in aid of the funds of the Infirmary. The Club, composed of 21 chosen male voices, rendered the choral portion of the programme in a very effective manner, the pieces received with especial favour being "The two roses." "Banish, O maiden," and "The image of the rose" (with tenor solo), from the "Orpheus Glees;" Druids' Chorus in Norma; Soldier's Chorus in Faust, and W. Macfarren's "Windlass Song," the two last being enthusiastically encored. The principals were Messrs. James and John Boyd, and C. W. Methven (tenors), and Messrs. W. Boyd and J. Currie (basses), all of whom acquitted themselves in a thoroughly artistic manner; Mr. John Boyd's rendering of "Good bye, Sweetheart," Mr. Methven's "Com è gentil," and "The image of the rose," Mr. W. Boyd's "The British Oak" (a song composed expressly for the occasion by the conductor), and Mr. Currie's "King Christmas" and "Qui sdegno," being unanimously re-demanded. Mr. Middleton acted as conductor with his customary ability; and Mr. Poulter as organist, both in his solo and accompaniments, proved himself an efficient performer on his instrument.

GREETLAND, NEAR HALIFAX.—The new organ erected in the Greetland Wesleyan Chapel, by Mr. F. W. Nicholson, of Bradford, was opened on Thursday night, the 5th ult., by J. V. Roberts, Esq., Mus. Bac., Oxon, organist of the Parish Church, Halifax, and a select choir. Solos from the standard Oratorios were effectively sung by Miss Hollawell, Miss Ada Brook, and Mr. Battinson; and the programme also included several choruses from the Messiah. Mr. Roberts played a varied selection of organ pieces, including Guilmant's "Grand Chœur," two Andantes and a Fantasia by Batiste; Bach's E minor and St. Ann's Fugues, Mendelssohn's Second Sonata (C minor) and Andante in G, Wely's Hymn of Nuns, and Handel's "The King shall rejoice," and Allegro from a concerto. The total of pipes in the organ is 1176, and, in addition to the usual 3 couplers and 5 composition pedals, there is a sub-octave coupler Swell to Great. The instrument is blown by Holt's hydraulic engine.

HEREFORD.—The Christmas concert of the Hereford Choral Society was given at the Shire-hall, on Tuesday, the 17th ult., when Mendelssohn's St. Paul was performed. There was an exceedingly good attendance, and the concert was a thorough success. The soprano solos were taken by Miss Banks, who fully sustained her well-earned reputation, and Miss Broad sang the contralto solos and recitatives very effectively. The tenor solos were divided between the Rev. A. Robinson and the Rev. T. H. Belcher, whose talents and voices are too well known in the county to need comment. The Rev. W. D. V. Duncombe and Mr. J. H. Lambert respectively sang the bass solos. Mr. Duncombe sang with his usual taste and skill, and the rich bass voice of Mr. Lambert was heard to much advantage. The choruses, as a whole, were effectively rendered. Mr. Townshend Smith occupied the post of conductor, which he has for so many years ably filled.

HOLYWELL, OXFORD.—On Thursday evening, the 12th ult., the annual concert of St. Clement's choir, in aid of the St. Clement's Parochial Schools and Choir Fund, took place in the Music-room. The various pieces were admirably gone through, especially those by the choir, and the encores were very numerous. They included the performances of Miss Darby, Miss Kate Harvey, Miss A. Rogers, Miss White, Miss Saunders, Miss Pring, Miss Williamson, Mr. Sinkins, Mr. Porter, Mr. Britten, and Mr. Dodds, also of the newly-appointed organist of Queen's College, whose pianoforte solos delighted everybody, and were warmly and deservedly applauded. The concert, which was ably conducted by Mr. Pacey, to whom great credit is due for the pains he has taken with the choir, afforded great enjoyment to a large audience. We are informed that Mr. Dodds has just been appointed organist of St. Clement's, in the place of Mr. Pacey, who is leaving Oxford. He will be a valuable addition to the musical talent of the City.

KENDAL.—On Tuesday evening, the 10th ult., Handel's Messiah was performed by the Kendal Choral Society, in the National School-room, before a large audience. The principal vocalists were Miss Clelland, Mr. M. Kennedy, Mr. Spencer, and Mr. George Allen. Miss Clelland was especially successful in the airs "Rejoice greatly" and "I know that my Redeemer liveth," the latter of which was unanimously encored; and Messrs. Kennedy, Spencer, and Allen were also highly efficient in the music allotted to them. The choruses were rendered with much precision, perhaps the most effective being "For unto us" and "Lift up your heads." The performance was under the able conductorship of Mr. W. B. Armstrong and Mr. W. Smallwood.

LIVERPOOL.—On the 3rd ult., the Philharmonic Society gave its eleventh subscription concert for the year. Principal artists: Madlle. Marie Marimon, and Signor Foli. The chief orchestral work was Beethoven's "Sinfonia Eroica," which went splendidly. The overtures were those to Lurline (W. V. Wallace), to William Tell (Rossini), of which the March was encored, and that to La Fiancée (Auber). The Notturno, in A Midsummer Night's Dream (Mendelssohn), gave great pleasure. Two choruses by Weber, from Preciosa and Oberon, were very well sung and played, and the applause throughout the concert was most enthusiastic.——THE 12th and last Subscription Concert for the year, of the Philharmonic Society, was devoted to a very fine performance of Sir Julius Benedict's Oratorio, St. Peter. Principal artists: Madame Florence Lancia, Madame Patey, Mr. Sims Reeves, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Santley. The choruses went excellently; the quartet and three of the songs were encored, and the solo performances were what might be expected from the well-known characteristics of the vocalists. Mr. Sims Reeves, though evidently suffering much from the effects of his late severe illness, sang with exquisite sweetness and expression.

LYDNEY.—The first concert for the season was given by the members of the Harmonic Union on Friday, the 13th ult. The programme consisted of selections from Samson and Mozart's Figaro. Principal vocalists: Miss J. Jones (Pupil of Mr. J. A. Matthews), Miss Sainsbury, Mrs. Vivian, and Messrs. Morgan, G. Halford, and Gillman. The choruses were well sung, and several solos were re-demanded. There was a small band led by Mr. Woodward; Mr. J. Hooper presided at the pianoforte, and Mr. J. A. Matthews conducted, and filled up the wind parts on the harmonium.

MAIDSTONE.—A performance of the Messiah was given on the 16th ult., in the Corn Exchange, under the direction of Mr. H. F. Henniker, A.R.A. The principal vocalists were Miss Matilda Scott, Miss Tyers, Messrs. Moulding and Rhodes (both of Canterbury Cathedral). The band and chorus numbered about 100. The solosts acquitted themselves most satisfactorily, and the choruses were very finely rendered. The performance was much appreciated by a large audience.

MANCHESTER.—A performance was given by Mr. Best on the organ in Brookfield Church, Gorton, on the 20th ult., being the anniversary of the dedication of the building. The instrument, a very fine one, by Mr. F. W. Jardine, of Manchester, comprises three manuals and pedal organ, with an ample variety in the selection of stops on each keyboard.

OXFORD.—On Tuesday evening, the 26th November, the Musical Society of Queen's College gave a terminal concert to about 200 of the élite of the University and leading inhabitants of the city. The pianoforte solos by Mr. Dodds, the organist (and the lately elected organist and choirmaster to St. Clement's choir), were rapturously applauded and encored; and the programme (which was exceedingly varied) afforded the utmost satisfaction to the audience.

PERTH.—The Choral Society gave an excellent performance of Handel's Oratorio Joshua in the City Hall, on Tuesday, the 17th ult. The solo vocalists were Mrs. A. J. Sutton, Mr. Bickley, Mr. W. Grayson and Mr. F. Sinkins, all of whom acquitted themselves with much credit. The choruses (if we except the want of due light and shade) were fairly given, but more zealous practice will be necessary before the choir will be thoroughly competent to grapple with works of such pretension. Dr. Linter conducted, and the accompanists were Mr. F. W. Bridgman (pianoforte) and Mr. W. H. Richmond (harmonium.)

PLYMOUTH.—A highly effective performance of Handel's Messiah was given at the Albert Hall, on the 18th ult., under the able direction of Mr. Löhr. Miss Ellen Horne created a genuine impression by her singing of "Rejoice greatly," and Miss Julia Elton's fine voice was heard to much advantage in the contralto music, the air "He was despised" being especially well rendered. Mr. Rogers (tenor) and Mr. Lander (bass) are also deserving of much commendation; and the choruses were admirably sung throughout. A presentation was made to Mr. Löhr, the conductor of the Society, at the rehearsal of the Oratorio on the previous evening. The gift consisted of a massive solid silver tea-service, accompanied by a scroll, on which was inscribed the names of the three hundred subscribers to the testimonial; and a silver bouquet-holder and elegant bouquet were given at the same time to Mrs. Löhr. The compliment was duly acknowledged in a brief but eloquent address by Mr. Löhr.

PORT ELIZABETH.—A successful concert, under the direction of Mr. F. Griffiths, was given in the Grey Institute, on the 18th October, and was attended by a fashionable audience. The programme comprised an excellent selection of music, the whole of which, with slight exception, was well executed. Several vocal pieces were effectively rendered, and the pianoforte and concertina performance of Mr. Griffiths was much admired.

PRESTON.—The opening of the new organ built by Messrs. Forster and Andrews, Hull, took place at Moore Park Wesleyan Chapel, on the 27th November. A sermon was preached in the afternoon by the Rev. Mr. Tweddle, of Manchester; and in the evening a selection of music from the works of the most eminent masters, was performed by a choir of forty voices, under the conductorship of Mr. T. J. Baverstock, Mr. Chas. Yates presiding at the organ. Special services also took place on Sunday the 1st ult.; the chapel choir performing in admirable style several anthems during the day. Mr. James Staveley presided at the organ with much ability.

ROTHERHAM.—On the 29th November, Haydn's Seasons was given by the Rotherham Choral Festival Union, in the Mechanics' Hall. The principal vocalists were Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Greenwood, Miss Higgins, Messrs. Richardson, Henderson, G. R. Glossop, and W. Brown, all of whom were highly effective, Mrs. Foster, in "Ye false and idle swains, away," Mrs. Greenwood, in "Light and life dejected languish," and Messrs. Henderson and Richardson, in the whole of the music allotted to them, elicited the warmest and most deserved applause. The choruses, especially "Hark, the deep tremendous voice," "The evening bell again has tolled," "Hark, the mountains resound," "Joyful the liquor flows," and the "Laughing Chorus," were exceedingly well rendered, the last three being enthusiastically encored. The concert reflected the utmost credit upon Mr. J. Warburton, the conductor, and also upon Mr. W. Richardson, each of whom had an arduous task to perform during the long period of preparation. The band was led by Mr. S. Firkin with much care and judgment.

SALISBURY.—The Sarum Choral Society, with an admirable band, Mr. H. Weist Hill as solo violinist, and Miss Matilda Scott, of the London concerts, and Mr. Henry Guy, R.A.M., gave a miscellaneous concert in the Hamilton Hall on the 10th ult., before a large and highly appreciative audience. The first part was devoted to Handel, opening with the overture, "Occasional," and followed by a selection from L'Allegro, &c., in which the airs, recitatives, choruses, and orchestral accompaniments were most effectively rendered. The violin solo of Mr. H. Weist Hill (Adagio, 9th Concerto, Spohr) was finely performed throughout. A vociferous re-demand resulted, and a similar compliment was paid to Miss Scott for her expressive singing of an excellent song, the composition of the Society's conductor, Mr. C. J. Read, entitled "Knowest thou the land," the composer also meeting with quite an ovation. The concert, which was a thoroughly good one, terminated with the magnificent Overture (Op. 26) Rosamunde, Schubert.

SCARBOROUGH.—The sympathy extended towards the captain of the unfortunate vessel "E.J.D." (which was recently stranded on the beach at Scarborough, and has since become a total wreck), has been almost universal in the town; and amongst the laudable endeavours to aid him, a classical and musical entertainment was given on Saturday evening the 30th November, at the Prince of Wales Assembly-rooms, by Dr. Sloman, organist of St. Martin's. The entertainment consisted of readings from Shakespere's Julius Cæsar, Two Gentlemen of Verona, and Hamlet, and of a few vocal and instrumental pieces, very agreeably and judiciously varied in character. The readings were delivered by Dr. Sloman with excellent dramatic effect, and with much grace and ease of manner. The instrumental portion of the music consisted of a pianoforte solo, comprising illustrations of Bach (a Fugue in D minor), Mozart (Sonata in A major), and Beethoven (Andante from Sonata in G major), all of which were admirably played and warmly applauded.

SLOUGH.—A concert was given at Slough, on the 18th ult., by some members of the Eton College Choir, assisted by Mr. H. Nicholson (solo flute) and Madame T. Wells, who were very successful in the music allotted to them.——THE Slough Glee Club gave its first concert on the 19th ult. Miss Agnes Larkcom was well received, and bids fair, with study, to become a valuable acquisition to the profession. The members of the Club gave Kücken's "Young Musicians" and "The Chafers" with great spirit. Mr. John Gower was solo pianist and accompanist. The concert was under the direction of Mr. O. Christian.

STAMFORD.—On Wednesday evening the 11th ult., a concert was given in the Assembly-rooms, before a large audience, by Mr. Henry Nicholson, organist of St. Michael's Church, assisted by members of the Cathedral choir, Peterborough. The first part was devoted to sacred music, solos being well rendered by Masters Barratt, Wilson and Noble. The trio "Lift thine eyes" (Elijah), by Masters Noble, Barratt and Shields, was also excellently sung, eliciting from the audience hearty applause. The second part consisted of secular music, every piece in which was given in such a manner as to merit the hearty appreciation of the audience.

SUNDERLAND.—On Wednesday the 4th ult., the new organ at St. Mark's Church, was inaugurated by special services, morning and evening. Mr. W. A. Leggatt, of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, presided at the instrument in the morning, and Dr. Dykes (whose "Te Deum" was given and greatly admired) in the evening. The organ is from the firm of Messrs. Lewis and Co., of London, and cost about £600, two-thirds of which have already been raised.

SURBITON.—Madame Fürstenberg gave a concert in the Lecture Hall on the 6th ult. The artists were Herr C. Deichman (violin), Herr Hugo Daubert (violoncello), Madame Fürstenberg (pianoforte), Miss E. Blair, and Mr. Orlando Christian. The ballads of Miss Blair and Mr. Christian were well received, as were also the instrumental solos and trios. Mr. H. S. Trego was conductor.

TERLING.—A concert was given on Monday, the 2nd ult., by the Terling Choral Society, assisted by Mrs. J. Gardner, Messrs. J. Smith, R. Gill, and J. B. Bolton. Mr. Smith received an encore for his effective rendering of the "White Squall;" and Messrs. Bolton and Gill were warmly and deservedly applauded. Mrs. Gardner and Mr. Bolton accompanied the vocal music, and the choir, under the direction of the Hon. Richard Strutt, sang several part-songs, which were well received.

WELLINGTON.—The annual concert on behalf of the Wellington National Schools, held on the 29th November, was highly successful. The programme was varied, and afforded the utmost satisfaction to the audience, the pianoforte and harmonium playing of Mr. J. R. Toms, (who also produced an effective piece of his composition, called "Dreams of the orchestra"), having been especially admired. Mr. Crowe (cornet), Mr. Cheek (flute), and Mrs. H. Elworthy, Misses Pulman, Kidgell, and Warren (pianoforte), deserve a word of recognition for their valuable services; and songs by Fraulein Krey, Mrs. Edwards, Messrs. Ebdon, and G. F. S. Knowling, were much and deservedly applauded. An operatic part-song was carefully sung by ten young ladies of the madrigal class, who also performed Haydn's Toy Symphony. Mr. Manley was an efficient conductor, and Miss Warren an able accompanist.

WEST MALLING, KENT.—A concert was given in the Assembly Room, on the 28th November, by the West Malling Choral Society. The programme was of a high order, and well executed throughout. The principal performers were the Rev. J. A. Tillard (conductor and accompanist), Mrs. Boodle (piano), H. D. Wildesbry (violin), and Mr. Rowland (violoncello and vocalist). Many persons being unable to gain admission, the concert was repeated on the 1st ult., when there was also a large audience. The proceeds, after payment of necessary expenses, amounting to ten pounds, were given to the Malling Coal Club.

WORCESTER.—The choir of St. Clement gave its second concert for the season on Tuesday evening, the 26th November, in the old School-room, which was well attended. The chief attraction in the programme was the popular Operetta The Merry Men of Sherwood, which was in every respect excellently performed. The principal parts were sustained by Miss Stockley, Messrs. Gummery, Stoyle and J. Baxter. The solos and choruses were much and deservedly applauded, and the work may be pronounced to have been a decided success with the audience. Mr. A. Lewis Baylis presided at the pianoforte, and Mr. H. Elgar at the harmonium.

WREXHAM.—A large audience filled the Town-hall to overflowing on the 29th November, on the occasion of the benefit concert of Mr. Harriss, organist of St. Mark's Church. Several overtures were well played by the band, and also a set of waltzes, composed by Mr. Blamphin. A flute solo by Mr. Redfearn, and a violoncello solo by Mr. Blamphin, were highly effective; and a harmonium solo by the bénéficiare, was encored. Madame Billinie Porter was heard to great advantage, especially in the "Echo song," the cadence in which was most brilliantly sung. Messrs. Orme, Halliday, and Bell, were also included amongst the vocalists. During the evening a bâton was presented to Mr. Harriss by the members of St. Mark's choir, as a token of their regard and esteem for him as a most accomplished musician and painstaking choirmaster.

ORGAN APPOINTMENTS.—Mr. Thomas Berry (organist of Inveresk Parish Church), to Trinity Congregational Church, Glasgow.——Mr. J. G. Wrigley (of St. Mary's Church, Balderstone, Rochdale), Organist and Choirmaster to Christ Church, Blackpool.——Mr. Arthur Sharpe, Organist and Choirmaster to St. Barnabas Church, Harvest Road, N. ——Mr. J. F. Heaton Clarke (of Leeds), to Holy Trinity Church, Bingley.——Mr. J. H. Webster, to Berkeley Chapel.

CHOIR APPOINTMENTS.—Mr. Alfred Kenningham, (of St. Andrew's Wells Street), to St. Paul's Cathedral.——Mr. William Alfred Frost' Alto (of All Saints', Margaret Street), Assistant Vicar Choral to St Paul's Cathedral.——Mr. F. H. Horscroft, Vicar Choral to St. Paul's Cathedral.

THE MESSIAH,

FACSIMILE OF THE

AUTOGRAPH SCORE,

Executed in Photolithography by VINCENT BROOKS, DAY and SON, from the Original in the Library at Buckingham Palace, by permission of Her Majesty the QUEEN. Bound in cloth boards, bevelled edges, gilt lettered, red edges, 21s.; also on fine toned paper, gilt edges, 31s. 6d.

London:
Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.).
New York: J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway.

THE MESSIAH,

ARRANGED FOR PIANOFORTE SOLO BY

BERTHOLD TOURS.

Price Five Shillings net.

London:
Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.).
New York: J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway.

NOVELLO'S
OCTAVO EDITION OF OPERAS.
VOLUME XIX.

ROSSINI'S
GUILLAUME TELL,
WILL BE READY ON THE 1ST OF FEBRUARY.

DURING THE LAST MONTH,
Published by NOVELLO, EWER & CO.

BACH, J. S.—God's time is the best. A sacred Cantata. Translated and adapted by the Rev. J. Troutbeck, 8vo., 1s.

HILLER, DR.—A Song of Victory, for soprano, solo, chorus and orchestra. The English words adapted by the Rev J. Troutbeck. 8vo., in paper cover, 2s.; bound in cloth, 4s.

HILES, H.—The Patriarchs. An Oratorio. The words selected from the Old Testament. New and revised Edition, price 21s.

DUFFIELD, REV. H. G.—The Office of the Holy Communion consisting of those portions usually sung at the Choral celebration of the Blessed Sacrament. 8vo., 3d.

DEARLE, E., Mus. D.—Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, in B♭. Dedicated to Dr. Stainer. Large Edition, 1s.; 8vo., 6d.

GOSS, SIR JOHN.—Benedictus in D, to follow the Thanksgiving Te Deum. 8vo., 6d.

MONK, DR. E. G.—The People's Song, in the order for Daily Prayer and Litany for use with Tallis' Harmonies. 8vo., 6d.

TAYLOR, W., Mus. Bac., Oxon.—Te Deum in D, for Parish Choirs and Choral Festivals. 8vo., 6d.

GIBBONS, ORLANDO.—Hosanna to the Son of David. Anthem for 6 voices. 8vo., 3d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—Two-Part Anthems for small choirs. Second series for Male and Female voices.
—No. 2. Blessed is the soul. 8vo., 6d.

PURCELL, H.—O God, thou art my God. Anthem 8vo., 3d.

SMITH, R. F.—The Lord is nigh unto them. Anthem 8vo., 6d.

NOVELLO'S OCTAVO CHORUSES:—
No. 349. Where is he? Engedi. Beethoven. 3d.
350. Jehovah, Lord God of Hosts. Spohr. 4d.
351. O God, who in Thy heavenly hand (Joseph). Handel. 3d.
352. Come with torches. Walpurgis Night. Mendelssohn. 4d.
353. I wrestle and pray. Motett. Bach. 4d.

NOVELLO'S EDITION OF THE MUSIC FOR THE NATIONAL MUSIC MEETINGS AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE.
CLASS 1. Price 1s. 6d.
CLASS 2. Price 1s. 0d.

NAYLOR, DR. JOHN.—O holy Jesu, Prince of Peace. Communion Hymn, 8vo., 3d.

STAINER, DR. JOHN.—Christmas Carols, new and old, in 42 penny numbers.

WHYLEY, REV. E. B.—Confirmation Hymn; 8vo. post, 2d.

E. R. B.—Queen Maude's Farewell to S. Anselm, and other songs. Small 4to., 1s.

COENEN, W.—The Violet (Das Veilchen). Song (sung by Miss Julia Elton). Words by Goethe. English translation by Rev. J. Troutbeck. 1s. 6d.

LEE, ALICE.—The Parting. A Song. 1s. 6d.

HUDSON, MISS E.—The Captive's Song. 1s. 6d.

HAMPTON, REV. J.—Homeward bound. Four-Part Song; 8vo., 4d.

SCHUBERT, FRANZ.—The night is cloudless and serene. Tenor solo with chorus, for two tenors and two basses; 8vo., 4d.

SCHUMANN, ROBERT.—Battle Song, for two tenors and two basses; 8vo., 3d.

HANDEL. — The Messiah, arranged for Pianoforte solo, by Berthold Tours. Folio, 5s.

COENEN, W.—Les Etincelles. Capricciosa for Pianoforte Solo; 1s. 6d.

SPARK, DR. W.—The Organists' Quarterly Journal. Part 17.
1. Twelve Short Interludes for soft stops, for use between the Offertory sentences, or at Confirmations. Henry Smart.
2. Andante (B flat major). Continuation of the Sonata in Part 16. Ed. Silas.
3. Concluding Voluntary Fugato. Ph. Tietz.
4. Offertoire (F major). Robt. Hainsworth.

During the Last Month—Continued.

WESTBROOK, W. J.—Voluntaries for the Organ. Price 2s. each:—

No. 33.	Funeral March on the death of a hero	Beethoven.
	Dead March in Saul	Handel.
	Gavotte	J. G. B. Martini.
	Chorale. On thy love (13th Psalm)	Mendelssohn.
No. 34.	Offertory from the St. Cecilia Mass	Ch. Gounod.
	Solo No. 9	Arcangelo Corelli.
	Solo and Chorus, "Why, O Lord" (13th Psalm)	Mendelssohn.
	Praise to God	R. Schumann.
No. 35.	Solo No. 10	Arcangelo Corelli.
	The Organ Song (Ode for St. Cecilia's Day)	Handel.
	Quartett, Lasst tönen die Harfen (Babylon)	Spohr.
No. 36.	Ave Verum	Mozart.
	First Voluntary	S. Wesley.
No. 37.	The marvellous work (Creation)	Haydn.
	Sleepers, wake (S. Paul)	Mendelssohn.
	Schmücke dich O liebe seele	J. S. Bach.
	The First Sorrow	R. Schumann.
	Lento assai	Ditto
No. 38.	Rondeau	Ditto.
	Theme	Ditto.
	Canon	Ditto.
	Moderato	Ditto.
	Ditto. Pastoral Symphony. Messiah	Handel.

BOY TREBLES REQUIRED, £5 to £6 per annum. Also, ALTO, TENOR, and BASS Voices, £10 to £12 per annum, for S. James's Chapel, York-street, S. James's. Apply to Mr. Wint at the church on Thursday, at 8.30.

ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, HARMONIUM, HARMONY, &c., One Guinea per quarter; Lessons and Practice on fine modern instruments. Organist, 51, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

MR. W. ROEBUCK (Bass).
New College, Oxford.

AN ORGANIST of many years' experience and fully competent for any kind of Church Music, desires an APPOINTMENT, where tuitions could be obtained. Address W. H. B., 3, Blundell-terrace, Caledonian-road, Leeds.

WANTED, a small second-hand ORGAN, with 2 full manuals and pedal bourdon. Apply to Mr. J. W. Kennard, Bishop Sutton, near Pensford.

REPAIRER and TUNER.—Permanent ENGAGEMENT in leading Provincial Town for an experienced Man. Address, stating references, P. H., Novello, Ewer and Co., Berners-st.

NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.'S ONLY COMPLETE AND UNIFORM EDITION OF

MENDELSSOHN'S
Thirteen Two-Part Songs,

With the German and W. Bartholomew's Original English Words.
Complete in One Volume, folio, 5s. net. Octavo, paper, 2s. net; cloth gilt, 4s. net; or, singly, 2s. each. The separate Numbers are sold at half-price.

No. 1	I would that my love.	No. 7	My bark is bounding.
2	The passage bird.	8	Can I light-hearted be.
3	Greeting.	9	Evening song.
4	Autumn song.	10	Zuleika and Hassan.
5	O wert thou in the cauld blast.	11	The sabbath morn.
6	The maybells and the flowers.	12	The harvest field.
		13	Song from Ruy Blas.

N.B.—The Quartett Score to No. 13, 1s.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NOVELLO'S
OCTAVO OPERA CHORUSES.

NOVELLO, EWER and Co. will publish in a few days the CHORUSES separately from their
OCTAVO EDITION OF OPERAS.
Price 1d., 2d., or 3d. each.

Now ready, small 4to., price 2s. 6d.

ANGLICAN PSALTER CHANTS, Single and Double, edited by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart., etc., and EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This work contains nearly 400 Chants; which are appropriated to "Venite, exultemus Domino," the Daily and Proper Psalms, &c.; those for each Service occupying a separate page and affording several Series, suitable to each daily portion of the Psalter, from which choice may be made. The Chants have been selected with especial reference to the position of the Reciting-note.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

VENI, CREATOR SPIRITUS. Set to Music by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon, &c.

For general or Festival use; for male voices and four-part chorus, with Organ Accompaniment, ad lib. Price 8d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE ANGLICAN CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, Edited by E. G. MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper, 1s.; cloth, 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Oxford: Parker.

Sixth Edition.

THE ANGLICAN CHANT-BOOK, edited by E. G. MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper cover, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d. Large Edition, cloth, 4s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

OUSELEY AND MONK'S PSALTER AND CANTICLES, pointed for Chanting. Second Edition. Authorised by his Grace the Archbishop of York. 24mo., without chants, 1s.; with Proper Psalms, 1s. 3d.; Proper Psalms, separately, 3d.; small 4to., with chants, 5s.; large 4to., £1 1s.; each voice part, separately, 2s. Canticles, score, small quarto., 9d.; separate parts, 3d.; words only, 24mo., 1½d. Novello, Ewer & Co., and Parker & Co.

Ninth Edition.

JOULE'S COLLECTION OF 527 CHANTS, 57 RESPONSES, &c. Price, 5s. 6d.; sep. vocal parts, 2s. each.—Tonic Sol-fa Notation. Score, 1s. 6d.

The Chants are selected with due reference to the position of the Reciting-notes.

SUPPLEMENT to the PREVIOUS EDITIONS of the ABOVE, containing Chants for the Venite, &c. Price 1s.

THE PSALTER, PROPER PSALMS, HYMNS and CANTICLES. Pointed for Chanting by B. ST. J. B. JOULE. (Large type.) Price 2s. 6d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

Seventh Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. 18mo., price 1s., in cloth, 1s. 6d.

Fourth Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. Quarto, in cloth elegant, price 7s. 6d.

Third Edition.

THE ORDER FOR THE HOLY COMMUNION, Harmonized on a Monotone in a very simple manner for Parochial use. By B. St. J. B. JOULE Price 3d. Novello, Ewer & Co.

NON NOBIS DOMINE, arranged to the Corresponding English Words, by Rev. W. G. LONGDEN, for the Use of Choral Meetings, as an Introit, or Anthem, or Grace after Meat. Price One Penny; Ninepence a dozen; or Five Shillings a hundred.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TE DEUM (new) in B flat. Harmony, unison, free organ part, &c. Highly effective. 1s. 6d.—Three Choral Hymns—"There is a blessed home," "O Love," and "Praise the Lord." Complete 1s.—Also the immensely popular arrangement of the Evening Hymn "Abide with me." Harmony and unison, with a free organ part. 1s.—Also the well-known "Six Kyries." 1s. By EDWARD LAWRANCE, Organist, Merthyr Tydfil. A very liberal discount on a dozen copies, direct from the composer. A specimen copy of either for twelve stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS, in C. By EDWARD REDHEAD, Mus. Bac., Oxon. 8vo. Price 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1 Berners-street, W.

BY REV. R. F. SMITH, M.A., Minor Canon of Southwell. TE DEUM, in F, in 4 parts, 3d. SHORT ANTHEM, "The Lord is nigh," S.A.T.B., 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer & Co., 1, Berners-street, W., & 35, Poultry, E.C.

CANTATE DOMINO and DEUS MISEREATUR, by G. A. MACFARREN. For voices in unison and organ. Octavo, 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

FOUR EASY SETTINGS of "TE DEUM," 2nd edition (Music and Pointing), for 4d.; 3s. 8d. per dozen, or 50 for 12s. 6d., post free. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWELVE KYRIES. By G. BAKER. Price Sixpence, and post-free. G. Baker, 19, Westgate, Wakefield.

MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in B♭, dedicated to Dr. Stainer, by EDWARD DEARLE, Mus. D. Price 8vo., 6d.; super royal do., 1s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just Published.

CANTICLES NOTED. Second Set, by the Rev. THOMAS HELMORE, M.A. 18mo., 8d.; 8vo., 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.

HELMORE, REV. THOMAS.—The CANTICLES ACCENTED, 18mo., 3d.—Hymns of the Eastern Church, 4 voices, each 1s., PEACE, IT IS I; THE DAY IS PASSED AND OVER; THE DAY OF RESURRECTION.—S. MARK'S CHANT BOOK (in daily use at the College Chapel, Chelsea), 4s. 6d.; or the same, Part I., being the main body of the work, price 3s. 6d.; and Part II., The Table of the Chants, price 1s. (useful for places where only the Canticles are chanted). Also Two "TE DEUMS" for Choir and People, in the alternate verses; adapted from Latin arrangements by Alfieri and Baini; vocal Score and Organ Accompaniment, price 3s. Also the People's Plain Song, separate, price 1½d. Four-part Cadences for the Holy Communion, 6d. The Carol for Christmas Morning, vocal score, 18mo. edition, 2d.; melody, 18mo., 1d.

HYMN IN TIME OF CATTLE PLAGUE. 2d. Words, 1s. per 100.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

ADDITIONS TO THE

REV. T. HELMORE'S PLAIN SONG WORKS.

The Canticles Accented. Price 3d.

The Psalter and Canticles Accented. Paper covers, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d.

Appendix 1 to Accompanying Harmonies to the Brief Directory Price 4d.

The Psalter Noted. Appendix 1, giving the Proper Psalms, noted as before in their right order of the six days to which they are Appointed. Price 6d. Bound up with recent editions of the Psalter Noted.

Accompanying Harmonies to ditto. Price 8d.

The Psalter Noted. Appendix 2, giving the Proper Psalms newly noted for the Four Great Festivals (second set). Price 4d.

Accompanying Harmonies to ditto. Price 4d.

Canticles Noted (second set). Large Edition, 2s. Small Edition, 8d.

For some of the Harmonies to this, see Accompanying Harmonies to Psalter Noted, Appendix 2 (above mentioned). For others, see Accompanying Harmonies to Brief Directory, Appendix 2, now in hand.

Cadences for the order of the Administration of the Lord's Supper, in compressed vocal score. Price 6d.

Paper on Church Music, with special reference to the joining of all the People in Sacred Song, read at the Church Congress, Wolverhampton, October 1867. Price 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE NICENE CREED, in G major, for Voices and Organ, by WILLIAM BLAKELEY, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Folio score. 1s. 6d. net; a liberal discount allowed to choirs. To be had of the author, Warrengate, Wakefield.

Octavo size. Price 3d. each.

THE NICENE CREED, set to Music in an Easy form (principally monotone), with a free accompaniment for the Organ by R. W. CROWE.

THE NICENE CREED, set to music for four voices, chiefly in unison with a free accompaniment for the Organ. By S. PERCIVAL.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now ready. 8vo. Price Threepence.

THE APOSTLES' CREED, Set to Music (chiefly in Recitative) for Voices in Unison, with an Accompaniment for the Organ, by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon, Organist and Director of the Choir, York Minster.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

JOHN M. W. YOUNG'S EASY FESTIVAL SERVICE, in C; consisting of Te Deum, Benedictus, and Jubilate, with an introductory Sketch of the History and Theology of the Te Deum, by the Right Rev. the Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham. Te Deum and Sketch, 1s.; festival size, 1½d. Benedictus and Jubilate, 10d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just published. Second edition.

HARK! HARK! THE ORGAN LOUDLY PEALS. A Hymn for the Dedication of NEW ORGANS, &c. Composed, with special Organ Accompaniment, by H. S. IRONS, Assistant Organist of Chester Cathedral. Organ score, folio, price sixpence; voice part only, 8vo., 1d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

FOUR HYMNS, Set to Music by Dr. BELCHER. Price 6d. nett.

*TRIUNE GOD.—THY PRAISE TO SING.
CHRIST ALONE! CHRIST ALONE!
JUST AS I AM.—WITHOUT ONE PLEA.
BREAST THE WAVE, CHRISTIAN.

* Suitable for use at the opening of a new organ.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS. By Dr. BELCHER. Price 3d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE ANTHEM (double number), 3d.

THE STORMY PETREL (Tenor and Bass Solos, double number), 3d.

THE IRONFOUNDERS (double number), 3d.

All W. W. Pearson's Glees may be had of Novello, Ewer and Co., London; and Pearson, Brampton, Rotherham.

THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD.—Sacred Song for Baritone or Contralto. Words from the 23rd Psalm. Compass from B♮ to F♯. Music by MILES BENNETT.

"We can unhesitatingly recommend this song to any baritone or contralto vocalist who can sing words with expression. Mr. Bennett has given a sacred character to his music in excellent sympathy with the words he has selected; and we cannot too much commend the musician-like manner in which the whole of the accompaniments are written."—Musical Times, Oct. 1st, 1871.

"A very familiar passage is here set with no small feeling for the deep sentiment of the words, and with a degree of musical effect which warrants us in speaking of the song very favourably."—Musical World, May 27th, 1871.

"The sacred and trusting nature of the words is well expressed in the music of both voice and accompaniment."—Cheltenham Looker-On.

"A singularly beautiful song."—Banffshire Reporter.

"Should be the Christmas favourite of sacred songs."—Review.

"Every genuine musician who may purchase a copy will thank us for noticing this song."—Dorsetshire Guardian.

"An exquisitely beautiful and finished composition.—Wrexham Advertiser.

Sent post free for 18 stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1 Berners-street, W.
Also by the same composer "GRATITUDE," 24 stamps; and "CONSOLATION," 18 stamps.

G. A. MACFARREN'S TWO-PART ANTHEMS for Small Choirs. The texts selected by the Rev. J. Powell Metcalfe.

First Series, for Boys' and Females Voices—1. "Come, and let us return." 2. "I will look unto the Lord." (These Anthems may appropriately be used in Advent and Lent.) 3. "Behold the Tabernacle." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Christmastide.)

Second Series, for Female and Male Voices—1. "Unto us was born." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Christmas.) 2. "Blessed is the soul." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Whitsuntide.) 3. "Come ye and let us go up." (This Anthem may be appropriately used at the opening of a church.)

These Anthems are available as Duets for private performance.

Price 6d. for each Anthem, or 2s. 6d. for each series of six.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Dr. Allon's new Anthem Book.

NOW READY.

CHURCH ANTHEMS, &c. Edited by HENRY ALLON, D.D. Containing 115 Anthems for Congregational Use. Crown 8vo., price 3s. cloth; 3s, 6d. roan, gilt edges. Cheap Edition, 1s. 4d., cloth; 1s. 8d. stiff cloth, red edges.

London: Hodder and Stoughton, 27, Paternoster-row. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

EASY ANTHEMS for VILLAGE CHOIRS. By W. H. GILL. 2d. each. Nos. 1 to 6 now ready.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A Specimen Copy, post free for Stamps to the value.

"I DID CALL UPON THE LORD." Full Anthem for Four Voices, by T. MEE PATTISON. Price 4d.

"A capital anthem for ordinary choirs; well written, and possesses plenty of variety. A little verse piece in the middle of it is effective, and a spirited fughetta brings it to a satisfactory conclusion."—Musical Standard.

MR. VERNON RIGBY'S NEW SONG.

I SAW THEE WEEP. Composed expressly for him by FRANK NAISH. In A flat and F. Price 4s.

Messrs. Duncan Davison and Co., 244, Regent-street, W.

New Carol for Christmas-tide.

SIMPLE CAROLLERS ARE WE. Words by J. P. Douglas. Music by J. B. BOUCHER. Price Twopence.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Now ready, 1 vol., demy 8vo., 6s. 6d.

MUSICAL DEVELOPMENT (An Æsthetical Treatise). By JOSEPH GODDARD.

"It is a work which, for its profound philosophic discernment, its pure and useful treatment of a grand subject, deserves careful study."—London Quarterly Review.

To Teachers and the Principals of Schools.

NEW PIANOFORTE COMPOSITIONS for YOUNG PLAYERS. By JOSEPH GODDARD.

First Series, price 2s. 6d. each.

1. ON THE WATER.
2. IN THE WOODS.
3. AMONG THE HILLS.

Second Series, price 3s. each.

1. O PESCATOR, and BELIEVE ME IF ALL.
2. ZIGANEA.
3. HOME, SWEET HOME.
4. THE GAZELLE.
5. CHERRY RIPE.
6. THE GYPSY.

"All the pieces are extremely melodious. The harmonies are unexceptionable. The fingering is extremely good, and is marked, as it should be, only where it is really necessary."—Musical Times.

"Mr. Goddard deserves the best thanks alike of pianoforte teachers and pupils, and every school should introduce this series of pieces to the pupils."—Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine.

Goddard and Co., 4, Argyll-place, Regent-street.

NEW

TONIC SOL-FA PUBLICATIONS.

NATIONAL MUSIC MEETINGS, 1873.—Tonic Sol-fa Editions of the Music to be sung by the competing choirs are now ready:—

Music for Class I. (choirs of 500 voices), price 1s., postage 1d.
Music for Class II. (choirs of 200 voices), price 10d., postage 1d.
Music for Class III. (choirs of men's voices), price 8d., postage ½d.

London: Tonic Sol-Fa Agency, 8, Warwick Lane, E.C.

THE NEW STANDARD COURSE of lessons and exercises on the Tonic Sol-Fa method of teaching music, by JOHN CURWEN. Upwards of 65,000 of the former edition of this work were sold during the fourteen years of its existence. The present work, which is entirely new, is the result of many years' labour and experience compared with the experience of teachers in all parts of the country. It contains lessons and exercises on Tune, Time, Expression, Pronunciation, Voice Training, Harmony, Musical Form, and Notation. In cloth, 3s., postage 4d.

"Were the information contained in the new edition of the "Standard Course" issued without reference to the Tonic Sol-Fa method and notation, we believe the compendium would be accepted by vocalists all over the world as the most valuable treatise upon its subject which has appeared."—Birmingham Morning News.

THE STAFF NOTATION, an introduction to the common notation of music, by means of written exercises, by JOHN CURWEN. The work forms a complete manual of the common notation of music, which is explained upon Tonic Sol-Fa principles. Price 6d., postage 1d. "A little work which we heartily welcome. We have often expressed our opinion of the great utility of the Tonic Sol-Fa system as an introduction to the ordinary notation; and we have here remarkably clear and simple rules to enable pupils to transfer their musical knowledge to the stave in general use."—Monthly Musical Record.

HOW TO OBSERVE HARMONY, by JOHN CURWEN, new edition. This work provides exercises in the analysis of chords, and musical phrases in four parts, printed in both old and new notation, to be sung or played to illustrate each new chord and progression as it is introduced. Price 8d., postage 1d.

MODERN PART SONGS, a monthly series, being a selection from the most valuable copyright of Messrs Novello, Ewer and Co., and other publishers. These Part Songs are published at the low rate of two for three-halfpence. Nos. 1 and 2, now ready, contain Part Songs by Sullivan, Barnby, and Reay.

Tonic Sol-Fa Agency, 8, Warwick Lane, London, E.C.

W. C. LEVEY'S POPULAR SONGS.

"Beautiful Dreams," Sung by Miss Russell	4	0
"The Magic of Music" in C, E flat, and F	4	0
"Esmeralda," in D, E, and F	4	0
"The King and the Beggar Maid"	3	0

Half price. Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford Street.

W. C. LEVEY'S DANCE MUSIC.

"The Lady of the Lake" Quadrilles	4	0
"The Dolly Varden" Polka	3	0
"The Rebecca" Waltz	4	0
"Esmeralda" Waltz, by Charles Godfrey	4	0

Half price. Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford Street.

MY ONE TRUE LOVE. New Song. By VIRGINIA GABRIEL. Equal in Beauty to her celebrated Songs "Only" and "Weary." Sent for 2s.

Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford Street.

UNDER THE MISTLETOE. New Juvenile Quadrille on popular Melodies. By CHARLES GODFREY. Beautifully illustrated. Sent for 2s.

Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford Street.

KUHE'S MAGIC OF MUSIC. For Piano. W. C. Levey's favourite song "The Magic of Music," Transcribed by W. KUHE. Sent for 2s.

Duff and Stewart, 147, Oxford Street.

The Offertory Sentences,

WITH AN APPENDIX FOR FESTAL USE,

SET TO MUSIC BY

JOSEPH BARNBY.

Price 1s. 6d.; or in Numbers at 2d. each.

No.
1.	Let your light so shine.
2.	Lay not up for yourselves.
3.	Whatsoever ye would that men.
4.	Not every one that saith unto Me.
5.	Zacchæus stood forth.
6.	Who goeth a warfare.
7.	If we have sown.
8.	Do ye not know.
9.	He that soweth little.
10.	Let him that is taught in the word.
11.	While we have time.
12.	Godliness is great riches
13.	Charge them who are rich.
14.	God is not unrighteous.
15.	To do good.
16.	Whoso hath this world's goods.
17.	Give alms of thy goods.
18.	Be merciful after thy power.
19.	He that hath pity upon the poor.
20.	Blessed be the man.
21	Let your light so shine. Festal Setting.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TWELFTH EDITION.

"The air once heard haunts the memory."—Church Opinion.

MARCH OF THE CHORISTERS. Net 1s. 6d.—"A very fine March, rich in good chords, with the idea well marked. We consider it will rank with the classical Marches."—Catholic Opinion. "To write a really good and striking March is by no means an easy task. Mr. Allen's subjects are bold and suggestive."—Illustrated Review. "Its freshness will make it a favourite."—Weekly Times. "Evidently by one who thinks before he writes."—Queen.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

BY S. S. WESLEY.—Early in January, new easy Service in G, morning and evening, from the European Psalmist, price 6d. Also, two Short Anthems, "I will arise," and "O remember not," from the same work, price 2d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; and the Author, Gloucester.

Under the special patronage of His Grace the Duke of Norfolk, E.M.

A PERFORMANCE OF

MR. HALLETT SHEPPARD'S new MASS for Male Voices will be given on Monday evening, January 20th, at 27, Harley-street, at which His Grace the Archbishop of Westminster has kindly promised to be present. Reserved seats, 5s.; unreserved, 2s. To commence at 8 o'clock. 9, Moore-park-road, West Brompton, S.W.

Now ready, price one shilling; by post 14 stamps.

WENTWORTH PHILLIPSON'S "Guide to young Pianoforte Teachers and Students." "Simply invaluable." From Author, 14, Harrington-street, N.W., or W. Czerny, 81, Regent-street, W.

"THE LAND OF PROMISE," an Oratorio, by FRANCIS HOWELL (dedicated to the Birmingham Festival Choral Society). Price 2s.; in cloth, 3s.

B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row, London.

For Orchestral Parts, apply to Mr. F. Howell, Westerham, Kent.

FRANCIS HOWELL'S THREE ANTHEMS (dedicated to John Hullah, Esq.). Price 5s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

WILT THOU BE TRUE—Ballad. Poetry by S. P. H.; music by FRANCIS HOWELL. London: Duncan Davison and Co. "An unpretending but perfectly well written and melodious song for a mezzo-soprano—D below to F fifth line, the accompaniment to which is quite easy to play, but sufficient withal. A capital song for teaching."—The Queen.

THE CHILD'S AN ANGEL NOW. Poetry by S. P. H.; music by FRANCIS HOWELL. London: Duncan Davison and Co. "The subject of this song is one which goes straight to the hearts of many, calling up emotions which, if sad, are also tender and dear. S. P. H. has written with great feeling and some poetic skill; while it must be said that Mr. Howell's music shows good taste, combined with appropriate expression. The melody and accompaniments are fittingly simple, and take their proper place as accessories to the poet's thoughts."—The Musical World.

TO VIOLINISTS.—25 EASY VIOLIN DUETS, Adapted for instruction or amusement, selected from the Great Masters.—Bruni, Kalliwoda, Pleyel, Parry, &c., by H. SYDNEY DAVIS. London: J. Williams, 24, Berners-street, and 123, Cheapside; or free by post for 20 stamps from H. S. Davis, 55, Fore-street, E.C.

Part 2 will be ready on the 1st of February.

SIR R. P. STEWART, Mus. Doc.—"The Cruiskeen Lawn." Irish Air. Words by Thomas Moore. 8vo. 3d.

"The Wine Cup is circling in Almhin's Hall." Irish Air. Words by Thomas Moore. 8vo. 3d.

"The Bells of St. Michael's Tower." Subject from Knyvett's Glee for three voices. Re-written, with an introduction. 8vo. 4d.

The above three Part-songs are arranged for, and dedicated to, the members of the Dublin Glee and Madrigal Union—Miss Fennell, Mr. Hemsley, Mr. Pecle, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Kelley.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES AND NATIONAL SCHOOLS.

"GO WHEN THE MORNING SHINETH." By H. B. Harmonized for four voices, by T. GARDNER, Organist of St. Michael's, Highgate, for the Opening of Columbia-square Market, by Miss Burdett Coutts, on the 28th of April, 1869, and sung by the United Choirs of St. Stephen's, Westminster; St. Thomas', Bethnal-green; and St. Michael's, Highgate. The profits on the sale will be given to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. 6th thousand. Price 4d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

MR. LESLIE'S ELEMENTARY MUSIC.

Second Edition now ready, price 1s.; post free, 1s. 1d.

AN ELEMENTARY MANUAL OF MUSIC. BY HENRY LESLIE.

"The whole of the rudiments of music are simply and clearly explained."—Musical Times.

"Will be found very useful to clergymen."—Record.

"Is certain to take a high position in Elementary Schools."—National Schoolmaster.

"Admirably adapted for the formation of choral classes."—Birmingham Post.

"We cordially recommend this Manual as one of the best musical hand-books we know."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

Cassell, Petter, and Galpin, Ludgate Hill, London.

MUSIC FOR THE NEW CODE.—The SINGING-CLASS MANUAL, by the late WILLIAM JACKSON, Masham, is admirably suited for use in the public elementary schools. Price (with Appendix, containing eight pieces of music in different keys), 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer & Co.; and of all Musicsellers and Booksellers.

THE PARTING. New Song. Composed by ALICE LEE, and sung by Mr. RAYNHAM. For Soprano or Tenor. Sent post free for 1s. 6d.—Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

QUEEN MAUDE'S FAREWELL TO S. ANSELM, and other Songs. By E. R. B. Price One Shilling.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street and 35, Poultry.

THE LADIES' LIST of POPULAR SONGS ONLY.—Every lady who sings should write for this List, as it is a useful and trustworthy guide. Gratis and post free.—London: Published by Robert Cocks and Co., New Burlington-street.

A ROSE IN HEAVEN. New Song. By FRANZ ABT. No. 1 in F, No. 2 in G. 4s., free by post 24 stamps each. "This little gem will haunt the memory of those who hear it long after the song has ceased."—Vide Graphic. Also, as a Duet for Soprano and Contralto, 4s,

---

THE FAVOURITE SONGS of the DAY, post free at half-price, in stamps.

A Rose in Heaven. F. Abt. No. 1 in F; No. 2 in G. 4s. each.
The same as a duet for soprano and contralto. 4s.
The Old Sweet Story. Miss M. Lindsay. 4s.
Only One to Bless and Cheer Me. W. T. Wrighton. 4s.
You Ask Me for a Song. Anne Fricker. 3s.
Not a Sparrow Falleth (Sacred). F. Abt. 3s.
He Giveth His Beloved Sleep (Sacred). F. Abt. 3s.

MY MOTHER AMONG THE ANGELS. Song.—Poetry by the Rev. E. D. JACKSON. Music by FRANZ ABT, composer of the admired song "A Rose in Heaven," &c. 3s.; free by post for 18 stamps.

ANNIE. Song. Poetry by REA. Music by FRANZ ABT, composer of the favourite song "A Rose in Heaven," &c. 3s.; free by post for 18 stamps.—London: Sole Publishers, Robert Cocks and Co., New Burlington-street. Order of all Musicsellers.

IN AID OF

NORTH COATES CHURCH ORGAN FUND.

Published June, 1872.

Toned paper, cloth, gilt lettered, price 7s. 6d.

THE SECOND AND CONCLUDING VOLUME

OF

"THE VILLAGE ORGANIST,"

Containing the following Voluntaries, all composed expressly for it and not published in any other work:—

Slow Melody. Wm. H. Callcott.	Andante. J. F. Barnett.
Andante (Pastorale). Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew.	Andante. R. Forsey Brion.
Andante. Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew.	Andante (Pastorale). Dr. E. F. Rimbault.
Allegretto grazioso quasi Andante. E. M. Delaborde.	Andante. Dr. E. F. Rimbault.
Andante (Canzonet). Dr. H. J. Gauntlett.	Andante. C. Goodban, Mus. B., Oxon.
Andante con moto. F. E. Gladstone.	Andante. Dr. E. G. Monk.
Andante con grazia (Canzone). Franz Nava.	Andantino tranquillo. E. H. Turpin.
Andante (Pastorale). E. Silas.	Andante cantabile (Prelude). E. H. Turpin.
Andante con moto (Siciliana). John Hullah.	Maestoso (March). E. H. Turpin.
Larghetto espressivo. G. A. Macfarren.	Larghetto. Dr. G. B. Arnold.
Andante con moto (Prelude). Sir Julius Benedict.	Andante and Adagio. Henry Farmer.
Andante con moto. Henry Smart.	Moderato (Prelude). S. Reay, Mus. B., Oxon.
Allegro poco maestoso (Prelude). W. G. Cusins.	Andante cantabile. H. S. Irons.
Andante maestoso. E. G. Verrinder, Mus. Bac., Oxon.	Allegretto (Song of Praise). Dr. J. Stainer.
	Andante. Dr. S. S. Wesley.
	Andante (Pastorale). J. Barnby.
	Larghetto. J. Barnby.

"A most useful series of pieces. * * * Pleasantly exemplifies the present state of musicianship in England, and will be found valuable for practical use where short voluntaries are needed, in towns as much as in villages."—"Musical Times," Aug. 1872.

London:

Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.).

New York: J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway.

Third Revised and Improved Edition.

Nearly every note fingered. Time and key printed in text as well as in the usual manner. The first book easy, the second moderately advanced.

MELODIOUS and Characteristic PIANO STUDIES. By HORTON C. ALLISON. In Two Books, 6s. each. "Written in a pleasing and popular style calculated to gain the favour of young players, for whose advantage copious and careful fingering is supplied." Illustrated London News. "We can conscientiously recommend these books to teachers and piano students. The Graphic. Terms (exceptionally advantageous to the Musical Profession and Trade), for single copies or quantities. (A specimen sheet with two pages of studies post free for 7d.), of Mr. Allison, 5, Cecil-street, Greenhays, Manchester, or Messrs. Weekes and Co., 16, Hanover-street, London, W.

Trios and Quartetts
FOR LADIES' VOICES.

	s.	d.
BANISTER, H. C. Summer Days	3	0
BISHOP, Sir H. R. The Fairies' Song. (Four voices) ...Net	0	6
CHERUBINI. Sleep, Royal Child. Lullaby. ...	3	0
CURSCHMANN. The Flower greeting ... ...Net	1	0
Class copy, 1½d. net.
——— Protect us through the coming night ...Net	1	0
Class copy, 1½d. net.
DUN, FINLAY. June (She is coming) ... ...Net	0	2
FERRARI. Let us all to the fields repair ... ...Net	1	3
Class copy, 1½d. net.
GABUSSI. Il compianto ... ...Net	1	0
HANDEL. Words are weak to paint my fears ...Net	1	3
HILES, Dr. Henry—
No. 1 The Song of the lark. (Summer). Trio ...	2	0
2 Open, O heaven. (A Dirge). Trio	2	0
3 To primroses, filled with morning dew. Trio.	2	0
4 Where are the swallows fled. Quartett ...	2	0
5 The summer's call ,, ...	2	0
6 To the ocean now I fly ,, ...	3	0
HATTON, J. L. Who hath bound the deep, deep river. (Jack Frost)	2	0
——— When evening's twilight	1	6
——— Sailor's Song	1	6
MARCHETTI, F. Ave Maria. Latin and English words	3	0
MENDELSSOHN. (Op. 39). Three Motetts. Composed for the Convent of Trinata de Monte, at Rome, with the Latin words, and an English version, by JOHN OXENFORD. 8vo....Net	2	0
OR, SINGLY:—
No. 1 Hear us, gracious Lord. (Veni Domine) ...Net	1	0
2 Ye sons of Israel. (Laudate pueri)... ...Net	1	0
3 The good Shepherd. (Surrexit pastor) ...Net	1	0
——— (Op. 39). Three Motetts—
No. 1 Veni Domine. Folio. ... ...Net	1	0
2 Laudate pueri ... ...Net	1	0
3 Surrexit pastor ... ...Net	2	6
——— (Op. 39). Three Anthems—
No. 1 Hear, oh, hear my prayer. Folio ... ...Net	1	6
2 O praise the Lord ... ...Net	1	0
3 O Lord, Thou hast searched ... ...Net	2	0
——— Hearts feel that love thee (Athalie). ... Folio.	2	0
——— Lift thine eyes (Elijah)	2	0
——— I waited for the Lord (Lobgesang). ... Folio ...Net	1	0
——— Say, where is He born? (Christus)	2	0
NOVELLO, V. I will sing of mercy ... ...Net	0	9
Class copy, 1½d. net.
OUSELEY, Sir FRED. In the sight of the unwise ...Net	1	0
Class copy, 1½d. net.
PIERSON, H. H. Cry aloud (Jerusalem) ... ...Net	0	9
RADECKE, R. Peace. 8vo. Triton, No. 2.	1	0
——— To the bird in the sky. 8vo. ,, ,, 3.	1	0
REINECKE, CARL. Ten Trios, with English and German words. Price 1s. 6d., or singly :—
No. 1 The dreaming lake	0	2
2 Praise of Spring	0	2
3 Of oak thy mournful bier's prepared ...	0	3
4 Sunbeams in Winter	0	2
5 The awaking of morn	0	3
6 The Winter hath not a blossom	0	3
7 Thou that Thyself with Death hast striven ...	0	2
8 The Evening Wind	0	3
9 As in the field goodly fruit will grow ...	0	3
10 The Elves	0	3
REINTHALER. Glorious stand the mountains (Jephtha)	2	0
ROBERTI, G. Six trios, each	2	6
No. 1 Recollections. | No. 4 Twilight.
2 Peace. | 5 The night.
3 Fare-thee-well. | 6 Charming little valley.
RÖHR, L. Sunday morning. 8vo. Triton, No. 1.	1	0
ROSSINI. La Carita (Charity) ... ...Net	1	0
Class copy, 1½d. net.
SCHUBERT, F. Coronach	2	6
——— The Lord is my Shepherd. Psalm 23. ... 8vo. Net	0	4
SCHULTHES, WILHELM. Song of Angels... ...	2	0
SMART, H. Corall'd caves of ocean	3	0
Something brighter, purer far	3	0
Hope and memory	3	0
Night sinks on the wave	2	0
O! skylark, for thy wing	3	0
The bird at sea	3	0
Hail to thee, child of the earth (Bride of Dunkerron) ... ...Net	1	0
SPOHR. Jesus, heavenly master ... ...Net	1	0
THORNE, E. H., Hark! hark! the lark at heaven's gate sings ... ...Net	0	6
Class copy, 1½d. net.
WALMISLEY, Dr. T. A. The approach of May ...Net	1	6
——— The Mermaid ... ...Net	2	0
——— Sweet land of the mountain. With accompaniment for pianoforte, harp, flute, violin, and violoncello	5	0

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

German Volkslieder Album.

FORTY SONGS,
With the original words, and an English version, by JOHN OXENFORD.
Complete, in One Volume, octavo, 6s. net.

No.	OR, SINGLY:—	s.	d.
1	Sir Ulrich—Herr Ulrich	2	0
2	The Watchman—Wächterruf	2	0
3	The Switzer Boy—Der Schweitzerbu	1	0
4	Bavarian Song—Bairisches Volksliedchen ...	1	0
5	The Three Roses—Die drei Röselein	2	0
6	Present in thought—Das Gedenken	2	0
7	The pains of love—Leibesqual	1	0
8	Good night—Gut Nacht	1	0
9	The faithless one—Untreue	1	0
10	All over—Zu End'	1	0
11	A bitter parting—Herber abschied	1	0
12	Absence—Der traurige Bua	1	0
13	The lover's flight—Flug der Liebe	1	0
14	Happy Days—Glückliche Zeit	1	0
15	The Mountain Maiden—Abschied von der Heimath ...	2	0
16	A Song to Spring—Frühlingslied	2	0
17	Constancy—So viel Stern'	2	0
18	Lovers' Quarrel—Das gestörte Glück	2	0
19	Complaint—Des Mädchens Klage	2	0
20	The coy maiden—Herzig Schatzerl	2	0
21	Oft at her cottage door—Hab' oft die ganze Nacht ...	2	0
22	A Song of the Styrian Alps—Steyermärker's Alpenlied	2	0
23	The Sentinel—Treue Soldatenliebe	2	0
24	Cradle Song—Wiegenlied	2	0
25	A short farewell—Abschied	2	0
26	Soldier's love—Soldatenliebe	2	0
27	My Dearest, my Darling—Mei herzig's Dierndel ...	2	0
28	A light possession—Leicht Gepäck ...	2	0
29	From the Dachstein's height—Hoch vom Dachstein an	1	0
30	On the Alma—Auf der Alma	1	0
31	The Tyrolese and his child—Der Tyroler und sein Kind	2	0
32	Soft gale of the evening—Willkommen, o seliger Abend...	2	0
33	Wanderer's Song—Wanderlied	2	0
34	Lonely—Mutterseelen-allein	2	0
35	Thuringian Volkslied—Thüringisch	1	0
36	The Lurley—Loreley	1	0
37	Annie of Tharau—Aennchen von Tharau ...	2	0
38	A Lament—In einem kühlen Grunde	2	0
39	May Breezes—S Mailüfterl	2	0
40	Farewell—Lebewohl	1	0

 The Separate Songs are sold at half-price.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.
New York: J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway.

NOVELLO, EWER & CO.'S COLLECTION OF

Schumann's Songs,

WITH ENGLISH AND GERMAN WORDS.

In One Volume, octavo, 6s. net.

No.	OR, SINGLY,	s.	d.
1	Blondel's Song—Blondel's Lied	3	0
2	The Walnut Tree—Der Nussbaum	2	6
3	Moonlight—Mondnacht	2	6
4	A holiday on the Rhine—Sonntags am Rhein ...	2	6
5	The hat of green—Volksliedchen	2	0
6	The joys of home—Ich wand're nicht	2	0
7	Poor Peter—Der arme Peter	3	0
8	A flow'ret thou resemblest—Du bist wie eine Blume ...	1	6
9	O sunny beam—An den Sonnenschein	2	0
10	A poet's love—Ich grolle nicht	2	0
11	Devotion—Widmung	2	0
12	Wanderer's song—Wanderlied	2	6
13	A spring night—Frühlingsnacht	2	0
14	Since mine eyes beheld him—Seit ich ihn gesehen ...	2	0
15	The noblest—Der Herrlichste...	3	0
16	A vision—Ein Traum	2	0
17	One only!—Nur eine!	2	0
18	Love—Liebe	1	6
19	In May—Im Mai	1	6
20	The two Grenadiers—Die beiden Grenadiere	3	0
21	Thy lovely face—Dein Angesicht	2	0
22	Beauteous cradle—Schöne Wiege	3	0
23	Emotion—Die Stille	2	0
24	A red red rose—Rothes Röslein	2	0
25	Deep treasur'd in my heart—Intermezzo ...	1	6
26	A ride in the wood—Waldesgespräch	2	0
27	Evening Song—Abendlied	2	0
28	Drinking Song—Trinklied	1	6
29	The Lotosflower—Die Lotosblume	1	6
30	My Cottage—Die Hütte	2	0

 The Separate Songs are sold at half-price.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.
New York: J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway.

NOVELLO'S ORIGINAL OCTAVO EDITIONS OF

Oratorios, Cantatas, Odes, Masses, &c.

FOR THE USE OF THE AUDIENCE WHO ASSIST AT THEIR PERFORMANCES.

Complete—in Vocal Score, with Pianoforte accompaniment.

	In Paper cover.	Scarlet cloth gilt.
R. Aspa.
THE GIPSIES	2 0
E. Aspa.
ENDYMION	4 0
Bach.
GOD'S TIME IS THE BEST,	1 0	3 0
THE PASSION (S. MATTHEW)	3 0	5 0
Do. (S. JOHN)	2 0	4 0
J. Barnby.
REBEKAH	3 0	5 0
Sir J. Benedict.
ST. PETER	4 0	6 0
Cherubini.
REQUIEM MASS (in C Minor) with Latin and English words	2 0	3 6
Niels W. Gade.
THE ERL KING'S DAUGHTER	1 6	3 0
SPRING'S MESSAGE ...	0 8
Ch. Gounod.
DE PROFUNDIS (Psalm 130)	4 0
MESSE SOLENNELLE, Latin words only	1 6	3 0
COMMUNION SERVICE, (Messe Solennelle) ...	1 6	3 0
SECOND MESSE DES ORPHÉONISTES	2 0
Ditto. COMMUNION SERVICE	2 0
THE SEVEN WORDS OF OUR SAVIOUR ON THE CROSS (Filiæ Jerusalem)	1 0
DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM Anthem for Lent	1 0
Handel.
BELSHAZZAR	3 0	5 0
MESSIAH (Pocket edition) ...	1 4	2 6
Do. (Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	4 0
ISRAEL IN EGYPT (Pocket edition)	1 0	2 0
Do. Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	4 0
JUDAS MACCABÆUS (Pocket ed.)	1 0	2 0
Do. (Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	4 0
SAMSON	2 0	4 0
SOLOMON	2 0	4 0
JEPHTHA	2 0	4 0
JOSHUA	2 0	4 0
DEBORAH	2 0	4 0
SAUL	2 0	4 0
DETTINGEN TE DEUM ...	1 0	3 0
The CORONATION & FUNERAL ANTHEMS, in one volume ... Or singly, thus:—		5 0
THE KING SHALL REJOICE	0 8
ZADOCK THE PRIEST ...	0 2
MY HEART IS INDITING	0 8
LET THY HAND BE STRENGTHENED ...	0 6
THE WAYS OF ZION	1 6
ALEXANDER'S FEAST ...	2 0	4 0
ACIS AND GALATEA	1 6	3 0
ODE ON ST. CECILIA'S DAY	1 6	3 0
The last three, bound in 1 vol., whole scarlet cloth, 6s. 6d.
L'ALLEGRO, IL PENSIEROSO, ED IL MODERATO ...	3 0	5 0

	In paper cover.	Scarlet cloth, gilt.
J. O. Grimm.
THE SOUL'S ASPIRATION ...	1 0
Haydn.
THE CREATION (Pocket edition)	1 0	2 0
Do. (Super-royal 8vo.)	2 0	3 0
THE SEASONS	3 0	5 0
Each Season may be had separately, in paper cover, 1s.
F. Hiller.
A SONG OF VICTORY ...	2 0	4 0
NALA AND DAMAYANTI ...	4 0	6 0
G. A. Macfarren.
OUTWARD BOUND ...	2 6	4 0
MAY-DAY	2 0	3 6
SOLDIER'S LEGACY ...	6 0
Mendelssohn.—See Separate List
Romberg.
THE LAY OF THE BELL ...	1 6	3 0
Rossini.
STABAT MATER, with the Latin words, and an English adaptation by WILLIAM BALL	1 6	3 0
Schumann.
PARADISE AND THE PERI	2 6	4 0
H. Smart.
THE BRIDE OF DUNKERRON	2 6	4 0
Spohr.
CALVARY	2 6	4 0
THE FALL OF BABYLON ...	3 0	5 0
LAST JUDGMENT ...	2 0	4 0
THE CHRISTIAN'S PRAYER	1 6	3 0
GOD, THOU ART GREAT	1 0
J. S. Sullivan.
FESTIVAL TE DEUM ...	2 0	3 6
Weber.
MASS IN G, with Latin and English words	1 0	2 6
MASS IN E FLAT, Ditto.	1 6	3 0
Mozart, Haydn, and Beethoven.
MOZART'S TWELFTH MASS	2 0	3 6
HAYDN'S THIRD, or IMPERIAL MASS	2 0	3 6
BEETHOVEN'S MASS in C ...	2 0	3 6
The above Three Masses, bound in one volume, whole scarlet cloth, 7s.
MOZART'S REQUIEM MASS	2 0	3 6
MOZART'S FIRST MASS ...	1 6	3 0
HAYDN'S FIRST MASS ...	2 0	3 6
To these Masses are added Mr. E. HOLMES' Critical Essays, extracted from the Musical Times.
MOZART'S LITANIA DI VENERABILE ALTARIS (in E flat)	1 6	3 0
MOZART'S LITANIA DI VENERABILE SACRAMENTUM, B♭	1 6	3 0
BEETHOVEN'S MASS in D ...	2 0	3 6
BEETHOVEN'S ENGEDI; or, David in the Wilderness (Mount of Olives)	1 6	3 0

Novello's Octavo Edition of Anthems.

MESSRS. NOVELLO, EWER AND CO. beg to announce that they are now publishing, in the octavo form, a series of Anthems by Modern Composers, principally selected from their extensive Catalogue, and also including new works of undoubted merit. The preference shown by the musical public for the small Scores over the separate vocal parts, has been so marked as to warrant the publishers in anticipating a more than usually large circulation for the Edition.

The Anthems are issued in Weekly Numbers, at Twopence, Threepence, Fourpence, or Sixpence each according to their length.

A Volume, consisting of twenty-six numbers, will be published half-yearly.

Many of the best known and most favourite Anthems of the following composers, which have hitherto been only obtainable in the large and comparatively expensive Folio size will thus be brought within the reach of all.

It is also intended to include in this series, Anthems by Ancient Composers, but these will always be issued in twenty-six consecutive numbers, so as to form a separate Volume.

The following Anthems are now ready :—

1	Come unto Him	Ch. Gounod	Lent 2d.
2	Glory be to God on High	S. S. Wesley	Christmas 2d.
3	O love the Lord	A. S. Sullivan	„ 2d.
4	This is the day	J. Turle	„ 3d.
5	Blessing, glory, wisdom.	B. Tours	Festivals 4d.
6	I will wash my hands	E. J. Hopkins	Lent 3d.
7	Judge me, O God	Mendelssohn	„ 4d.
8	O taste and see	Sir J. Goss	„ 3d.
9	All ye who weep	Ch. Gounod	„ 3d.
10	My God, my God	Mendelssohn	„ 6d.
11	O day of penitence	Ch. Gounod,	Good Friday 6d.
12	O come near to the Cross	Ch. Gounod	„ 8d.
13	This is the day	John Sewell	Easter 2d.
14	O praise the Lord	Joseph Barnby	Easter 4d.
15	Blessed be the God and Father	S. S. Wesley	„ 4d.
16	O give thanks	Sir G. J. Elvey	General 3d.
17	O give thanks	William Rea	General 3d.
18	Lift up your heads	J. L. Hopkins	Ascension 1½d.
19	Therefore with angels	Vincent Novello	Trinity 2d.
20	With angels and archangels	J. L. Hopkins	Trinity 3d.
21	Praise the Lord	Sir John Goss	General 6d.
22	Word of God Incarnate	Ch. Gounod	Lent 3d.
23	Why rage fiercely	Mendelssohn	6d.
24	As the hart pants	Ch. Gounod	Lent 3d.
25	O Lord our Governour	H. Gadsby	General 3d.
26	Wherewithal shall a young man	Dr. H. Hiles	Confirmation 3d.
27	I will magnify Thee	Sir John Goss	Harvest 3d.
28	Fear not, O land	Sir John Goss	„ 6d.
29	I will give thanks unto Thee, O Lord	J. Barnby	„ 4d.
30	All Thy works praise Thee, O Lord	E. H. Thorne	„ 3d.
31	The Wilderness	Sir John Goss	General 6d.
32	I was glad when they said unto me	Sir G. J. Elvey	„ 3d.
33	In Thee, O Lord, have I put my trust	B. Tours	„ 3d.
34	O God, Thou art worthy to be praised	A. S. Sullivan	Marriage 4d.
35	O God, have mercy	J. Baptiste Calkin	General 4d.
36	Sing praises unto the Lord	Ch. Gounod	„ 6d.
37	Lead, kindly light	J. Stainer	4d.
38	Remember now thy Creator	C. Steggall	General 4d.
39	The Lord is loving	G. M. Garrett	Thanksgiving... 3d.
40	O praise God in His holiness	T. T. Trimnell	Festival 4d.
41	The Lord is King	T. T. Trimnell	4d.
42	O give thanks unto the Lord	Sir John Goss	Easter 3d.
43	Hosanna to the Son of David	G. A. Macfarren	Advent 3d.
44	The Lord is great in Sion	W. T. Best	General 3d.
45	Prepare ye the way of the Lord	G. M. Garrett	Advent 3d.
46	Father of Heaven	T. A. Walmisley	General 3d.
47	O how amiable are Thy dwellings	J. Barnby	„ 3d.
48	O how plentiful is Thy goodness	T. Mee Pattison.	„ 3d.
49	God be merciful unto us	S. S. Wesley	„ 3d.
50	The Lord is my light	Dr. H. Hiles	„ 3d.
51	O Saving victim (No. 2)	Ch. Gounod	Lent 4d.
52	Come and let us return.	Sir John Goss	„ 3d.
53	If we believe that Jesus died	Sir John Goss	„ 3d.
54	Lord, let we know mine end	Sir John Goss	„ 3d.
55	Ponder my words	H. Gadsby	„ 3d.
56	Awake, awake, put on	J. Stainer	Whitsun 6d.
57	What are these that are arrayed	J. Stainer	„ 3d.
58	If ye then be risen	John Naylor	Ascension 3d.
59	Praise the Lord, O my soul	S. S. Wesley	General 6d.
60	Rejoice greatly	H. Gadsby	Palm Sun. 3d.
61	In Christ dwelleth	Sir John Goss	Feast of Circumcision 3d.
62	Thou, O God, art praised in Sion	Samuel Wesley	3d.
63	Praise the Lord, O my soul	G. M. Garrett	6d.
64	Blessed is the man	Sir John Goss	4d.
65	Behold now, praise ye the Lord	J. Baptiste Calkin	3d.
66	O give thanks	S. S. Wesley	4d.
67	The Lord is my Shepherd	Franz Schubert	4d.
68	Stand up and bless the Lord	Sir John Goss	4d.
69	Wherewithal shall a young man	Sir G. J. Elvey	6d.
70	Praise the Lord	Sir G. J. Elvey	4d.
71	O praise tho Lord with me	Sir F. Ouseley	3d.
72	Thou wilt keep him	Dr. Gauntlett	3d.
73	I will cry unto God	Dr. Steggall	3d.
74	We have heard with our ears	A. S. Sullivan	6d.
75	God said, Behold I have given you every herb	G. A. Macfarren	6d.

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).
NEW YORK: J. L. PETERS, 599, BROADWAY.

OCTAVO EDITIONS OF

Services by Modern Composers,

PUBLISHED BY NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

PHILIP ARMES, Mus. D.—A COMMUNION SERVICE in A, consisting of Kyrie eleison (Nos. 1 and 2), Gloria tibi, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus, Gloria in excelsis. Price 1s.

HENRY BAKER, Mus. Bac.—A SHORT MORNING, COMMUNION and EVENING SERVICE in F; consisting of Te Deum, Jubilate, Kyrie Nos. 1 and 2, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus and Gloria tibi Domini, Gloria in excelsis, Magnificat, and Nunc dimittis. Price 1s.

J. BARNBY'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, set to Music in the key of C, for voices in Unison. 4d.

J. BARNBY.—THE CANTICLES (Te Deum Benedictus, Jubilate, Magnificat, Nunc dimittis, Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur), set to Music in Chant form. 4d.

W. T. BEST.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in simple Chant form. For a Four-part Chorus, with Organ Accompaniment. 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate Deo, 4½d.; Kyrie eleison, Gloria tibi, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

J. BAPTISTE CALKIN'S MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE in D, for the especial use of Parish Choirs. Price 1s., or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4½d.; Sanctus, Kyrie, Nicene Creed, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d.: Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

J. BAPTISTE CALKIN'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, in B flat. Dedicated to the Members of the Special Sunday Evening Choir of St. Paul's Cathedral. 4d.

DR. JOHN B. DYKES.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in F, for Parish Choirs. Price 1s., or singly:—Te Deum, 3d., Benedictus, 2d., Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Gloria tibi Domine, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d., Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

DR. G. M. GARRETT.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in F, for Parish Choirs. Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. Jubilate, 2d. Introit or Hymn, Kyrie, Nicene Creed, Sanctus and Gloria in excelsis, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

JOHN GOSS.—UNISON SERVICE in A. Te Deum, 4d. Benedictus and Jubilate, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

JOHN GOSS.—TE DEUM and JUBILATE in A, for four voices. 6d. Small score for voices only, 3d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in A, for four voices, 4d. Te Deum in D, for four voices, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis in E, 4d.

JOHN GOSS.—TE DEUM LAUDAMUS in F, for four Voices and Organ. 4d. Cantate Domino and Deus misereatur in C, for Voices in Unison, with Accompaniment for the Organ or Pianoforte. 6d.

EDWARD HERBERT'S CHANT TE DEUM, in D. Price 3d. And BENEDICTUS. Price 3d.

THE MORNING SERVICE, TE DEUM, and BENEDICTUS, set to Music in the Simple Chant form by ALFRED H. LITTLETON. Price 3d.

THE EVENING SERVICE, MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, set to Music in the Simple Chant Form by ALFRED H. LITTLETON. Price 3d.

G. A. MACFARREN'S UNISON SERVICE for PARISH CHOIRS. Price 1s., or singly:—Te Deum, Price 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

WALTER MACFARREN.—A SIMPLE MORNING and EVENING SERVICE in C, for Parish Choirs Price 6d.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. Jubilate, Kyrie and Sanctus, 3d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.

DR. MONK'S UNISON SERVICE in A, for Voices and Organ. 1s., or singly:—Te Deum and Jubilate, 4½d. Kyrie, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

OUSELEY.—A CHANT SERVICE FOR THE TE DEUM, arranged by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart., M.A., Mus. Doc. Price 3d. The Office of the Holy Communion, set to Music of an easy character. 4d.

SAMUEL PORTER'S SERVICE in D. Edited by JOSEPH BARNBY. Price 9d.; or singly, Te Deum, 3d., Jubilate, 1½d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, and Nicene Creed, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d.

C. HUBERT H. PARRY.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE in D. Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d. Benedictus, 3d. Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus and Gloria in excelsis, 4½d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

SAMUEL REAY.—A Morning, Communion, and Evening Service in F. Price 1s. 6d., or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie, Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus and Gloria, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

HENRY SMART.—A Morning, Communion, and Evening Service in F. Price 1s. 6d.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie (Nos. 1 and 2), Credo, Sursum Corda, Sanctus and Gloria, 9d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 6d.

POYTON SMITH'S CHANT SERVICE in E flat. Te Deum, Benedictus, Sanctus, and Kyrie, 3d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d. The same Te Deum printed in F, 3d.

DR. W. SPARK'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, in D, for voices in Unison and Organ. 3d.

DR. JOHN STAINER'S NICENE CREED, in an Easy Form for Four Voices, or for voices in Unison, with Organ Accompaniment, Folio size, 6d.; small vocal score, without accompaniment, 1½d.

DR. R. P. STEWART.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE in G, for Parish Choirs Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 1½d.; Introit, Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, Gloria in excelsis, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

E. H. THORNE'S MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS, set to Music in Chant form, with free organ accompaniment. 3d.

BERTHOLD TOURS.—A MORNING, COMMUNION, and EVENING SERVICE, in F, for voices in Unison and Organ. Price 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 3d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 6d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 3d. The same Service arranged for Four Voices. 1s 6d.; or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 3d.; Kyrie eleison, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, and Gloria in excelsis, 9d. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 4d.

THOMAS TALLIS TRIMNELL. — CHANT SERVICE in D. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, on a Parisian Theme. 3d.

JAMES TURLE. — THE MORNING and EVENING SERVICE, set to Music in Chant form. 4d.; or separately:—Te Deum, Jubilate, and Kyrie eleison, 3d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d. The Sanctus and Kyrie set in the Keys of C, F, and D, 4d.

DR. S. S. WESLEY.—CHANT SERVICE in F. Complete, 4d.; Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 2d.; folio, Te Deum and Jubilate, 2s. Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, 1s. Vocal Parts, complete, 1s. 4d.

DR. S. S. WESLEY.—A SHORT FULL CATHEDRAL SERVICE in E. Vocal score, 1s.; or singly:—Te Deum, 4d.; Jubilate, 2d.; Kyrie, Sanctus, and Nicene Creed, 4d. Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, 4d.

THE

RGANIST'S QUARTERLY JOURNAL OF ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS.

(Published on the First of January, April, July, and October.)

EDITED BY

WILLIAM SPARK, Mus. Doc.,

ORGANIST OF THE TOWN HALL, &c., LEEDS.

CONTENTS.

VOLUME I.

PART I.

nte, in C. E. Silas.
aunion (Larghetto), in E flat. E. Batiste ude, in C. H. Smart.
nte, in F. W. Funke (Vienna).
ert Fantasia, in Three Movements. Sir P. Stewart.

PART II.

ro, in C (First Movement of a Sonata). A. Macfarren.
nte, in A. H. Smart.
natino, with Choral, in D. J. Barnby.
duction, in D minor, and Fugue, in D jor. E. Silas. nte, in F. J. F. Barnett.

PART III.

nte Grazioso, in D minor. Carl Reinecke.
Organ Themes. Dr. H. Hiles.
No. 1, in A flat. No. 2, in F.
nte, in E (Second Movement of Sonata, C). G. A. Macfarren. orale, in G. Gustav Merkel (Dresden). nte, in E. Dr. E. G. Monk.

PART IV.

nte, in A major. Inglis Bervon.
asia, in C minor and C major. Philip etz (Hanover).
ante, in D minor, and Allegro, in D major. illiam Spark. le Fugue, in G minor. Gustav Merkel.
gro deciso (Finale of Sonata in C). G. A. acfarren.

PART V.

ietta, in G minor. G. Kühmstedt (Erfurt).
ante, in B flat. Henry Smart.
antino, in F minor. Batiste.
gro (Alla Marcia), F major. Batiste. gio, in E flat (Choral Hymn). W. Spark.
ody, in C major. E. Silas.
ante Pastorale, in A major. Dr. Steggall.
y Piece, without Pedal, A minor. G. A. acfarren. me, varied, in A major. F. W. Hird.

PART VI.

glo, in A minor. Philip Tietz. lude, in F major. Alexander Guilmant 'aris). gretto, in E. Frederic Archer.
ude, in G major. Gustav Merkel.
ude, in C sharp minor. Walter Parratt.
ry, in E minor, with Chorale, and Fugue, E major. Leo Kerbusch. ghetto, in A minor. G. Kühmstedt.
ante, in G major. W. J. Westbrook.

PART VII.

Offertoire, in G major. G. Kühmstedt.
Andante Grazioso, in G major. Henry Smart.
Postlude in C minor, and C major. Ebenezer Prout, B.A.
Präludium, in E flat. Chr. Schaab (Berlin).
Allegro Moderato, in B flat. W. J. Prichard.
Fugue, in D minor. Chas. Steggall, Mus. D.
Larghetto, in G minor. Edouard Batiste.

PART VIII.

Concertstück, in F major. C. E. Stephens.
Andante, in B flat. Wm. F. Crossley.
Postlude, in D major. Gustav Merkel
Andante, in G major. G. A. Macfarren.
Fantasia (in form of an Offertoire), C major. Berthold Tours.

VOLUME II.

PART IX.

Chorale Preludes, No. 1. Professor Graedner (Hamburg).
Prelude, in E flat. W. F. Warner Jackson.
Trio, in A. J. F. Schwenke (Hamburg).
Concluding Voluntary. Arthur Page.
Fugue, in G major. Otto Dienel (Berlin).
Andante, in A. W. H. Barnett.
Adagio, in D. G. D. W. Osterholdt (Hamburg.)
Andante, in G. Philip Tietz (Hanover).

PART X.

Chorale Preludes, No. 2. "Ach Gott und Herr." Professor Graedner (Hamburg).
Introduction and Fughetta. Wm. Spark.
Fantasia on the Chorale, "Jesu meine Freunde." G. D. W. Osterholdt (Hamburg).
Andante. Inglis Bervon.
Andante amabile. G. J. Hill.
Andantino. W. J. Prichard.
Allegro maestoso. James Thomson.

PART XI.

Voluntary for the Communion. Patrice Valentin, Organist, Toulouse Cathedral.
Prelude. Walter Macfarren.
Fugato. Ph. Tietz, op. 63.
Preludium et Fuga. The Rev. Sir Fred. A. Gore Ouseley, Bart.
Prelude. Arthur E. Dyer.
Andante. J. Hamilton Clarke, Mus. Bac.

PART XII.

Larghetto. T. M. Mudie.
Postlude, D major. Henry Smart.
Andantino. Gustav Merkel.
Allegro Vivace. F. W. Hird.
Introductory Voluntary. W. H. Barnett.
Prelude and Fugue. Ch. Gradener.
Andante. W. H. Sangster.
Prelude. Alex. S. Cooper.

PART XIII.

Concertstück (F minor). H. F. Degenhardt.
Prelude (G major). William Spark.
Fantasia (D major). Philip Tietz.
Introductory Voluntary (A major). Arthur Page.
Impromptu (A minor). C. J. Frost.
Choral Vorspiel (No. 1); ditto (No. 2 Dr. R. Papperitz.
Andante Cantabile (G major). Wm. Wright.

PART XIV.

Prelude (D major). E. Silas.
March (B flat major). E. Silas.
Pastorale (F major). J. M. Pattison.
Religious March (E flat major). G. A. Macfarren.
Easy Prelude for M.F. stop (F major). Henry Smart.
Easy Prelude for Soft stops (G major). Henry Smart.
Prelude (G major). Frederic Archer.
Motivo (B flat major). Frederic Archer.
Moderato (F major). Gustav Merkel.
Pastorale (A major). Gustav Merkel.

PART XV.

Allegretto Grazioso. Berthold Tours.
Marcia. Henry Smart.
Fugue. Carl Piutti.
Secular March. G. A. Macfarren.
Trio for Soft stops. G. Kühmstedt.
Fantasia. Horace Wadham Nicholl.

PART XVI.

March Triomphale. Alex. Guilmant.
Andante con moto. C. J. Hargitt.
Sonata in F major, Op. 82. E. Silas. (First movement, Moderato.)
Pastorale in E flat. Philip Tietz.
Adagio (D major). Arthur Johnson.
Postlude (A major). H. J. Stark, F. C. O.

PART XVII.

Twelve Short Interludes for soft stops for use between the Offertory Sentences, or at Confirmations. Henry Smart.
Andante (B flat major) Continuation of the Sonata in part 16. E. Silas.
Concluding Voluntary Fugato. Philip Tietz.
Offertoire (F major). Robert Hainworth.

(To be continued.)

"Part 16 completes the second volume of a work whose excellences no organist can have failed to appreciate ere now—a work containing compositions for the noblest of instruments in every variety of style, and of all degrees of practicability, serving the everyday needs of the rch organist, the public performer, and the private student. All the commendation we had to give two years ago on the first volume is more n due to the second. In fact, the work increases in interest and usefulness as it grows older. The editor's own pieces are, to our mind, among most acceptable in the work, and while with the work at his command his reticence commands respect, no one would hesitate to accept with sure, from a pen so able as that of Dr. Spark, more than he has deemed it fit to contribute. The contents of this part are mostly addressed to more experienced player—that is, of the six pieces three are short and facile, and three are long and more difficult to play. The former—excellently by Arthur Johnson, Philip Tietz, and C. J. Hargitt—call for notice simply as good specimens of soft voluntaries. Chief among longer pieces is the first movement of a Sonata in F—a moderato as pleasing as it is original in thought and development. It belongs to modern school of composition, has something of Mendelssohn in it and a vast deal of its author, Mr. E. Silas. A player who is also a sician will find great pleasure in its perusal. A March in E flat, by Alex Guilmant, is one of the best pieces of organ compositions any nch writer ever produced. It wants careful playing, but it is more worthy of it than is some Parisian organ music whose demands are not exacting. Mr. H. J. Stark, who is a Fellow of the College of Organists, contributes a brilliant Postlude in A major. It is not difficult lay, though it demands a certain brusqueness of style. The return to the first subject, on a long dominant pedal, is cleverly and effectively complished."—Dundee Advertiser, November 13, 1872.

"Dr Spark still continues to supply music in various styles. In the present part (16) every, or almost every, kind of taste has been provided • • • Indeed we must congratulate Dr. Spark most heartily on this part of his work."—Choir.

OTICE.—All the compositions published in this Work are expressly written for it, and are the sole copyright of the Proprietors.

Volumes I. and II., each consisting of ONE HUNDRED and SIXTY Pages of ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS for the ORGAN, by the best ng Organists and Composers (Foreign and English). Price, handsomely bound in cloth, gilt edges, 21s each. Covers for binding Vols. I. and II., each. Subscribers for not less than one year can commence at any period, and receive back numbers at the Subscription price. Annual Subiption, 10s.; Non-Subscribers, 5s. net, each Part. All Subscriptions to be paid Half-yearly, in advance, to the Publishers, Novello, Ewer and ., who have the sole management of the sale and distribution of copies &c. Communications respecting Compositions to be addressed to the itor, Springfield Villa, Leeds.

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 25, Poultry (E.C.).
New York: J. L. PETERS, 599, Broadway.

POPULAR SONGS,

PUBLISHED BY NOVELLO, EWER AND Co.

J. BARNBY.

	Compass.	s.	d.
My Golden Ship	F to F	3	0
I sit alone	D „ F	3	0
In Spring time	D „ D	2	6
The Rainy Day	D „ F	3	0
Forget me not	F „ F	2	6
The Rose and the Nightingale	F „ F	2	6
The Wrecked Hope. Sung by Madlle. Drasdil	A „ C	3	0
How fades the light	C „ E	2	6
The soft Southern breeze, from "Rebekah" - Tenor in D♭	F „ A	4	0
Ditto do. in B♭	D „ F	4	0
The daughters of the city come, from "Rebekah" - Bass	C „ E	3	0

FREDERIC CLAY.

'Tis better not to know. Sung by Mr. Sims Reeves	E to A	4	0

W. COENEN.

Lovely Spring. For Soprano or Tenor	D to A	3	0
Ditto. For Contralto or Baritone	B „ F	3	0
The Kindly Stars	D „ G	3	0
Come unto Me (Sacred). Sung by Mr. Sims Reeves	E „ F	3	0
The Violet	D „ F	3	0

GEORGE GARRETT.

Parted. Sung by Miss Julia Elton	B to F	3	0

CH. GOUNOD.

There is a green hill far away, in F. Sung by Mdme. Patey	F to F	4	0
Ditto, in E (sung by Mr. Santley)	E „ E	4	0
The Daisy	E „ F	4	0
Beware (I know a maiden)	C „ E	4	0
Sweet Baby, sleep (Lullaby)	E „ D	4	0
Queen of love	E „ E	4	0
Evening Song (The shadows of the evening hours), with obbligato accompaniment for the Viola	D „ G	4	0
La Marguerite	E „ F	4	0
Perchè piangi?	D „ F	4	0
La Fauvette (dedicated to Sig. Gardoni)	F „ G	4	0
Quanti mai! (dedicated to and sung by Mad. Conneau)	B „ G	4	0
Si vous n'ouvrez votre fenêtre (dedicated to M. Faure)	C „ D	4	0
May day (Le Premier jour de Mai)	A „ F	2	6
Hunting song (Le Lever)	E „ E	2	6
Dawn music (Aubade)	F „ F	3	0
Autumn (Chant d'automne)	E „ F	2	6
O my proud one (O ma belle rebelle)	F „ F	3	0
Venice (Venise)	F „ G	3	0

J. FAURE.

	Compass.	s.
Far from thee	F to F	3
March onward	D „ F	3
O'er all the mountain	E „ G	3
The old year	F „ F	4
Reaper's Song	D „ G	3
Sighs, sung by Mdme. Trebelli	D „ D	3
The Son of the Prophet	F „ F	3
The Star, dedicated to Mdme. Miolan-Carvalho	D „ G	3
Wherefore?	F „ F	3
I love the splendour of the night	C „ F	3
The King and the Minstrel	F „ F	3
Sancta Maria. Sung by Mdme. Adelina Patti	D „ F	4

J. L. HATTON.

Fair and False	E to F	2
Ocean (Bass)	G „ E	3

HEROLD.

None can fly my law supreme. "Zampa." Sung by Mr. Santley	C to F	4

S. JACOBY.

Notes that thrill (a Song of Spring)	F to E	3
Gondoliera	F „ F	3

G. A. MACFARREN.

The Sea King's Daughter	D to F	2
Bonnie Mary	D „ F	2
Down among the beds of sweet roses	D „ E	2
O I hear ye sing	D „ E	2
A simple tune sometimes we hear (Soldier's Legacy)	D „ F	2
I never knew my heart held fast (do.)	E „ F	2
O welcome, young soldier (do.)	C „ E	2
You promised to come (do.)	E „ E	2
Pray, child, pray, song of the Sailor's Wife, from the Cantata "Outward Bound." Sung by Mdme. Patey	D „ D	4
The last watch (Sea Song)	B „ E	2
What is this, love? Cavatina, Soprano, "She stoops to conquer"	F „ B	3
The cunning old fox (bass). Ditto	D „ F	2
The good old days of the country Squire (bass). Ditto	C „ E	2
Why sadly sighs the ev'ning gale? Mezzo Soprano, in F	C „ F	2
Am I not a pretty Barmaid? (Sop.)	C „ C	4
Ditto do., in D	D „ G	3
I met her first. Tenor, in B♭	F „ B	2
Ditto do. F	C „ F	2
Drink, friends, drink	A „ F	2
My bud of May. Tenor	D „ E	2
O Constance, dear. Tenor, in A♭	G „ C	2
Ditto do., do., E♭	D „ G	2
He'll miss me. Soprano E♭	E „ A	2
Ditto do., do., C	C „ F	2

Printed by NOVELLO, EWER and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.) Sold also by KENT and Co., Paternoster-row; and J. L. PETERS, 599, Broadway, New York.—Wednesday, January 1, 1873.

THE MUSICAL TIMES

And Singing-Class Circular,

Published on the 1st of every Month.

The Music Pages only are stereotyped, those persons who would possess the Musical Articles, Notices, Advertisements, &c., can only ensure doing so by taking the work as it appears.

No. 360.—Vol. 15. Registered for transmission abroad. FEBRUARY 1, 1873. Price 2*d.*; Post-free, 2½*d.* Annual Subscription, Postage-free, 2*s.* 6*d.*

MASON AND HAMLIN'S
AMERICAN ORGANS.

Messrs. METZLER & CO. have the pleasure to announce that they have made arrangements with the MASON AND HAMLIN ORGAN COMPANY for the SOLE AGENCY for the Sale of their Instruments in the United Kingdom.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

The cases of these instruments are of solid black walnut throughout, backs as well as sides and fronts; of elegant designs, carved and panelled. Interior as well as exterior of thorough and careful workmanship in every detail. They are remarkable for their great power, as well as for rich and beautiful qualities of tone. Patented improvements used in them are enumerated under each particular style.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style A. Price 20 guineas.

Five octave, single reed. One stop. Tremulant. With one set of vibrators, eight feet pitch throughout, tremulant and knee-swell. Panelled front and sides, with carved moulding and ornaments. Price 20 guineas.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style C. Price 25 guineas.

Five octave, double reed. Five stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Tremulant. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet; tremulant and knee swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows. Panelled fronts and sides, with carved mouldings and ornaments.

No style of the cabinet organ is more popular or satisfactory in proportion to its cost than this. Its moderate price brings it within the means of many, while it has sufficient power for the accompaniment of a considerable chorus of voices; its compass is ample, and the variety of tone considerable.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style F. Price 28 guineas.

Five-octave, double reed cabinet organ, projecting keyboard. Five stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Tremulant. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet. Tremulant and knee-swell. Self-adjusting reed valves, and improved bellows. Heavily panelled front and sides, with carved ornaments. Ivory fronts to keys.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 21. Price 32 guineas.

Five-octave, double reed. Five stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Vox humana. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet; improved vox humana; automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows: foot-swell; ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises; lamp stands, &c. Heavily panelled front and sides, best finish.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style E. Price 35 guineas.

Five-octave double reed, with sub-bass and octave coupler. Seven stops. 1. Viola. 2. Diapason. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Manual Sub-bass. 6. Octave coupler. 7. Tremulant. With two sets of vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of sixteen feet; and one octave of sub-bass connected with the manual; also octave coupler, giving effect to four sets of reeds; knee-swell and tremulant; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows. Panelled front and sides, carved mouldings and ornaments.

METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 27. Price 45 guineas.

Five-octave, double reed, with sub-bass and octave coupler, Seven stops. 1. Diapason. 2. Viola. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Sub-bass. 6. Vox humana. 7. Octave coupler. Two sets vibrators throughout, one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet; with one octave of sub-bass connected with the manual; also octave coupler, giving effect of four sets of reeds; improved vox humana and automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; foot swell; extra ivory and ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises, &c. Heavily panelled front and sides, smooth finish. Price 45 guineas.

Coupler connects with octave below.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 48. Price 55 guineas. New Drawing-room Model, in resonant case.

Five-octave, double reed, with euphone, octave coupler, and sub-bass, resonant. Nine stops. 1. Diapason. 2. Viola. 3. Melodia. 4. Flute. 5. Sub-bass. 6. Vox humana. 7. Octave coupler. 8. Euphone. 9. Automatic swell. Having two sets of vibrators throughout, with one octave of sub-bass connected with the manual; also octave coupler, giving effect of four sets of reeds; improved vox humana and automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; foot-swell; extra ivory, and ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises, &c. Heavily panelled fronts and sides, best finish, &c.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 46. Price 85 guineas.

Two manuals, four sets of reeds, resonant. Nine stops. 1. Bourdon. 2. Diapason bass. 3. Diapason treble. 4. Vox humana. 5. Hautboy. 6. Principal bass. 7. Principal treble. 8. Coupler. 9. Automatic swell. Having two manuals and four sets of vibrators throughout; one of four feet pitch, two of eight feet, and one of sixteen feet; with improved vox humana and automatic swell; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; two foot-swells; extra ivory, and ivory fronts to keys; clothed mortises, &c. Heavily panelled front and sides, best finish.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 12. Price 75 guineas. For church or chapel.

Two manuals, four sets reeds, in closed case. Nine stops. 1. Bourdon. 2. Diapason bass. 3. Diapason treble. 4. Hautboy. 5. Tremulant. 6. Principal bass. 7. Principal treble. 8. Coupler. 9. Automatic swell. Four sets of reeds throughout, one of four feet pitch, and one of eight feet to upper manual; and one of eight feet pitch and one of sixteen feet lower manual. Having automatic swell; one foot swell for the upper, and one for lower manual; self-adjusting reed valves; improved bellows; clothed mortises. Case has front board and base. Extra ivory and ivory fronts to keys.

MASON AND HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

Style 10. Price 105 guineas.

Two manuals and pedal bass organ. Six sets of reeds. Twelve stops. 1. Principal bass. 2. Principal treble. 3. Diapason treble. 4. Diapason bass. 5. Hautboy treble. 6. Hautboy bass. 7. Bourdon treble. 8. Bourdon bass. 9. Manual coupler. 10. Pedal coupler. 11. Violoncello. pedals. 12. Bourdon pedals. Having four sets of vibrators to manuals: one of four feet pitch, one of eight feet to upper manual; and one of eight feet, and one of sixteen feet, to the lower manual; two independent sets of vibrators to the pedals, one of eight feet pitch, and one of sixteen feet; pedals full scale, twenty-seven notes; manual coupler and pedal coupler; improved bellows, with hand-lever at back, and blow pedal in front for performer; foot swell; cloth mortises, &c. Extra ivory and ivory front to keys. Accompanied by black walnut seat for performer.

METZLER AND CO., 37, GREAT MARLBOROUGH STREET, LONDON, W.

PROFESSIONAL NOTICES.

MISS BLANCHE REIVES (Principal Soprano only).
Oratorios, Opera, Concerts, &c. 28, Queen's-road, Norland-square, W., and 106, Renfrew-street, Glasgow.

MISS AGNES B. LARKCOM (Soprano).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. 14, Bedford-street, Reading.

MRS. ALFRED J. SUTTON (Soprano),
Is open to engagements for Concerts and Oratorios.
54, Duchess-road, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

MISS ELLEN GLANVILLE (Soprano),
2, Percy-terrace, Ladbroke-grove-road, Notting-hill, W.

MISS ROSAMOND GLYN (Soprano).
For terms for Concert Engagements, address 10, Church-st., Bridgwater.

MRS. J. W. JACKSON (Soprano).
For Concerts, Oratorios, &c., address 56, Lee-crescent, Birmingham.

MISS CLELLAND (Soprano).
MISS EMMA CLELLAND (Contralto).
For Critiques, Terms, Engagements, Oratorios, Miscellaneous Concerts, &c., address 51, Elizabeth-street, Cheetham-hill, Manchester.

MISS GRACE ARMYTAGE (Primo Soprano),
2, Athalstane-villas, Stroud-green-road, N.

MADAME ARNOLD POTTER (Contralto),
50, Elmore-street, Islington, N.

MISS RUTH HARLOW (Contralto).
For Oratorios, Miscellaneous Concerts, etc.
Address Lark-hill, Tonge, Middleton.

MISS GLEDHILL (Contralto).
Concerts and Pupils. 51, Devonshire-road, N.

MR. STEDMAN (Tenor).
Address 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. GREENHILL (Tenor.)
For Concerts, Pupils, &c., 1, St. George's-terrace, Kilburn.

MR. ALFRED KENNINGHAM (Tenor),
Of S. Andrew's, Wells-street, recently appointed to St. Paul's Cathedral.
Address 3, Alfred-place, Bedford-square, W.

MR. ALBERT JAMES (Tenor).
Address Tenby-villa, Horton-road, Dalston, E.

MR. J. H. PEARSON (Alto or Counter Tenor).
Principal, Cathedral, Manchester.

W. M. DYSON (Tenor).
For Oratorios or Concerts. Address Cathedral Choir, Worcester.

MR. GEORGE W. B. CREAKE (Principal Tenor).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Address The Cathedral, Ely.

MR. N. DUMVILLE (Principal Tenor).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Manchester.

MR. WILLIAM DUMVILLE (Tenor),
5, Elvington-street, Hulme, or Cathedral, Manchester.

HENRY C. SANDERS (Baritone),
Of S. Andrew's, Wells-street) 2, Athalstane-villas, Stroud-green-road, N.

MR. MONTEITH RANDELL (Basso).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c. Apply, 47, Johnson-street, Ladywood, Birmingham.

MR. FARLEY SINKINS (Basso).
For Oratorios, Concerts, &c.; also for Oxford Glee Party.
Address Principal Bass, Ch. Ch. Cathedral, Oxford.

MR. T. WOODWARD (Bass).
For Oratorios and Concerts, address Cathedral, Gloucester.

C. D. COLLET (Bass, Teacher of Singing),
Sunnybank, Hazleville-road, Hornsey-lane, Highgate, N.

MR. THORNTON WOOD (Bass).
(Of the Royal Albert Hall Concerts), for Oratorios, Concerts, &c.
Address 2, Hallfield-place, Bradford, Yorks.

MR. H. WATSON (Solo Pianist and Accompanist).
For terms, &c., address 25, Market-place, Manchester.

MR. J. TILLEARD,
Removed to Seaton-villa, Slaithwaite-road, Lewisham, S.E.
Lessons in Singing and Composition.

J. F. BURROWES,
30, Sussex-place, Regent's-park.

T. R. WILLIS, Organ Builder,
29, Minories, London, E. Wood and Metal Pipe Maker.
Voicing, Tuning, and Repairing. List sent for stamp.
Second-hand Organs for Sale.

T. R. WILLIS (established 1827,) Maker and Importer of Brass and Wood Instruments, Harmonium Reeds, Music Strings, Wire, &c., Violins, Concertinas, &c. 29, Minories, London. List for stamp.

IMPORTANT TO MUSIC SELLERS.—Having the largest varied Stock of Music in Europe, orders received in the morning are executed the same day, or if in stock posted immediately if required. Terms highly advantageous.
London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

MUSIC ENGRAVED, PRINTED, AND PUBLISHED in the best style, and on moderate terms, a statement of which sent on application by B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

The King of all Reed Instruments yet invented.
W. HATTERSLEY and CO.'S Celebrated Improved HARMONIUMS, for quality of tone, rapidity of touch, workmanship, improved action, &c., stand unequalled. These charming instruments have been compared side by side with the American organs, and pronounced superior at half the price.

DRAWING ROOM MODEL,
Full Organ Tone, with knee swell to Treble and Bass, all stops effective.
9 Stops, Walnut case, 17 guineas.
12 " Burr " 22 "
18 " " " 26 "
New designs and new testimonials now ready.
W. Hattersley and Co., 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS in HARMONIUMS.—W. Hattersley and Co.'s celebrated IMPROVED HARMONIUMS, pronounced by the profession to be the nearest approach in tone to the organ of any hitherto invented. This improvement produces a rich, full, organ-like quality of tone, entirely free from all harsh or reedy sound, and by the careful voicing of the reeds, the articulation is fully equal in rapidity to the pianoforte. These instruments are manufactured by us for private sales only, and of the best materials and workmanship. W. Hattersley and Co., Harmonium Manufacturers, 10 and 12, Bow-street, Sheffield (late 95 and 107, Meadow-street).
Lists of prices and testimonials free.

RUSSELL'S MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.
CONCERTINAS, Harmoniums, Organ-Accordions. Flutinas, Drums, Fifes, Flutes, Violins, Cornets, Saxhorns, Clarionets, Flageolets, Guitars, Banjos, Musical Boxes, Strings, &c. Self-Instruction books. Instruments repaired or exchanged. Price lists free. J. Russell, 158, Goswell-road, Clerkenwell, London.

E. & W. SNELL'S IMPROVED HARMONIUMS. For tone, touch, articulation, and general excellence, are pronounced by the profession and public the best and cheapest manufactured. Price lists, with full description, free of E. and W. Snell, 37, Kelly-street (re-named), Kentish-town, London, N.W. Manufactory, Little King-street-north. Trade supplied. Pedal Harmoniums on Organ Principles.

HARGREAVES'S PROFESSIONAL AND CONNOISSEURS' HARMONIUM.

The following Testimonial from Boyton Smith, Esq., in reference to No. 3 of this model, is addressed to all who desire the most satisfactory instrument of the Harmonium class ever yet offered to the public:—

"Dear Sir,
"The Harmonium I had of you some time since is
"The most satisfactory instrument of the class I ever had.
"The mechanical arrangement
"Is excellent, and has never been out of order.
"While from the
"Agreeable quality and variety of its tone, it is ever a pleasure to play upon it.
"I have never tired of it, as I have of other kinds; and it is "Its capability of producing continued new effects that renders it truly as you style it
"'THE PROFESSOR'S HARMONIUM.'"
"My violoncello stop is the wonder of every one,
"So close is the resemblance.
"Yours faithfully,
"Weymouth, 1872." "Boyton Smith.

See testimonials from Dr. H. Leslie and others.

Another model constructed with 2 manuals, surpasses all Harmoniums hitherto constructed, in offering some distinct qualities in voicing from the most delicate upwards, and some novelties.

HARGREAVES'S AMERICAN IRON FRAME PIANO
Has a double iron frame cast in one piece; cross strings, suspended soundboard: it is the ne plus ultra of piano construction, excelling all others made with wooden bracings, or mixed iron and wood bracings, falsely called iron frame Pianos. It is especially addressed to all those wishing to possess the finest toned instrument that money can purchase.
The above specialities at
William Hargreaves, 61, Dale-street, Manchester.

ACCURATE METRONOMES, 1s., post free. Rudiments of Singing, 1s. per dozen. Singing Class Tutor, 7th ed., 6d. each. D. Scholefield, Trinity-street, Huddersfield.

BRASS, REED, STRING, and DRUM and FIFE BANDS, PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS, supplied at wholesale prices at J. MOORE'S, Buxton-road, Huddersfield. Patterns and prices post free. Music for any kind of band. Patronised by the army, navy, and rifle corps.

KELLY'S ORGAN HARMONIUMS, as manufactured for Her Majesty, are the only instruments of English manufacture that received any award at the Paris and Dublin Exhibition. A liberal allowance to the clergy.—11, Charles-street, Berners-street. Price lists post free.
SECOND-HAND PIANOFORTES, by Broadwood, Collard, Erard, and other makers, always in stock; also PARISIAN PIANOFORTES, at prices suitable to the trade, for cash only.

A MONK'S 100 GUINEA ORGANS.—2 manuals (full compass), 10 stops, bourdon pedal pipes. Chancel Organs from 30 guineas. 7 stop ORGAN (new) FOR SALE, general swell and pedals, 65 guineas. Angler's-lane, Kentish-town-road, London.

ORGAN METAL PIPES; best quality; zinc front pipes; voicing and tuning.—S. Fowler, 127, Pentonville-road.

PEDAL PIANOFORTE. — To be SOLD, cheap. The Piano, a square, by Broadwood; the pedals nearly new. Full compass C to F, 2⅝ octaves. Enquire of Mr. H. Wedlake, 28, Lime-street, Camden-town.

TO be SOLD, a BARGAIN, an ORGAN, suitable for a small Church or Chapel. It contains open and stopped diapasons, principal, twelfth and fifteenth, an octave and half of German pedals, and a general swell. Price £40. Apply to Mr. Sedgfield, Poole, Dorset.

ORGAN.—To be SOLD, a fine-toned 7-stop ORGAN, with illuminated front. Compass CC to F. 2 octaves of pedals, and set of bourdons. 85 guineas. Apply to Beale and Son, Organ Builders, Chandos-street, Bridgwater.

ORGAN.—A fine CC ORGAN, 2 complete manuals, 16 stops, and 2½ octaves of pedals, large scale, for church or chapel; cheap, in fine condition. Also, a small ORGAN, 6 stops. For particulars, apply at 180, Stamford-street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

WANTED, a good second-hand C ORGAN for a small Church. Price must be moderate. Two manuals and pedals. Address, describing case, size, stops, &c., and full particulars to A. D., 25, Hove-villas, West Brighton, Sussex.

ALEXANDRE HARMONIUM, 5 rows, 15 stops, in good order and tune. Eighteen guineas, or exchanged for smaller one with 2 rows. Balance in cash. W. Brown, Harson Villa, Stonehouse, Plymouth.

TO ORGANISTS.—PRACTICE may be had on a very fine ORGAN. Two manuals, swell, variety of stops, 2½ of pedals, and Bourdon to CCC. Terms very moderate. Address E. Francis, Organist of St. Peter's (W.C.), 188, Upper-street, Islington, N.

ORGAN STUDIO, 166, Strand.—LESSONS or PRACTICE (and at St. Michael's, Stockwell, S.W.) on fine two-manual C ORGANS.—(HILL and SON)—Pedal compass, 29 notes. Apply to W. VENNING SOUTHGATE, at his Studio. (Organist, St. Michael's, Stockwell.)

ORGAN LESSONS and PRACTICE on a fine new Instrument, with two manuals, 15 stops, 2½ octaves of pedals, with Bourdons throughout. Terms moderate. Allen's Musical Instrument Warehouse, 17, Percy-street, Bedford-square, W. Lessons and practice on other Instruments also.

ORGAN, PIANOFORTE, HARMONIUM, HARMONY, &c., One Guinea per quarter; Lessons and Practice on fine modern instruments. Organist, 51, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

GUITAR, by Spanish Gentleman. Spanish and English Songs in a few lessons.—Leon, 26, Union-street, Middlesex Hospital.

MADAME LAURA BAXTER (Member of the Royal Academy of Music, first principal Contralto, Royal Italian Opera, Drury Lane, Royal English Opera, Covent Garden, Sacred Harmonic Society, Exeter Hall, &c.), begs to request that all communications respecting ENGAGEMENTS for Oratorios and Concerts, may be addressed to her at her private residence, 53, Bedford-square, W.C.

MRS. NOBLE (Associate R. A. Music), Professor of Singing, receives Private and Professional Pupils. Address 3, Fitzroy-street, Fitzroy-square, W. Mrs. NOBLE'S highly successful Pupils, Miss ELLEN HORNE (Soprano), 13, Torriano-avenue, Camden-road, N.W., and Madame POOLE (Contralto), 32a, George-street, Hanover-square, W., continue to accept ENGAGEMENTS (together or separately) for Oratorios, Concerts, &c., in London and in the Provinces.

THE ALBERT GLEE TRIO. Messrs. J. PUSHMAN, G. TAYLOR, and H. M. CADMAN, Are open to Engagements for Concerts, Dinners, &c. For terms, address J. Pushman, Kensal Green.

THE ENGLISH GLEE UNION (Sixth Season).
Mr. H. ASHTON. Mr. T. PEARSON.
Mr. J. F. MEEN, and Mr. J. RUDKIN.
Assisted by
Madame ASHTON.
(Miss F. Danielson.)
Are prepared to give their Musical Entertainments at Institutions, &c. For terms, &c., address J. Rudkin, Sackville-house, Brook-green, Hammersmith, W.

VOCAL QUARTETTE, for ORATORIOS, CONCERTS, &c.

MISS MYERS	Soprano.
MRS. LINCEY-NALTON	Contralto.
MR. HERBERT WALKER	Tenor.
MR. THORNTON WOOD	Bass.

And, when needed, Mr. ALFRED MOORHOUSE (piano or harmonium), Organist to the Bradford Festival Choral Society.
For terms, apply to Thornton Wood, 2, Hallfield-place, Bradford.

"EUTERPE QUARTETTE," for Concerts, Dinners, and Entertainments. Lady Vocalists and Accompanist, if required. For terms, address to the Secretary, F. Budge, 85, Bolsover-st.

A VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL. The advantages of a fine Organ and Daily Service. Address Lindley Nunn, Mus. Bac., Organist, St. Mary Tower, Ipswich.

BRIGHTON.—ARTICLED PUPIL.—Mr. R. Taylor, Organist of Brighton College, and Conductor of the Sacred Harmonic Society, has a VACANCY for an ARTICLED PUPIL. Great advantages offered. For particulars, address 17, Upper Rock Gardens, Brighton.

MR. H. S. IRONS, Assistant-Organist of Chester Cathedral, will be happy to receive as ARTICLED PUPIL a young man respectably connected, who would desire to improve himself in Organ Playing, and gain experience in Cathedral Music. Only a small premium will be required. Address 4, Abbey-court, Chester.

A GENTLEMAN wishes to RECEIVE one or two BOYS to educate with his own. Superior advantages generally and musically. Terms 35 guineas per annum. Seaside. Address R. X., Post-office, Great Yarmouth.

TO THE MUSIC TRADE.—Parties who may have a good and bona-fide BUSINESS for SALE, may hear of a purchaser by addressing as under.
A small stock of SHEET MUSIC and SMALL GOODS for SALE at a reduced price. The Music has lately been purchased into Stock, and is in a good and clean condition.
Apply to Mr. Frederick Lucas, Public Accountant, 26, Maddox-street, Regent-street, London, W.

ONE GUINEA'S worth of MUSIC for 2s. 6d., slightly soiled, including the surplus of the past year's issue. Post free, 2s. 10d. JAMES SMITH & SON, 76, 74, and 72, Lord-street, Liverpool.

PASCALL'S VOICE JUJUBES.
Strongly recommended to Singers and Public Speakers. Agreeable and effective. In boxes only, 8ixpence and One Shilling each, or post free for eight and fourteen stamps. None genuine without the name and address on each box.—Jas. Pascall, 21, Wells-street, Oxford-street, London, W.

NOVELTY.—MUSICAL VALENTINES, Beautifully printed in gold and colours; words by classical authors, and music by best composers. Price 1s. 6d. and 2s. The trade can have samples on sale. Bertini, Seymour and Co., 40, Poland-street, W.

THE PATENT LOOPED-BINDER PORTFOLIO.
The Best and Simplest ever Invented.

By using it you can bind your Music or Periodicals yourself quite easily.
When open it lies perfectly flat—a great advantage, especially for Music, for which it is particularly adapted, as any piece may be removed and another placed instead. Is also cheaper than ordinary bookbinding.

Music Sizes.	Prices.
Full Music, 15 by 11	3 0
Ditto, ¼ bound extra	4 0
MSS. Music, 12½ by 10	2 6
Musical Times, 11 by 7½	1 6

Periodical sizes on application.
The Wire Binders necessary for above are 4d., 5d., and 6d. per Box, containing One Gross, or with Gum Tickets, ½ gross loose, 6d.; 1 gross mounted, 1s. They make a very secure Binder even without the Folio.
Sole Maker, Thomas Edmondson, 11, Dame-street, Dublin. May be ordered through any stationer or music-seller; or from F. Pitman, 20, Paternoster-row; C. Jeffreys, 57, Berners-street, London; John Heath, George-street, Parade, Birmingham.

TO BE SOLD, a MUSIC BUSINESS, with extensive Tunings, for only two years' purchase, on account of bad health. A good TUNER WANTED. Address K. K., care of Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Now ready. Small 4to. Price 1s. Vocal Parts, 12mo., price 6d. each.

SECOND SERIES.

THE

CANTICLES AND HYMNS

OF THE CHURCH,

POINTED FOR CHANTING, AND SET TO APPROPRIATE ANGLICAN CHANTS SINGLE AND DOUBLE;

TOGETHER WITH

Responses to the Commandments,

EDITED BY THE

REV. SIR F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart., etc.,

AND

EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This Work contains a Selection of Double (besides additional Single) Chants; together with special settings of "Benedicite," and a Collection of Kyrie Eleisons, old and new.

This Pointing of the Canticles is authorised by His Grace the Archbishop of York.

London: NOVELLO, EWER & CO., 1, Berners Street, and 35, Poultry. New York: J. L. PETERS, 599, Broadway.

THE BRISTOL TUNE BOOK.—A Manual of Tunes and Chants, intended as a companion to all Hymn Books, containing 258 Tunes (100 varieties of metre), and 85 Single and Double Chants. The whole arranged in Short Score, and the Harmonies carefully selected from the best authorities, with ruled music paper for manuscript additions. Adopted in several hundred congregations. More than 100,000 copies have already been sold.

No. 1. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 6d.
„ 2. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 3s. 6d.

TONIC SOL-FA EDITION.

„ 3. Limp cloth, turned in ... ... 2s. 0d.
„ 4. Cloth boards, red edges, gilt lettered... 2s. 6d.

Congregations or Associations requiring large quantities may obtain them on special terms by application to the Bristol Publishers.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Bristol: W. and F. Morgan; and all booksellers and musicsellers.

NOW READY,
A New and Enlarged Selection of

PSALMS, HYMNS and ANTHEMS, arranged for Congregational or Private use, by Samuel Smith, Bradford.

Very neat and compact, 218 pp. Imperial 32mo.

In limp cloth, edges turned in 1 0
Cloth boards, coloured edges, gilt lettered 1 6
Roan, gilt edges, and lettered 2 0

London: Hamilton, Adams and Co.; and Novello, Ewer and Co.
Bradford: Thomas Brear.

THE BRADFORD TUNE BOOK and PSALMS and CHANTS, together or separate, supplied in all the various forms, as before.

Eighth Edition.

TUNES NEW AND OLD.—Comprising all the metres in the Wesleyan Hymn Book; also Chants, Responses, and Doxologies. Compiled by John Dobson, and for the most part revised and re-arranged by Henry John Gauntlett, Mus. Doc. London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Sold also at 66, Paternoster-row. Prices: plain cloth, 3s. 6d.; cloth lettered, 4s.; cloth extra, gilt edges, 5s.

Price 3s. 6d., cloth, red edges,

THE TUNE BOOK, with the additional Tunes, as used at ST. ALBAN'S, HOLBORN; containing nearly 270 Tunes for Long, Common, Short, and Peculiar Metres; together with several Gregorian Hymns and Antiphons; the Eight Gregorian Tones; the Music of the Reproaches; the Seven Last Words; and Litany Tunes, &c.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

SCHOOLS and CHOIRS.—The Rudiments of Vocal Music, with 32 Preparatory Exercises, Rounds, and Songs, in the Treble Clef, by T. Mee Pattison. Price 6d.

The Exercises are in all the keys, and the Solfeggio name is placed under each note, on the moveable Do system.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

NOTICE.

MERCER'S CHURCH PSALTER and HYMN BOOK. An Appendix of Additional Hymns, Chants, Sanctuses, and Responses, the Harmonies carefully revised by Sir John Goss, may now be had, either separately, or bound up with the work in all its various sizes and forms. Prospectuses, with full particulars, will be forwarded on application.
London James Nisbet and Co., 21, Berners-street, W.; Lamborn Cock and Co., 62 and 63, New Bond-street, W

A MANUAL OF SINGING,

FOR THE USE OF CHOIR TRAINERS AND SCHOOLMASTERS.

By RICHARD MANN,

Organist of the Abbey Church, Cirencester, &c.

Price One Shilling and Sixpence.

This work offers to the clergy and other amateur choir trainers a systematic and simple course of instruction, by which they may teach their pupils to read music at sight, in a comparatively short time.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now ready, 1 vol., demy 8vo., 6s. 6d.

MUSICAL DEVELOPMENT (An Æsthetical Treatise). By Joseph Goddard.

"It is a work which, for its profound philosophic discernment, its pure and useful treatment of a grand subject, deserves careful study."—London Quarterly Review.
Goddard and Co., 4, Argyll-place, Regent-street.

TWENTIETH EDITION.

Price 1s. A specimen copy post free for 12 stamps.

THE COLLEGIATE AND SCHOOL SIGHT SINGING MANUAL.

For Choirs.—The easiest system that can be obtained for training improving, and learning to read music at sight.

For Schools.—Every requisite for learning Music, and reading at sight in a few lessons.

For Choral Societies.—The exercises will be found invaluable, tending to produce musical effects seldom heard.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Second Edition, 2s. 6d. nett.
(COMPANION WORK TO THE ABOVE.)

COLLEGIATE VOCAL TUTOR.

Containing Treatise on Voice and Vocal Art, with Anatomical Illustrations of the Vocal Instrument.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.; Cramer, Wood and Co.

Now ready, in Three Books, 6s. each. Post-free for Half-price.

COLLEGIATE SOLFEGGI.

Specially adapted for Colleges, Public Schools, Singing Classes, &c.
Book 1 (Duets); Books 2 and 3 (Trios).
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Third edition. Paper cover, 1s.; bound cloth, 1s. 6d.

CATHEDRAL CHANT BOOK.

Containing nearly 200 Single and Double Chants; also the Gregorian Tones.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

NOW READY.

THE NATURAL PRINCIPLES OF HARMONY.

By W. W. Parkinson. Price 15s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: W. W. Parkinson and Son, 24, St. Ann's-square.

TO CHORAL SOCIETIES.

W. H. BIRCH'S POPULAR OPERETTAS, now being performed throughout England. Sparkling, brilliant, and not difficult.

No. 1. The Merrie Men of Sherwood Forest. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.; single voice parts, 1s. each.

No. 2. Ballad Operetta—Katrine, the Pride of Killarney. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

No. 3. Eveleen, the Rose of the Vale. Vocal score, paper covers, 5s.

The above Operettas are written for a Full or Small Orchestra.

Choral Societies can hire the vocal scores, single voice parts, and band parts, on very moderate terms. See opinions of the press.

W. H. BIRCH'S EASTER MUSIC.

Anthem, "If ye then be risen with Christ," price 6d.
Anthem, by Joseph Key, "Now is Christ risen," price 6d.
Anthem, "Ponder my words," price 6d.
Six Good Friday Hymns; six Easter Hymns, price 1s.
Address W. H. Birch, 76, Southampton-place, Reading.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG'S
POPULAR PART SONGS FOR S.A.T.B. 8vo.

1.	"I love the merry spring time"	14th edition	0	2
2.	"Gally thro' the greenwood"	17th ,,	0	2
3.	"Welcome, merry May"	6th ,,	0	2
4.	"The mountain Maid"	5th ,,	0	2
5.	"Come o'er the mountain"	8th ,,	0	2
6.	"Hail, merry, merry Christmas"	12th ,,	0	2
7.	"Songs of praise the angels sang"	5th ,,	0	3
8.	"Blow, ye balmy breezes, blow"	6th ,,	0	3
9.	"Fairy revels"	7th ,,	0	3
10.	"Oh! peaceful vale of rest"	5th ,,	0	1½
11.	"The merry bird"	5th ,,	0	3
12.	"Come, let us be merry and gay"	4th ,,	0	3
13.	"Forest echoes"	6th ,,	0	3
14.	"Haste, ye merry elves"	5th ,,	0	3
15.	"The streamlet"	2nd ,,	0	3

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.
Manchester: Hime and Addison.

SIX CHORAL SONGS, for S.A.T.B. Composed by Robert Jackson, of the Royal Academy of Music. Price, in paper covers, 1s. 3d.; separately—"The Mariners," 2d.; "The Meadow Gate," 3d.; "The Voice of Spring," 3d.; "Lilian," 2d.; "Come when the dawn," 3d.; "The homes of England," 2d.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Manchester: Hime and Addison, Forsyth Bros.; and from the Composer, 23, Barker-street, Oldham.

TO CHOIRS.

SIX PART-SONGS for MEN'S VOICES, Composed and dedicated to Edinburgh University Musical Society, by H. S. Oakeley, Mus. Doc., and Professor of Music at that University. No. 1, "Abendlied:" No. 2, "True Love;" No. 3, "Hunting Song;" No. 4, "Love's Philosophy," are now ready. Price, Nos. 1 and 2, and 3 and 4, 4d. vocal score. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

PART-SONGS, BY W. W. PEARSON.

THERE'S BEAUTY IN THE DEEP ... ... 1½d.
SWEET TO LIVE AMID THE MOUNTAINS ... 2d.
THE STORMY PETREL (Tenor and Bass Solos) ... 3d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Brampton-Bierlow, Rotherham: Pearson, from whom free for stamps.

THE OLD ELM TREE. Prize Part-song for T.T.B. Easy and effective. 8vo., 2d.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

MR. VERNON RIGBY'S NEW SONG.

I SAW THEE WEEP. Composed expressly for him by Frank Naish. In A flat and F. Price 4s.
Messrs. Duncan Davison and Co., 244, Regent-street, W.

MUSIC FOR THE NEW CODE.—The SINGING-CLASS MANUAL, by the late WILLIAM JACKSON, Masham, is admirably suited for use in the public elementary schools. Price (with Appendix, containing eight pieces of music in different keys), 2s.
London: Novello, Ewer & Co.; and of all Musicsellers and Booksellers.

HOW TO TEACH PIANO.—Send for Wentworth Phillipson's SHILLING GUIDE, by post 14 stamps. 14, Harrington-street, N.W., or W. Czerny, 81, Regent-street, W.

THE PIANIST'S PRACTICAL GUIDE to Theoretical Knowledge and Manual Execution, by F. Weber, resident Organist, German Chapel Royal, St. James's Palace. 2nd edition, 10s. 6d. "A work eminently calculated to improve the method of teaching the instrument."—Daily News.
London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Just published. Second edition.

VIVENTE. Grand Galop de Concert. "This is a bold inspiriting galop, melodious and effective."—Musical Standard.
FIRST TARANTELLA. "VILLAGE REVELS." Impromptu characteristic. Composed by William Blakeley, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Price 4s. each, or post free on receipt of 24 stamps, from Mr. Wm. Blakeley, Warrengate, Wakefield.

C. JEFFERYS, 57 BERNERS ST.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY.

A COLLECTION OF

PART-SONGS, GLEES, CHORUSES, &c.

EDITED BY MICHAEL WATSON.

1	'Tis silent eve	Michael Watson.
2	Corin's fate	R. Turner.
3	Where the pearly dew-drop falleth	E. J. Loder.
4	The Winter being over	Ellen Avery.
5	Fairy voices	T. G. B. Ratley.
6	Moonlight	J. H. L. Glover.
7	Good-bye	J. L. Hatton.
8	I thought of thee	W. F. Banks.
9	The Forsaken	J. L. Hatton.
10	Bonny May	J. H. L. Glover.
11	Spring Song	J. L. Hatton.
12	The Winds	C. J. Frost.
13	County Guy	G. A. Macfarren.
14	The birdès that had left their song	do.

Price 2d. each number. Other Numbers in the Press.

THE POPULAR

Operatic Arrangements,

SOLOS AND DUETS,

And Original Pianoforte Pieces,

By FELIX GANTIER,

Of which lists may be had on application.

WILLIE PAPE.

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 1 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Has sorrow thy young days shaded," and "The Young May Moon."

*IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 2 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "My lodging is on the cold ground," and "Garry Owen."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 3 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Minstrel Boy" and "St. Patrick's Day."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 4 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The harp that once thro' Tara's halls" and "Rory O'More."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 5 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Love's young dream" and "Sprig of Shillelah."

IRISH DIAMONDS, No. 6 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Valley lay smiling before me" and "The Girl I left behind me."

*HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 1 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasias on Airs, "Ye banks and braes" and "Bonnie Dundee."

HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 2 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Flowers of the Forest," "Kelvin Grove." and "Campbells are comin'."

HIGHLAND GEMS, No. 3 .. .. .. 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "Annie Laurie" and "Wha'll be king but Charlie."

LLANGOLLEN 4 0
Brilliant Fantasia on Airs, "The Ash Grove," "Poor Mary Ann," and "March of the Men of Harlech."

* Performed with great success by Madlle. Sophie Heilbron.

LOUIS DUPUIS.

CATHEDRAL GEMS:

1.	Nantes.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 12th Mass	3	0
2.	Wurms.—Fantasia, on subjects from Weber's Mass in G	3	0
3.	Rotterdam.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 3rd (Imperial) Mass	3	0
4.	Malaga.—Fantasia, on subjects from Beethoven's Mass in C	3	0
5	Rouen.—Fantasia, on subjects from Gounod's Messe Solennelle	3	0
6.	Caen.—Fantasia, on subjects from Rossini's Stabat Mater	3	0
7.	Mayence.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's 1st Mass, B flat	3	0
8.	Cologne.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mozart's 1st Mass, in C	3	0
9.	Paris.—Fantasia, on subjects from Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise	3	0
10.	London.—Fantasia, on subjects from Handel's Messiah	3	0
11.	Norwich.—Fantasia, on subjects from Haydn's Creation	3	0
12.	Canterbury.—Fantasia, on Spohr's As pants the Hart	3	0
13.	York.—Fantasia, on Handel's Judas Maccabæus	3	0
14.	Salisbury.—Fantasia, on Mendelssohn's St. Paul	3	0
15.	Wells.—Fantasia, on Haydn's Mass in B flat (No. 16.)	3	0

Beautifully illustrated in Colours, with views of celebrated Cathedrals.

C. JEFFERYS, 57, BERNERS STREET (W.).

ROYAL ALBERT HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

CONDUCTOR, MR. BARNBY.

Under the immediate Patronage and Sanction of

The Council of the Royal Albert Hall:

President.

His Royal Highness the PRINCE OF WALES, K.G.

Vice-Presidents.

His Royal Highness the DUKE OF EDINBURGH, K.G.
THE EARL OF FEVERSHAM.
THE LORD CLARENCE EDWARD PAGET, K.C.B.
DR. LYON PLAYFAIR, C.B., M.P.

A SERIES OF SIX

GRAND ORATORIO CONCERTS

WILL BE GIVEN AT THE

ROYAL ALBERT HALL,

During the ensuing Season, at which the following works will be performed:—

BACH'S PASSION (S. Matthew).
MENDELSSOHN'S ELIJAH.
HANDEL'S BELSHAZZAR.
HANDEL'S MESSIAH.
HANDEL'S ISRAEL IN EGYPT.
ROSSINI'S STABAT MATER.
&c. &c.

The Concerts will take place on the following dates:—

Wednesday, February 12.		Wednesday, April 2
„ February 26.		„ April 23
„ March 19.		„ May 7

BAND AND CHORUS OF 1200 PERFORMERS.

ORGANIST, DR. STAINER.

Subscription for the Series.

Loggia (to hold 8 persons)	£12 12 0	Amphitheatre Stalls ..	£2 2 0
Boxes (Grand Tier) ..	15 15 0	Arena Stalls	1 5 0
„ (Upper Tier) ..	7 7 0	Balcony	0 15 0

ROYAL ALBERT HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

FIRST SUBSCRIPTION CONCERT,

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1873.

BACH'S PASSION (S. Matthew)

Madame FLORENCE LANCIA.
Miss JULIA ELTON.
Mr. W. H. CUMMINGS.
Signor FOLI.

ROYAL ALBERT HALL CHORAL SOCIETY.

SECOND SUBSCRIPTION CONCERT,

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1873.

HANDEL'S MESSIAH.

Miss EDITH WYNNE.
Madame PATEY.
Mr. SIMS REEVES.
Signor FOLI.

Loggia (to hold 8 persons)	£2 10 0	Amphitheatre Stalls ..	0 7 6
Boxes (Grand Tier) ..	3 3 0	Arena Stalls	0 5 0
„ (Upper Tier) ..	1 10 0	Balcony	0 3 0

ADMISSION - ONE SHILLING.

Doors open at Seven o'clock, commence at Eight.

Tickets at the usual Agents, and at the Royal Albert Hall.

St. Anne's Church, Soho.

SPECIAL SERVICES will be held in this Church every Friday evening during Lent, commencing at Seven o'clock, at which Bach's PASSION (S. John) will be sung with the accompaniment of an Orchestra, Harp, and Organ. The public will be admitted by tickets to the body of the Church and west gallery, and without tickets to the north and south gallery. Sermons will be preached by special preachers, whose names will be duly announced.

Applications for tickets, stating the special Friday for which they are required, should be made to the Rev. Canon Wade, Rector, 28, Soho-square, Thomas F. Blackwell, Esq. and J. Armgill, Esq., Churchwardens; A. C. Curtis-Hayward, Esq., 17, Mount-street, Grosvenor-square; and Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

GLOUCESTER CATHEDRAL.—There is a VACANCY in this Choir for an ALTO Voice, as Lay Clerk or Singing Man. The emoluments are, a payment of 2s. 6d. for each attendance at the two daily services, and 5s. for attendance at each additional service. The candidates likely to suit will be required to appear before the Dean and Chapter on some early day in March next, which will be signified to them. Applications for the situation, stating the age and place of residence of the applicant, with testimonials as to moral and religious character, powers of voice, and musical capacity, are to be forwarded to the Rev. J. P. Clark, the Precentor, Wotton, near Gloucester, on or before the 28th day of February next.

By order of the Dean and Chapter,
18th January, 1873. George Whitcombe, Chapter Clerk.

GREENWICH PARISH CHURCH.—SOPRANO, CONTRALTO, TENOR and BASS Voices of power and ability, are REQUIRED for the Paid Choir, now in course of formation. Also, Six BOYS with good voices. Two Services on Sundays, 11 a.m. and 6·30 p.m., and on Wednesday evenings at 7.15. Full Service with Psalms, &c. Stipend according to proficiency, &c. Applications can be made personally or by letter to the Organist, Mr. H. Killick Morley, 71, South-street, Greenwich, or at the Church after the Wednesday Service. Qualified Amateurs desirous of joining this Choir, which it is proposed considerably to augment, are also requested to make similar application.

SALISBURY CATHEDRAL.—There is a VACANCY for a LAY VICAR (BASS). Salary £88 per annum. Applications, with testimonials, to be made to Mr. Richardson, Cathedral Organist. Age not to exceed 30. All candidates not receiving an answer within one month may consider themselves not selected.

The Close, Salisbury, Jan. 26, 1873.

WANTED, TWO BOYS (Trebles). Stipend according to ability. Must be able to read. Choral Service, Anthems. Apply to Mr. Samuel Gee, R.A. Mus., College Park, Lewisham, S.E.

TREBLE VOICES.—WANTED TWO BOYS for the Choir of S. Alban's, Wood-street, Cheapside. Salary from £2 to £5, according to ability. Apply at the Church on Thursday evenings, between 8 and 9 p.m.

CATHOLIC.—BOY SOPRANOS.—WANTED, an ENGAGEMENT to train for the Choir, by a Chorister of experience. Terms moderate. Address X., Novello & Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

CATHOLIC.—ALTO (Male) accustomed to Catholic music is open to an ENGAGEMENT. Address Alto, Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

VOCAL.—Two leading TREBLES (Boys, good salary), ALTO and BASS, £10 each, WANTED for St. Peter's, Eltham-road. Apply to Mr. Bradford, Fern Villa, St. James's, Hatcham, S.E.

ALTO or CONTRALTO WANTED for a Church in the City. Salary £8. Music Gregorian, full choral. Apply to X., 223, Essex-road, N.

TO ORGANISTS and CHOIRMASTERS.—Two ALTOS, two TENORS, and one BASS, for 5½ years the principal singers at a large West End Church, where a full Choral Service is performed, are about to resign (satisfactory reasons given), and will be open to RE-ENGAGE at the end of the present quarter. Address "Choir," Delavanti's Musical Repository, Brompton-road, S.W.

TENOR (First and Second) WANTED for a Catholic Church, W.C. district. Sunday mornings only. Liberal salary. Apply by letter only to Mr. J. H. Jennings, 235, Hampstead-road, N.W.

A TENOR, accustomed to Church and Cathedral music, desires a SUNDAY ENGAGEMENT. Good sight reader, and competent to take Solos. Stipend required. Address Tenor, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

TENOR and BASS (Roman Catholic) WANTED. Sunday morning and evening. Church, Central London. Moderately easy Mass music. Apply by letter, giving all particulars, to Catholicus, 43, Tottenham-court-road.

BASSO PROFONDO desires a RE-ENGAGEMENT. Address Abbott's, D.D., Little Tower-street, E.C.

WANTED, Two good BASSES for the Parish Church of St. John, Hackney. £10 10s. per annum. Apply by letter to Organist, 31, Median-road, Clapton New Park, E. Also, BOYS, from £2 to £5.

CHOIR BOYS for CATHEDRALS and Collegiate Churches PREPARED in London for EXAMINATION. Address Z., Mus. Bac., Oxon., 1, Berners-street, Oxford-street, W.

THE MUSICAL TIMES,

And Singing-Class Circular.

FEBRUARY 1, 1873.

THE MODE AND THE KEY.

By Joseph Green, (Author of "The Tritone.")

The still conflicting opinions of recent English theorists are traceable to the degree in which their several systems lean, either towards the ancient principle of Mode, or the modern principle of Key.

To enter at once into the purpose of this paper, it may be said that, from the time of Rameau, who only initiated a new system by giving a quasi scientific basis to an old one, there are certain theorists who define the key note as the point of rest towards which three adjacent triads converge; and ultimately not only the three triads, but all triads which have direct harmonic relation with the so-called tonic.

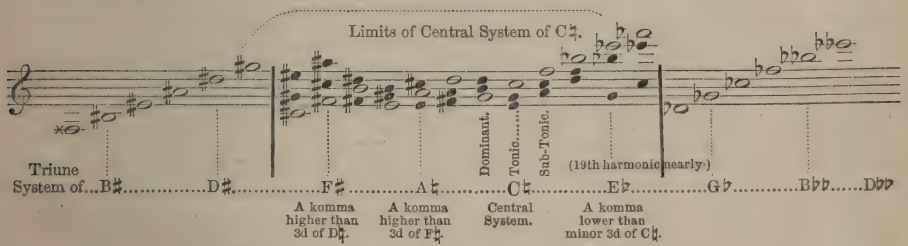
This school of theorists is the "transitional school," in which the ancient system of mode still prevails. In reference to passing discussions on theories of harmony, it may be broadly styled the "subdominant school." The reason for giving it that title is briefly this,—the fourth of the scale, although essential to the construction of the scale or mode of adjacent triads on the three fundamentals F, C, G, is superfluous in the first indication of key, and in fact produces a second key, and in relation to the centre C♯ becomes a new tonic. On the same principle to which it owes its title of subdominant, it becomes in the newer system a subtonic. The true subdominant in the modern system is the second of the scale.

Any one fifth or fourth represents a key. Of a fifth C—G, the lower note is a tonic, and the upper note is a dominant. In the fourth G—C, the order is reversed, and melodically we at once rest upon the tonic. On that account, a system of triads laid out on a series of fourths or conjunct tetrachords, shows both the ancient principle of mode and the modern principle of key, rather more clearly than the series of fifths usually employed (see diagram).

SCALAR SYSTEMS OF MAJOR TRIADS,

ADAPTED TO THE SCALE OF 53 KOMMAS.

N.B.—With the exception of the D♯, the harmonic key of the central tonic is complete in the systems A, C, E♭. By raising the tonic F♯ it would in the Tonic Sol-fa modulator overlap the G♭; as occurs with the sharps and flats in the semitones of each tetrachord in the normal scale. The basis of the scheme is the common fact, that three fifths give a komma in excess, and three fourths a komma less when compared with the intervals, diatonic or chromatic, of the scale.



NEW NOMENCLATURE OF THE NOTES OF THE SCALE DIATONIC AND CHROMATIC.

The reason why the fifths are preferred, is owing to the fascination of Rameau's scientific basis. The physical science in the method is of the highest importance; but the science itself is not yet complete, whilst in the meantime music grows old, or must continue to advance on its own responsibility. In the series of fifths, F—C—G, we certainly discover the genealogy of generated sounds, as C comes from F, and G from C; but if the question—

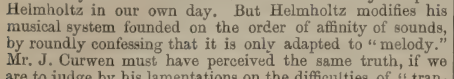
"If Dick's father is Tom's son,
What relation is Dick to Tom?"

be so satisfactorily answered, it is not the end of the subject.

It must be confessed that, whilst on the one side we have only as half-hearted supporters such names as Fétis, Logier, Spinola, and some minor authorities, the "subdominant school," which is of longer standing, contains amongst its representatives most of the old technical theorists of note, and nearly all the scientific writers on the subject up to Helmholtz in our own day. But Helmholtz modifies his musical system founded on the order of affinity of sounds, by roundly confessing that it is only adapted to "melody." Mr. J. Curwen must have perceived the same truth, if we are to judge by his lamentations on the difficulties of "transition in harmony."

Mr. W. W. Parkinson, who has just issued an elaborate treatise confirming the old doctrine, has again given the definition of key we have alluded to. But, surely, he cries key, and there is no key. If we put the question musically before our eyes and attend to the dictates of our ears, we must feel convinced that, however scientific it may appear, there is something wanting in that definition.

If we take the three adjacent triads, and alter the succession, we find we get two "points of rest" out of the same three materials, thus:—



It is quite evident from this example, that key is not determined purely by the nearness of relation of sounds, but also by the "succession of sounds" in the first instance, and secondly, by the "distribution of sounds." The abstract triad itself is determined by the relation of sounds, and is also confirmed by a physical phenomenon known as the grave harmonic, which, to a certain extent, indicates the fundamental of an interval or a chord. By the latter process, all the positive intervals of a major triad give the same fundamental; and all the negative intervals, with one exception, the minor sixth, give also the same fundamental. But the grave harmonic is only one, although the most important one, out of many descriptions of resultant tones; and we must have recourse to other resultants to find why it is that different distributions, that is, different inversions of the same chord, give not only different effects, but different tendencies, towards a certain succession of chords.

We are indebted to Rameau for the general theory of inversion of chords, which is confirmed by modern science. But the science of acoustics is still in its infancy, and in the time of Rameau it scarcely existed.

Any musician will acknowledge that in the first two chords in the example given above, the tendency of the triad of C♯ is to resolve on that of F♮, and he would, we think, admit that in the second part of the example, in the first chord, the same tendency is not so pronounced; and that with G for the bass, it falls more naturally on the triad of G, than with E in the bass, although the prevailing tendency is still towards the F.

The physical cause of these different effects of different inversions of chords, could only be explained during the last ten years, and since Helmholtz has made new discoveries and reformed the old theories of resultant tones.* We now know that one inversion of a consonant chord has a different effect to another, because, according to the distribution of the sounds, the timbre, colour, or klang tint of the combination is changed by the varying degree of conflict amongst the over tones, difference tones, and summation tones. The most dissonant distribution of a major triad, and irrespective of the timbre of the instrument and the pitch of the octave, is what we commonly call the first inversion with the third in the bass. Inasmuch as it is more dissonant than the other forms, its new tonic tendency is more pronounced.

The old school of theory treats the triad more as an abstract, combination, each component having a fixed relation to its fundamental or root. The newer school, which so far has been more musical, technical, æsthetical, or instinctive, than scientific, treats the triad and all chords more in regard to their tonal colouring; and as physical theories advance, it is probable that the mere instincts of the musicians will after all prove to be the most scientifically correct.

As a fanciful illustration, but still a good illustration, and one which theorists—even of the calibre of the late Mr. Hewitt—lean towards with a certain affection and albeit with a certain consciousness of its being delusive, let us suppose that musical intervals represent colours, and that the clear useless octave represents a white sound, or two gradations of light and shade, according to the pitch of the sound or relative intensity of white light. If the triad 1, 5, 3 represents the primitive colours, white, red and blue, we have in this combination no marked colorific change until we add the 7♭, which may represent yellow. We then get two new and distinct diatonic colours, the orange from 5 and 7, and the green from 3 and 7.

But without pursuing the analogy of dispersed rays of colour, we can see that just as the resultant tones affect the timbre of any one interval, the addition of thirds, or the piling up of harmonic primes on one fundamental, is a gradual blending of colours, or an obscuring of the normal tonal relations. They do not absorb the primitive relation of the sounds represented by the lower and more workable harmonics 3 and 5, or even the 7th harmonic to the original root. They only repeat in chromatic tints and neutral tints the effects already obtained in the positive or diatonic numbers 1, 3, 5, 7, and in the negative intervals or inversions of the primaries contained in these numbers. We have no occasion to climb into the mists of the higher primes to find a difficulty. Not only is the 19th harmonic which provides Mr. Hewitt with his "minor third of nature," or the 17th harmonic which provides Sir Frederick Gore Ouseley with his "minor third of nature," and Mr. Hewitt with C♯ an unproved sound; but even the familiar 7th harmonic is with us English and with the Germans a 7♭, whilst the Frenchmen invariably write it as 6♯, and they are probably nearer the truth.

Mr. Parkinson, who has done good service in criticising the fancy intervals of the "harmonic school," and bringing us back to the level of common practice and "adjacent triads," adheres to the two dissonant chords of the diatonic scale, one of which is a triad on the dominant with an added minor third; and the other is a triad on the subdominant, with an added sixth. The two chords are however theoretically the same, and are the inversions one of the other; for the abstract chord on any fundamental 1, 3, 5, 7♭, c, e, g, b♭, gives by inversion 1, 4, 6♭, 2, c, f, a♭, d; but the d♮, as the "added sixth," of f♮, is as we all know out of the scale.

Complacently to submit to this difficulty of the added sixth, either as a sixth, or by calling it a fifth of the dominant, and thus compounding the difficulty as well as the chord, and to reject the precisely parallel case of difficulty when the sixth of the scale becomes the fifth of the supertonic, is simply special pleading, and unscientific, in spite of the great names hitherto subscribed to it. To get over the question by driving the theory of adjacent triads, and treating the triad on the supertonic as superfluous and as a variation of or substitute for the triad on the subdominant, is to stultify the practice of all musicians. Treating the d♯ in the combination f, a, d, as a passing discord—if Dr. Stainer will allow us to use that term for illustration—is quite intelligible; and the method is adopted by Helmholtz amongst the rest as a pis-aller; but with Helmholtz, all minor triads are of the same ambiguous nature; the roots or the fifths of the triads being discords passing to the typical major triad in ascending or descending. It is thus he describes the minor triad c, e♭, g, the very first of the adjacent triads, as the triad of E♭, with C♯ as a substitute for B♭, rather than as the triad of C♯ with the E♭ as a disturbing element.

* It is unfortunate in a work so valuable and likely to be extensively read by young students, that Mr. Parkinson, in his "Principles of Harmony," should have conveyed an erroneous impression of the theories of Helmholtz. Mr. Parkinson is utterly mistaken in supposing that the physiological hypothesis of Helmholtz has any necessary connection with his theory of consonance. Mr. Parkinson chooses to lean on ancient authorities, who are respectable in music, and in almost any branch of human investigation, rather than in physical science. He seems to be of the opinion, that the grave harmonic is caused by "flutterings affecting the mind as independent vibrations." In other words, he adopts the old subjective theory of Thomas Young, which Helmholtz has exploded. The grave harmonics do not only affect the mind as "independent vibrations," they arise literally from independent vibrations, and in that respect do not differ from the over tones or the rest of the resultants. This is one of the theories of Helmholtz amongst many others, which has been finally accepted by Donkin, Radau, Tyndall, and all acousticians who have written since his work appeared. The scientific portion of the "Physiology of Music," is so invaluable to students of musical theory, and for years to come will give rise to so many practical suggestions in harmony and instrumentation, it is important that young English students should not be deterred from reading Helmholtz by any mis-statement of his theories. The very slight attention Mr. Parkinson seems to have given to the scientific theories of Helmholtz, is the more astonishing, as the two authors agree in many essentials in their musical systems.

The musical system of Helmholtz is technically incomplete; but, no doubt, as he says himself, he is in the right direction. So far he leaves us, like Rameau and his imitators, with the old difficulty—What is a key? What is a tonic? By the modern system, the tonics, as in the Pythagorean scale, are derived by a series of fifths and fourths, and the chromatics in any one system, are the diatonics of a sub-system.

The chromatics of the mode, the chromatics of three degrees in the Tonic Sol-fa scale, the "central chromatics" of Hewitt are, as he tells us himself, mere slurs from one diatonic interval to another, and are, in short, homophonic chromatics, or chromatics used only in melody.

Dr. Stainer is practically right when he tells us that what we call chords are simply mixtures of "allied scales." The same fact, however, making allowance for theoretical differences in the intervals, is contained in the old system of adjacent triads, and in Hewitt's and Mr. Parkinson's triune systems and sub-systems. Allied scales of thirds are simply allied scales of triads major or minor, conjunct or disjunct, thus:—

f, a, c, e, g, b, d, or c, e, g, b, d, f, a, c.

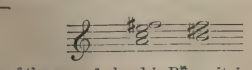
Conjunct triads. Conjunct and disjunct.

This one large chord, so to speak, a compound not only of different triads, but an unclassified conglomeration of intervals, from which we have to carve off as required, contains as many indications of separate keys, as it contains fifths, or fourths which amount to the same thing.

But as a practical rule, the consonant intervals determine the root of a chord, and the dissonant intervals the key. Thus even in a triad, the root is determined by the fifth; and the mode directly, and the key indirectly, by the more dissonant interval, the third or mediant. When we get to a dissonant chord, as a, c, e, f, the upper note of the dissonance e, f, is the root; but it is simply the root of the lowest fourth, or what is the same thing, the lowest fifth in the combination f, a, c, e.

When the fifth or fourth is imperfect, it decides the root in virtue of its being a fifth or fourth, and the key because it is more dissonant; and what is more important for present purposes, although the subject is too long to be re-explained here, it decides better than the perfect interval what is called the fundamental. When there is more than one imperfect fifth or fourth, there is more than one fundamental. As Mr. Parkinson tells us very properly, the root and the fundamental are not always the same.

In the following chords from Mendelssohn's "Wedding March"—



The root of the second chord is B♮, as it is the upper note of the fourth, or lower note of the fifth, contained in the combination in any position direct or inverted.

In the first chord, viewed as an abstract chord, the fifth A—E, gives the root A♮.

The sharp fourth in the same chord gives the fundamental D♮, and the key G♮. The upper note of the dissonance, which is the lower note of another fifth, gives F♯ as the root, and it is the root of the lowest fifth, which we find by arranging the chord in thirds.

The "subdominant school" call it a chord of the "added sixth" on A♮, the subdominant of the key of E♮ minor. By a kind of optical delusion this appears at first sight the simplest solution; but to find the key they have to look a long way in advance or behind the chord in question; in either case a perplexing process in modern music. In Wagner's music for instance, they would frequently find their key in a previous or following page. To have several bars of a composition before us, to decide the key of an abstract chord or of two following chords, implies a species of reasoning after the fact; and it comes of muddling up the scale which is compounded of three triads, with the key, which is practically determined by two; and theoretically, if we refer to the harmonics and resultant tones of a triad, by one; supposing the second triad to be understood. Moreover the A♮ is the supertonic of the relative major of E♮ minor; an important consideration in modern science, and in the modern musical system in which the major key, mode, or interval is pre-eminent.

By the "fundamental theory," which is an adaptation to equal temperament and practical requirements of the theories of the "harmonical school" of the last century, the chord is that of a ninth, eleventh or thirteenth, according to the fundamental selected. But with every three advocates of the method, we have as many different fundamentals selected.

By Reicha, Marx, and the "technical school," the chord would be called a chromatic alteration of the dominant harmony. In their systems there was still a large lump of the old leaven, and as in the "fundamental system," it is not always easy to find out to what dominant the chord is to be referred. According to the underlying theories, rather than the developed systems of Reicha and Marx, Mendelssohn's chord should be the altered harmony of the dominant F♯. The form of the chord is minor and chromatic, 1, 3♭, 5♭, 7♭; or taking the numbering of the scale, 5, 7♭, 2♭, 4.

The 2♭ is not in the scalar system of B♮ (see diagram), but belongs to a system the centre of which is a minor third higher, D♮; but it can be included as a submodic chromatic. What is rather curious, it is in precisely the same position in regard to a bona fide, dissonant chord like the dominant harmony, major or minor, that the added sixth is in regard to a triad; it is a mere appendage, a passing dissonant effect, and not an intrinsic part of the chord. The added sixth, as a passing discord, resolves irregularly by ascending to the third of the tonic. When it does not do that it is not an added sixth at all.

The mere notes of Mendelssohn's chord, a, e, f♯, c, may belong to several keys. Why should we pronounce the f♯ to be a sixth of the subdominant of E♮, before the latter key is announced? Why is it not the sharp subdominant of c♮ it has just left, and with an added seventh, or an added anything? If the next root B♮ is the dominant of E♮, it is also the subdominant of F♯, and the mediant of G♮, and could go easily to either of those keys.

We have not the slightest doubt that Mendelssohn meant to use the triad of A♮, minor, and added the sixth for greater piquancy, and according to the received theories. But to show how little he cared for the theory and how little his method has to do with the question, the progression he gives from the root A♮ to B♮ is strictly prohibited by the founder of the system, Rameau, who tells us that in such an irregular progression, the root F♯ must be understood; so that even by the subdominant system, the theoretical root is after all the F♯.*

* We might suppose for further illustration, that Mendelssohn beginning in the key of C♮, chooses to break the octave by the nearest division we possess, the F♯. It is a common device when we wish to produce a startling effect. As a question of modulation, Mendelssohn having to return to his key within the cramped limits of a section of four bars, employs at once the chromatic form of the dominant harmony in F♯; just as we employ, as far as the notation is concerned, a diminished seventh in one key as a substitute for another chord in another key. A "license," notwithstanding the prudish objection to the term, which the most mathematical and absolute minded theorists allow us. Mr. Parkinson and Mr. Hewitt both acknowledge that it has a very good effect in modulation.

The effects of the dominant harmony as major and as minor and chro-

When the subdominant chord is employed qua subdominant, the proper progression is from A to E; and if we consider the consonant and dissonant chords on B♯ as intermediate harmonies, as they are called between A and E, Mendelssohn's progression by the old system is explained; but the old method of explanations are generally complex, apologetic, and defective in system and principle, and, therefore, require pages of musical examples to be made intelligible. They, in fact, leave the question of harmony, and enter into the question of modulation. Ultimately, they verge on the question of form; just as in this case we require a whole section of Mendelssohn's march to analyze the chords in relation to the two prevailing keys. In analyzing chords, the better way is to refer only to one root and a following root, and always to the typical major key in the first instance.

Theorists, with a confusion of method which is almost inexplicable, still teach that there is a key major and a key minor, or a minor mode of the key, and yet they work with an additional mode the relative minor (the A-lah-mode of the tonic Sol-faists), which is simply the ancient Æolian mode; and this distinction they do not plainly expound to their readers.

We have had a mathematical school of theory, an harmonical school, and a technical school. These will probably be combined in the physical school of the future. In the meantime, we teach the theory of harmony with the lights we possess, and adapt it by various devices to equal temperament, as all technical theorists have done for the last two hundred years, some of them boldly like Christopher Simpson, and as Dr. Stainer has done recently; some of them with a more or less affectation of science. As Helmholtz says, in allusion to musical theorists in general—"They begin with a bit of science."

Nevertheless, with great deference to Professor Helmholtz, who has perhaps done more practical good for us than the whole series of philosophers ancient and modern, the fault at present is not altogether with the musicians!

FESTIVAL SERVICE AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

On Saturday, the 25th ult., the Festival of St. Paul was celebrated at the Metropolitan Cathedral in a manner more worthy the dignity of the occasion than has been usual in places of worship in this country. Doubtless the great Passion Services held in the sister church at Westminster, for which an orchestra and large chorus were brought into use, furnished the first suggestion for the Festival of Saturday last. It is much to be desired that these may prove the means of influencing others in various parts of the country to turn their cathedrals to good use, and emphasize the great festivals and fasts of the Church's year by performing in the completest manner possible the great works of the most inspired musicians as an integral portion of the Church Service. The benefit that would accrue to the Church and to art could hardly be over estimated. Sacred music would in a short time be wrested from the secular associations of concert-halls, and the line of demarcation between the music of the Church and that of the World would be sharply and distinctly defined. The country Cathedral Festivals too, in which the Church is brought down somewhat to the level of a concert-room instead of the performance being elevated and sanctified into an act of worship, would cease, or rather become transformed into something far higher and infinitely more impressive, and by these means the cathedral church would gather under its wing the best musical talent within its influence, and would foster and purify it; and thus would be brought back the good old times when England's chief musicians were produced and developed solely under Church influences. It may be true that cathedral choristers at the present time, of necessity become fairly imbued with the spirit of the old Church composers, but it is equally true that if they desire to become acquainted with the great works of the later masters they must perforce go to the concert-room, for Bach, Handel, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, and Spohr are—even in their sacred works—only adequately represented in secular places.

To all those, therefore, who are anxious for the welfare of the Church as it exists in this country, such a movement as this, boldly inaugurated at Westminster Abbey and admirably followed at St. Paul's Cathedral, must be a matter of profound satisfaction.

The promoters must have been somewhat surprised at the completeness of the success of their scheme. For whereas a congregation of 3,000 persons was scarcely so much expected, as hoped for, the number of persons actually present must have been close upon 8,000. The procession of the clergy, choristers and orchestra to their seats in the choir, was performed in perfect silence, which was generally felt to be a mistake. The solemn opening chords of the overture however fell with a most soothing effect upon the ears of the listeners, and powerfully convinced those who previously might have been sceptical as to the good effect of orchestral instruments in the Church Service, that not only were they devotional in their character, but even more so than the organ itself. The position selected for the sermon, immediately following the overture and preceding the service, is wholly incomprehensible, nor was the necessity for a sermon at all very apparent. The ordinary evening Service then followed, and was without exception admirably rendered, the chanting of the Psalms being particularly clear and distinct. The Canticles were sung to a setting by Stephen Elvey, specially scored for the orchestra, but neither in itself nor in its orchestral dress did this music impress its hearers with any sense of congruity or power. After the third collect the Anthem, or in other words, the selection from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul" commenced, and was performed in the following order: Recit, "And as Saul journeyed;" Chorus, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?" Chorus, "Rise up, arise, and shine;" Chorale, "Sleepers, wake;" Recit, "And his companions;" Air, "O God, have mercy;" Recit, "And there was a disciple;" Air and Chos. "I praise Thee, O Lord;" Recit, "And Ananias went his way;" Chorus, "O great is the depth;" Recit, "And Paul came to the congregation;" Duet, "Now we are ambassadors;" Chorus, "How lovely are the messengers;" Recit, "And they all persecuted Paul;" Air, "Be thou faithful unto death;" Recit, "And Paul sent, and called the elders;" Chorus, "Far be it from thy path;" Recit, "What mean ye thus to weep;" Chorus, "See what love hath the Father;" Recit, "And though he hath offered;" Chorus, "Not only unto him."

The performance of this important selection of music, hardly comes within the province of criticism. It may, however, be stated that the effect throughout was thoroughly satisfactory, and justified the highest anticipations. The tenor solos were admirably sung by Mr. Kerr Gedge and Mr. Fred. Walker, the bass solos being given by Mr. Winn with a dignity and pathos which went to the hearts of all hearers. Mr. George Cooper presided at the organ, and at the end of the service played Bach's St. Anne's Fugue in a manner worthy of his high reputation. To Dr. Stainer, the conductor, upon whose shoulders rested no slight responsibility, our warmest congratulations are due. He fortunately appears to possess the regard and confidence of the Dean and Chapter in no small degree; and as with him prudence and enterprise appear to go hand in hand, it is not difficult to prophesy that St. Paul's Cathedral will soon assume that position at the head of Church music in England, which it has only too long allowed others to usurp.

matic, are certainly distinct; but the parallelism which exists is undeniable, as this example will show—

CRYSTAL PALACE.

The Saturday afternoon concerts were resumed on the 18th ult., the principal orchestral works being Beethoven's Symphony in C minor and Mendelssohn's "Trumpet" Overture, the charming music of the Ball-room scene in Auber's "Gustave" being also included in the programme. Signor Piatti's performance of his own Violoncello Concerto was a marvellous exhibition of expressive and refined playing, and received, as it deserved, the warmest marks of approval, the last movement, "À la Tarantelle" especially delighting the hearers. The vocalists were Madame Patey and Mr. W. Castle, the powers of the latter really excellent singer being somewhat too severely taxed in Weber's demonstrative Scena from Oberon, "O, 'tis a glorious sight."

His rendering of Molique's melodious song, "When the Moon," was, however, highly satisfactory. At the concert on the 25th ult., a new Overture in D by Mr. W. Shakespeare (the Mendelssohn Scholar) proved the rapid progress he is making in his art. The construction of the work is remarkably clear, and the instrumentation evinces a mastery over the legitimate resources of the orchestra which shows that although young, he has already gained a large amount of experience. The Overture was listened to with much interest and vigorously applauded. The other orchestral compositions were Mendelssohn's "Reformation Symphony," (which gains in public favour upon each repetition) and Gade's Overture "In the Highlands." Madame Norman-Neruda's performance of Spohr's Violin Concerto, "In Modo di Scena Cantante" (Op. 47), was an attractive feature in the programme; and the instrumental music was agreeably relieved by the singing of Madlle. Nita Gaetano and Signor Foli.

BRITISH ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY.

THE third concert of this Society was given at St. James's Hall, on the 9th ult. Haydn's "Military Symphony" was an attractive feature in the programme, and seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. Sir Sterndale Bennett's beautiful and imaginative "Paradise and the Peri" (for which it is to be regretted that we have no better name than "Overture") was exceedingly well played; and not only as an abstract work of art, but as a musical illustration of the poem, its excessive merits were never more successfully displayed, or more heartily appreciated. Mr. Cusins's Pianoforte Concerto, in A minor, is a work which grows upon us by repetition; and its performance by the author, was a highly interesting item in the scheme of a concert where the best examples of native talent, both creative and executive, should be displayed. The vocalists were Miss Edith Wynne, Madame Patey and Mr. Lloyd, all of whom sang well, but only such familiar songs as call for no especial remark. Mr. G. A. Macfarren's Overture to his Oratorio (still in manuscript) "St. John the Baptist," was a most interesting feature amongst the well-known works at the fourth concert, on the 23rd ult. The principal events in the sacred composition, to which it forms the prelude, are admirably shadowed forth, the sounding of the dominant and key-note by the trumpet at the commencement (a point afterwards prominently made use of), effectively suggesting —as the programme informs us—the "shofar, or ram's horn, or silver trumpet, which announces the new year and the weekly sabbath, and may be supposed to have been intended to greet the Messiah, and proclaim His coming." The instrumentation of this Prologue is in perfect sympathy with the nature of the subject, and certainly leads the hearer to anticipate, in the Oratorio of which it forms a portion, not only the most ambitious, but the most successful, of Mr. Macfarren's compositions. The applause at the conclusion of the work was most enthusiastic, and the composer was summoned into the orchestra to bow his acknowledgments. Mr. Carrodus's performance of Molique's Violin Concerto, in A minor, was in every respect thoroughly satisfactory, although the length of the first and slow movements somewhat detracted from its effect upon the audience. The finished execution and truthfulness of expression displayed by Mr. Carrodus throughout this difficult work, were thoroughly appreciated by the audience, and the warmth of applause with which he was greeted, must have convinced him of the triumph he had achieved before a somewhat critical audience. The Overture to "Der Freischütz" was so magnificently played as to be unanimously re-demanded; and Beethoven's Symphony in B flat (No. 4), kept the majority of the audience to the last note. The vocalists were Madame Florence Lancia, Mr. W. H. Cummings, and Mr. Santley. Mr. Mount obviously improves as a conductor, and is gradually getting rid of a certain amount of coarseness which was at first perceptible in the fine band under his control.

BRIXTON CHORAL SOCIETY.

MR. W. H. CUMMINGS'S charmingly melodious Cantata, "The Fairy Ring," was given at the Concert of this Society on the 13th ult., before a large audience. The band was small, and we wish we could add efficient; but, with few exceptions, anything like the rendering of the composer's fanciful score could scarcely be conceived by those who were not present. To say nothing of the performers' want of power to play the passages, scarcely any two instruments were in tune with each other; and how Mr. Cummings, Miss Ellen Horne and Mr. Lawler, who sustained the principal parts, could sing the right notes against such an accompaniment was to us a perfect marvel. The choir was fairly good, considering that the music was evidently comparatively strange to most of the members; but a more experienced body of singers could hardly have successfully battled against their instrumental foes. The one song assigned to Miss S. FOX (a pupil of Mr. Lemare), proved too much for the vocalist, who we trust will not receive the applause of her friends as any proof of her success. Handel's "Acis and Galatea" followed the Cantata; and as the music was probably familiar both to band and choir, the work went with tolerable precision, the best choral piece of the evening being unquestionably the somewhat trying one "Wretched Lovers." The part of Damon was entrusted to Mr. Albert Nelson (another pupil of the conductor) who sang carefully but with a voice only suitable for an amateur performance in a drawing-room. The rest of the music was excellently given by Miss Ellen Horne, Messrs. Cummings and Lawler. Mr. W. Lemare, who conducted, must look well to the future in his appeals before a public audience; for many such performances as that of Mr. Cummings's Cantata, will seriously damage the reputation of a Society for which he has done so much, and in which he takes so deep an interest.

THE first of the series of Grand Oratorio Concerts to be given by the Royal Albert Hall Choral Society, under its new conductor, Mr. Barnby, will take place on Wednesday, the 12th inst., when Bach's "St. Matthew Passion," the successful revival of which is so intimately associated with Mr. Barnby and his admirable choir, will form the opening work. Amongst the succeeding concerts one feature will be specially interesting to all lovers of Handel, viz., the reproduction of "Belshazzar," with Handel's own orchestral accompaniments. We have been accustomed so long to hear Handel's works with additional accompaniments, that to hear Handel pure and simple will alone be of considerable interest. For the rest, if the traditions of the Oratorio Concerts be followed in the larger area of the Royal Albert Hall, and the same vigour of attack, refinement of tone, and well balanced ensemble distinguish the larger choir in the same degree as the smaller one, there will be abundant cause for gratification at the change.

THE Architect, in its last number, calls attention to a paper by Mr. Statham, of Liverpool, on "Music Buildings," which was read at a recent meeting of the Institute of Architects. In this he proves, by sober argument and illustration, the sweeping assertion that the great halls and theatres of music, of which we are accustomed to boast, are often contrived rather in defiance of the first principles of musical-acoustical science than in accordance with them. As an illustration of this, he mentions that Mr. Elmes, the young architect who designed St. George's Hall, at Liverpool, and who died almost before he had arrived at manhood, made no secret of the fact that the specific adaptation of his grand interior for the actual performance of music was a thing that he held to be beneath his consideration. "The absurdity of this confession," says the Architect, "becomes even more astonishing when we reflect that the real doctrine held by such a designer only about forty years ago, amounted to this—that the idea of his condescending to compromise in a music-chamber the conventional forms of architecture for the sake of the enjoyment of the music was too absurd to be entertained." If this fact is to be accepted with regard to St. George's Hall, Liverpool, which was especially constructed as a concert-hall, what can be said of the adaptability of other buildings we could name for musical performances?

JUDGING from a "criticism upon criticism" which has been forwarded to us from the Irish Builder, the press of Dublin, at least as far as musical and dramatic notices are concerned, must be in a lamentable state. "Let the fact be made known," the writer says, "for the hundredth time, that the musical and dramatic critiques in our daily papers are dishonest, shameful, utterly unworthy, and a scandal to journalism in Ireland." Further on it is stated that some of the projectors of festivals, concerts, and lessees and managers of theatres and music-halls have been heard to exclaim that they can "buy over all the newspaper rags for a few orders for advertisements;" and the article winds up in the following forcible manner: "In these days of musical scavengers and dramatic bill-posters, Dublin is blessed with a race of critics equal to the crucial strain put upon them, in the interest of dramatic fungi and journalistic dry-rot." It is fortunately not our province to enquire into the meaning of this final sentence, or the truth of the writer's charges against his contemporaries; but from these extracts it will be seen that Ireland may boast of one paper, at least, which cannot be accused of veiling its opinions.

The organ at Pembroke College, Cambridge, was re-opened, after its enlargement, at a Commemoration Soirée on the 1st ult. Several mechanical improvements have been introduced in the instrument, including entirely new action for the Choir Organ. The works have been most successfully carried out by Messrs. Hill and Son.

For the Reid Concert at Edinburgh, which occurs on the 13th inst., Professor Oakeley has secured the services of Mr. Charles Hallé's band from Manchester, and has arranged to give two additional Grand Orchestral Concerts, on Friday evening, the 14th, and on Saturday morning the 15th inst., at which works of the greatest instrumental composers, from Haydn to Schumann, will be performed. Mr. Charles Hallé will be the solo pianist, and Madame Norman-Neruda and Herr Straus solo violinists, several of the most eminent vocalists being also engaged.

We have received a letter from Mr. John Taylor with reference to our notice of his "Manual of Vocal Music," in which he very naturally dissents from all our opinions which are not favourable to his work. He writes so temperately that we would willingly give insertion to his communication; but he must see that it would be impossible for us to find room (even were we inclined to do so) for mere protests against the general tenour of a review. Wherever any misstatement has been made, we shall always be happy to allow a correction to appear; but as it is presumed that the mature convictions of an author are clearly expressed in his book, it is obviously unnecessary to re-state his opinions because the reviewer happens to disagree with them.

Miss Emrick, who so nearly obtained the Prize (for Contralto voice) at the recent Musical Meetings held at the Crystal Palace, was lately presented with a purse containing £30. The testimonial was handed to her by Dr. Wylde in St. George's Hall, in the presence of many sympathising students and others. Miss Emrick, in acknowledging the gift, heartily thanked Dr. Wylde, and those who had so kindly interested themselves in her welfare.

A concert in aid of the Hospital for Women and Children, Vincent-square, S.W., was given in the School-rooms of Holy Trinity, Westminster, on Thursday evening the 2nd ult., under the direction of Mr. Joseph Monday, who secured the assistance of Miss Matilda Scott, Miss Julia Augarde, and Miss Annie Wade, all of whom were thoroughly successful, the pianoforte and harp solos of the last two ladies being encored. Mr. Newton Stringer and Mr. Alfred Bennett (two tenors) were also highly effective; and bass songs were contributed by Mr. Mucklow, and a selection of Hatton's part-songs by Messrs. Dunster, Stringer, Monday, and Messenger, which last were exceedingly well rendered.

The special feature of the opening concert of the St. George's Glee Union for 1873, was a duet, pianoforte and violin, by Miss Julia Augarde and Dr. Day, the performance of both artists fully meriting the applause they received. Miss Janet King sang "Merrily over the Snow," and "Bid me discourse," with much effect, and Mr. Powell, though suffering from hoarseness, gave two songs with a spirit that displayed to advantage a well trained tenor voice. The glees and choruses were creditably executed. Owing to unavoidable circumstances, the choir was deprived of the valuable services of the conductor, Mr. Garside.

Mr. John Lodge Ellerton, whose decease was announced during the past month, was one of the few amateurs who earned any name as a composer, beyond the immediate circle in which he moved. He wrote an Oratorio of much merit, called "Paradise Lost," and also Symphonies, Motets, &c., and a large number of chamber compositions, all of which were founded on the most classical models.

The third of Mr. W. H. Monk's Classical Concerts was given at the Assembly Rooms, Stoke-Newington, on the 21st ult. The programme included Mozart's Quartet in D (No. 10) and Beethoven's Trio in E flat, the executants in the first being Messrs. H. Holmes, J. Folkes, H. Burnett, and Signor Pezze, and in the second Miss Florence May, Mr. Holmes, and Signor Pezze. Miss May achieved a brilliant success, not only by her performance in the Trio, but by her rendering of Chopin's Scherzo in B flat minor. The vocalists were Miss Katharine Poyntz and Mr. W. Rees. The fourth and last of these admirable concerts is announced to take place on the 18th inst.

Miss Elcho's second evening concert took place on the 21st ult., at the Hanover Square Rooms, before a large audience. The pianoforte solos of the concert-giver were of course the principal attraction; and her performance of the "Kreutzer Sonata," with Mr. Carrodus, must also be mentioned as one of the most satisfactory items in the programme. Miss Elcho was assisted in the vocal department by several eminent artists, amongst the most prominent of which was Mr. W. H. Cummings.

We are glad to see that a suggestion which was made by us some time ago, is likely to be carried out. At the Church of St. Anne, Soho, a series of services are announced to take place on the Friday evenings in Lent, at which Bach's Passion according to St. John, will be performed in place of an Anthem. The voices will be accompanied by a full orchestra, including harp and organ. It will be seen on referring to our advertising columns, that the arrangements for the convenience of worshippers have already been carefully made; and looking to the fact that Mr. Barnby is director of the music in this Church, nothing is likely to be wanting to render the Service worthy of so solemn an occasion.

The fourth of the Monthly Popular Concerts at Brixton took place at the Angell Town Institution, on the 14th ult., the executants being Messrs. Burnett, Folkes, Richard Blagrove, and Pettit, with the director, Mr. Ridley Prentice, at the pianoforte. The principal concerted pieces were Mozart's Quartet in D major (No. 7), and Mendelssohn's Trio in D minor, all of which were excellently rendered. The performance of Beethoven's "Sonata Appassionata," by Mr. Prentice, must also be named as one of the most successful efforts of the evening. The vocalists were Mrs. Hale and Miss Adelaide Newton.

Mr. Henry Holmes's Chamber Music Concerts, at St. George's Hall, are gradually but firmly gaining ground in public estimation. On the 22nd ult. a programme of the highest interest was provided, including Schubert's Quartet in A minor (Op. 29), and Beethoven's Trio in E flat (Op. 70, No. 2), in the latter of which Mr. W. H. Holmes, an artist but too rarely heard in public, most ably sustained the pianoforte part. The stringed instruments were in the experienced hands of Messrs. H. Holmes, Folkes, Burnett, and Signor Pezze. Miss Purdy was warmly and deservedly applauded in both her songs, the effect of which was materially heightened by the excellent pianoforte accompaniment of Mr. Walter Macfarren.

The Euterpean Musical Society, an amateur company, under the presidency of the Rev. G. W. Herbert, Vicar of St. Peter's, Vauxhall, gave an evening concert on Monday, the 30th of December, in the St. Paul's School-rooms. A carefully selected programme of vocal music, varied by some well chosen pianoforte solos and duets, was very well rendered by the members of the Society. Mr. A. J. Eyre, organist of St. Ethelburga's, Bishopsgate, is the musical director of the Society, which is worthy of all commendation.

Reviews.

Novello, Ewer and Co.

The Hymnary. A Book of Church Song. Edited by the Rev. W. Cooke, M.A., Hon. Canon of Chester, and the Rev. B. Webb, Rector of S. Andrew's, Wells Street. The Music edited by Joseph Barnby.

(Continued from p. 724.)

Attached to tune No. 114, Mr. Arthur Sullivan's name appears in "The Hymnary" for the first time. Let us hope that he knows how many are looking to him as the man who may some day wipe off from the national escutcheon the stigma, that English writers always respectfully tread in the well-defined foot-prints of admired foreigners. Such a trust is rarely placed in any man, and is a responsibility which ought to rouse his genius to supreme efforts at originality. But to return from the author to his tune 114, it is simple and unadorned, sweet, and from its form easily carried in the mind—a most important characteristic of a tune destined to be largely used. It breathes much of the spirit of the older chorales, and almost tempts one to begin immediately to make it the theme of variations. From the next tune (115) we may learn, to how much greater extent modern tunes owe their value to the aptness for association with a particular set, or at the least, a particular style of words, than did the olden tunes. The time is past when tunes can be indiscriminately made the vehicle of poetic thought, unless indeed they are colourless. Any one who happened to be asked whether Gounod wrote his tune to words 115 or words 36, would without doubt say to the latter. But as a matter of fact, the reverse we understand is the case, and it shows how much thought Mr. Barnby has given to the book, that he should find for this tune a suitable set of words. The tune, which was suitable and beautiful to hymn 36, strikes us as too sweet for such vigorous and noble stanzas as "Lo! He comes with clouds descending." The Editor has, in No. 116, had the difficult task of selecting from the many various readings of the so-called Luther's Hymn. No easy task! The third and fourth, or rather fifth and sixth lines present these variations. But, as the tune practically consists only of six lines, it will be seen how much its value depends upon the form adopted.

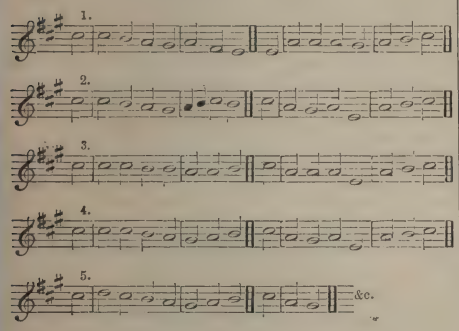
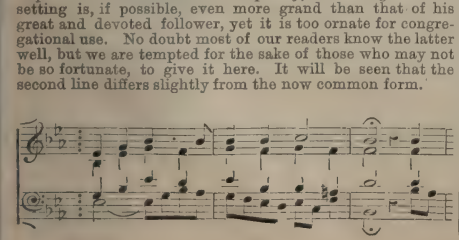
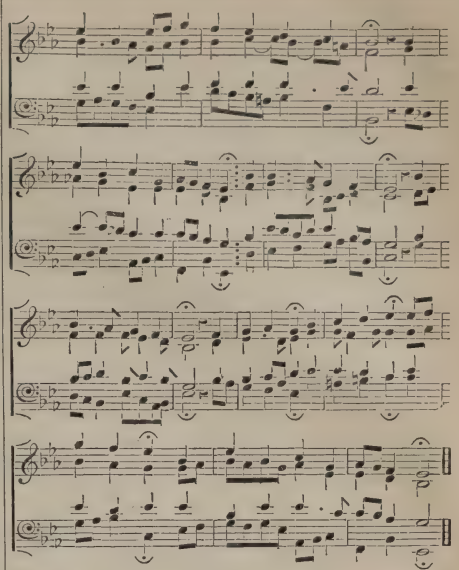
Here are some examples of the 5th and 6th lines.



Of these, Nos. 1, 2 and 3, are of undoubted authority, No. 3 (as in "The Hymnary") appears in Graun's "Der Tod Jesu," No. 4, from "Hymns Ancient and Modern," No. 5 from the version so well known in this country which owes its origin to Braham. There seems to be no authority for No. 4. It is an excogitation of the Editor. Whether we ought to praise or blame Braham for his hand in moulding the form from which No. 5 is quoted, is a matter of opinion. By smoothing down some of its old sharply defined outlines, he certainly put the melody into a popular shape, but it is equally true that he did so at the expense of its vigour and grandeur. When however a whole nation adopts and fosters a peculiar, even if it be a deteriorated version of a melody, it is a question whether such an unanimous vox populi does not deserve some respect, or whether it is expedient to try and rob it of its favourite. The juxta-position of the old "Wachet auf" and Mr. Thorne's tune to the same hymn (118) affords a striking opportunity of comparing one of the finest specimens of early melody with the latest production of an acknowledged modern master. They are as dissimilar in spirit as can well be conceived. What shall we say? Mr. Thorne's tune is of undoubted merit, but is rather less congregational than its old established neighbour, and while appreciating its value, we are rather sceptical as to its utility. The old tune is here given with those harmonies in which Mendelssohn presented it in "St. Paul," and which are now household words. Mr. Barnby has shown wisdom in doing this, in preference to giving Bach's version, as no author could improve on Mendelssohn's simplicity, and though Bach's setting is, if possible, even more grand than that of his great and devoted follower, yet it is too ornate for congregational use. No doubt most of our readers know the latter well, but we are tempted for the sake of those who may not be so fortunate, to give it here. It will be seen that the second line differs slightly from the now common form.





The first line of tune 127 (Dr. Dykes) is an accidental quotation from the old 113th. The Adeste fideles (No. 128) is well harmonised, with the exception of the 11th bar, which is out of character with the rest. Delighted will all be who use "The Hymnary," to find that the repetition of the burden "O come let us adore Him," is here dispensed with. When adhered to, these words have to be sung no less than four and twenty times in the course of the hymn. Mr. Barnby's setting of the same hymn, differently translated from the Latin, is already well known; it is only necessary, therefore, to say that it richly deserves the name it has won. It possesses all the elements which go to form a good tune. Sir John Goss has provided in 130 a good substitute for the flourishing melody usually sung to the same words, and Dr. Wesley has in 135 contributed one of his most happy efforts. A modern setting of the fine hymn (137) "Corde natus ex parentis ante mundi excordium" is much required and is here ably supplied by Henry Smart. It would surely be difficult to find a much grander tune than that by Gounod to Hymn 142. The breadth and dignity about it entitle it at once to the first rank among hymn tunes. It can only require to be known to ensure general adoption. A very pleasing melody is given by Sir George Elvey in 144. We are sorry not to see a note appended to 145, "Hark, the herald angels sing," stating that all must be sung in unison except the ninth line. We believe this to have been a wish expressed by Mendelssohn himself, and it must be confessed it adheres more to the original form in which it appears in the "Fest-gesang" for male voices. Gounod has descended from his pedestal to write tune 148. It is difficult to believe it to be by the same author as 142. There he was a giant, here he is a pigmy. The form alone of the melody stamps it as common-place. The repetition of a short phrase at the interval of a third (which occurs also in 115) is often liable to lead to a weak result. No. 152 is a most admirable L. M. tune by Dr. Steggall and No. 170, by Henry Smart, deserves a like compliment It is easy to see that the lack of long-metre tunes so often complained of can be easily supplied from the rich mines of "The Hymnary." No. 171, by E. J. Hopkins, must not be passed without notice; its freshness and cheerfulness are delightful. Its author seems to excel in this style, for tune 188 is not a whit behind it in deserts. In the second tune of 199 Dr. Wesley has made a laudable effort to bring out the antithesis which exist in most stanzas of the words between the first two and last two lines. It is, however, not very successful, and although Dr. Gauntlett does not make it prominent in his well-known setting (first tune 199) we doubt if anything will ever displace that admirable and deservedly popular tune.

Benedictus, in D. Composed by Sir John Goss.

This is announced as being "in continuation of the Thanksgiving Te Deum," designed to complete the Morning Service in which the composition is performed that was written to celebrate the Prince's recovery. From first to last it breathes the kindly spirit of the author, which does as much to ensure personal regard for himself as general fondness for his music. Geniality and gentle sweetness are, more than vigour, his characteristics, and he oftener expresses himself in soft harmonious combinations that flow in agreeable melodies for all the parts, than in contrapuntal contrivance and the powerful effect which is its result. The taste which now strongly prevails for high colouring in Church music, by means of bright changes of key, is most pleasantly, nay, fascinatingly met in the music before us; and there occur in it some technical points, which, if not quite new, are of so rare employment as to produce a striking and novel effect. Of the former, one happy instance is the modulation into F, proceeding from the dominant of A, on the words "mighty salvation;" and another is the change from D minor to major, to which the high F sharp for the treble gives rich brilliancy, on the words, "saved from our enemies." Of the latter, a remarkable example is the beautiful use of the second inversion of the chord of the minor 2nd of the key (B flat in the key of A minor) to give prominent distinction to the chief words in the phrase "to perform the oath which he sware;" and, in the same key, the same inversion of the chord of F, but taken upon a dominant pedal, give touching significance to the idea of "the shadow of death." Yes, it is as a means of expression that these points are still more admirable than as specimens of merely musical effect, though in this respect they are not to be disregarded—musical effect fulfils its highest purpose when it illustrates the meaning of the words. The use of the second inversion of the chromatic chord of the minor 2nd of the key, may perhaps be traced to Mozart—and what that is beautiful may not? Nay, its origin may be sought further back; but a literalist might as fairly be charged with plagiarism for using words he found in a dictionary, as a musician for employing chords he had heard in the works of earlier writers. The passage beginning "And Thou, Child," is brought out in strong relief by being set as recitative, discretionally either for a solo or for all the bass voices; and the resumption of rhythm and of full harmony casts a soft glow on the words "through the tender mercy," which is eminently fitting. Long may Sir John Goss honour his office of Composer to the Chapels Royal, by the production of such works as the present, which will most desirably represent the art of our age to the critics of a time to come.

We have heard with our ears, O God. Anthem for five voices. Composed by Arthur S. Sullivan.

"Women and music should never be dated," is the single line of what may be called literature in Goldsmith's unsurpassable acting comedy; and, strangely enough, though one of our best wits made one of his best books—counting merit by fitness for its purpose—with but one line of note in it, it would puzzle a conqueror, and has puzzled many an honest man, to divine the meaning of the aphorism. In fulfilment of it, however, music publishers date not the works they issue, and purchasers and the world at large have, for the most part, no clue to the period of a production, no means of even guessing whether a printed composition emanates from the early days or a maturer stage of its author's career. Such is our case with regard to the present piece, which we should estimate differently could we believe it to have been long written, from how we must judge it, supposing it to be a production of Mr. Sullivan's advanced experience. The affectionate dedication to the Rev. Thomas Helmore, M.A., under the style of "master and friend" of the composer, brings to mind the artist's outset in professional life as a chorister of the Chapel Royal, under the rule of that trainer and governor of the Young Gentlemen. There is a prodigious change of level between the position of the choir boy, obscure as he was promising, of eighteen years ago, and that of the musician who has now a recognised place in the Church, the concert room, the theatre and the chamber, and it must be a just pride to him to measure in retrospect the broad space he has traversed, and to count the steps of his advance. From the Chapel Royal—which is one of the best nurseries the country possesses for a musician, nearly all our most distinguished artists ever since music was an art having been reared in ecclesiastical institutions—Mr. Sullivan passed, as the first Mendelssohn scholar, into the Royal Academy of Music, and there, under Sir John Goss's tuition, he acquired the principles whereon his whole artistry is based. Finding how well the student prospered under that teacher, in the seminary which has produced many of the most honoured artists of the time, the Mendelssohn Committee re-elected their scholar, and removed him from the school to place him under strange masters in a strange land. Despite this serious disadvantage, the student still throve—he who is bent on learning has a power within himself of acquiring knowledge, that overrides external obstacles. The author of the anthem before us returned to England in 1860, from his Leipzig sojourn, proved his prowess by his music for the Tempest, and has from that time been ceaselessly before the public, always welcome in the best performances, always working to meet the opportunities offered him, and mostly succeeding when he has come up for judgment. The anthem under notice is set to the first five verses of the 44th Psalm, and we will hope it belongs to an early time in the course here briefly sketched. Perhaps in compliment to the publicly proclaimed proclivities of the dedicatee, the first phrase incorporates the "8th Gregorian Tone, 2nd ending." Perhaps the master of the Queen's song-boys inculcated the observance of "the statutes and precepts, of our forefathers," respecting tenacity to the ancient Church tunes for the Psalms, quoting good Pope John's reprehension of departure from these—"Seeing that one God is delighted with one baptism, one faith, and the unity of manners, who may think but that He is grievously offended with this multiplicity of songs?" If he did so, should he not have taught that any variation of the song was an infraction of the papal rule, and that it was needful not only to initiate a Psalm with the archaic melody, but surely to maintain the same throughout the entire continuance of the sacred verses? Happily, if ever set forth, the lesson took not root, for the Gregorian Tone is here, presently, relieved by more congenial matter. The first half of the Tone is given to the tenors and basses in unison, without accompanying harmony, after the manner in which the so-called Gregorian music was intended to be sung, and in which manner alone, with rarest exceptions, it can produce a good effect. The continuation of the Tone is transposed to a 5th higher than the beginning—we confess ignorance of any principle to account for such free treatment of an old melody; this portion of it is given to the first trebles, with the support, in the other voices, of full harmony of the most modern character—which may not be censured as out of keeping with the antique commencement, since, if any harmony is to be written in apposition to the unisonous melodies of the Roman Church, it cannot signify for a century or two, more or less, to what school or style it may belong. An incident of prominent brightness and some novelty is the modulation from the key of E minor into that of C, upon a second inversion of the tonic chord, at one of the repetitions of the opening words. Far less agreeable, but little less striking, is the combination of $\frac{E}{C}$ D upon a D pedal, the top note rising to G, while the lowest (for the tenor) descends to B, at the word "heard." A quartet, which is the most attractive portion of the piece, begins at the words "How thou hast driven out the heathen;" it has an expressive theme, first stated by the tenor, which is effectively developed. We protest, however, against the consecutive 7ths, $\frac{D}{E}$ C, $\frac{C}{D}$, between treble and bass, at the words "hast destroyed" for the upper voice; how strange it is that composers who would shrink with horror from writing two 5ths in succession in the same two parts, as from a foulest sin, write the infinitely worse sounding progression of two 7ths in cool blood, as if it were quite a matter of indifference, and nobody's heels would suffer from such treading on, or ears from such torture! There is a passage of doubtful beauty at the words "But thy right hand and thine arm," where the key equivocates between E natural and C minor, by means of the diesis from D sharp to E flat and back again: but doubt takes not the form of disputation, depending as much or more, possibly, on the transient humour of the hearer, than on the intrinsic propriety of the notes; there are moments when it might be felt to be beautiful, and others when it would produce unsatisfactory confusion. The five parts are resumed with the full chorus of voices, to a hymn-like passage on some words repeated from the foregoing movement. "Thou art my king" is set to a subject with which the voices successively enter, or more properly, with imitations of its accentuation but not of its intervals; and this is fugitively rather than fugally worked. A short Andante, to the same words, con-

Daughters of Zion.

St. Luke xxiii. 28, 29, 30.

From MENDELSSOHN'S "Christus."

London: NOVELLO, EWER AND CO., 1, Berners Street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). New York: J. L. PETERS, 599, Broadway.

Andante con moto.

TREBLE. Daugh-ters of Zi-on, weep for your-selves, weep for your -

ALTO. Daugh-ters of Zi-on, weep for your-selves, weep for your -

TENOR. (8ve. lower.)

BASS.

Andante con moto.

PIANO. ♩ = 88. p

- selves, and your chil - dren,

- selves, and your chil - dren,

Daughters of Zi-on, weep for yourselves,

Daughters of Zi-on,

cres. weep for your-selves, and your chil - dren, weep for your - selves, and your cres. weep for your-selves, and your chil - dren, weep for your-selves, and your cres. weep for your-selves, and your chil - dren, weep for your-selves, and your cres. weep for your-selves, and your chil - dren, weep for your - selves, . . . and your cres.

sf chil - dren, weep for your-selves. For sure-ly,
pp
chil - dren, weep for your-selves. For sure-ly,
chil - dren, weep for your-selves. For sure-ly,
chil - dren, weep for your-selves. For sure-ly,
sf
pp
cres.
sure - ly the days are com - - ing, when they shall ex-claim to the moun-tains:
sure - ly the days are com - - ing, when they shall ex - claim . . to the moun-tains:
sure - ly the days are com - - ing, when they shall ex - claim . . to the moun-tains:
sure - ly the days are com - - ing, when they shall ex - claim . . to the moun-tains:
f
dim.
Fall down on us! Fall down on us! and to the hills:
Fall down on us! Fall down on us! and to the hills:
Fall down on us! Fall down on us! and to the hills:
Fall down on us! Fall down on us! and to the hills:
ff Ped.
*
p p pp

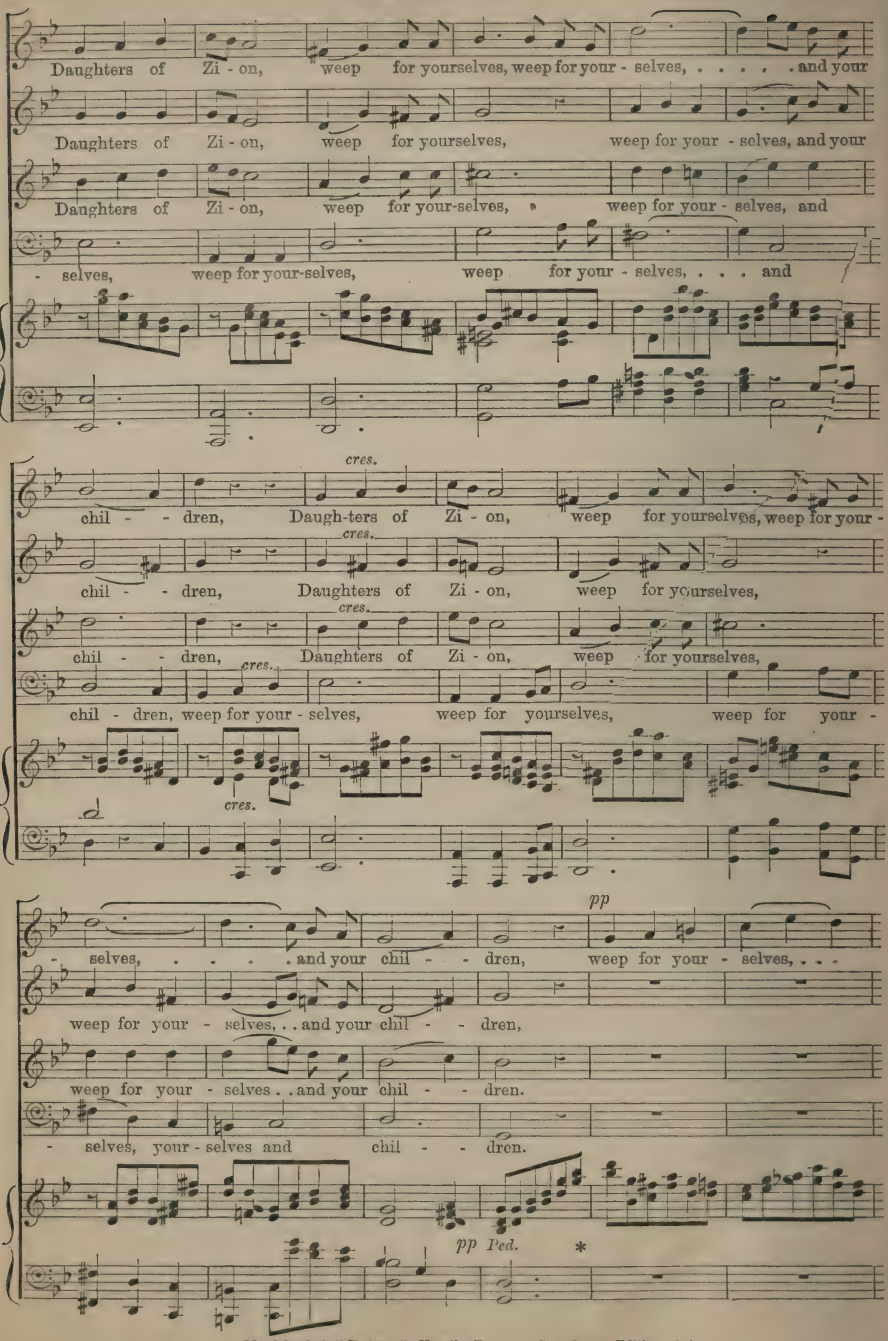
Hide us! Hide us!
Hide us! Hide us!
Hide us! Hide us!
Hide us! Hide us!
Ped. * Ped. * Ped. *
cres. sf dim.
Daughters of Zi - on, weep for yourselves, weep for yourselves,
Daughters of Zi - on, weep for yourselves, weep for yourselves,
Daughters of
Daughters of
Daughters of Zi - on, weep, . . weep for yourselves, and your chil - - dren,
Daughters of Zi - on, weep, . . weep for yourselves, and your chil - - dren,
Zi - on, weep for yourselves, weep for yourselves, and your chil - - dren,
Zi - on, weep for yourselves, weep for yourselves, and your chil - dren, weep for your -



Daughters of Zi - on, weep for yourselves, weep for your - selves, ... and your Daughters of Zi - on, weep for yourselves, weep for your - selves, and your Daughters of Zi - on, weep for your-selves, weep for your - selves, and
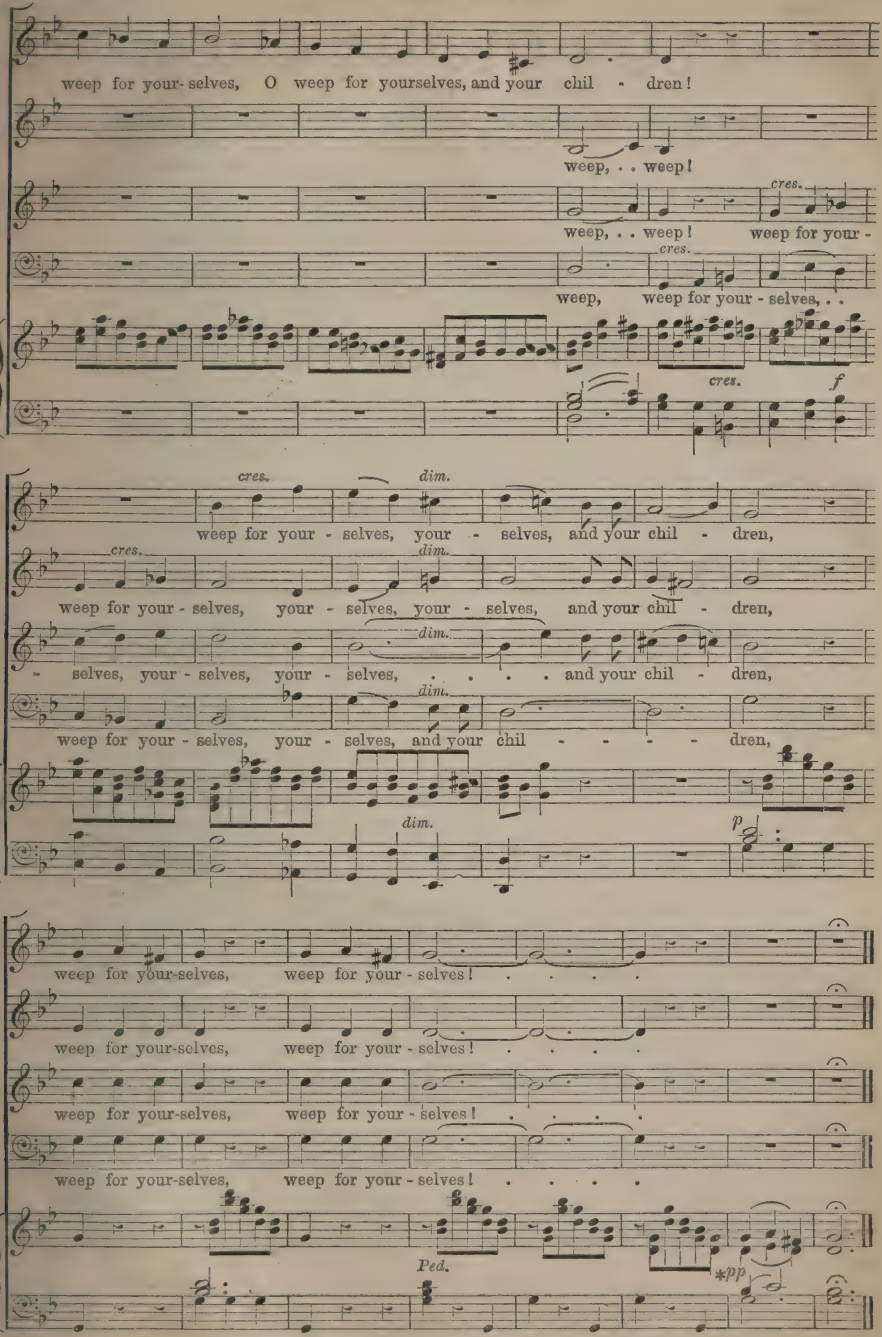
- selves, weep for your-selves, weep for your - selves, . . . and
cres.
chil - - dren, Daugh-ters of Zi - on, weep for yourselves, weep for your -
cres.
chil - - dren, Daughters of Zi - on, weep for yourselves,
cres.
chil - - dren, Daughters of Zi - on, weep for yourselves,
cres.
chil - dren, weep for your - selves, weep for yourselves, weep for your -
cres.
pp
- selves, ... and your chil - - dren, weep for your - selves, . . .
weep for your - selves, . . and your chil - - dren,
weep for your - selves . . and your chil - - dren.
- selves, your - selves and chil - - dren.
pp Ped. *



weep for your- selves, O weep for yourselves, and your chil - dren!
weep, . . weep!
weep, . . weep! weep for your - weep, weep for your - selves, . .
cres.
f
weep for your - selves, your - selves, and your chil - dren, weep for your - selves, your - selves, your - selves, and your chil - dren,
- selves, your - selves, your - selves, ... and your chil - dren,
weep for your - selves, your - selves, and your chil - - - - dren,
dim.
p
weep for your-selves, weep for your - selves! . . . . .
weep for your-selves, weep for your - selves! . . . . .
weep for your-selves, weep for your - selves! . . . . .
weep for your-selves, weep for your - selves! . . . . .
Ped.
*pp

NOVELLO'S OPERA CHORUSES

EDITED BY

NATALIA MACFARREN AND BERTHOLD TOURS.

AUBER'S FRA DIAVOLO.

1. Comrades, fill your glasses . . . . . 4d.
   En bons militaires.
2. Hail, festal morning . . . . . 2d.
   C'est grand fête.

AUBER'S MASANIELLO.

3. All hail the bright auspicious day . . . . . 2d.
   Du Prince objet de notre amour.
4. All hail the bright auspicious day . . . . . 1d.
   Du Prince objet de notre amour.
5. O holy Power . . . . . 1d.
   O Dieu puissant!
6. Companions, come. (Fishermen's chorus) . . . 2d.
   Amis, amis.
7. Behold the morn in splendour . . . . . 2d.
   Amis la matinée est belle.
8. Come hither all who wish to buy. (Market chorus) . 3d.
   Au marché qui vient de s'ouvrir
9. We come, we will avenge thee . . . . . 3d.
   Courons à la vengeance.
   O Power benign.
   Saint bien heureux.
10. All hail, the noble victor. (March and chorus) . . . 6d.
    Honneur! honneur et gloire.

BEETHOVEN'S FIDELIO.

10. Oh what delight. (Prisoners' chorus) . . . . . 3d.
    O welche Lust.
11. Farewell, thou warm and sunny beam . . . . . 4d.
    Leb' wohl, du warmes Sonnenlicht.

BELLINI'S I PURITANI.

12. When yonder bugle calls us . . . . . 1d.
    Quando la tromba squilla.
13. Rejoice we! . . . . . 1d.
    A festa.
14. Noble Arthur, welcome . . . . . 1d.
    Ad Arturo onore.
15. Once I sought thee . . . . . 2d.
    A te, o cara.
16. Fatal day . . . . . 2d.
    Ahi! dolor

BELLINI'S NORMA.

17. Hasten, ye Druids, the heights ascend . . . . 2d.
    Ite sul colle, O Druidi.
18. Norma cometh . . . . . 1d.
    Norma viene.
19. Not yet gone? no, yet they linger . . . . . 1d.
    Non parti? finora è al campo
20. Vengeance, vengeance . . . . . 1d.
    Guerra, guerra!

BELLINI'S LA SONNAMBULA.

21. Hail! Amina . . . . . 1d.
    Viva! viva, Amina!
22. Fairest flower of the mountains . . . . . 1d.
    In Elvezia non v'ha rosa.
23. When dusky twilight . . . . . 1d.
    Ah fosco cielo.
24. Here a moment we'll shelter and rest us . . . . 2d.
    Qui la selva è più folta ed ombrosa.

DONIZETTI'S LA FIGLIA.

25. What pleasure, what gladness . . . . . 2d.
    Cantiamo, cantiamo.
26. Hark, how the drums are rolling . . . . . 1d.
    Sprona il tamburo e incora.
27. Rataplan, Rataplan . . . . . 1d.
    Rataplan, rataplan.

DONIZETTI'S LUCIA.

28. Let us roam through these ruins deserted . . . . 1d.
    Percorriamo le spiagge vicine.
29. Hail, to the happy bridal day . . . . . 1d.
    Per te d'immenso giubilo.
30. What from vengeance yet restrains me . . . . 2d.
    Chi raffrena il mio furore.
31. With warlike minstrelsy . . . . . 1d.
    D'immenso giubilo.

DONIZETTI'S LUCREZIA BORGIA.

32. Not a word . . . . . 2d.
    Non far motto.
33. From his window . . . . . 1d.
    Rischiarata è la finestra.
34. Would you know how to while away sorrow . . . . 1d.
    Il segreto per esser felice.

MOZART'S DON GIOVANNI.

35. Let's enjoy while the season invites us . . . . . 1d.
    Giovinette, che fate all' amore.

MOZART'S LE NOZZE DI FIGARO.

36. Come deck with flowers . . . . . 1d.
    Giovani liete.
37. Noble Lady, fairest roses . . . . . 1d.
    Ricevete, o padroncina.
38. Each voice now rejoices . . . . . 1d.
    Amanti, costanti.

ROSSINI'S IL BARBIERE.

39. Sir, we humbly thank your honour . . . . . 2d.
    Mille grazie, mio signore.

VERDI'S IL TROVATORE.

40. See how the darkness of night dissolves. (Gipsy chorus) . 1d.
    Vedi! le fosche notturne.
41. Now the dice invite our leisure! . . . . . 1d.
    Or co'dadi ma fra poco.
42. Miserere Scene . . . . . 2d.

VERDI'S RIGOLETTO.

43. Hush, in silence fulfil we our errand . . . . . 2d.
    Zitti, zitti, moviamo a vendetta
44. Unto a lonely abode directed. . . . . 1d.
    Scorrendo uniti remota via

WAGNER'S LOHENGRIN.

45. The call hath summoned us betimes . . . . . 2d.
    In Früh'n versammelt uns der Ruf
46. We follow where he leads! . . . . . 1d.
    Zum Streite säumet nicht!
47. May every joy attend thee . . . . . 1d.
    Gesegnet soll sie schreiten
48. Faithful and true we lead ye forth . . . . . 1d.
    Treulich geführt ziehet dahin

WAGNER'S TANNHÄUSER.

49. Hail, bright abode (the March). . . . . 4d.
    Freudig begrüssen
50. Once more with joy. (Pilgrim's Chorus) . . . . 2d.
    Beglückt darf nun dich

WEBER'S OBERON.

51. Light as fairy foot can fall . . . . . 2d.
    Lieve il piè colà volgiam
52. Honour and joy . . . . . 2d.
    Gloria! ommagio
53. Glory to the Caliph . . . . . 2d.
    Gloria al giusto
54. Who would stay in her coral cave . . . . . 4d.
    Chi potria fra l'onde restar
55. For thee hath beauty (Women's voices) . . . . . 3d.
    Per te pomposa
56. Do. do. (Mixed voices) . . . . . 2d.

WEBER'S DER FREYSCHUETZ.

57. Victoria, victoria . . . . . 1d.
    Victoria, Victoria
58. The Bridal wreath for thee we bind . . . . . 1d.
    Wir winden dir den Jungfernkranz
59. The joy of the Hunter. (Huntsman's chorus) . . . 2d.
    Was gleicht wohl auf Erden

ROSSINI'S GUILLAUME TELL.

61. Brightly the rosy morn . . . . . 1d.
    Quel jour serein
62. Come, with flowers crown the bowers . . . . . 2d.
    Hyménée, ta journée
63. Hark, how the horns gaily sounding . . . . . 2d.
    Quelle sauvage harmonie
64. Hail to the mighty ruler . . . . . 2d.
    Gloire au pouvoir suprême
65. Swift as the bird in summer sky (Tyrolean) . . . 1d.
    Toi que l'oiseau ne suivrait pas

LONDON: NOVELLO, EWER & CO., 1, BERNERS STREET (W.), AND 35, POULTRY (E.C.).
NEW YORK: J. L. PETERS, 599, BROADWAY.

cludes the whole. We like the anthem less than the majority of its author's music, and it is for this reason that we wish it may be a fruit of his more youthful time.

A Song of Victory, for Soprano Solo, Chorus and Orchestra. Composed by Ferdinand Hiller. Op 151.

The great struggle which but lately was going on between two of the most warlike nations existing, has, with all its carnage and destruction, been the means of producing two works, each a perfect reflex of the sentiments of the nation which owns its respective composer—Ch. Gounod, the chief representative of the French romantic school, and Ferdinand Hiller, the head of the classical school of Germany. It was natural that the French composer should give vent to his sorrow in a bitter lamentation, it was equally to be expected that the German would sing a pean of triumph at the great and—if somewhat unexpected—certainly unexampled victories gained by his countrymen. Of these two compositions it may be said in one word, they are the masterpieces of their respective composers. Gounod has in no composition known to us thrown his heart into his work with such success as in the "Gallia." Nor can it be said that Hiller has ever attained greater breadth and dignity, combined with charm of melody than in the "Victory Song." From the first bar to the last—if we except a soprano solo and chorus (No. 5)—it is strikingly, even daringly, original. Of this exception we shall have somewhat more to say further on. The work is divided into eight movements. In the first, a chorus in C major, the voices commence without any instrumental introduction, as though to indicate the intensity of their desire to render at once the thanks due to God for His mighty deliverance, and this idea is further indicated by a change of time, after the first two phrases, to animato, again followed at the distance of a few bars by allegro con fuoco, when the voices settle down to work, the basses leading off with a subject of much dignity, which is treated in imitation to the end of the movement.

No. 2, "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," a soprano solo with chorus, is broad and exultant, but of no great development. No. 3 chorus, "The Heathen are fallen in the pit," is altogether remarkable, first for a singular accompaniment, which gives a strange sinister effect to the otherwise merely lugubrious subject allotted to the voices, and afterwards for the bright transition at the words "We are risen and stand upright." The development of this fine chorus is most masterly, and the movement altogether is perhaps the finest in the work.

A recitative lamenting their losses, "How are the mighty fallen," leads on to the soprano solo and chorus (No. 5) already mentioned, which if not quite as original as the rest of the work, is without doubt one of the loveliest movements of the kind ever written. Mendelssohn's "Lift thine eyes," "Hearts feel that love thee," and Spohr's "Though all thy friends," better known as "As pants the hart," being fairly rivalled by this charming piece. The refined beauty of No. 5 is effectively contrasted by the rugged grandeur of No. 6 chorus, "Mighty is our God," which serves as an introduction to No. 7, soprano solo with chorus, "Praise ye the Lord," containing some florid passages for the solo voice. This in its turn leads into the final movement "Praise the Lord for His great wonders," which returns to the key of the opening movement, and whilst giving unity to the design, brings the work to an effective conclusion.

To indicate all the fine points in this Cantata would be impossible within the limits of an ordinary notice; but enough has been said to show that a work has been called into being by a disastrous war, which to some minds will reflect more honour upon Germany than a hardly earned victory. The English adaptation by the Rev. J. Troutbeck is admirable.

Four Sacred Melodies. Composed by Berthold Tours. Arranged for the Organ by George Calkin.

Those organists who have not acquired the requisite dexterity of finger, or a sufficient mastery over the pedals to permit of their attacking with any chance of success, the greater Fugues of Bach, the Sonatas of Mendelssohn, or the Arrangements of Best, will welcome these transcriptions as presenting good music in an easy and attractive form. The compositions here transcribed were already well and favourably known, but in their new form they promise to obtain a much wider circulation, for Mr. Calkin has displayed the same discrimination in selection and taste in arrangement, as characterized his well-known transcriptions from the works of Mendelssohn. Each piece is marked with indications of the stops to be used, many of the "combinations" being exceptionally skilful and suggestive of pleasant effects. In mentioning this, however, it should be noted that as no two organs present quite the same relative feature of tone and power, the "combinations" should always be considered as approximate rather than definite, and consequently open to occasional modification.

Two-Part Anthems for small choirs, composed by G. A. Macfarren.

These Anthems have been avowedly composed for choirs consisting of boys or females, and are in the form of duets for equal voices. The principal subjects in each anthem are of a more or less robust kind, so as to admit of their being sung by a large number of voices. That they are musicianly, the name of the composer is in the highest degree a guarantee, as also that they are melodious—of a genuine English kind of melodiousness, untinctured by German elaboration or French glitter, but possibly more or less an insular development of the Italian school of the 17th and 18th centuries. The freedom of the accompaniments may serve as a useful lesson to those composers whose timidity prevents their leaving the voice parts free from the cumbersome assistance of full chords, and as a rebuke to others who deny the possibility of running or even flowing passages being made effective on the organ. Of the five anthems sent for review No. 3, "Behold, the tabernacle of God," appears to contain the chief elements of popularity. But looking to the fact, that in all churches where anthems are performed there appears to be no difficulty in procuring the requisite number of tenors and basses, it would seem as though the secondary intention of their composer, i.e., that they shall be available as duets for private use, is likely to turn out the principal means of their becoming known, and certainly no more pleasant method could be devised for spending a portion of the Sunday than by the performance of such music as this.

La Napolitaine; second Tarantelle, for the Piano. Composed by Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew.

Difficult as it is to imagine a Tarantella with even the slightest novelty, Mrs. Bartholomew has here given us a light and graceful theme, which so far from striking us as faded and trite, is not only fresh, but somewhat original. This in a great measure arises from the fact of the subject not being confined to those unceasing triplets which are supposed to give the "Tarantella" character, without undue effort on the part of the composer. The principal theme, in F sharp minor, is melodious and spirited; and, as a contrast, the second subject, in D major, has an excellent effect. It may be a question whether the ear will not become weary of the original key, as the opening motive returns without any alteration; but the coda is vigorous and in keeping with the general simplicity of the piece.

La Regata. 5me Impromptu pour Piano. Par Wilhelm Schulthes.

The compositions of Herr Schulthes which have from time to time come before us have the rare merit of appealing to popular as well as artistic sympathies; and "La Regata" is no exception to this rule. In parts, perhaps, the harmonies are more complicated than need be (so many perplexing enharmonic changes occurring), but where the subject is allowed to flow on, the phrases are extremely graceful and winning. The passages are by no means easy (the use of the fourth finger upon the black keys in the rapid semiquaver passages being somewhat tiresome), but any practice it requires will be amply repaid, for it is a piece which can scarcely fail to please.

Gavotte, for the Pianoforte. Composed by Agnes Zimmermann.

That the age for "brilliant" pieces is rapidly on the decline may be proved not only by the fact of classical compositions being constantly re-published, but by the still more startling truth (of which the piece before us is a notable example) that modern writers are now composing in the forms of a bygone time, and that such works are eagerly asked for. No artist more thoroughly understands the true spirit of the old dance tunes, upon which the greatest men have exercised their talents, than Miss Zimmermann; and this Gavotte will thoroughly sustain the fame she has already acquired. The subject, in D major, is exceedingly spirited and full of character, and No. 2, in B minor, is well contrasted with it. The piece will prove excellent practice for amateurs, as in this kind of music the left hand is not allowed to become a lazy attendant upon the right.

Concert für das Violoncello; mit begleitung des Pianoforte; von Carl Eckert.

Violoncello players have but a limited stock of good music for their instrument, and they will therefore assuredly thank us for drawing their attention to this excellent concerto, which, although thoroughly within the powers of tolerably advanced amateurs, is of a sufficiently high character to prove most attractive to professional performers. The first movement, in D minor, is based upon an exceedingly melodious subject, which, though not very amply developed, is treated with much skill, the passages being throughout extremely graceful and well written. The "Andante" follows without a break, and it is effectively contrasted by a "Scherzo" movement with which it is interwoven. The "Rondo à la Cosaque" forms a spirited conclusion to the concerto, the theme being both tuneful and vigorous. There is much character in this movement, which more than any other in the work, requires the full instrumentation for its due effect. We should much like to hear this concerto in public.

The Stormy Petrel. Glee. Poetry by Barry Cornwall. Composed by W. W. Pearson.

We scarcely know why Mr. Pearson should call this vocal piece a "Glee" on the title-page and a "Part-song" inside. The fact is that it is merely a melody harmonised in four parts, with tenor and bass solos; but the theme is pleasing, and the writing for the voices is easy and flowing throughout. The conclusion where the four parts unite, after the solos, is exceedingly spirited and effective.

Six Choral Songs. Composed by Robert Jackson.

1. The Mariners. Words by Park Benjamin.
2. The Voice of Spring. Words by Mrs. Hemans.
3. Come when the Dawn. Words by F. Bennock.
4. The Meadow Gate. Words by Charles Swain.
5. Lilian. Words by George Smith.
6. The Homes of England. Words by Mrs. Hemans.

All these songs evince both musical feeling and culture on the part of their composer, but they are unequal in merit. No. 1 has a bold and appropriate theme, well harmonised, although we do not like the effect of the first treble rising from the low B to its octave, and then to E and G, 2nd and 3rd bars from the first pause. No 2 is melodious, but not very original. There is some effective part-writing, however, in various parts of the song which redeems it from sounding common-place. No. 3 we like least of all. Some of the harmonies, although not wrong, are unpleasant to our ears, as, for instance, the two chords between the 3rd and 4th bars of page 3, which do not mix agreeably. Nos. 4 and 5 are good, especially the former, which, well sung, could not fail to prove effective. The subject is charmingly sympathetic with the words. No. 6 also deserves a good word, for although little is attempted in it, the result is in every respect satisfactory. With earnest study and reverence for the best models, we think Mr. Jackson likely to take rank as a choral writer.

Chappell and Co.

Suite de Pièces; composed, as Pianoforte Duets. By Berthold Tours.

No. 1. La Prière du Soir.
„ 2. Le Cortége.
„ 3. La Fête Champêtre.
„ 4. La Fin du Bal.

Everybody who knows anything of German pianoforte music must be thoroughly aware that even those compositions not written for advanced artists are at least intended for those who are following in their footsteps. Although the training of youthful pianists in this country has latterly changed very much for the better, it is sadly behind the system pursued in Germany, and composers like Mr. Tours, therefore, must either write downwards for present fame and profit, or be content to wait, with the consciousness of having helped forward the good cause by a temporary personal sacrifice. The duets now before us are excellent specimens of clear and intelligible thought; but, like all good music composed for four hands, the parts are equal, and so artistically woven together as to demand not only accurate fingers, but sympathetic minds. No. 1 has a placid subject in C major—12-8 rhythm—with some appropriate modulations, which afford sufficient relief for so simple a piece. No. 2 is a march in A minor, boldly written and carefully harmonised. The semiquaver passages in the tonic major contrast well with the marked theme given to the second performer, and the return to the original subject is highly effective. No. 3 is a graceful minuet in G major, with an attractive episode in the subdominant. This is, perhaps, the simplest of the four duets, and will be found most valuable for teaching. No. 4 is a vivacious movement in the Tarantella form. The subject is extremely melodious, and the interest is kept alive by the phrases being constantly divided between the two players. To those performers who have already acquired a classical taste, these compositions will sufficiently recommend themselves; and we are much mistaken if even the majority of young pianists who are ever on the look out for "something pretty," do not become fascinated with Mr. Tours's duets, if they will only give them a fair trial.

Duff and Stewart.

The Rippling Rill. A Pastoral, for Piano. By E. L. Hime.

The only apology that composers of light pianoforte pieces can offer for giving fantastic titles to their compositions is that music, unless moulded in the purely classical form, must call up some definite chain of feeling in the mind of the listener. It is true that Mendelssohn composed "Songs without words," but Mendelssohns are by no means plentiful; and it must be conceded that to write music and then find an idea for it, is much easier than to find an idea and then write music for it. The "Rippling Rill," therefore, will do quite as well for Mr. Hime's little sketch, as any other name we could think of; although we should, perhaps, be inclined to ask whether the rill ceases to ripple during the placid theme in the relative minor. As a slight piece, written with the care of a musician, it may be recommended to amateurs; but we cannot but believe that, even in a commercial point of view, this "water music" is somewhat overdone.

Beautiful Dreams. Song. Written by E. L. Blanchard. Composed by W. C. Levey.

Mr. Levey has here written a pleasing, though not strikingly original, melody, in waltz rhythm, to some attractive verses by Mr. Blanchard. The theme is so catching, that the song cannot fail to become popular; and it has the merit of being well harmonised and carefully accompanied throughout. We may particularly call attention to the manner in which the voice lingers upon the dominant, before the return to the subject.

Enoch and Sons.

The Musical Monthly. A Magazine of new copyright music. Edition A—Pianoforte pieces. Edition B—Songs. Edited by Sir Julius Benedict.

There is a continental air about this work which, considering that it is published in this country, somewhat puzzles us. In the first place, the engraving is not the work of English people; the titles and dedications of nearly all the pianoforte pieces are in French; and, stranger still, the foreign fingering is used throughout, even in Walter Macfarren's "Canzonetta." The "Saltarello," by J. Duprato, is lively and well written; Renaud de Vilbac's Gavotte, "Pompadour," has a flavour of the period it represents, which should ensure for it a welcome with amateurs; Walter Macfarren's "Canzonetta" is just such an artistic sketch as we might expect from so accomplished a writer; and "Les Bavardes du Village," by Ignace Gibsone, has a pleasing subject aptly illustrative of the title of the piece. Francis Thomé's "Caprice," and J. B. Rongé's "L'Etoile où l'on s'aime," are somewhat laboured; the latter, especially, —a "Berceuse"—having too much modulation to suggest the faintest thought of a quiet slumber. In the book of Songs, Henry Smart's "Good bye" takes the lead—so decisively, indeed, that it throws some carefully written vocal pieces, by foreign composers, into the shade. It is a trite observation, that scarcely any thing done "to order" is good; but Mr. Smart bestows his best powers upon even his smallest works; and this is certainly one of the most charming songs we have seen from this most charming of song writers. From the others we may select J. B. Rongé's "Sleep, baby, sleep" (an appropriately placid melody skilfully accompanied), and Franz Abt's "I never speak thy name aloud," for special commendation. "Roses and Buttercups," by Cesar Franck, and "Yonder fades the daylight," by Richard Metzdorff, are to us by no means attractive. It must be added, that English verses to those songs by foreigners are written by Mr. W. J. Westbrook with a due regard to the feeling of the music.

Longmans, Green and Co.

Musical Criticism and Biography; from the published and unpublished writings of Thomas Damant Eaton, late President of the Norwich Choral Society. Selected and edited by his Sons.

This volume contains many criticisms upon music and musicians which can be scarcely expected to command much attention in the present day; for since the rise of "analytical programmes," the public is made so thoroughly conversant with the inner meaning of a composer in all his works that a minute dissection of familiar Oratorios like "Judas Maccabæus," or "Israel in Egypt," such as Mr. Eaton has given us, has now no charm of novelty. The two articles on "The Decline of Music" contain some truthful observations, especially upon the manner in which most of the standard Oratorios are now invariably presented to the public. It is good that we, who are apt to court sensational effects by monster orchestras and "additional accompaniments" to works purposely thinly scored by their composers, should listen to what a musical conservative has to say upon the subject—should be reminded, for instance, that "Acis and Galatea" is a Pastoral, and that the oboe, piccolo and flute are the only wind instruments that Handel wished to be employed throughout the composition. When, however, Mr. Eaton asserts that the part of Acis was "written for a treble voice," and that we have spoiled it by giving it to a tenor, he evidently writes only to that portion of the musical public which will accept such an assertion on trust. A reference to Handel's manuscript score would have shown him that the part of Acis is written in the Tenor clef, and the name of Beard (the tenor of the day) is pencilled by the composer over the music. Whilst on the subject of random recollections contained in the volume, we may also mention the positive manner in which the author states that Horn's song, "Cherry ripe," was published by Power; the fact being that it was published by Mr. Isaac Willis, late of Grosvenor-street, and bought by Mr. R. Cocks at the sale. Amongst the biographies the most interesting is that of Professor Taylor, for few of the present generation know how much he effected not only for music in Norwich, but for the spread of the art beyond his native place. Speaking of his labours in connection with the Norwich Festival, he says, "Every Oratorio brought out (and a new one was always brought out) was translated and prepared for performance by me. These were

The Last Judgment	Spohr.
The Crucifixion	"
The Fall of Babylon	"
The Deluge	Schneider.
Redemption	Mozart.
The Death of Christ	Graun.
The Christian's Prayer	Spohr.

All these were performed for the first time at Norwich." Such a record as this should be well pondered by Festival committees. Mr. Eaton is best when he is analysing the works of the composers he idolises. When he calls Mendelssohn's Lobgesang "heavy," he but shows his want of judgment; yet this is a trifle to his remarks upon the "naked minor second," at the words, "But the Lord," in the chorus, "Thanks be to God" (Elijah), for he says, that any person may "realise the effect on himself by striking two contiguous white notes simultaneously on the pianoforte." The relatives of Mr. Eaton are but ill advised, when they resuscitate such opinions as these in a "Memorial Volume."

RUDALL, CARTE AND CO.

The Musical Directory, Annual and Almanack for 1873. Edited by Charles Mackeson, F.S.S.

The Professor's Pocket Book for 1873. Published under the direction of Sir Julius Benedict, and edited by Charles Mackeson, F.S.S.

We have frequently spoken in high terms of the plan upon which the "Musical Directory" is modelled, and have only to repeat our commendations upon the issue for the present year. But in spite of our admiration of the excellence of the design, we have still to regret that small attention appears to be paid to the details, especially in the chronological arrangement of the musical events. For instance, in the present edition, Donizetti is said to have died on the 8th and 9th of April; Bellini to have died on the 22nd and 24th of September, and Spontini to have been born on the 17th of November, 1778, and again on the 14th of the same month in 1784. How these mistakes can have occurred will appear still more extraordinary when we state that not one of them is to be found in the edition for last year. The Pocket Book is most carefully edited, and will prove exceedingly valuable for daily use by all professors.

Original Correspondence.

DIATONIC AND CHROMATIC SEMITONES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—Your correspondent, Mr. Robert Smith, p. 731, is quite correct as to the ratios of the notes which he mentions; but he seems unaware of the fact that the same name, A♭ for instance, is used for several notes differing slightly in pitch, even when the pitch of C is given. Instead of comparing G♯ and A♭, it will be convenient to treat of A♯ and B♭, because the tone between A and B is major, and admits of being divided in several ways, without going far from the scale of C.

Let us suppose F♯ a perfect 5th to the B below it, and A♯ a perfect major 3rd to F♯: I say that there are no less than four different notes, nearly related to the scale of C, each of which is called B♭; and that three of these notes are higher, but the fourth of them lower, than A♯.

First, let us take G and D as they stand in the scale of C, and complete the chord of G minor. The B♭ proper for this will be higher than A♯ in the ratio of 128 to 125.

Next suppose B♭ tuned a perfect 4th above F, then we get another B♭, lower than the former in the ratio of 80 to 81, but higher than A♯.

Thirdly, suppose B♭ taken a true minor 9th to the lower octave of A; that is to say, so as to be in the ratio 17 to 16 to the adjacent A. This B♭ will be lower than the preceding, but still higher than A♯.

Lastly, let us suppose B♭ to be tuned so as to form a true dominant 7th with C for its root. This B♭ will be lower than A♯ in the ratio 224 to 225. For this B♭ must stand to the C next above it in the ratio 7 to 8, or 14 to 16; and consequently it is to B♯ in the ratio 14 to 15. But A♯ is to B♯ in the ratio 15 to 16. Taking the difference of these two ratios, we get 224 to 225 for the ratio of B♭ to A♯. It is well known that this last B♭ is the one most used in modern music in modulating from the scale of C; and therefore it is no wonder that many musicians, regarding the question from one side only, should maintain that B♭ is lower than A♯. When they say that a note is "drawn upwards or downwards to meet its resolution," they use language which may be poetical, perhaps, but cannot be allowed to be scientific. Their ears, however, are apt to be right, even when their science is very imperfect.

I have not attempted to prove everything advanced in this letter, because that would take far too much space; but I beg leave to mention that I am preparing a short treatise on the theory of music, in which several knotty questions will, I hope, be satisfactorily disentangled.

Yours faithfully,

Corringham Rectory, Essex, S. S. GREATHEED.
January 14th, 1873.

WISE'S ANTHEM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

SIR,—Can you or any of your numerous readers inform me, whether a fine old Anthem is published, composed by Michael Wise, and taken from the Communion Service, entitled "Glory be to God on High?" I shall be glad to hear, either from you or through your Musical Times, some tidings of it.

Yours, &c.,

Market Place, Melton Mowbray, J. GOODACRE.
January 12th 1873.

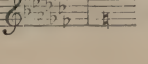
P. S.—I have a very imperfect MS. of the Anthem in question; it is for Alto, Tenor, Bass, with short choruses.

THE SIGNATURE OF THE MINOR SCALE.

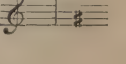
TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

DEAR SIR,—I cannot decline to satisfy Mr. Crook. My method is simply to give the major signature first, then a single bar, then the sign for the raised 7th of the minor mode. Thus F♯ minor would appear

A♭ minor



A♯ minor



and so on throughout. The sign for the 4th does not appear, although the note is shown.

"John Anderson my Jo" does not support Mr. Crook's argument. Although such melodies are frequently sung with the 7th a tone below the key-note, they do not satisfy, although they do sometimes leave a not unpleasant sensation on the ear. "Windsor" was sung in the way Mr. Crook describes, but "modern ears" have demanded a change, and it is sung now with the raised 7th.

Mr. Crook should not either depend on the nations that do not use instruments that give harmony for support. I can assure him (from a personal experience of three years in Africa) that the lowered 7th is not the only blemish in their scale. Neither should Mr. Crook bring forward the old modes, as he must be perfectly aware that nobody makes use of them in composing now-a-days. The question under consideration is one of modern music. It must therefore be determined by modern ears. I still hold to my opinion that the minor 7th is seldom used in the minor mode, but as a passing note to the 6th.

I am, dear Sir, yours obediently,
December 28th, 1872. Mode.

BACH'S HYMN IN "THE HYMNARY."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Dear Sir,—Allow me to correct a mistake that I find in the December number of your paper in the course of the critique of "The Hymnary."

The author recites a hymn, harmonized and figured by Bach, of which he says: "It may be objected that in this form the tune begins and ends on the dominant of the key," and that "all works of art are not strictly in accordance with fashion, &c."

Bach harmonized and figured a great many hymns (vide Bach's figurirte Chorale) in a manner like Palestrina: he is not the composer of all of them. Many of these tunes date from the 15th, 16th, and 17th centuries, when the Greek scales still maintained a place in church music; and the study of these scales and history of music will easily explain "Bach's doings."

The tune, "Komm Gott Schöpfer, heiliger Geist," is written in the "Tonicus remissus," or "Tonicus plagalis," Hypo Tonischer Modus), that is, the scale without accidentals. Bach proves this by moving strictly in the diatonic accords, by which he produces that simple but grand character. The C♯ in the melody is not original, but an alteration according to taste and fashion of modern times.

I am, yours respectfully,
C. Lahmeyer,
Organist at St. Paul's, Chiswick.
5, Grove Park Terrace, Chiswick, W.
January 20th.

BRITISH ORCHESTRAL ASSOCIATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Dear Sir,—The person who, under the name of "Union Jack," tried to answer my letter, has entirely misrepresented its contents. There was no question of comparison between foreign and English composers. The lame story is quite on his side. My letter is there to prove this. I protested against the principles of the British Orchestral Association, because it excludes foreigners, and makes up three-fourths of the programme with the works of dead foreigners. We would have no right to complain if the Society had been established for playing solely English compositions, but the proceedings as they stand are anti-logical, and certainly not in the interest of true art, which cannot prosper amidst exclusiveness. By shutting your doors against foreigners, you provoke only foreigners to retaliate against Englishmen, and what do you gain then by such intolerance? But look how "Union Jack" contradicts himself! After running down the modern German composers, he boasts having studied counterpoint and fugue with the most eminent masters of that country. "Union Jack" is not polite either; after wandering about in the wilderness of his own fancy, he attempts personal abuse. I could easily answer him in a way which he would not find pleasant, but I wish not to have anything further to do with a person who uses language unfit for discussion.

I am, dear Sir, yours faithfully,
Straniero.
Jan. 25, 1873.

THE YOUTH'S PART IN "ELIJAH."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MUSICAL TIMES.

Sir,—Observing a correspondence in your esteemed paper by several gentlemen laying claim to be the originators of the Youth's part in the above Oratorio being sung by a boy, I beg to inform your readers, that the late conductor of the Hull Harmonic Society (Mr. George Leng) had the part sung by a youth (Master Peter Louth) as far back as the year 1849; therefore, I think he may be said to have been the originator of the custom. I may also mention that the Youth's part has always been sung by a boy, whenever performed in Hull. The insertion of the above will be esteemed.

I am, Sir, yours truly,
J. W. Stephenson,
Conductor, Hull Harmonic Society.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

 Notices of concerts, and other information supplied by our friends in the country, must be forwarded as early as possible after the occurrence; otherwise they cannot be inserted. Our correspondents must specifically denote the date of each concert, for without such date no notice can be taken of the performance.

Our correspondents will greatly oblige by writing all names as clearly as possible, as we cannot be responsible for any mistakes that may occur.

We cannot undertake to return offered contributions; the authors, therefore, will do well to retain copies.

Notice is sent to all Subscribers whose payment (in advance) is exhausted. The paper will be discontinued where the Subscription is not renewed. We again remind those who are disappointed in obtaining back numbers that, although the music pages are always stereotyped, only a sufficient quantity of the rest of the paper is printed to supply the current sale.

The notice of the performance of "Elijah," by the Retford Choral Society, which we are told was sent to us "in good time," arrived after we had gone to press. We may reasonably quote the query in our correspondent's letter of complaint, "How is this?" seeing that the concert took place on Monday the 16th December, and the account of it was not forwarded until the following week.

Organ Student.—Best's Art of Organ Playing; Part 1, 6*s.*; Part 2, 12*s.*; published by Novello, Ewer and Co.

Organ.—Apply to the Professor of Music at either of the Universities.

Alpha.—Da-gon.

The correspondent who furnishes us with an account of a series of concerts given by a young lady in South Wales, is informed that we cannot insert notices in praise of a certain artist written by private individuals.

Brief Summary of Country News.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for any opinions expressed in this Summary; as all the notices are either collated from the local papers, or supplied to us by occasional correspondents.

Boston Spa, Yorkshire.—On Thursday evening, the 23rd ult., a concert was given by the Amateur String Quartett Party, in the Trustees' Hall. The Quartetts of Haydn and Mozart (with Mr. Arnold, of Harrogate as first violin) were excellently rendered. The vocalists were Miss Cooke, Messrs. Cryer and Backhouse, whose efforts were rewarded by several encores. Mr. Arnold was at the pianoforte.

Brading, Isle of Wight.—On the 9th ult., the Brading Choral Society gave a concert in the National School-room. The first part consisted of glees, madrigals, and part-songs by some of the best composers, which were much applauded. In the second portion of the concert the music seemed to be equally appreciated, perhaps more so, though no applause was indulged in. This was a performance of the first part of the Oratorio St. Paul, including the overture, the Society being assisted by a few excellent amateur instrumentalists. The Vicar (the Rev. John Glover) conducted throughout. "God save the Queen," by all assembled, concluded a most agreeable evening.

Bridlington Quay.—On Thursday, the 26th December, a miscellaneous concert was given in the Victoria Rooms, by Mr. Wilson, the lessee, before a large audience. The first part comprised selections from the Messiah, Judas Maccabæus, and Creation; the second part was secular. The principal artists were the Misses Kennedy and Blakeley, Messrs. Briggs and Dodds, all from Leeds. The choir was selected from the Leeds Choral Union, assisted by several local amateurs, numbering about 30 voices. Mr. T. W. Dodds, organist of Queen's College, Oxford, most ably presided at the harmonium, and Mr. Wilson, at the pianoforte.

Cape Town.—The first rehearsal of the Tonic Sol-fa Choral Society, under the direction of Mr. J. H. Ashley, was held in the Mutual Hall, on Tuesday, the 19th November. Several choral pieces were excellently rendered, especially the trio, "Hark, o'er the waters music is stealing," (Wallace) a chorus for male voices called "The Recruits" (encored), and Pinsuti's serenade, "In this hour of softened splendour," which was admirably sung by eight voices. The second part of the programme consisted of a short Cantata, by J. R. Thomas, called The Picnic, which was highly successful. A pianoforte piece, by Beyer, was well played by a young lady, whose services as accompanist during the evening are worthy of the warmest commendation.

Catford Bridge.—The Trinity Church Choral Society gave a highly successful performance of Mendelssohn's Elijah on the 1st ult, the choruses being rendered with a precision and balance of tone reflecting the utmost credit both upon the members of the choir and their zealous conductor, Mr. Fred. Stephenson. The soprano music was ably sustained by Miss Ellen Horne. Miss Ada Thompson gave much effect to the contralto solos, especially "Woe unto them," and Mrs. Spencer West was thoroughly satisfactory in the part of Jezebel. The representative of the Prophet was Mr C. B. James; and it is no small praise to say that he acquitted himself of his arduous task extremely well. Mr. T. A. Trotter delivered the two tenor songs, "If with all your hearts" and "Then shall the righteous," with much refinement and truth of expression; and Misses A. Beard, E. Todd, Selby, and Wright, Messrs. Caird, Selby, Brissenden, and Ward rendered material aid in the concerted music. Mr. J. F. Meen presided at the pianoforte, and Mr. Edmund West at the harmonium.

Clifton.—On Thursday, the 16th ult., under the management of Mr. J. C. Daniel, the enterprising caterer of the Winter Evening Entertainments, a farewell Pianoforte Recital was given by Madame Arabella Goddard, who is about to retire from the musical world, after her lengthened and successful career as a pianist. Her brilliancy of execution combined with a singular delicacy of touch, especially in the Sonata Pastorale of Beethoven, would have alone established her fame as an artist of the highest rank. The vocalists were Miss Marion Dalmaine and Mr. W. Drayton. The sympathetic rendering by Miss Dalmaine of Macfarren's song "Separation," was especially pleasing; and Mr. Drayton, one of the vicars-choral of Wells Cathedral, won merited applause for several of his songs. Mr. Owen Williams, organist of St. Raphael's, officiated as conductor and as an able accompanist. Despite the unfavourable evening, there was a numerous attendance.

Colchester.—In addition to the choir of St. Leonards, that of St. Mary the Virgin has now been surpliced through the kind liberality of a most generous lady parishioner. The choir consists of 30 vocalists.

Colnbrook, near Windsor.—On Tuesday the 14th ult., a musical entertainment was given by the Rev. Wm. Greive, in the Public Hall. The St. Thomas's Church choir sang a selection of glees, under the direction of Mr. R. Ratcliff, the choir-master. Miss Mary Ratcliff, organist of St. Thomas's Church, presided at the pianoforte. During the evening the Vicar rose and said he was about to leave Colnbrook for Great Milton, in Oxfordshire, the Bishop having offered him the living. It need scarcely be said that all were sorry to hear this announcement, and that the rev. gentleman will carry the good wishes of the people with him. A selection of glees, part-songs, songs, &c., were then given by Miss Walsh, Miss Everest, Mr. Sargeant, Mr. Perryman, Mr. Buckingham, Mr. Hopkins, and Mr. Ratcliff; and Master Huntley and Miss Tollit played solos on the pianoforte.

Derby.—Handel's Messiah was performed by the Derby Choral Union, at the Drill Hall, on the 27th December, before an overflowing audience. Madame Helena Walker, Madame Whittaker, Mr. T. Hunt and Mr. T. Ley Greaves were the solo vocalists; and there was a highly efficient orchestra, Mr. H. Farmer and Mr. W. S. Woodward playing the principal violins. Madame Walker, in the soprano music made a most favourable impression, and Madame Whittaker, especially in "He shall feed His flock," and "He was despised," sang with so much artistic feeling as to elicit the warmest demonstrations of approval. Mr. T. Hunt and Mr. Greaves also legitimately earned the applause of the audience; and the choruses throughout were rendered with commendable precision and effect. Mr. T. T. Trimnell presided at the organ with his accustomed ability.

Dudley.—On the 13th ult., the Dudley Choral Society gave a performance of Judas Maccabæus, in the Public Hall, for the benefit of the "Guest" Hospital. The principal artists were Mrs. A. J. Sutton (soprano), Miss A. Ridgway (contralto), Mr. Grayson (tenor), and Mr. George Mainwaring (bass). The band and chorus consisted of eighty performers. Mr. Henry Eyland conducted; Mr. D. Leyshon presided at the harmonium; and Mr. Roberts was the leader of the band. There was a very large audience, which testified by frequent and hearty applause its appreciation of the manner in which the Oratorio was rendered.

East Molesey.—A special Christmas Festival Service was held in the church of St. Paul's, Kent Town, on Monday the 30th December. The chancel was beautifully decorated for the occasion by several ladies resident in the parish. The choir, consisting of upwards of 50 voices, rendered the whole of the music in the most satisfactory manner. Evensong was at 7 P.M. before which time the church was crowded in every part. Tallis's Responses were used throughout. The Psalms of the day were sung to single chants by Battishill and Ouseley, the pointing being accurately followed. The Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, in F, by Mr. Henry Smart, were finely sung, the elaborate fugue in the Gloria Patri being given with more than usual precision and vigour. Before the sermon, the hymn, "O come, all ye faithful" was sung, in which the congregation joined heartily. A short but highly appropriate sermon, by the Rev. C. Scott, the Incumbent of St. Paul's, was followed by a selection from the Messiah. The overture was excellently played by Mr. Jekyll, of Westminster Abbey, who presided at the organ, and to whose skill the success of the service may be largely attributed. Mr. Greenhill sang, "Comfort ye," and "Every valley," with accuracy and taste; the bass solos, "For behold darkness," and the following air were effectively rendered by Mr. G. J. Jefferys, and the soprano recitatives were given to Miss Edith Craufurd, of the London Academy of Music, who acquitted herself in a style which promises well for her future success. The choruses were thoroughly well sung, the selection being brought to a close with the "Hallelujah." The Offertory amounted to about £10.

Everton.—A successful concert was given by the Everton Choral Society, in the School-room, on Friday the 27th December. The programme was varied and well selected; and the choral music, which formed an important feature in the performance, was most carefully rendered, under the able direction of Mr. Hamilton White.

Greenock.—The selection from Handel's Messiah on the afternoon of Saturday the 28th December, at the Town Hall, was a decided success. Mr. Poulter performed the choruses on the organ with much ability, and elicited the most decisive marks of approbation. Several of the solos were sung effectively by Messrs. Currie and Methven, and greatly applauded. The hall was in all parts well filled, the boxes and gallery to overflowing, by a thoroughly appreciative audience.

Halifax.—On Monday the 6th ult., the new organ in Broad Street Wesleyan Chapel, built by Mr. Wood, of Middleton, near Manchester, was opened by Mr. J. V. Roberts, Mus. Bac., Oxon., organist and choirmaster of the Parish Church. The programme consisted of an organ recital and service of song, and was selected from the works of the most classical writers. The vocal pieces were rendered by the Parish Church choir, the solos being given by Miss Greenwood, Mr. Battinson, and Mr. Carter. The local papers speak in the highest terms, both of the performance of Mr. Roberts and the singing of his choir.

Harrogate.—At the annual gathering of the congregation of Christ Church, on the 2nd ult., in the National School, the choir gave a selection of sacred and secular music, under the direction of Mr. Arnold, the choir-master. The anthems, "O pray for the peace of Jerusalem," and "Turn Thy face from my sins," were carefully rendered, as were also the glees, songs, and Christmas carols. The principal vocalists were Master Leeming, and Messrs. Arnold, Deighton, Horner, and Morley; Mr. Arnold presided at the piano.——At the Christmas gathering in connexion with the Congregational Church, on Wednesday the 8th ult., in the Spa Concert-rooms, a good selection of sacred music was performed. The solos by Miss Arnold, Messrs. Parker and Whiteley were much admired, as also the choruses, "The heavens are telling" (Haydn), "As pants the hart" (Spohr), "O Lord, our Governour" (Hiles), and the "Hallelujah." Mr. Benson conducted, and Mr. Arnold accompanied.——To inaugurate the Christ Church Young Men's Christian and Literary Institute, a tea and concert was given in the new School-room, on the 10th ult., when a first class selection of secular vocal music was performed, and Mozart's Sonata (Op. 24), in F, for pianoforte and violin was successfully played by the Rev. P. W. Hulbert (piano), and Mr. W. Arnold (violin). Mr. Arnold conducted.

Heigham, Bury St. Edmunds.—The annual concerts in aid of the Church choir fund, were held in the School-room, on the 30th and 31st December. The solo vocalists were Miss Francesca Burgess (mezzo-soprano), Miss Terry (contralto), Miss Kemble, and Mr. Walton (baritone). The glees selected for the first night were the "Cuckoo" (Macfarren), the "Dance" (J. Otto), and Barnett's "Bridal Chorus," from The Ancient Mariner. The glees especially (under the able conductorship of the Rev. W. Borrow) were sung with much spirit. Haydn's Symphony (No. 12), and Auber's Overture to Masaniello (flute, violini, violoncello, basso, and piano duet), were creditably rendered, and two piano solos (played by Miss Isabella Burgess) were also successful. Miss F. Burgess was encored in "Una voce poco fa," and "Sing, sweet bird" (Ganz), as was also Miss Terry in "Oh, leave thy Inte" (Lenz), which had the advantage of a most efficient accompaniment on the violoncello, played by the Rev. B. S. Fox. Miss I. Burgess in Thalberg's "Mosè in Egitto," and the "Harmonious blacksmith," proved herself an able pianist. Mention must also be made of Mr. Walton's rendering of Masse's song, "Muletier de Calabrie," in which he was deservedly encored. At the second concert, the programme was slightly altered, and some variations for the violin on "Life let us cherish," played with much precision and clearness of tone by Miss Wayman, were greatly admired. The Rev. W. Borrow, whose zeal is well known in promoting church and other music, conducted with his usual skill and energy.

Isle of Cumbrae, N.B.—A concert was given in the Established Church, on Friday the 3rd ult., by the Cumbrae Musical Society, conducted by Mr. C. H. Haslehurst, organist of the Collegiate Church, consisting of portions of the Messiah, Judas Maccabæus, Elijah, and St. Paul. The solos were effectively rendered by Miss Gilmore, Miss E. Nait, Mr. Haslehurst, and Mr. John Towill. Miss Gilmore (a pupil of Mr. Haslehurst) was especially successful in "I know that my Redeemer liveth;" Mr. Haslehurst (the conductor) gave the tenor solos with much effect, and Mr. John Towill sang the bass air, "Arm, arm ye brave," in excellent style. The choruses, especially "And the glory of the Lord" (Messiah) and "O Father, whose Almighty pow'r" (Judas) were performed in a manner that reflected great credit on the Society and its able conductor. The Overtures to Judas and the Messiah were well played by Mr. W. Smart, and Mr. Haslehurst on the pianoforte and harmonium. Miss Tait took the latter instrument in the choruses. The concert was well attended, and in every respect highly successful.

Lancaster.—On Monday evening the 6th ult., Handel's Messiah was performed at the Athenæum, before a large audience. The band was chiefly composed of members of Mr. Charles Hallé's Manchester orchestra. The principal vocalists were Miss Katharine Poyntz, Madame Lincey Nalton, Mr. Herbert Walker and Mr. Thornton Wood, all of whom were thoroughly efficient in the music allotted to them, Miss Poyntz in "Rejoice greatly," and "I know that my Redeemer liveth," Madame Nalton in "He was despised," and Mr. Walker in the air, "Behold and see," especially winning the approbation of the audience. The choruses were on the whole well given, "All we like sheep," the "Hallelujah," and "Worthy is the Lamb," being particularly entitled to commendation. It is announced that Mendelssohn's Oratorio Elijah is to be given at Easter.

Leamington.—Mr. C. Sydney Vinning (with permission from the Incumbent) gave a performance on the new organ at Holy Trinity Church, on the afternoon of the 27th December. The programme consisted principally of music appropriate to Christmastide, and included airs, recitatives, and choruses from the Messiah, a Prelude and Fugue of Bach, some movements from Best's Christmas pieces, &c. The church was almost full; and Mr. Vinning's performance was both clever and interesting.

Liverpool.—Mr. Charles Hallé's concert, at St. George's Hall, on the 8th ult., was in every respect thoroughly successful. The orchestra was excellent; and Mozart's "Jupiter Symphony," and Mendelssohn's Overture to A Midsummer Night's Dream were played to perfection.

Madame Billinie Porter created a highly favourable impression by her singing throughout the evening, and she was warmly and most deservedly applauded. The solo instrumentalists were Madame Norman-Neruda, Herr Straus, and Mr. Charles Hallé, all of whom fully sustained their well-earned reputation. The hall was thronged in every part.——The Philharmonic Society commenced the Subscription Concerts for the year, with a very excellent one on the 14th ult.; principal artists, Madlle. Tietjens, and Signor Piatti. The orchestral works performed were the Overture to Die Zauberflöte (Mozart), Concerto, violoncello (Piatti), Sinfonia No. 4. in B flat (Beethoven), Overture Der Berggeist (Spohr), and Overture La Barcarolle (Auber), all of which were rendered with much spirit and refinement. Signor Piatti's Concerto was full of charming orchestral effects, and, of course, of immense difficulties in the solo part. Madlle. Tietjens sang excellently "Und ob die Wolke" (Weber), refusing an encore. Haydn's Canzonet, "My mother bids me bind my hair," the grand Scena from Cherubini's Medea, "Dei tuoi figli," and the recitative, "La notte furge," and lovely aria, "Si lo sento," from Spohr's Faust. Signor Piatti's solo for the violoncello with pianoforte accompaniment (the latter exquisitely played by Sir Julius Benedict), was the "Largo and Gigue" (Veracini), and in reply to a vehement encore, he gave two charming transcripts of Schubert's "Ave Maria." The part-music was very good. The "Skater's Chorus," from Le Prophète (Meyerbeer) was encored; and Hatton's clever part-song, "Night thoughts," much admired.

MANSFIELD.—On Friday, December 27th, the Mansfield Tonic Sol-fa Choral Society, conducted by Mr. J. Barton, gave W. B. Bradbury's Cantata, Esther, which was well received by a crowded and appreciative audience. The principal characters represented were Esther (Miss E. Cripwell), Ahasuerus (Mr. C. Gilbert), Haman (Mr. Blackwell), Mordecai (Mr. D. Barrows), Prophetess (Miss Katherine Blackwell). &c. The choral portion of the work was rendered with extreme accuracy and precision, showing a marked improvement in the choir, which nothing but untiring zeal and energy on the part of the conductor could have effected. Mr. Gilbert gave the music allotted to him with much effect. Miss Cripwell sang with appropriate expression; and Miss K. Blackwell (a promising juvenile soprano) made a very successful début. Messrs. Blackwell and Barrows also deserve special recognition. The most effective choruses were "He that goeth forth and weepeth," "When the Lord turned again the captivity of Zion," and the concluding chorale and chorus, the last of which was re-demanded. Miss I. Peech presided at the pianoforte with much ability.

PORT ELIZABETH, CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—The Port Elizabeth Choral Society, under the able management of the conductor, Mr. E. Newbatt, gave an amateur concert in the Town Hall, on the 15th November, in aid of the fund for purchasing a grand pianoforte for the use of the Society. Most of the choral pieces were well rendered, especially "Oh the flowery month of June," which was very spiritedly sung. Many of the solos reflected much credit upon the amateur vocalists, and some pianoforte music was well rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Newbatt and a juvenile pupil of the conductor's, who played the primo part of a duet with her master in excellent style.

PRESTON.—On Thursday the 26th December, the annual performance of the Messiah, was given by the Preston Choral Society, in the Guild-hall. The band and chorus numbered 150, the principal vocalists being Miss Clelland (in place of Miss E. Armstrong, who was indisposed), Miss Ruth Harlow, Mr. Kerr Gedge, and Mr. Robert Hilton. Miss Clelland and Miss Harlow were highly successful in all the music allotted to them. Mr. Kerr Gedge gave much of the tenor part with good effect, and Mr. Hilton (who received quite an ovation on taking his place in the orchestra) displayed his fine voice to the utmost advantage in "But who may abide," "Why do the nations," and "The trumpet shall sound," and was most warmly and deservedly applauded. In every respect the performance of the work reflected the utmost credit upon the Society and its conductor, Mr. C. J. Yates.

RAWMARSH.—A competition for the post of Organist at the Congregational Chapel, took place on Tuesday evening the 7th ult., the judge being H. Smith, Esq., organist of Sheffield Parish Church. There were three competitors. Mr. G. T. H. Dunhill, of Rawmarsh, a pupil of Mr. H. S. Wright, R.A.M., of Rotherham, was declared successful, after each competitor had been put through a trying examination.

ROSS.—The first Open Night of the Ross Vocal Union took place on the 21st ult., in the Wilton-road School. The programme, which was varied and well-selected, was successfully rendered; and the performances of Mr. and Mrs. Squire (violin and pianoforte) were thoroughly appreciated by the large audience assembled. Much praise is due to Mr. Squire for the energy and skill he has displayed in developing the powers of the Vocal Union, which now numbers about fifty members.

ROTHERHAM.—On Monday the 6th ult., a lecture-concert was given in the Mechanics' Hall, under the auspices of the committee of that Institution, by Dr. Spark, organist of the Leeds Town Hall. The subject of the lecture was "The Life and Compositions of Mozart," and Dr. Spark was aided in his illustrations by Miss Pauline Graveston, Miss Emma Kennedy, Mr. Dodds (bass), and Mr. J. W. Sykes, R.A.M. (violinist). There was a very crowded attendance. In the course of his brief relation of the principal incidents in Mozart's life, Dr. Spark delineated the chief characteristics of the great man's character, and paid tribute to his extraordinary genius. The whole of the vocal and instrumental illustrations (which were taken principally from Don Giovanni, Figaro, and Clemenza di Tito) were rendered in a most perfect manner. The several artists acquitted themselves most satisfactorily. Altogether the lecture-concert was the most successful that has yet taken place in connection with the Institute.

RYDE, ISLE OF WIGHT.—Mr. Augustus Aylward's evening concert took place on the 30th December, the artists being Miss Amy Aylward, Miss Lelia Aylward (A.R.A.M.), Miss Gertrude Aylward, Mr. W. P Aylward, Mr. W. H. Aylward (R.A.M.), Mr. T. E. Aylward (organist Llandaff Cathedral), Mr. A. A. Aylward, and Mr. A. Burnett. The programme included. Sonata, in F (Beethoven), for pianoforte and violin; Sonata, in D (Mendelssohn), for pianoforte and violoncello; Trio, in G (Beethoven), No. 2, Op. 1: "La Jeune Religieuse" (Schubert), for voice with violoncello and organ obbligati; and Bach's first Prelude, in C, arranged for violin, violoncello, organ and pianoforte. The vocal music was accompanied by the orchestra, and the concert was a great success.

SALISBURY.—The Amateur Musical Society gave a very successful concert at the Assembly Rooms, on Thursday, the 9th ult. The first part consisted of Sullivan's Oratorio, The Prodigal Son, and the second of a miscellaneous selection of secular music, including Beethoven's Symphony, in C (Op. 21), and several part-songs and vocal solos. The band and chorus numbered upwards of 80 performers. The principal singers were Miss Amy Aylward (soprano), Miss Annie Butterworth (contralto), Mr. H. Taylor (tenor), and Mr. Wadmore (bass). The solo instrumentalists were Mr. J. Winterbottom (bassoon), and Mr. W. H. Aylward (violoncello); leader of the band, Mr. Burnett; conductors, Mr. Aylward and Mr. T. E. Aylward.

SCARBOROUGH.—The organ recitals by Dr. Naylor at the Parish Church, at Christmas and Easter, have become established features of the holiday seasons. The Christmas performance took place on Thursday afternoon, the 26th December, when upwards of a thousand persons formed the congregation. The programme comprised a number of pieces from the works of Bach, Beethoven, Handel, Mendelssohn, Mozart, Spohr, &c,. most judiciously selected with the threefold object of displaying the capabilities of the noble instrument, of affording the organist an opportunity for exercising his artistic ability, and of yielding gratification to a mixed company. The performance was eminently successful throughout; and there can be no doubt that had the circumstances of the place allowed of a vote of thanks to Dr. Naylor, it would have been most heartily rendered him. A few appropriate vocal pieces were given by the choir of the church at intervals during the afternoon, concluding with the chorus "Glory to God," from Handel's Messiah.——On the 1st ult., a vocal concert was given at the Old Town Hall, St. Nicholas-street, the programme of which consisted entirely of Christmas carols. The singers were the choirs of St. Mary's, Christ, and All Saints' Churches, and they were conducted by Dr. Naylor, organist of St. Mary's. The programme was divided into two parts, the first comprising ancient carols, and presenting several specimens of the oldest English music extant; and the second consisting of modern carol compositions, ancient words being in two or three instances used with modern music. The peculiar plaintive character of many of the older pieces was very striking, and the almost rugged effect of some of the combinations and cadences could not fail to be observed. Amongst the modern carols was one entitled, "Angel voices," the music being the composition of the Rev. R. Brown-Borthwick, which was warmly applauded. "Sleep, holy babe," was very beautiful in effect, as was also the carol, "When I view the mother," music by Barnby. "Though poor be the chamber," music by Gounod, was sung as a solo by Mr. Bland, with a unisonous chorus of men's voices. The solos in the carols were given respectively by Master H. Turner, Master Storer, Mr. Bland, Mr. James, and Mr. Watson. The concert concluded with the pastoral recitatives and the following chorus, "Glory to God," from Handel's Messiah. Dr. Naylor accompanied all the pieces on the pianoforte, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. R. Turner, Westborough. At the close, Canon Blunt, expressed his thanks to Dr. Naylor, for his kindness, courtesy, and zeal, in getting up the concert; and to the members of the choir for their excellent efforts.

SOUTH BRENT.—The first concert of the Choral Society took place in the Hall, on the 7th ult., before a large audience. The choir, consisting of 40 voices, sang several choruses, three of which, "O hush thee, my babie" (Sullivan), "Carnovale" (Rossini), and "Where art thou, beam of light" (Bishop), were encored. Miss Triggs gave with much effect two songs, and Admiral Sir L. Harper and Lady Harper sang with equal success two duets. Ascher's "Lucrezia Borgia" (well played by Mrs. Spean Cole), "Allegro and Allegretto" (Mozart), for concertina and piano (carefully rendered by the Rev. E. Kitson and Miss Kitson), and Saunton's "Fille du Regiment" (cleverly performed by Master Rowlands, a lad of 14), were the most effective instrumental pieces. The members of the choir and their conductor, Mr. W. H. Hannaford, have good reason to be pleased with their first entertainment.

STAMFORD.—On Friday evening the 10th ult., through the kindness of Mr. T. K. Parker, the members of the choir of St. Mary's Church, were invited to spend the evening at that gentleman's residence in St. Mary's Street, when they were very hospitably entertained. The programme of the after supper entertainment was (as might be expected at such a gathering) exclusively musical; solos, duets, trios, and choruses, being sung in excellent style and with marked precision, under the able direction of Mr. Pearce, the organist.

STOCKPORT.—A concert was given at the Mechanics' Institution, on Friday evening, the 17th ult., for the benefit of Miss Lucy Bristow, under the patronage of the Mayor and borough Magistrates. The vocalists were Miss M. Standen and Mr. F. Hollins, who were highly successful in several songs. Miss Bristow was assisted by Herr F. Vetter (violin) and Herr Van Biene (violoncello). The clever pianoforte playing of the concert-giver was the principal attraction. She was heard to great advantage in the sonata by Beethoven, Op. 26; and the "Kreutzer" Sonata, by the same composer (with Herr Vetter); also a composition by Stephen Heller. Miss L. Bristow is studying in London, under Mr. Bradbury Turner, Mus. Bac., who has every right to be proud of his talented pupil.

WOKINGHAM.—Mr. T. S. Brown gave a concert in the Town Hall on the 20th ult. Several glees, from "The Standard Glee Book," were well rendered, by Miss A. Larkcom, and Messrs. Large, Hunt, and Christian. "The Fairest Flowers" (Danby), a scarce glee, was introduced with excellent effect. Mr. Large was encored in "Tell me, Mary" (Hodson), and Mr. Christian received a similar compliment in Emanuel's Scena, "The Desert," to which he responded by singing "Dublin Bay." Miss A. Larkcom was re-called after each of her ballads, and Mr. Hunt gave "My Queen" (Blumenthal), with good expression. There was a large and fashionable audience. Miss Lazarus was solo pianist and accompanist.

ORGAN APPOINTMENTS.—Mr. C. Wesley Evans (of St. Mary Magdalene's Church), Organist and Choirmaster to St. Matthew's, Liverpool.—Mr. B. Bather, Organist to St. Paul's, Grange, and Choirmaster to Hartmel Choral Union.—Mr. J. Elliott Waugh, Organist to St. Ambrose Church, Everton, Liverpool.—Mr. Thomas Goulden (Organist of St. Margaret's, Canterbury), to Canterbury Cathedral.—Mr. Henry G. Rew (of Lancing College), Organist and Choir-master to St. Paul's College, Stony-Stratford, Bucks.—Mr. Joseph J. Stephens, of St. Matthew's, City Road, Organist and Choirmaster to St. John the Evangelist, Clapham Rise.—Mr. W. J. Leaver, to St. John's Church, Hackneath.—Mr. G. F. E. Reynolds (of St. Peter's Church, Oughtrington, Cheshire), to the Parish Church, Bowdon.—Mr. James Loaring (of Yeovil) to the Church of the Holy Apostles, Cheltenham.

CHOIR APPOINTMENTS.—Mr. Thomas Upfield (Bass), to Christ Church, Spitalfields.—Mr. H. C. Sanders (Bass), to S. Andrew's, Wells Street.

DURING THE LAST MONTH,

Published by NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

ROSSINI.—Guillaume Tell. An Opera in four Acts, edited by Berthold Tours, and translated into English by Natalia Macfarren, being Vol. 19 of Novello's Octavo Edition of Operas. Paper cover, 5s.; scarlet cloth, 7s. 6d.

NOVELLO'S OPERA CHORUSES, Octavo size. Numbers 1 to 65 now ready. See list, page 764.

SCHUMANN, R.—Paradise and the Peri. Cantata. Chorus parts, 4s. 3d.

OUSELEY and MONK.—Canticles and Hymns of the Church. Second series. Vocal parts, 12mo., 6d. each.

PREFFRY, W. H.—Te Deum laudamus in F. 8vo., 4d.

HOLLOWAY, W. H.—He is risen. Anthem for Easter. 8vo., 3d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—Two-part Anthems for male and female voices. No. 3, "Come ye, and let us go up." 8vo., 6d.

PROST, HENRY F.—Savoy Hymn Tunes and Chants. 8vo., 1s.

HILES, H., Mus. Doc.—The Wesley Tune Book. Tonic Sol-fa edition. Limp cloth, 2s.; cloth boards, red edges, 6d.

TAYLOR, JOHN, Mus. Doc.—Two Choral Hymns, "The foe behind, the deep before," and "Let no tears to-day be shed." 8vo., 6d.

BEST, W. T.—Arrangements from the Scores of the Great Masters for the Organ, price 2s. each.

No. 93.	Adagio from the 3rd Quintett	Mozart.
	Chorus, Behold the wicked bend their bow (Anthem "In the Lord")	Handel.
	Adagio, Symphony in G	Haydn.
No. 94.	Scherzo, 2nd Symphony	Beethoven.
	Overture, Messiah	Handel.
No. 95.	Andante, Sonata, A major, Pianoforte and Violin, Op. 12, No. 2	Beethoven.
	Chorus, Go your way into his gates (Jubilate) ..	Handel.
	Chorus, Tell it out among the heathen (Antnem "O come let us sing")	Handel.

COX, J. MAKINSON.—Andante for the Organ. 2s. 6d.

GLADSTONE, F. E.—Theme with Variations for the Organ. 2s.

LEIGH, WALTER.—Thou shalt see her. Song. Answer to "Only to see her." 1s. 6d.

LEE, ALICE.—Daisies and Violets. Ballad. Poetry by F. Weatherly. Price 1s. 6d.

LIMMERMANN, AGNES.—True love (Treue liebe). Vocal duet. 1s. 6d.

— Gavotte in E minor, for the Pianoforte. Op. 20. 1s. 6d.

GLADSTONE, ROBERTSON, Jun.—The Gay Birds are Carolling. Four-part Song. 8vo., 3d.

OAKELEY, Professor, Mus. Doc.—Nos. 3 and 4, ("Hunting Song," and "Love's Philosophy") of "Six Part-Songs (chorus) for Male Voices." Op. 17, price 4d.

NOVELLO'S
ORIGINAL OCTAVO EDITION OF OPERAS.

Edited, Corrected according to the Original Scores, and Translated into English, by Natalia Macfarren.

Price 2s. 6d.; or handsomely bound in scarlet cloth, gilt edges, 4s.

NOW READY.

BEETHOVEN'S FIDELIO,
(With German and English words.)
With the two great overtures as usually performed; being the only Pianoforte Score that has been published agreeing with the original score as to the notes and signs for phrasing.

AUBER'S FRA DIAVOLO,
(With French and English words.)
Various portions of this opera are now printed for the first time in England, making this the only English Pianoforte Score which agrees with the Composer's original score.

MOZART'S DON GIOVANNI,
(With Italian and English words.)
This edition contains all the Recitatives, and is the only Pianoforte Score which agrees with the Author's MS., as to the notes, signs for phrasing and expression, and the stage directions: in every one of these particulars there are many new and important lights thrown upon the work.

BELLINI'S NORMA,
(With Italian and English words.)

VERDI'S IL TROVATORE,
(With Italian and English words.)

DONIZETTI'S LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR,
(With Italian and English words.)

WEBER'S OBERON,
With the English words by J. R. Planché, and Italian words as sung at Her Majesty's Opera.

ROSSINI'S IL BARBIERE,
With the Music of the Recitatives, being the only complete Cheap Edition. With Italian and English words.

DONIZETTI'S LUCREZIA BORGIA,
(With Italian and English words.)

MOZART'S LE NOZZE DI FIGARO,
With the Music of the Recitatives, being the only complete Cheap Edition. With Italian and English words.

VERDI'S RIGOLETTO,
(With Italian and English words.)

BELLINI'S LA SONNAMBULA,
(With Italian and English words.)

WEBER'S DER FREISCHÜTZ.
(With German and English words.)

WAGNER'S TANNHÆUSER.
(With German and English words.)

AUBER'S MASANIELLO.
(With French and English words.) Price 3s. 6d.; bound, 5s.

BELLINI'S I PURITANI.
(With Italian and English words.)

WAGNER'S LOHENGRIN.
(With German and English words.)

DONIZETTI'S
LA FIGLIA DEL REGGIMENTO.
(With Italian and English words.)

ROSSINI'S GUILLAUME TELL.
(With French and English Words); price 5s.; bound 7s. 6d.

To be continued Monthly.

Specimen Pages may be had gratis of the Publishers.

Subscribers' Names will be received by the Publishers, Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners Street, and 35, Poultry, London; J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway, New York; or by all Music and Booksellers in the Country.

AN ALTO desires a SITUATION in a Choir where there are not more than two Services on Sunday. Has been Chorister for several years. F. P., 53, Great Ormond-street, Queen-sq.

TENOR, ALTO, and BASS WANTED for the Choir of St. Luke's Church, Westbourne-park, W. Stipend £10 per annum. BOYS also REQUIRED. Stipend according to ability. Application to be made to Mr. Bambridge, 27, Tavistock-crescent, Westbourne-park, W.

AN ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER of many years' experience is open to a RE-ENGAGEMENT. Good testimonials. Address E. W., 11, Hungerford-road, Camden-road, N.

AN Experienced ORGANIST desires a RE-ENGAGEMENT, where week-day duty could be obtained. Address Organist, 44, Cross-street, Manchester.

ORGANIST.—WANTED by an Experienced ORGANIST an ENGAGEMENT, either permanent or temporary. Accustomed to Cathedral duty. Address B., 12, Mayfield-terrace West, Dalston, E.

WANTED, an ENGAGEMENT as ORGANIST or ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER, in London, by an Organist and Choirmaster. Testimonials. Moderate salary required. Address "Inversion," Novello, Ewer and Co.

TO ORGANISTS.—A Professional ORGANIST of much experience, is open to an ENGAGEMENT as DEPUTY in or near London. Used to Choral Service, and training Choirs. Address Organist, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 35, Poultry, E.C.

A YOUTH (17) is open to an ENGAGEMENT as ORGANIST or DEPUTY. Educated by an eminent Cathedral Organist. In or near Lancashire. Address Robert Peel, Ashton-in-Makerfield, near Newton-le-Willows, Lancashire.

A GENTLEMAN will undertake Sunday afternoon Services in return for Organ Practice. A. S., 350, Old Kent-road.

A LADY, good Vocalist and Musician, having some time disengaged during the day, wishes for further ENGAGEMENTS as Teacher of the Pianoforte and Singing either in Schools or Private Families. Address A. G., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co.

SCHOOL CHOIRMASTER WANTED. Address to the Vicar of the Martyrs' Memorial Church, Clerkenwell, E.C.

WANTED, ORGANIST and CHOIRMASTER for Christ Church, Carmarthen. Salary £50. Apply to E. W. Shackell, Churchwarden, 27, Quay-street, Carmarthen.

A good ORGANIST, competent to train a Choir, WANTED for St. James's, Croydon. Organ by Messrs. Hill and Son. Salary £40. Apply and send references to Rev. H. C. Watson, St. James's Parsonage, Croydon.

WANTED by an experienced Man, a SITUATION as ORGAN-BLOWER, in Cathedral or Church. References if required. Address T. Sankey, 5, Dinham, Ludlow.

WANTED, thoroughly-efficient TUNER, accustomed to Country Trade, for the West of England. Address R. T., care of Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

WANTED, a first-class TUNER for the Country, to reside at the Music Warehouse. Address, with references and terms to L., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

A PERMANENT SITUATION is OFFERED to a PIANOFORTE TUNER of good ability and character. Apply to Mr. Henry Farmer, Nottingham.

PIANOFORTE TUNER WANTED for Scotland. To a thoroughly competent and steady man liberal terms will be given. Apply, stating references, to C. E. G., Musical Times Office.

WANTED, an Experienced TUNER for a town near London. One who understands the Harmonium, and can play, will be preferred. Address F. B., care of Messrs Novello, Ewer and Co.

WANTED, for Manchester, a good steady PIANOFORTE TUNER, for out-door work. Apply by letter or personally at 3, Abbey-place, St. John's Wood.

TUNER and REPAIRER.—Permanent ENGAGEMENT in a provincial City for an experienced man. One who has been with Broadwood preferred. Address J. S., Messrs. Hutchings and Romer, 9, Conduit-street.

WANTED, an Experienced PIANOFORTE TUNER as out-door Tuner. One who could manage a small branch Music Business preferred. Address, stating terms, &c., H. D. C., care of Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

PIANOFORTE TUNER WANTED for the Country. First-class from Broadwood's, Collard's, or Erard's—the former preferred. Liberal salary; situation permanent. Apply by letter only to Messrs. Challen and Co., 20, Oxford-street, London.

WANTED by a Young Lady, daughter of a Professor of Music, a SITUATION in a Music Shop. Good references. Apply R. J. W, Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co, 1, Berners-street, W.

WANTED, an Energetic Young Man in a MUSIC WAREHOUSE, who thoroughly understands the paper a small Instrument trade; must be a good Salesman. A liberal sala will be given. Apply by letter only to K., 20, Charing-cross, S.W.

COUNTER ASSISTANT WANTED, for a leadi house in a large Provincial Town. Must be of good appearance a address, and a good Salesman. Permanent engagement. Addre stating age, references, and salary required (and, if possible, enclosi carte), to W. P., Messrs. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W

MR. CHARLES MINDENHALL'S CHOIR, 11 Hill-street, Peckham.—Fourth Season.—There are VACANCI for a few good Voices. Apply any Tuesday evening between 8 an o'clock. No subscription.

ST. THOMAS'S CHURCH CHORAL SOCIETY Conductor, Mr. E. Rogers, Organist, St. Thomas, late of St. Alban Holborn. The Second Term of Twelve nights will commence on Tue day evening, February 11th. The Society meets at St. Thomas's Schoo Orchard-street, at 8.15. It is proposed to rehearse Sterndale Bennet "May Queen," and Sullivan's "On Shore and Sea." An Elementa Class is held the same evenings at 7.30. Ladies and gentlemen desiro of joining are invited to send in their names to the Hon. Sec., Somerset-street, Portman-square. Terms, 2s. 6d. each Class.

J. Thorpe, Hon. Sec

TO THE MUSICAL PROFESSION.—A Profess of good position and experience in London, desiring a pleas Country residence, wishes to PURCHASE a first-class TEACHIN CONNECTION for Pianoforte, Organ, and Harmony. If distant abo 30 miles from London, a good Organ Appointment indispensab Strictest investigation on both sides. Principals only treated wit Address "Musicus," College of Organists, Queen-square, Bloomsbu W.C.

TO PROFESSORS OF MUSIC.—FOR SALE, highly respectable and old-established TEACHING CONNE TION, with the probable appointment as Organist of the Parish Chur a short distance from town. A favourable opportunity for a Profess desirous of purchasing an income, and as there are no pianoforte deal in the town, the purchaser would further improve his income from th source. For further particulars, apply to Frederick Lucas, Accounta 26, Maddox-street, London.

IN AID OF

NORTH COATES CHURCH ORGAN FUNI

Published June, 1872.

Toned paper, cloth, gilt lettered, price 7s. 6d.

THE SECOND AND CONCLUDING VOLUME

OF

"THE VILLAGE ORGANIST,"

Containing the following Voluntaries, all composed expressly for it a not published in any other work:—

Slow Melody. Wm. H. Callcott.
Andante (Pastorale). Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew.
Andante. Mrs. Mounsey Bartholomew.
Allegretto grazioso quasi Andante. E. M. Delaborde.
Andante (Canzonet). Dr. H. J. Gauntlett.
Andante con moto. F. E. Gladstone.
Andante con grazia (Canzone). Franz Nava.
Andante (Pastorale). E. Silas.
Andante con moto (Siciliana). John Hullah.
Larghetto espressivo. G. A. Macfarren.
Andante con moto (Prelude). Sir Julius Benedict.
Andante con moto. Henry Smart.
Allegro poco maestoso (Prelude). W. G. Cusins.
Andante maestoso. E. G. Verrinder, Mus. Bac., Oxon.
Andante. J. F. Barnett.
Andante. R. Forsey Brion.
Andante (Pastorale). Dr. E. Rimbault.
Andante. Dr. E. F. Rimbault.
Andante. C. Goodban, Mus. Oxon.
Andante. Dr. E. G. Monk.
Andantino tranquillo. E. H. Turpin.
Andante cantabile (Prelude). H. Turpin.
Maestoso (March). E. H. Turpin
Larghetto. Dr. G. B. Arnold.
Andante and Adagio. Henry Fe mer.
Moderato (Prelude). S. Reay, Mu B., Oxon.
Andante cantabile. H. S. Irons.
Allegretto (Song of Praise). Dr. Stainer.
Andante. Dr. S. S. Wesley.
Andante (Pastorale). J. Barnby.
Larghetto. J. Barnby.

"A most useful series of pieces. * * * Pleasantly exemplifi the present state of musicianship in England, and will be found valuab for practical use where short voluntaries are needed, in towns as mu as in villages."—"Musical Times," Aug. 1872.

London:
Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.), and 35, Poultry (E.C.)
New York: J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway.

ANDANTE for the ORGAN, consisting of a melod with variations, concluding with a March. By John Makinso Fox. Price nett, 2s. 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

MUSETTE for ORGAN (with Pedal Obbligato composed by E. H. Turpin. This piece may be used as a Introductory or Middle Voluntary. Price 3s.
Messrs. Weekes and Co., 16, Hanover-street, Regent-street.

Now ready, small 4to., price 2s. 6d.

ANGLICAN PSALTER CHANTS, Single and Double, edited by the Rev. Sir F. A. G. OUSELEY, Bart. etc., and EDWIN GEORGE MONK.

This work contains nearly 400 Chants; which are appropriated to "Venite, exultemus Domino," the Daily and Proper Psalms, &c.; those for each Service occupying a separate page and affording several Series, suitable to each daily portion of the Psalter, from which choice may be made. The Chants have been selected with especial reference to the position of the Reciting-note.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

VENI, CREATOR SPIRITUS. Set to Music by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon, &c.

For general or Festival use; for male voices and four-part chorus, with Organ Accompaniment, ad lib. Price 3d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE ANGLICAN CHORAL SERVICE BOOK, Edited by E. G. MONK, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper, 1s.; cloth, 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co. Oxford: Parker.

Sixth Edition.

THE ANGLICAN CHANT-BOOK, edited by E. G. Monk, Mus. Doc., Oxon. In paper cover, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d. Large edition, cloth, 4s. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

OUSELEY AND MONK'S PSALTER AND CANTICLES, pointed for Chanting. Second Edition. Authorised by his Grace the Archbishop of York. 24mo., without chants, 1s.; with Proper Psalms, 1s. 3d.; Proper Psalms, separately, 3d.; small 4to., with chants, 5s.; large 4to., £1 1s.; each voice part, separately, 2s. Canticles, score, small quarto., 9d.; separate parts, 3d.; words only, 24mo., 1½d. Novello, Ewer & Co., and Parker & Co.

Ninth Edition.

JOULE'S COLLECTION OF 527 CHANTS, 57 RESPONSES, &c. Price 5s. 6d.; sep. vocal parts, 2s. each.—Tonic Sol-fa Notation. Score, 1s. 6d.

The Chants are selected with due reference to the position of the Reciting-notes.

SUPPLEMENT to the PREVIOUS EDITIONS of the ABOVE, containing Chants for the Venite, &c. Price 1s.

THE PSALTER, PROPER PSALMS, HYMNS, and CANTICLES. Pointed for Chanting by B. ST. J. B. JOULE. (Large type.) Price 2s. 6d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

Seventh Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. 18mo., price 1s., in cloth, 1s. 6d.

Fourth Edition.

JOULE'S DIRECTORIUM CHORI ANGLICANUM. Quarto, in cloth elegant, price 7s. 6d.

Third Edition.

THE ORDER FOR THE HOLY COMMUNION. Harmonized on a Monotone in a very simple manner for Parochial use. By B. ST. J. B. JOULE. Price 3d. Novello, Ewer and Co.

NON NOBIS DOMINE, arranged to the Corresponding English Words, by Rev. W. G. LONGDEN, for the Use of Choral Meetings, as an Introit, or Anthem, or Grace after Meat. Price One Penny; Ninepence a dozen; or Five Shillings a hundred.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TE DEUM (new) in B flat. Harmony, unison, free organ part, &c. Highly effective. 1s. 6d.—Three Choral Hymns—"There is a blessed home," "O Love," and "Praise the Lord." Complete 1s.—Also the immensely popular arrangement of the Evening Hymn "Abide with me." Harmony and unison, with a free organ part. 1s.—Also the well-known "Six Kyries." 1s. By EDWARD LAWRANCE, Organist, Merthyr Tydfil. A very liberal discount on a dozen copies, direct from the composer. A specimen copy of either for twelve stamps.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS, in C. By EDWARD REDHEAD, Mus. Bac., Oxon. 8vo. Price 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1 Berners-street, W.

BY REV. R. F. SMITH, M.A., Minor Canon of Southwell. TE DEUM, in F, in 4 parts, 3d. SHORT ANTHEM, "The Lord is nigh," S.A.T.B., 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer & Co., 1, Berners-street, W., & 35, Poultry, E.C.

CANTATE DOMINO and DEUS MISEREATUR, by G. A. MACFARREN. For voices in unison and organ. Octavo, 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1. Berners-street.

FOUR EASY SETTINGS of "TE DEUM," 2nd edition (Music and Pointing), for 4d.; 3s. 8d. per dozen, or 50 for 12s. 6d., post free. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

DEARLE, DR. — MAGNIFICAT and NUNC DIMITTIS in B♭, dedicated to Dr. Stainer. Large edition, 1s. 8vo., 6d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Now ready, new edition.

RESPONSES to the COMMANDMENTS, by G. AMPHLETT MORGAN. Price 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Just Published.

CANTICLES NOTED. Second Set, by the Rev. THOMAS HELMORE, M.A. 18mo., 3d.; 8vo., 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, and 35, Poultry.

HELMORE, REV. THOMAS.—The CANTICLES ACCENTED, 18mo., 3d.—Hymns of the Eastern Church, four voices, each 1s., PEACE, IT IS I; THE DAY IS PAST AND OVER; THE DAY OF RESURRECTION.—S. MARK'S CHANT BOOK (in daily use at the College Chapel, Chelsea), 4s. 6d.; or the same, Part I., being the main body of the work, price 3s. 6d.; and Part II., The Table of the Chants, price 1s. (useful for places where only the Canticles are chanted). Also Two "Te Deums" for Choir and People, in the alternate verses; adapted from Latin arrangements by Alfieri and Baini; vocal Score and Organ Accompaniment, price 3s. Also the People's Plain Song, separate, price 1½d. Four-part Cadences for the Holy Communion, 6d. The Carol for Christmas Morning, vocal score, 18mo. edition, 2d; melody, 18mo., 1d.

HYMN IN TIME OF CATTLE PLAGUE. 2d. Words, 1s. per 100.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

ADDITIONS TO THE

REV. T. HELMORE'S PLAIN SONG WORKS.

The Canticles Accented. Price 3d.

The Psalter and Canticles Accented. Paper covers, 1s. 6d.; cloth, 2s. 6d.

Appendix 1 to Accompanying Harmonies to the Brief Directory Price 4d.

The Psalter Noted. Appendix 1, giving the Proper Psalms, noted as before in their right order of the six days to which they are Appointed. Price 6d. Bound up with recent editions of the Psalter Noted.

Accompanying Harmonies to ditto. Price 3d.

The Psalter Noted. Appendix 2, giving the Proper Psalms newly noted for the Four Great Festivals (second set). Price 4d.

Accompanying Harmonies to ditto. Price 4d.

Canticles Noted (second set). Large Edition, 2s. Small Edition, 8d.

For some of the Harmonies to this, see Accompanying Harmonies to Psalter Noted, Appendix 2 (above mentioned). For others, see Accompanying Harmonies to Brief Directory, Appendix 2, now in hand.

Cadences for the order of the Administration of the Lord's Supper, in compressed vocal score. Price 6d.

Paper on Church Music, with special reference to the joining of all the People in Sacred Song, read at the Church Congress, Wolverhampton, October 1867. Price 6d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

THE NICENE CREED, in G major, for Voices and Organ, by WILLIAM BLAKELEY, Organist, Thornes Church, Wakefield. Folio score. 1s. 6d. net; a liberal discount allowed to choirs. To be had of the author, Warrengate, Wakefield.

Octavo size. Price 3d. each.

THE NICENE CREED, set to Music in an Easy form (principally monotone), with a free accompaniment for the Organ by R. W. CROWE.

THE NICENE CREED, set to music for four voices, chiefly in unison with a free accompaniment for the Organ. By S. PERCIVAL.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

Now ready. 8vo. Price Threepence.

THE APOSTLES' CREED, Set to Music (chiefly in Recitative) for Voices in Unison, with an Accompaniment for the Organ, by EDWIN GEORGE MONK, Mus. Doc., OXON, Organist and Director of the Choir, York Minster.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

JOHN M. W. YOUNG'S EASY FESTIVAL SERVICE, in C; consisting of Te Deum, Benedictus, and Jubilate, with an introductory Sketch of the History and Theology of the Te Deum, by the Right Rev. the Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham. Te Deum and Sketch, 1s.; festival size, 1½d. Benedictus and Jubilate, 10d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

BENEDICITE, for Septuagesima Sunday, Lent, &c., arranged to Chants by Dr. Stainer, Mr. Turle, and Mr. H. S. Irons Third edition, price 2d. London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

FOUR HYMNS, Set to Music by Dr. BELCHER. Price 6d. nett.

*TRIUNE GOD.—THY PRAISE TO SING.
CHRIST ALONE! CHRIST ALONE!
JUST AS I AM.—WITHOUT ONE PLEA.
BREAST THE WAVE, CHRISTIAN.

* Suitable for use at the opening of a new organ.

TE DEUM LAUDAMUS. By Dr. BELCHER. Price 3d.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

Dr. Allon's new Anthem Book.

NOW READY.

CHURCH ANTHEMS, &c. Edited by HENRY ALLON, D.D. Containing 115 Anthems for Congregational Use. Crown 8vo., price 3s. cloth; 3s. 6d. roan, gilt edges. Cheap Edition, 1s. 4d., cloth; 1s. 8d. stiff cloth, red edges.

London: Hodder and Stoughton, 27, Paternoster-row. Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

G. A. MACFARREN'S TWO-PART ANTHEMS for Small Choirs. The texts selected by the Rev. J. Powell Metcalfe.

First Series, for Boys' and Females Voices—1. "Come, and let us return." 2. "I will look unto the Lord." (These Anthems may appropriately be used in Advent and Lent.) 3. "Behold the Tabernacle." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Christmastide.)

Second Series, for Female and Male Voices—1. "Unto us was born." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Christmas.) 2. "Blessed is the soul." (This Anthem may appropriately be used at Whitsuntide.) 3. "Come ye and let us go up." (This Anthem may be appropriately used at the opening of a church.)

These Anthems are available as Duets for private performance.

Price 6d. for each Anthem, or 2s. 6d. for each series of six.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

EASY ANTHEMS for VILLAGE CHOIRS. By W. H. Gill. 2d. each. Nos. 1 to 6 now ready.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co.

A Specimen Copy, post free for Stamps to the value.

"I DID CALL UPON THE LORD." Full Anthem for Four Voices, by T. Mee Pattison. Price 4d.

"A capital anthem for ordinary choirs; well written, and possesses plenty of variety. A little verse piece in the middle of it is effective, and a spirited fughetta brings it to a satisfactory conclusion."—Musical Standard.

Just published, Double Post 16mo., in wrapper, price 6d., post free, 7d. (Size of FF edition of "Hymns Ancient and Modern.")

A NEW TABLE OF HYMNS for "Hymns Ancient and Modern," with Appendix, Introits, &c., adapted to the New Lectionary, by the Rev. W. H. Sewell, M.A. (a non-compiler of "Hymns Ancient and Modern.")

London: William Clowes and Sons, 13, Charing-cross, S.W.

NEW NUMBERS.

BEST'S ARRANGEMENTS

FROM THE SCORES OF THE GREAT MASTERS

FOR THE ORGAN.

Price 2s. each.

No.
81.	March from the "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day	Handel.
	Prelude and Fugue (E minor) from Pianoforte Works	Mendelssohn.
82.	Chaconne (F major)	Handel.
	Andante con variazioni from Pianoforte Duets, Op. 8...	Weber.
	Romanza ditto ditto ...	Weber.
	See the conquering hero comes	Handel.
83.	Funeral March "On the death of a hero," from Pianoforte Sonata, Op. 26	Beethoven.
	March, B minor, Op. 27. No. 1	F. Schubert.
	Hunting Song from the "Waldscenen," Op. 82 ..	R. Schumann.
	Adagio from Pianoforte Duets, Op. 10	Weber.
84.	Fugue, in G minor	Mozart.
	March Triomphale	Moscheles.
	Fantasia from 6th Quartet, in E flat major	Haydn.
85.	Allegretto, with variations and finale Fugato, from 6th Quartet, E flat major	Haydn.
	Allegretto (G minor), Op. 142	C. Mayer.
	Chorus, "Questo è il cielo," Alcina	Handel.
86.	Allegretto, from 2nd Quartet, in D minor	Haydn.
	Andante cantabile in E flat major, from Piano Duets, Op. 3	Weber.
	Largo cantabile, 5th Quartett, in D major	Haydn.
87.	Overture (D major), Op. 15	Spohr.
88.	Prelude and Air, with variations from the Suites de Pièces	Handel.
	Andante (G major) Rosamunde	Schubert.
	Serenade	Stephen Heller.
89.	Andante, from 12th Symphony	Mozart.
	Prelude and Fugue (G minor)	Bach.
	Finale notturno, Op. 34	Spohr.
90.	Chorus, "Thou shalt make me hear of joy and gladness" (151st Psalm)	Handel.
	Evening music, Allegretto scherzoso (Op. 99) ...	R. Schumann.
91.	Chaconne, "La Favorite"	Couperin.
	Triumphal March "Vom Fels zum Meer"	Liszt.
	Chorus, "God is my King"	Bach.
92.	Gavotte, from the 6th Violoncello Sonata	Bach.
	Bourrée, from the 3rd ditto	Bach.
	Gavotte. (Orphée)	Gluck.
	Gavotte. (Iphigénie.)	Gluck.
	Minuet. (Alexander Severus.)	Handel.
93.	Adagio, from the Third Quintett	Mozart.
	Chorus, "Behold the wicked bend their bow, (Anthem "In the Lord")	Handel.
	Adagio, Symphony in G	Haydn.
94.	Scherzo, 2nd Symphony	Beethoven.
	Overture, Messiah	Handel.
95.	Andante, Sonata, A major, Pianoforte and Violin, Op. 12, No. 2	Beethoven.
	Chorus, Go your way into his gates, Jubilate	Handel.
	Chorus, "Tell it out among the heathen," (Anthem "O come let us sing")	Handel.

(To be continued.)

Volumes I. to IV., bound in cloth, price £1 16s. each.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W.).

RECESSIONAL MARCH, J. F. Thorne. Second edition, net, 2s.

"There is vigour and character in this March. It is calculated to obtain considerable popularity."—Choir.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

THIRTEENTH EDITION.

"The air once heard haunts the memory."—Church Opinion.

MARCH OF THE CHORISTERS. Net 1s. 6d.—"A very fine March, rich in good chords."—Catholic Opinion. "To write a really good and striking March is by no means an easy task. Mr. Allen's subjects are bold and suggestive."—Illustrated Review. "Its freshness will make it a favourite."—Weekly Times.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street.

Third Revised and Improved Edition.

Nearly every note fingered. Time and key printed in text as well as in the usual manner. The first book easy, the second moderately advanced. (19 short Movements, including a Combination of Two English Airs.)

MELODIOUS and Characteristic PIANO STUDIES. By Horton C. Allison. In Two Books, 6s. each. "Written in a pleasing and popular style calculated to gain the favour of young players, for whose advantage copious and careful fingering is supplied."—Illustrated London News. "We can conscientiously recommend these books to teachers and piano students."—The Graphic. Terms (exceptionally advantageous to the Musical Profession and Trade), for single copies or quantities, and a specimen sheet with two pages of studies post free for 7d., of Mr. Allison, 5, Cecil-street, Greenheys, Manchester, or Messrs. Weekes and Co., 16, Hanover-street, London, W.

FOR the most remarkable Musical Events of the past year, see MONTHLY MUSICAL RECORD for 1872, bound 3s. Published in monthly numbers at 2d. Subscriptions for 1873 (including postage), 2s. 6d., now received.

London: Augener and Co., 86, Newgate-street.

TO VIOLINISTS.—PART II. of 50 EASY VIOLIN DUETS, adapted for instruction or amusement, selected from the Great Masters—Bruni, Kalliwoda, Pleyel, Parry, &c., by H. Sydney Davis. London: J. Williams, 24, Berners-street, and 123, Cheapside; or free by post for 20 stamps from H. S. Davis, 55, Fore-street, E.C.

Just published, price 6d.

RULES in RHYMES and ROUNDS; or Musical Precept and Example, combined in Easy Progressive Rounds and Canons, with Hints for Teaching Rounds. By the Rev. J. Powell Metcalfe, Author of "The School Round Book," Joint Editor of "The Rounds, Catches, and Canons of England," &c.

London: Novello, Ewer, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

PROGRESSION of CHORDS; Appendix to the Tritone. A Method of Harmony and Modulation. By Joseph Green. Price 2s.

London: Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.

NEW EDITIONS (OCTAVO)

OF

ORATORIOS, CANTATAS, &c.,

Published by NOVELLO, EWER AND CO.

BACH.—God's Time is the best	-	1s. 0d
" The Passion (St. John)	-	2s. 0d
N. W. GADE.—The Erl-King's Daughter.		1s. 6d
" Spring's Message	-	0s. 8d
CH. GOUNOD.—De Profundis (Psalm 130)		4s. 0d
HANDEL.—Belshazzar (on March 1)	-	3s. 0d
F. HILLER.—A Song of Victory	-	2s. 0d
G. A. MACFARREN.—Outward Bound.		2s. 6d
R. SCHUMANN.—Paradise and the Peri		2s. 6d
H. SMART.—The Bride of Dunkerron	-	2s. 6d
A. S. SULLIVAN.—Festival Te Deum	-	2s. 0d

JUST PUBLISHED.

A New Edition (corrected to January, 1873.)

NOVELLO, EWER & CO.'S

CATALOGUES Nos. 1 & 2,

ORGAN AND HARMONIUM MUSIC,

AND

SACRED MUSIC, WITH ENGLISH WORDS.

May be had gratis on application, or sent post free for one stamp.

MUSIC FOR THE COMING SEASON.

Anthems, Hymns, and Carols.

Lent.

ALLEN, G. B.—HAVE MERCY UPON ME, O GOD. Verse, Anthem for 4 voices, 1s.

ATTWOOD, T.—ENTER NOT INTO JUDGMENT. Full, 4 voices, 6d. Small class copy, 1½d.
— TURN THY FACE FROM MY SINS. Treble Solo and Chorus. 6d. Small class copy, 1½d. Vocal parts of the above, 7½d.
— TURN THEE AGAIN. Full, 4 voices, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

BARNBY, J.—MAKE ME A CLEAN HEART, O GOD. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 1s.
— I BOW MY KNEE. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 6d.
— HAVE MERCY UPON ME. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— GRANT TO US, LORD, WE BESEECH THEE. Full, 4 voices. 8vo., 1½d.

BATTISHILL, J.—CALL TO REMEMBRANCE. Anthem for 7 voices. Vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 1s. 3d.

BAUMER, HENRY.—LORD, HOW ARE THEY INCREASED. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 6d.

BENEDICT, SIR JULIUS.—TRY ME, O GOD. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

BEST, W. T.—BENEDICITE OMNIA OPERA, for Responsive Chorus, with a Free Organ Part. Score, 1s. 6d. Vocal score, 3d.

BOLCK, OSCAR.—O LORD, HOW LONG WILT THOU FORGET ME? Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 1s.

CALKIN, J. BAPTISTE.—OUT OF THE DEEP HAVE I CRIED UNTO THEE. Verse B, with chorus. Vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 7½d.
— O GOD, HAVE MERCY. Verse Anthem for Tenor Voice, with final Chorus for 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 7½d.
— UNTO THEE WILL I CRY, O LORD. Verse Anthem for Tenor Voice and Chorus. Vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 1s.
— THE SACRIFICES OF GOD ARE A BROKEN SPIRIT, and IF WE SAY WE HAVE NO SIN. Two Introits. Vocal score, 1s.

COLBORNE, LANGDON.—PONDER MY WORDS. s. Solo and Chorus, 6d. Class copy, 1½d.
— OUT OF THE DEEP. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— REND YOUR HEARTS. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 9d. Vocal parts, 6d.

CORFE, J.—PONDER MY WORDS, O LORD. Verse s.s. and Chorus, 1s.

HOWARD, JAMES.—O LORD, CORRECT ME. Full, 4 voices. 6d.

HROTCH, DR.—COMFORT, O LORD, THE SOUL OF THY SERVANT. Extracted from the Anthem, "Be merciful," and newly arranged by SIR JOHN GOSS. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

JEMER, P. H.—HE WAS DESPISED AND REJECTED. Four voices, 6d.

JULVEY, SIR G. J.—COME UNTO ME ALL YE THAT LABOUR. T. Solo with Chorus. Vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 1s.

KARRANT, R.—CALL TO REMEMBRANCE. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 7½d. Class copy, 1½d.

LAMBE, J.—AVE, VERUM, AND HEAR US (Ave Maria). Motett for Soprano or Tenor Solo, with Chorus. Vocal score, 2s.
— O SAVING VICTIM (O Salutaris). Motett for Soprano or Tenor Solo and Chorus. Vocal score, 2s.

MARRETT, DR. G. M.—JUST JUDGE OF HEAVEN, Psalm 43. Contralto Solo and Chorus. 8vo., 1s.

MOSS, SIR JOHN.—COME AND LET US RETURN UNTO THE LORD, Anthem, for 4 voices, with short Recitatives for Baritone voice. Vocal score, 2s. Ditto, 8vo., 3d. Vocal parts, 1s.
— HAVE MERCY UPON ME. 4 voices, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 1s.
— HEAR, O LORD. Full, 4 voices, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— ALMIGHTY AND MERCIFUL GOD. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Ditto, 8vo., 1½d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— O SAVIOUR OF THE WORLD. Four voices. Vocal score, 1s. Ditto 8vo., 3d. Vocal parts, 6d.

MOUNOD, CHARLES. — THE SEVEN WORDS OF OUR SAVIOUR ON THE CROSS (Filiæ Jerusalem. 8vo. size, 1s.
— DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM. Anthem for Lent. 8vo. size, in paper cover, 1s.
— O DAY OF PENITENCE. — Anthem, for 4 and 6 voices. Octavo, 8d.
— O COME NEAR TO THE CROSS. Anthem for 4 voices. Vocal score, folio, 3s.; ditto, 8vo., 8d.; separate vocal parts, 1s.
— COME UNTO HIM. Full Anthem for 6 voices. Vocal score, folio 1s. 6d.; ditto, 8vo., 3d.; separate vocal parts, 9d.
— WORD OF GOD INCARNATE (Ave Verum), 5 voices. Vocal score, folio, 1s.; ditto, 8vo., 3d.; vo al parts, 7½d.
— WORD OF GOD INCARNATE (Ave Verum). Motett, inscribed to Mr. Henry Leslie. Vocal score, 1s. 8vo., 1½d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— ALL YE WHO WEEP. Full anthem for 6 voices. Vocal score, folio, 1s. 6d.; ditto, 8vo., 3d.; vocal parts, 6d.
— AS THE HART PANTS (Sicut Cervus). Motett for S.A.T.B. Vocal score, folio, 1s.; ditto, 8vo., 3d.; vocal parts, 6d.
This Motett may also be had in the same form for T.T.B.B.
— FROM THE DEEP HAVE I CALLED (De Profundis). 130th Psalm. For four Solo voices and Chorus. Vocal score, 4s. Vocal parts, 4s.

LENT (Continued.)

GREENE, DR.—LORD, LET ME KNOW MINE END. Verse s.s., with chorus, 1s. Vocal parts, 7½d. Class copy, 1½d.

HOPKINS, E. J.—IN MY DISTRESS I CRIED UNTO THE LORD. Full, 4 voices, 1s. Vocal parts, 6d.

HORNS, HERBERT S.—SHEW THY SERVANT THE LIGHT OF THY COUNTENANCE. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

JACKSON, W. (Masham).—COME AND LET US RETURN. s. Solo and Chorus. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 6d.

JEKYLL, C. S.—SAVE ME, O GOD. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 9d. Vocal parts, 6d.

J. W. D. and S. N.—THE GREGORIAN CHANT FOR THE MISERERE. Arranged and harmonized by V. NOVELLO adapted to English Words. 8vo., 4d.

LESLIE, HENRY.—O HAVE MERCY UPON ME. Full, 4 Voices. Vocal Score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

MACFARREN, G. A.—TWO-PART ANTHEMS for Small Choirs, equal voices.
— COME AND LET US RETURN. 8vo., 6d.
— I WILL LOOK UNTO THE LORD. 8vo., 6d.

MANN, R.—GRANT, WE BESEECH THEE. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

MENDELSSOHN.—AS THE HART PANTS (1st Movement), 4 voices, 1s. 3d. Vocal parts, 6d. 8vo. Score, 3d.
— JUDGE ME, O GOD. For Double Choir. 8vo., 4d.
— LORD, ON OUR OFFENCES. 8vo., 1½d.
— FOR OUR OFFENCES. 8vo., 1½d.
— MY GOD, MY GOD. For Double Choir. 8vo., 6d.
— WHY RAGE FIERCELY THE HEATHEN. For Double Choir. 8vo., 6d.

NARES, DR.—CALL TO REMEMBRANCE. Full, 5 voices. Vocal Score. 1s.
— TURN US, O LORD. Anthem for four voices. 1s.
— TRY ME, O GOD. Full, 5 voices, 6d. Vocal parts, 7½d.

OBERTHÜR, C.—GIVE EAR, O LORD (Ave Maria). Motett for 4 voices with or without accompaniment. Vocal score, Folio, 1s. Do. 8vo., 1½d.

OUSELEY.—HEAR MY CRY, O GOD. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— REND YOUR HEARTS. Full, 4 voices. Vocal Score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— O SAVIOUR OF THE WORLD. Full Anthem for Double Choir, without accompaniment. Vocal score, 6d., Vocal parts, 6d.

PATTISON, T. MEE.—I DID CALL UPON THE LORD. Full, 4 voices, 8vo., 4d.

SPARK, DR. W.—O GOD, HAVE MERCY UPON ME. Full, 4 voices, 9d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— ALL WE LIKE SHEEP HAVE GONE ASTRAY. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. 3d. Vocal parts, 1s.

SPOHR.—AS PANTS THE HART. s. Solo and 6 voices. Arranged from the Crucifixion by T. STIMPSON. 1s. 3d. Small class copy, 1½d. Vocal parts, 7½d.

STAINER, DR. JOHN.—DELIVER ME, O LORD. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

STEGGALL, DR. C.—HAVE MERCY UPON ME. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— I WILL CRY UNTO GOD. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Ditto, 8vo, 3d. Vocal parts, 1s.
— TURN THY FACE FROM MY SINS. Verse. vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 1s.

TOURS, B.—IN THEE, O LORD, HAVE I PUT MY TRUST. 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Ditto, 8vo., 3d. Vocal parts, 6d.
— GOD BE MERCIFUL. Full, 8 voices. Vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 1s. 6d.
— O SAVING VICTIM. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 7½d.

TURLE, JAS.—ARISE AND HELP US. Arranged from MARCELLO. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 9d. Vocal parts, 6d.

WALMISLEY, T. A.—PONDER MY WORDS, O LORD. Verse, s.s., with Chorus for Treble voices, 1s. Vocal parts, 6d.

WELDON, JOHN.—HEAR MY CRYING. Anthem for 6 voices, 1s. 3 d. Vocal parts, 1s.

WESLEY, DR. S. S.—CAST ME NOT AWAY FROM THY PRESENCE. Vocal score, 1s. 6d. Vocal parts, 9d.
— LET US LIFT UP OUR HEART. Vocal score, 4s. Vocal parts, 2s. 6d.
— O GOD, WHOSE NATURE AND PROPERTY. Full, 4 voices. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 6d.

WHITFELD, DR. J. C.—ENTER NOT INTO JUDGMENT. Full, 4 voices, 6d. Vocal parts, 6d.

WINTER.—HEAR MY PRAYER, O LORD. Full, 4 voices, 6d. Class copy, 1½d.

WISE, M.—THE WAYS OF ZION DO MOURN. Verse, s.s. and Chorus. Vocal score, 1s. Vocal parts, 1s. 3d.

CHARLES HALLÉ'S
"PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE SCHOOL."

Section I.—"Elementary."
Section II.—"Easy."
Section III.—"Moderately Difficult"
Section IV.—"Difficult."
Section V.—"Very Difficult."

This Work will consist of a series of Pieces selected from the best Composers, and calculated to guide Students, by gradu steps, from the very beginning to the highest degree of execution, and at the same time to form their taste and style. T Work will be divided into five sections, namely, Elementary, Easy, Moderately Difficult, Difficult, and Very Difficult. Ea Piece will be prefaced by a certain number of Exercises written expressly by Mr. Hallé for this Publication, and havi some bearing upon the difficulties of the Composition which they introduce; and every note will be fingered by him.

Prospectuses, containing full particulars, and mode of publication, may be had of Forsyth Brothers.

Section I.—"Elementary."

No.	Pianoforte Tutor, containing—	s.	d.
1	(a) Rudiments of Musical Notation ... ... } (b) Hummel, J. N. Theme with Variations ... }	5	0
2	Eight little Pieces, by various Composers... ...	5	0
3	Kalkbrenner, F., and Kuhlau, F. Two Airs with Variations	4	0
4	Beethoven, L. van. Sonatina in G		4
5	Hummel, J. N. Rondo in C		4
6	Steibelt, D. Sonata in C		4

Section II.—"Easy."

1	Clementi, M. Sonatina in C, Op. 36, No. 1 ...	4	0
2	Beethoven, L. van. Sonatina in F	4	0
3	Dussek, J. L. Sonata in G, Op. 20, No. 1 ...	4	0
4	Clementi, M. Sonatina in G, Op. 36, No. 2 ...	4	0
5	Kuhlau, F. Sonatina in C, Op. 20, No. 1 ...	5	0
6	Beethoven, L. van. Sonata in G, Op. 49, No. 2...	5	0
7	Clementi, M. Sonatina in C, Op. 36, No. 3 ...	4	6
8	Schumann, R. Six Album Leaves (first selection) from Op. 68	4	0
9	Dussek, J. L. Sonatina in F, Op. 20, No. 3 ...	4	6
10	Mozart, W. A. Sonata in C	5	0
11	Hiller, F. Three Album Leaves, from Op. 117...	5	0
12	Beethoven, L. van. Variations on "Nel cor più non," in G		4
13	Heller, St. Rondino in G		4
14	Kuhlau, F. Andantino and Polacca in F ...		4
15	Beethoven, L. van. Sonata in G minor, Op, 49, No. 1		5
16	Clementi, M. Sonatina in F, Op. 36, No. 4 ...		5
17	Mozart, W. A. Rondo in D		5
18	Clementi, M. Sonatina in E flat, Op. 37, No. 1...		5
19	Beethoven, L. van. Swiss Air, with Variations in F		4
20	Clementi, M. Sonatina in D, Op. 36, No. 6 ...		5

Section III.—"Moderately Difficult."

1	Scales in all the Major and Minor Keys, and Chromatic Scales	4	0
2	Dussek, J. L. Sonata in A major, Op. 20, No. 4	4	6
3	Hunten, F. Rondoletto in C major	4	6
4	Haydn, J. Sonata in G major	5	0
5	Beethoven, L. van. Rondo in C major, Op. 51, No. 1	5	0
6	Schumann, R. Six Album Leaves (second selection), from Op. 68	5	0
7	Mozart, W. A. Sonata in C major	5	0
8	Beethoven, L. van. Air with Variations, in G major	5	0
9	Hummel, J. N. Rondo villageois, in C major, Op. 122	4	6
10	Clementi, M. Sonata in E flat major, Op. 20 ...	5	0
11	Bertini, H. Four characteristic Pieces, from Op. 29 and 32	4	6
12	Bach, J. S. Two Minuets and Two Gavottes ...	5	0

IN THE PRESS.

13 Mozart, W. A. Sonata in F major.

IN THE PRESS.

14	Weber, C. M. von. Andante con Variazioni, Minue and Rondo, from Op. 3.
15	Schubert, F. Twelve Valses.
16	Beethoven, L. van. Sonata in G major, Op. 14, No. 2
17	Field, J. Two Nocturnes.
18	Reinecke, C. Scherzo, Hunting Song and Toccati from Op. 77.
19	Clementi, M. Rondo in D major, from Op. 39.
20	Heller, St. Three Melodies.
21	Beethoven, L. van. Rondo in G major, Op. 51, No. 2.
22	Mendelssohn, F. The Rivulet.
23	Bach, J. S. Prelude, Aria and Courante.
24	Haydn, J. Sonata in E flat.
25	Hummel, J. N. "La Contemplazione," from Op. 107
26	Handel, G. F. The Harmonious Blacksmith.
27	Mozart, W. A. Sonata in A major.
28	Mendelssohn, F. Four Songs without words.
29	Dussek, J. L. Andantino and Allegro in G, from Op.
30	Beethoven, L. van. Sonatina in G major, Op. 79.

Section IV.—"Difficult."

Section V.—"Very Difficult."

Forsyth Brothers have great pleasure in announcing that they have been entrusted by Mr. Charles Hallé with t publication of his "Practical Pianoforte School."

Besides the novelty of the plan, the usefulness of the Work is greatly increased by its division into separate numbe of gradually-increasing difficulty, but each complete in itself, thus enabling Students to commence with any numb according to the degree of proficiency they may have attained.

Section 1, "Elementary," consisting of Six Numbers.—Section 2, "Easy," Twenty Numbers.—and Twelve Numb of Section 3, "Moderately Difficult," are now ready, and may be ordered through any Musicseller, or direct fr Forsyth Brothers. The remaining numbers of Section 3, and also Sections 4 and 5, will be published as speedily as possib

Each number will be sold at half the marked price, and postage free.

 Trade Orders supplied direct from Regent Circus, Oxford Street, London.

FORSYTH BROTHERS,

LONDON: REGENT CIRCUS, OXFORD STREET. MANCHESTER: CROSS STREET, AND SOUTH KING STREET.

Printed by Novello, Ewer and Co., 1, Berners-street (W), and 35, Poultry (E.C.). Sold also by Kent and Co., Paternoster-row. And by J. L. Peters, 599, Broadway, New York.—Saturday, February 1, 1873.

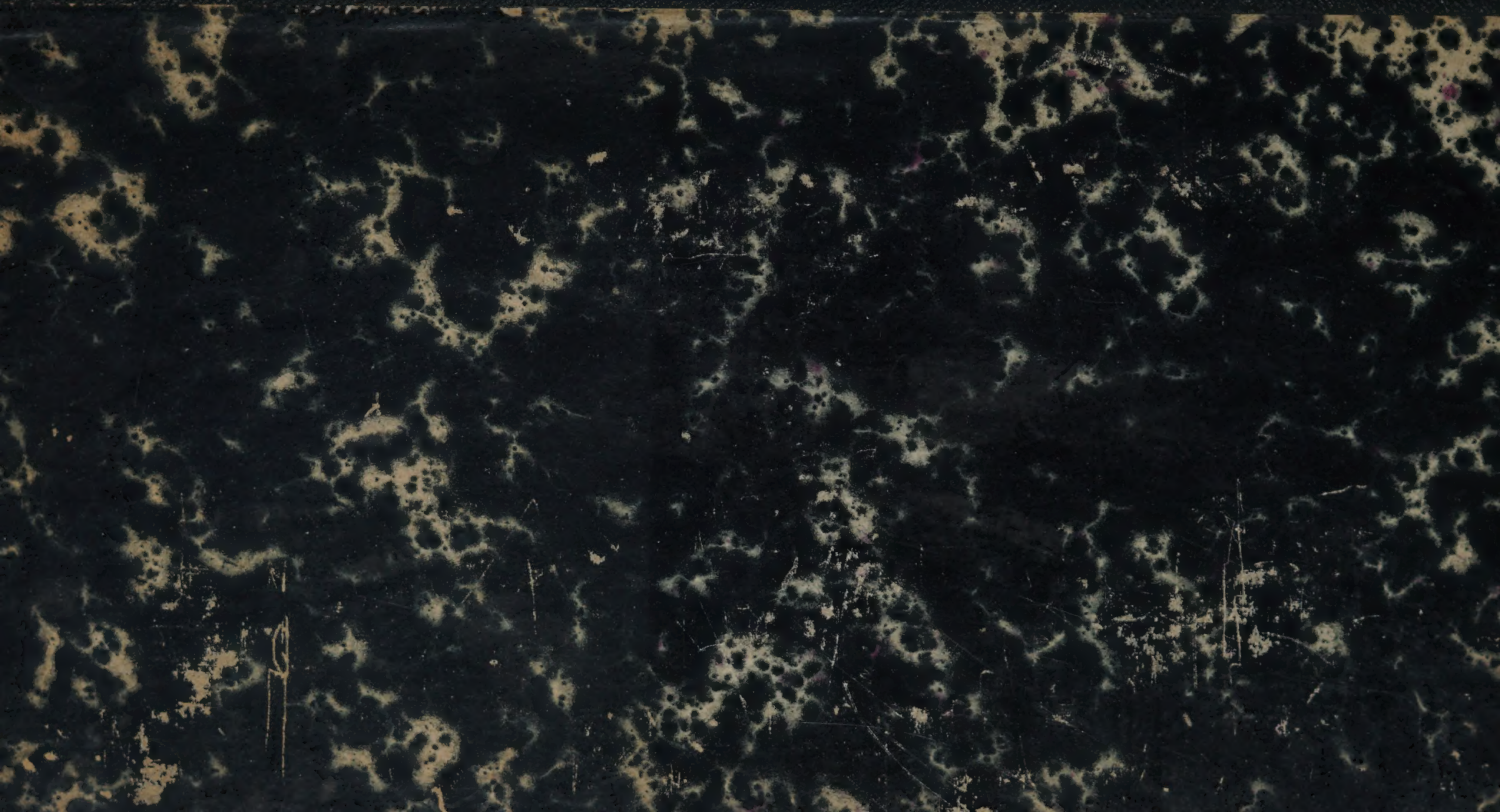
BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY
3 9999 08818 963 2

(Nov., 1887, 20,000)

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

One volume allowed at a time, and obtained only by card; to be kept 14 days (or seven days in the case of fiction and juvenile books published within one year) without fine; not to be renewed; to be reclaimed by messenger after 21 days, who will collect 20 cents besides fine of 2 cents a day, including Sundays and holidays; not to be lent out of the borrower's household, and not to be transferred; to be returned at this Hall.

Borrowers finding this book mutilated or unwarrantably defaced, are expected to report it; and also any undue delay in the delivery of books.

 No claim can be established because of the failure of any notice, to or from the Library, through the mail.


The record below must not be made or altered by borrower.